3 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me the seconde time, saying,

4 Take the girdle that thou hast boght, which is vpon thy loynes, and arise, go toward a Peráth, and hide it there in the cleft of the rocke.

5 So I went, & hid it by Peráth, as the Lord had commanded me.

6 And after many daies, the Lord said vnto me, Arise, go toward Peráth, and take the girdle from thence, which I commanded thee i In head of bearing my liuency & wearing only my colours, they haue change and diminitie of colours of their idoles & superstitions. therefore their enemies, as thicke as the ayre, shal come about this to destroy them.

k He prophesied of the destruction of Ierusalem by the captiues of Nebuchad-nezzar, whom he callith pastors.
l Because no man regarded my worde, or this plagues I haue sent vpon the land.
m To wit, the Prophetes.
n They flattered the sinner of the people.
o For in stead of amendement you greue worse & worse as Gods plagues rethred.
p Meaning, the wicked enemies of his Church & blasphemed his name, & whome he wolde punish after that he hath deliuered his people.
q After that I haue punished y Gentiles, I wil haue mercie vpon them.
a Because the river Peráth or Euphrates was farre fro Ierusalém, it is euident, that this was a vision, whereby was signified that the Iewes shulde passe our Euphrates to be captiues in Babilon & there for length of time shulde be: & soe rotte although they were ioynd to the Lord before as a girdle about a man.

thee to hide there.

7 Then wēt I to Peráth, and digged, & toke the girdle from the place where I had hid it, & beholde, the girdle was corrupt, and was profitable for nothing.

8 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Thus saith the Lord, After this maner wil I destroye the pride of Iudáh, & the great pride of Ierusalém.

10 This wicked people haue refused to heare my worde, & walke after the stubbernes of their owne heart, and walke after other gods to serue them, and to worship them: therefore they shalbe as this girdle, which is profitable to nothing.

11 For as the girdle cleaueth to the loines of a man, so haue I tyed to me the whole house of Israél, and the whole house of Iudáh, saith the Lord, that thei might be my people: that they might haue a name and praise, and glorie, but thei wolde not heare!

12 Therefore thou shalt saie vnto them this worde, Thus saith y Lord God of Israél, Euerie bottel shalbe filled with wine, and thei shal saie vnto thee, Do we not knowe that euerie bottel shalbe filled with wine?

13 Then shalt thou saie vnto them, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil fil all the inhabitants of this land, euen the Kings that sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and the Priests and the Prophetes and all the inhabitants of Ierusalém with drunkēnes.

14 And I wil dash them one against another, euen the fathers and the sonnes together, saith the Lord: I wil not pitie nor haue compassiō, but destroye them.

15 Heare and giue eare, be not prouder: for the Lord hath spoken it.

16 Giue glorie to y Lord your God before he bring d darkenes, and or euer your fete stumble in the darke mountaines, and whiles you loke for e light, he turne it into the shadowe of death and make it as darkenes.

17 But if ye wil not heare this, my soule shal wepe in secret for your pride, & mine eye shal wepe and drop downe teares, because the Lords flocke is caried awaie captiue.

18 Saie vnto the King and to the Queene, Humble your selues, sit downe, for the crowne of your glorie shal come downe from your heads.

19 The cities of h the South shalbe shut vp, and no man shal open them: all Iudáh shalbe caried awaie captiue: it shalbe wholly caried awaie captiue.

20 Lift vp your eyes and heholde them y come from the North, where is y i flocke y was giue thee, euen thy beautiful flocke.

21 What wilt thou saie, when he shal visit thee? (for thou hast taught the to be captaines & as chief ouer thee) shal not sorow take thee as a woman in trauail?

22 And if thou saie in thine heart, Wherefore come these things vpon me? For the multitude of thine iniquities are thy skirts discovered & thy heles made bare.

23 Can the blacke More change his skin? or the leopard his spotted? then maie ye also do good, that are accustomed to do euil.

24 Therefore wil I scatre the, as the stubble that is taken awaie with the South winde.

25 This is thy portion, and the parte of thy measures from me, saith the Lord, because thou hast forgotten me and trusted in lies.

26 Therefore I haue also discovered thy skirts vpon thy face, m that thy shame may appeare.

27 I haue sene thine adulteries, & thy n neyings, y filthines of thy whoredome on the hilles in o the fields, and thine abominatiōs. Wo vnto thee, o Ierusalém: wilt thou not be made cleane? when shal it once be?

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the dearth that shoulde come. 7 The prayer of the people asking mercie of the Lord. 10 The unfaithful people are not heard. 12 Of prayer, fasting, and of false prophetes that seduce the people.

1 The worde of the Lord that came vnto Jeremiáh, concerning the a d dearth.

2 Iudáh hath mourned, and the gates thereof are desolate, they haue bene b brought to heauines vnto the ground, and the crye of Ierusalém goeth vp,

3 And their nobles haue sent their inferiours to the water, who came to the welles, and founde no water: they returned with their vessels emptie: they were ashamed & confounded, and c couered their heads.

4 For the ground was destroyed, because there was no raine in the earth: the plowmen were ashamed, and couered their heades.

5 Yea, the hinde also calued in the field, and forsoke d it, because there was no grasse.

6 And the wilde asses did stād in the high places, and drewe in their winde like e dragons: their eyes did faile, because there was no grasse.

7 f O Lord, thogh our iniquities testifie against vs, deale with vs according to thy Name: for our rebellions are manie, we sinned against thee.

8 O the hope of Israél, the sauour thereof in the time of trouble, why art thou as a stranger in the lād, as one that passeth by to tarie for a night?

9 Why art thou as a man astonied, and as h a strong man that can not helpe? yet thou, o Lord, art in the middes of vs, and thy Name is called vpon vs: forsake vs not.

k By seeking to strangers for helpe thou hast made the skilful to fight against thee.

l Thy cloke of hypocrisie shal be pulled of and thy shame seene.

m As thine iniquities haue bene manifest to all the world: so shal thy th me, & punishment. n He compareth idolaters to horses inflamed after mares.

o There is no place so hie nor lo, where as the markes and signes of thine idolatrie appeare not.

a Which came for lacke of raine, as ver 4.

b The worde signifieth to be made blacke, and so is here taken for extreme sorowe.

c To wit, with ashes in token of sorowe.

d Meaning, y brute beasts for drought were compelled to forsake their yong, contrary to nature, & to go seke water, which they colde not finde.

e Which are so hote of nature, that thei can not be couled with drinking of water, but stil gape for the aire to refresh them.

f He sheweth the onely way to remedie Gods plagues, which is by vnfeined confession of our sinnes, and returning to him by repentance.

g That taketh no care for vs. h As one that hath strength to helpe, & yet is afraid to put to his hands.

10 Thus saith the Lord vnto this people, Thus haue they delited to wādre: they haue not refrained their fete, therefore the Lord hath no delite in the: but he wil now remember their iniquitie, and visit their sinnes.

1 Read Chap. 23.6 & 23.14.

11 Then said the Lord vnto me, Thou shalt not praye to do this people good.

12 Whē thei fast, I wil not heare their crye, and when they offer burnt offering, and an oblation, I wil not accept them: but I wil consume them by the sworde, and by the famine and by the pestilence.

13 Then answered I, Ah Lord God, beholde, the <sup>k</sup> Prophetes say vnto them, Ye shal not se the sworde, nether shal famine come vpon you, but I wil giue you assured peace in this place.

<sup>k</sup> He pitieth the people, & accuseth the false prophetes, which deuiaued them: but the Lord answered, that bothe <sup>j</sup> Prophetes, which deuiaued, and the people, w<sup>h</sup> suffred the felues to be seduced, shal perishe, Chap. 23. 15. & 27. 21. & 29. 8.

14 Then the Lord said vnto me, The Prophetes prophecie lies in my Name: I haue not sent them, nether did I commande them, nether spake I vnto them, but they prophecie vnto you a false vision, and diuination, and vanitie, and deceitfulnes of their owne heart.

15 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Concerning the Prophetes that prophecie in my Name, whome I haue not sent, yet they say, Sworde and famine shal not be in this land, by sworde & famine shal those Prophetes be consumed.

16 And the people to whome these Prophetes do prophecie, shalbe cast out in the stretes of Ierusalēm, because of the famine, & the sworde, & there shalbe none to burye them, bothe they, and their wiues, and their sonnes, & their daughters: for I wil powre their wickednes vpon them.

<sup>n</sup> Though the Prophet knew that God had cast of <sup>j</sup> multitude, which were hypocrites, and bafard children, yet he was assured that for his promises sake he wolde haue still a Church, for the which he prayeth.

17 Therefore thou shalt say this worde vnto them, Let mine eyes drop downe <sup>i</sup> teares night and day without ceasing: for <sup>j</sup> virgine daughter of my people is destroyed with a great destruction, and with a foregriuous plague.

18 For if I go into the field, beholde the slaine with the sworde: and if I entre into the citie, beholde the that are sicke for hunger also: moreouer the Prophet also and the Priest go a wandring <sup>m</sup> into a land that they know not.

19 Hast thou vtterly reiected <sup>n</sup> Iudáh, or hath the thy soule abhorred Zión? Why hast thou smitten vs, that we can not be healed? We looked for peace, & there is no good, & for the time of health, & beholde trouble.

20 We acknowledge, O Lord, our wickednes & the iniquitie of our fathers: for we haue sinned against thee.

21 Do not abhorre vs: for thy Names sake cast not downe the throne of thy glorie: remember and breake not thy couenant with vs.

22 Are there anie among <sup>j</sup> vanities of the Gentiles, that can giue raine? or can the heauē giue showers? is it not thou, O Lord our God? therefore we wil waite vpon thee: for thou hast made all these things.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Lord wolde heare no prayer for the Iewes, <sup>j</sup> But threatneth to destroye them with foure plagues.

1 The Lord said vnto me, <sup>k</sup> Though Mosēs and Samuēl stode before me, yet mine affectiō colde not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them departe.

2 And if they say vnto thee, Whether shal we departe? then tel them, Thus saith the Lord, <sup>k</sup> Suche as are appointed to death, vnto death: & suche as are for the sworde, to the sworde, & suche as are for the famine to the famine, and suche as are for the captiuitie, to the captiuitie.

3 And I wil appointe ouer them foure kindes, saith the Lord, the sworde to slay, and the <sup>b</sup> doggs to teare in pieces, & the foules of the heauen, & the beastes of the earth to deuoure, and to destroye.

4 I wil <sup>c</sup> scatter them also in all kingdomes of the earth, <sup>d</sup> because of Manassē the sōne of Hezekiāh King of Iudāh, for that which he did in Ierusalēm.

5 Who shal then haue pitie vpon thee, O Ierusalēm? or who shalbe sorie for thee? or who shal go to pray for thy peace?

<sup>e</sup> That is, I wil not call backe my plagues, or spare thee any more.

6 Thou hast forsaken me, saith the Lord, & gone backward: therefore wil I stretch out mine hand against thee, and destroye thee: for I <sup>e</sup> am wearie with repenting.

8 Their widdowes <sup>g</sup> are increased by me about the sand of the sea: I haue brought vpon the, & against the <sup>h</sup> assemblie of the yong men a destroyer at none day: I haue caused him to fall vpon them, & the citie suddenly, and <sup>i</sup> spedely.

9 She that hath borne <sup>h</sup> seuen, hath bene made weake: her heart hath failed: the sunne hath failed <sup>i</sup> her, whiles it was day: she hath bene confounded, & ashamed, and the residue of them wil I deliuer vnto the sworde before their enemies, saith <sup>j</sup> Lord.

10 <sup>k</sup> Wo is me, my mother, that thou hast borne me, a contentious man, & a mā that strueth with <sup>j</sup> whole earth: I haue nether lent on vsurie, nor me haue lent vnto me on vsurie: yet euerie one doeth curse me.

11 The Lord said, <sup>m</sup> Surely thy remnāt shal haue welth: surely I wil cause thine enemy to intreat thee in the time of trouble, and in the time of affliction.

12 Shal the yron breake the yron, and the brasse that commeth from the North 13 Thy substance & thy treasures wil I giue to be spoiled without gaine, and that for all thy sinnes euen in all thy borders.
14 And I wil make thee to go with thine enemies into a lād that thou knowest not:
for a fyre is kindled in mine angre, which shal burne you.
15 O Lord, thou knowest, remembre me, & visite me, and reuenge me of my persecuters: take me not awaie in the continuance of thine angre: knowe that for thy sake I haue suffred rebuke.
16 Thy wordes were founde by me, and I did eat them, and thy worde was vnto me the ioye and reioycing of mine heart:
for thy Name is called vpon me, o Lord
God of hostes.
17 I sate not in the assemblie of the mockers, nether did I reioyce, but sate alone because of thy plague: for thou hast filled me with indignation.
18 Why is mine heauines continual? & my plague desperate & can not be healed? why art thou vnto me as a lyer, and as waters that faile.
19 Therefore thus saith the Lord, If thou returne, then wil I bring thee againe, & thou shalt stand before me: and if thou take awaie the precious from the vile, thou shalt be according to my worde: let them returne vnto thee, but returne not thou vnto them.
20 And I wil make thee vnto this people a strong brasse wall, and thei shal fight against thee, but thei shal not preuaile against thee: for I am with thee to saue thee
& to deliuer thee, saith the Lord.
21 And I wil deliuer thee out of the hand of the wicked, and I wil redeme thee out of the hand of the tyrants.

CHAP. XVI.

2 The Lord forbidding Ieremiáh to marie, sheweth him what shulde be the afflictions vpon Iudáh. 13 The captiui-tie of Babylon. 15 Their deliuerance. 19 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 The worde of the Lord came also vnto me, saying,
2 Thou shalt not take thee a wife, nor haue sonnes nor daughters in this place.
3 For thus saith the Lord concerning the sonnes, and concerning the daughters that are borne in this place, and concerning their mothers that beare them, & concerning their fathers, that beget them in this land.
4 Thei shal dye of deaths & diseases: thei shal not be lamented, nether shal thei be buried, but thei shalbe as dongue vpon the earth, and thei shalbe consumed by the sworde, and by famine, and their carkeises shalbe meat for the fowles of the heauen, and for the beastes of the earth.

5 For thus saith the Lord, Entre not into the house of mournig, nether go to lamēt, nor be moued for them: for I haue taken my peace frō this people, saith the Lord, euen mercie and compassion.
6 Bothe y great, & the smale shal dye in this land: thei shal not be buried, nether shal men lamēt for them nor cut them selues, nor make them selues bald for them.
7 Thei shal not stretche out the hands for them in the mourning to cōfort them for the dead, nether shal thei giue them the cup of consolation to drinke for their father or for their mother.
8 Thou shalt not also go into the house of feasting to sit with the to eat & to drinke.
9 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israël, Beholde, I wil cause to cease out of this place in your eyes, euen in your daies the voice of mirth, & the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bride grome and the voice of the bride.
10 And when thou shalt shewe this people all these wordes, & thei shal saie vnto thee, *Wherefore hathe the Lord pronounced all this great plague against vs? or what is our iniquitie? and what is our sinne that we haue comitted against y Lord our God?
11 Then shalt thou saie vnto them, Because your fathers haue forsaken me, saith the Lord, and haue walked after other gods, and haue serued them, & worshipped the,
and haue forsakē me, & haue not kept my Law, 12 (*And ye haue done worse then your fathers: for beholde, you walke euerie one after the stubbernes of his wicked heart, and wil not heare me) 13 Therefore wil I driue you out of this land into a land that ye knowe not, nether you, nor your fathers, and there shal ye serue other gods daie and night: for I wil shewe you no grace.
14 *Beholde, therefore, saith the Lord, the daies come that it shal no more be said,
The Lord liueth, which brought vp y children of Israël out of the land of Egypt, 15 But the Lord liueth, that brought vp the children of Israël from the land of the North, and from all the lands where he had scatered them, and I wil bring them again into their land that I gaue vnto their fathers.
16 Beholde, saith the Lord, I wil send out many fishers, and thei shal fish them, and after, wil I send out many hunters, & thei shal hunt them from euerie mountaine and from euerie hill, and out of the caues of the rockes.
17 For mine eyes are vpon all their waies:
thei are not hid from my face, nether is their iniquitie hid from mine eyes.
18 And first I wil recompence their iniquitie and their sinne double, because they b Signifying that afflictions shulde be so great y one shulde not haue leasure to comfort another.

c That is, shulde not rent their clothes in signe of mourning.

d For in these great extremities all consolation & comfort shalbe in vaine.

e Because the wicked are alwaies rebellious and dissemble their owne sinnes, & murmur against Gods iudgements as though he had no iust cause to punish the, he sheweth him what to answer.

f Signifying y benche of their deliuerance out of Babylon shulde be so great, that it shulde abolish the remembrance of their deliuerance frō Egypt: but he harbe here chiefly respect to the spiritual deliuerance vnder Christ.

g By y fishers and hunters, are meant y Babylonians and Caldeans who shulde destroy them in such sort that if they escaped they shulde take them.

19 O Lord, thou art my force, & my strength & my refuge in the day of affliction: the Gentiles shal come vnto thee fro the ends of the worlde, and shal say, Surely our fathers haue inherited lies, & vanitie, wherein there was no profite.

20 Shal a man make gods vnto him self, & they are no gods.

21 Beholde, therefore I wil this once<sup>1</sup> teache the: I wil shew the mine had & my power, & thei shal know y<sup>e</sup> my Name is the Lord.

2 They remēber their altars as their children, with their groues by the grene trees vpon the hie hilles.

3 O my mountaine in the field, I wil giue thy substance, & all thy treasures to be spoiled, for the sinne of thy high places through out all thy borders.

4 And thou shalt rest, and in thee shalbe areft fro thine heritage that I gaue thee, & I wil cause thee to serue thine enemies in the lād, which thou knowest not: for ye haue kindeled a fyre in mine angre, which shal burne for euer.

5 Thus saith the Lord, & Cursed be the mā that trusteth in mā, & maketh flesh his arme, & withdraweth his heart fro y<sup>e</sup> Lord.

6 For he shalbe like the heath in the wilderness, and shal not se when anie good cometh, but shal inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, in a salt land, and not inhabited.

7 Blessed be the man, that trusteth in the Lord, and whose hope the Lord is.

8 For he shalbe as a tre that is planted by the water, which spreadeth out her rootes by the riuer, and shal not fele when the heat cometh, but her leaf shalbe grene, and shal not care for the yere of drought, neither shal cease from yelding frute.

9 The heart is deceitful and wicked about all things, who can knowe it?

10 I the Lord searche the heart, & trye the reines, euen to giue euerie man according to his wayes, and according to the frute of his workes.

11 As the partryche gathereth the yong, which she hath not broght forth: so he that getteth riches, and not by right, shal leaue them in the middes of his dayes, and at his end shalbe a foole.

12 As a glorious throne<sup>1</sup> exalted from the beginning, so is the place of our Sactuarie.

13 O Lord, the hope of Israel, all that forsake thee, shalbe confounded: thei that departe from thee, shalbe written in the earth, because they haue forsake the Lord, the fountaine of liuing waters.

14 Heale me, o Lord, and I shalbe whole: saue me, and I shal be saued: for thou art my praise.

15 Beholde, o they say vnto me, Where is the worde of the Lord? let it come now.

16 But I haue not thrust in my self for a pastor after thee, neither haue I desired the daye of miserie, thou knowest: that which came out of my lippes, was right before thee.

17 Be not terrible vnto me: thou art mine hope in the day of aduersitie.

18 Let them be confounded, that persecute me, but let not me be confounded: let them be afraid, but let not me be afraid: bring vpon them the day of aduersitie, & destroy them with double destruction.

19 Thus hath the Lord said vnto me, Go and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby y<sup>e</sup> Kings of Iudáh come in, and by the which thei go out, and in all the gates of Ierusalēm, 20 And say vnto them, Heare the worde of the Lord, ye Kings of Iudáh, and all Iudáh, and all the inhabitants of Ierusalēm, that entre in by these gates.

21 Thus saith the Lord, Take hede to your soules, and beare no burden in the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Ierusalēm.

22 Neither carye forth the burdēs out of your houses in the Sabbath day: neither do ye anie worke, but sanctifie the Sabbath, as I commanded your fathers.

23 But they obeyed not, neither inclined their eares, but made their neckes stiffe, & wolde not heare, nor receiue correction.

24 Neuertheles if ye wil heare me, saith the Lord, & beare no burden through the gates of the citie in the Sabbath day, but sanctifie the Sabbath day, so that ye do no worke therein,

CHAP. XVIII.

2 God sheweth by the example of a potter, that it is in his power to destroe the dispicers of his worde. 18 The conspiracie of the Iewes against Ieremiáh. 19 His prayer against his aduersaries.

1 The worde which came to Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,

2 Arise, & go downe into the potters house, and there shal I shewe thee my wordes.

3 Then I went downe to the potters house, and beholde, he wrought a worke on the wheles.

4 And the vessel that he made of a claie, was broken in the hand of the potter. so he returned, & made it another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it.

5 Then the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

6 O house of Israél, can not I do with you as this potter, saith the Lord: beholde, as y claie is in the potters hand, so are you in mine hand, o house of Israél.

7 I wil speake suddely against a nation or a against a kingdome to plucke it vp, & to roote it out, and to destroe it.

8 But if this nation, against whome I haue pronounced, turne fró their wickednes, I wil repent of y plague that I thought to bring vpon them.

9 And I wil speake suddenly concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdome to buyld it and to plant it.

10 But if it do euil in my sight and heare not my voice, I wil spee of the good that I thought to do for them.

11 Speake y now therefore vnto the men of Iudah, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalém, saying, Thus saith y Lord, Beholde, I prepare a plague for you, and purpose a thing against you: returne you therefore euerie one from his euil waie, and make your waies and your workes good.

12 But thei said desperately, Surely we wil walke after our owne imaginacions & do euerie man after the stubbernes of his wicked heart.

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Aske now among the heathén, who hath heard suche things: the virgine of Israél hath done verie filthily.

14 Wil a man forsake the snowe of Lebanon, which cometh from y rocke of the field? or shal the colde flowing waters, that come from another place, be forsaken?

15 Because my people hath forgotten me, & haue burnt incense to vanitie, and their Prophetes haue caused them to stumble in their waies from the ancient waies to walke in the paths and waie that is not trodden,

16 To make their land desolate & a perpetual derision, so that euerie one that passeth thereby, shal be astonished and wagge his head, 17 I wil scattere them with an East winde before the enemy: I wil shewe them the backe, and not the face in the day of their destruction.

18 Then said they, Come, and let vs imagine some deuise against Ieremiáh: for the Lawes shal not perish from the Priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the worde from the Prophet: come, and let vs smite him with the tongue, and let vs not giue hede to any of his wordes.

19 Hearken vnto me, o Lord, and heare the voyce of them that contend with me.

20 Shal euil be recompenced for good? for they haue digged a pit for my soule: remembre that I stood before thee, to speake good for them, and to turne away thy wrath from them.

21 Therefore, deliuer vp their children to famine, and let them drop away by the force of the sworde, and let their wiues be robbed of their children, and be widdowes: and let their husbands be put to death, and let their yong men be slayne by the sworde in the battel.

22 Let the crye be heard from their houses, when thou shalt bring an hoste suddenly vpon them: for they haue digged a pit to take me, and hid snares for my fete.

23 Yet Lord thou knowest all their counsel against me tendeth to death: forgieue not their iniquitie, nether put out their sinne from thy sight, but let them be ouerthrowen before thee: deale thus with them in the time of thine angre.

CHAP. XIX.

He prophecieth the destruction of Ierusalém for the contempt and despising of the worde of God.

1 Thus said the Lord, Go, and bye an earthen bottel of a potter, and take of the ancients of the people, and of the ancients of the Priestes, d As no man hath thirsh, refusethe fresh cōduir waters which he hath at home, to go and seke waters abroad to quench his thirsh: so they ought not to seke for helpe & succour at strāgers and leaue God, which was present with them. That is, the way of truth, which God had taught by his Law, read chap. 6. 16. I wil thew mine angre & not my fauour toward them.

Isa. 45. 9. vnto 17. rom. 9. 10. b When y Scripture attributeth repentance vnto God, it is not that he doth contrary to that which he hath ordeined in his secret counsel: but whē he threatneth, it is a calling to repentance, and when he giueth mā grace to repent, y threatning (which is a condition in y Scripture) calleth no place: and thus the Scripture calleth repentance in God, because it so appeareth to many iudgements. c As men that had no remorse, but were altogether bent to rebellion and to their owne self wil.

3 And shalt say, Heare ye the worde of the Lord, o Kings of Iudáh, and inhabitants of Ierusalém, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, y<sup>e</sup> God of Israel, Beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon this place, the which whosoever heareth, his eares shal tingle.

4 Because they haue forsaken me, and prophaned this place, and haue burnt incense in it vnto other gods, whome neither they, nor their fathers haue knowen, nor the Kings of Iudáh (they haue filled this place also with the blood of innocents,

5 And they haue buylt the hie places of Báal, to burne their sonnes with fyre for burnt offrings vnto Báal, which I commanded not, nor spake it, nether came it into my minde)

6 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that this place shal nomore be called Tópheth, nor the vallei of Benhinnóm, but the vallei of slaughter.

7 And I wil bring the counsel of Iudáh & Ierusalém to noght in this place, and I wil cause the to fall by the sworde before their enemies, & by the hand of them that seke their liues: & their carkeises wil I giue to be meat for the foules of y<sup>e</sup> heauen, and to the beastes of the field.

8 *And I wil make this citie desolate & an hissing, so that euerie one y<sup>e</sup> passeth thereby, shalbe astonished & hisse because of all the plagues thereof.

9 *And I wil fede the with y<sup>e</sup> flesh of their sonnes and with the flesh of their daughters, and euerie one shal eat the flesh of his friend in the siege and streitnes, where-with their enemies that seke their liues, shal holde them streit.

10 Then shalt thou breake the bottle in the sight of the men that go with thee, 11 And shalt saie vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Euen so wil I breake this people & this citie, as one breaketh a potters vessel, that cannot be made whole againe, & thei shal buryethem in Tópheth til there be no place to burye.

12 Thus wil I do vnto this place, saith the Lord, and to the inhabitants thereof, and I wil make this citie like Tópheth.

13 For the houses of Ierusalém, and the houses of the Kings of Iudáh shalbe defiled as the place of Tópheth, because of all the houses vpon whose roofs thei haue burnt incense vnto all the hoste of heauen, and haue powred out drinke offrings vnto other gods.

14 Then came Ieremiáh from Tópheth, where the Lord had sent him to prophcie; and he stode in the court of the Lords house, and said to all the people, 15 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil bring vpon this citie, and vpon all her townes, all the plagues y<sup>e</sup> I haue pronounced against it, because they haue hardened their neckes, and wolde not heare my wordes.

CHAP. XX.

a Ieremiáh is smitten and cast into prison for preaching of the worde of God. b He prophcieth the captiuitie of Babylm. c He complameth that he is a mocking stocke for the worde of God. d He is compelled by the spirit to preache the worde.

1 WHen Pashúr, the sonne of Immér, the Priest, which was appointed gouernour in y<sup>e</sup> House of the Lord, heard that Ieremiáh prophcieth these things,

2 Then Pashúr smote Ieremiáh the Prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the hie gate of Beniamín which was by the House of the Lord.

3 And on the morning, Pashúr broght Ieremiáh out of the stocks. Then said Ieremiáh vnto him, The Lord hathe not called thy name Pashúr, but Magór-missabíb.

4 For thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil make thee to be a terrour to thy self, & to all thy friends, and thei shal fall by the sworde of their enemies, & thine eyes shal beholde it, and I wil giue all Iudáh into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal carie them captiue into Babel, and shal slaie them with the sworde.

5 Moreover I wil deliuer all the substance of this citie, and all the labours thereof & all the precious things thereof, and all y<sup>e</sup> treasures of the Kings of Iudáh wil I giue into the hand of their enemies, which shal spoyle them, and take them awaie and carie them to Babel.

6 And thou Pashúr, & all that dwell in thine house, shal go into captiuitie, and thou shalt come to Babel, and there thou shalt dye, and shalt be buryed there, thou & all thy friends, to whome thou hast prophcied lies.

7 O Lord, thou hast deceiued me, and I am deceiued: thou art stronger then I, and hast preuailed: I am in derision daieily: euerie one mocketh me.

8 For since I spake, I cryed out of wrong, and proclaimed desolation: therefore the worde of the Lord was made a reproche vnto me, and in derision daieily.

9 Then I said, I wil not make mencion of him, nor speake any more in his Name. But his worde was in mine heart as a burning fyre shut vp in my bones, and I was wearie with forbearing, & I colde not stay.

He prophesieth that Zedekiah shalbe taken, and the citie burned.

1 The worde which came vnto Jeremiáh from the Lord, when King Zedekiah sent vnto him Pashúr, the sonne of Malchiáh, & Zephaniáh, the sonne of Mafciáh the Priest, saying,

2 * Inquire, I pray thee, of the Lord for vs (for Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel maketh warre against vs) if so be that the Lord wil deale with vs according to all his wonderous workes, that he may returne vp from vs.

3 Then said Jeremiáh, Thus shal you say to Zedekiah,

4 Thus saith the Lord God of Israël, Beholde, I wil turne backe the weapons of warre that are in your hands, wherewith ye fight against the King of Babel, and against the Caldeans, which besiege you without the walles, & I wil assemble them into the middes of this citie.

5 And I my self wil fight against you with an outstretched hand, and with a mightie arme, euen in angre and in wrath, and in great indignacion.

6 And I wil smite the inhabitants of this citie, bothe man, and beast: thei shal dye of a great pestilence.

7 And after this, saith the Lord, I wil deliuer Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his seruants, and the people, and suche as are left in this citie, from the pestilence, from the sworde and from the famine into the had of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those that seke their liues, and he shal smite them with the edge of the sworde: he shal not spare them, neither haue pitie nor compassion.

8 ¶ And vnto this people thou shalt say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I set before you the way of life, & the way of death.

9 * He that abideth in this citie, shal dye by the sworde and by the famine, and by the pestilence: but he that goeth out, and falleth to the Caldeans, that besiege you, he shal liue, and his life shalbe vnto him for a pray.

10 For I haue set my face against this citie, for euil and not for good, saith the Lord: it shal be giuen into the hand of the King of Babel, and he shal burne it with fyre.

11 ¶ And say vnto the house of the King of Iudah, Heare ye the worde of the Lord.

12 O house of Dauid, thus saith the Lord, * Execute iudgement in the morning, and deliuer the oppressed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath go out like fyre and burne, that none can quenche it, because of the wickednes of your workes.

13 Beholde, I come against thee, O inhabitant of the valley, & rocke of the plaine, saith the Lord, which say, Who shal come downe against vs? or who shal enter into our habitacions?

14 But I wil visite you according to the frute of your workes, saith the Lord, and I wil kindle a fyre in the forest thereof, and it shal deuoure rounde about it.

and his seruants and his people.
 5 But if ye wil not heare these wordes, I b sweare by my self, saith <sup>h</sup> Lord, that this House shalbe waste.
 6 For thus hathe the Lord spoken vpon the Kings house of Iudáh, Thou art <sup>c</sup> Gileád vnto me, and the head of Lebanón, yet surely I wil make thee a wilderness & as cities not inhabited,
 7 And I wil <sup>d</sup> prepare destroyers against thee, euery one with his weapons, and they shal cut downe thy chief <sup>e</sup> cedre trees, and cast them in the fyre.
 8 f And many nacions shal passe by this citie, & they shal say euery man to his neighbour, Wherefore hathe <sup>h</sup> Lord done thus vnto this great citie?
 9 Then shal they answer, Because they haue forsaken the couenant of <sup>i</sup> Lord their God, and worshiped other gods & serued them.
 10 ¶ Wepe not for the dead, & be not moued for them, but wepe for him <sup>h</sup> that goeth out: for he shal returne no more, nor se his natiue countrey.
 11 For thus saith the Lord, As touching <sup>h</sup> Shallúm the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudáh, which reigned for Iosiah his father, which wēt out of this place, he shal not returne thether, 12 But he shal dye in <sup>i</sup> place, whether they haue led him captiue, and shal se this land no more.
 13 ¶ Wo vnto him <sup>i</sup> buyldeth his house by vnrighteousnes, & his chambers without equitie: he vseth his neighbour without wages and giueth him not for his worke.
 14 He saith, I wil buyld me a wide house and large chambers: so he wil make him self large windowes, and siling with cedre and painte them with vermelon.

 17 But thine eies and thine heart are but onely for thy couetousnes, and for to shed innocent blood, & for oppression, and for destruction, <sup>h</sup> euen to do this.
 18 Therefore thus saith the Lord against Iehoiakim, the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudáh, They shal <sup>i</sup> not lamēt him, saying, Ah, my brother, or ah, sister: nether shal they mourne for him, saying, Ah, lord, or ah, his glorie.

23 Thou that dwellest in Lebanón, and makest thy nest in the <sup>q</sup> cedres, how beautiful shalt thou be when sorowes come vpon thee, as the sorow of a woman in trauail?

24 As I liue, saith the Lord, though <sup>r</sup> Coniáh the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh, were the signet of my right hand, yet wold I plucke thee thence.

25 And I wil giue thee into the hand of the that seke thy life, and into the hand of them, whose face thou fearest, eue into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, and into the hand of the Caldeans.

27 But to the land, whereunto they desire to returne, they shal not returne thether.

28 Is not this man Coniáh <sup>s</sup> as a despised and broken idole? or <sup>t</sup> as a vessel, wherein is no pleasure? Wherefore are they caryed away, he and his fede, & cast out into a land that they knowe not?

29 O <sup>u</sup> earth, earth, earth, heare the worde of the Lord.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Write this <sup>v</sup> man destitute of children, a man that shal not prosper in his dayes: for there shalbe no man of his fede that shal prosper and sit vpon the throne of Dauid, or beare rule any more in Iudáh.

Against false Pastors. s A prophetic of the great Pastor Iesus Christ.

1 WO be vnto <sup>a</sup> the Pastors that destroye and scatter <sup>b</sup> the shepe of my pasture, saith the Lord.

2 Therefore thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto the Pastors that <sup>c</sup> fede my people, Ye haue scattred my flocke and thrust them out, & haue not visited the: beholde, I wil visite you for the wickednes of your workes, saith the Lord.

3 And I wil gather the <sup>d</sup> rénant of my shepe out of all countreys, whether I had driuen them, and wil bring them againe to their foldes, and they shal growe and encrease.

4 And I wil set vp shepherdes ouer them, which shal fede them: and they shal dread no more nor be afraid, nether shal any of them be lacking, saith the Lord.

h Sheweth how God wil gather his Church after this dispersion.

o For this was the way out of Iudáh to Assyria: where by is met that all helpes shulde faile: for the Caldeans haue subdued both the them and the Egyptians: p Both the gouernours & they <sup>i</sup> shulde helpe thee, shal vanish away as wind. q Thou that art buyle of <sup>j</sup> saire cedre trees of Lebanón. r Who was called Iehoiachin or Ieconiah, whom he calleth here Coniáh in contempt, who thought his kingdome coulde neuer departe from him, because he came of <sup>k</sup> the stocke of Dauid, and therefore for <sup>l</sup> promises sake coulde not be taken from his house: but he abused Gods promises, and therefore was iustly de prined of the kingdome. f He sheweth that all posteritie shalbe witnesses of this iuste plague as though it were registered for perpetual memorie. e Not that he had no children: for after he begate Sala chiel in the captiuitie, Ma. 1, 12: but that none shulde reigne after him as King.

Chap. XXIII. a Meaning, the princes, gouernours & false prophetes, as Ezek. 34, 2. b For the which I haue especial care and haue prepared good pastures for them.

c Whose charge is to see the flocke, but they eat the fruite thereof. Ezek. 34, 3. d Thus the Prophets eue use to mixt the promises with <sup>h</sup> threatenings, lest the godlie shulde be to much beaten downe, and therefore

- 5 Beholde, The daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil raise vnto Dauid a righteous<sup>a</sup> branche, & a King shal reigne, and prosper, and shal execute iudgement, and iustice in the earth.
- 6 In his daies<sup>a</sup> Iudáh shalbe saued, and Israél shal dwell safely, and this is the name whereby thei shal call him,<sup>a</sup> The Lord our righteousnes.
- 7 Therefore beholde, the daies come, saith the Lord, that thei shal no more say, The Lord liueth, which broght vp the children of Israél out of y land of Egypt,
- 8 But the Lord liueth, which broght vp and led the sede of the house of Israél out of the North countrey & from all contreys where I had scattered them, and thei shal dwell in their owne land.
- 9 Mine heart breaketh within me, because of the Prophetes, all my bones shake: I am like a drunken man (& like a man whome wine hathe ouercome) for the presence of the Lord and for his holie wordes.
- 10 For the land is ful of adulterers, and because of othes y land mourneth, the pleasant places of the wildernes are dried vp, and their<sup>b</sup> course is euil, and their force is not right.
- 11 For bothe the Prophet and the Priest do wickedly: and their wickednes haue I founde in mine House, saith the Lord.
- 12 Wherefore their waie shalbe vnto them as sliperie waies in the darkenes: thei shal be driuen forthe and fall therein: for I wil bring a plague vpon them, euen the yere of their visitacion, saith the Lord.
- 13 And I haue sene foolishnes in the Prophetes of Samaria, y prophecied in Báal and caused my people Israél to erre.
- 14 I haue sene also in the Prophetes of Ierusalém filthines: thei commit adulterie & walke in lies: thei strengthen also the háds of the wicked that none can returne from his wickednes: thei are all vnto me as Sodom, and the inhabitants thereof as Gomoráh.
- 15 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes concerning the Prophetes, Beholde, I wil fede them with wormewood, and make them drinke the water of gall: for from y Prophetes of Ierusalém is wickednes gone forthe into all the land.
- 16 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Heare not the wordes of the Prophetes that prophecie vnto you, and teache you vanitie: thei speake the visiõ of their owne heart & not out of the mouth of the Lord.
- 17 Thei saie stil vnto them that despise me, The Lord hath said, Ye<sup>a</sup> shal haue peace: & thei saie vnto euerie one that walketh after the stubbernes of his owne heart, No euil shal come vpon you.
- 18 For p who hathe stand in the counsel of the Lord that he hathe perceiued & heard his worde? Who hathe marked his worde and heard it?

- 19 Beholde, the tempest of the Lord goeth forthe in his wrath, & a violent whirlwinde shal fall downe vpon the head of the wicked.
- 20 The angre of the Lord shal not returne vntil he haue executed, and til he haue performed the thoughts of his heart: in the latter daies ye<sup>a</sup> shal vnderstand it plainly.
- 21 I haue not sent these Prophetes, saith the Lord, yet thei ranne: I haue not spoke to them, and yet thei prophecied.
- 22 But if thei had stand in my counsel, and had declared my wordes to my people, then they shulde haue turned them from their euil waie, and from the wickednes of their inuentions.
- 23 Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God farre off?
- 24 Can anie hide him self in secret places, that I shal not se him, saith the Lord? Do not I fil heauen and earth, saith the Lord?
- 25 I haue heard what the Prophetes said, that prophecie lies in my Name, saying, I haue dreamed, I haue dreamed.
- 26 How long? Do the Prophetes delite to prophecie lies, euen prophecying the deceit of their owne heart?
- 27 Thinke thei to cause<sup>a</sup> my people to forget my Name by their dreames, which thei tel euerie man to his neighbour, as their forefathers haue forgotté my Name for Báal?
- 28 The Prophet that hathe a dreame, let him tel a dreame, and he that hathe my worde, let him speake my worde faithfully: what is y chaffe to the wheat, saith the Lord?
- 29 Is not my worde euen like a fyre, saith the Lord? and like an hammer, that breaketh the stone?
- 30 Therefore beholde, I wil come against the Prophetes, saith the Lord, that steale my worde euerie one from his neighbour.
- 31 Beholde, I wil come against the Prophetes, saith the Lord, which haue swate tongues, and saye, He saith.
- 32 Beholde, I wil come against them that prophecie false dreames, saith the Lord, & do tel them, and cause my people to erre by their lies, and by their flatteries, and I send them not, nor comanded them: therefore thei bring no profite vnto this people, saith the Lord.
- 33 And when this people, or the Prophet, or a Priest shal aske thee, saying, What is the burden of the Lord? thou shalt then say vnto them, What burden? I wil euen forsake you, saith the Lord.

q Bothe that God hathe sent me, and that my wordes shal be true.

Chap. 14. 13. & 27. 27.

r He sheweth the difference betweene the true Prophetes and the false, betweene the hireling and the true minister.

s Do not I se your falschode, howeouer you cloke it, and wherefoerer you commit it?

t I haue a prophecie reueiled vnto me, as Nomb. 12. 6.

u Ebr. Is it in the heart of the prophet?

v He sheweth that Satan raiseth vp false prophetes to bring the people from God.

x Let the false prophet declare that it is his owne fantasie, & not selāder my worde as though it were a cloke to couer his lyes.

y Meaning, y it is not sufficient for Gods ministers to abstaine from lies, & to speake the worde of God: but that there be iudgement in alledging it, & that it may appeare to be applied to the same purpose y it was spoken, Ezek. 3. 17. 1. cor. 2. 17. & 4. 2. 2. tim. 2. 15. 1. pet. 4. 11.

z Which set forthe in my Name y which I haue not comanded.

a To wit, the Lord.

b The Prophetes called their threatenings Gods burden, which the sinners were not able to susteine: therefore y wicked in deciding the worde, wolde aske of the Prophetes, what was the burden, as though thei wolde say, You seke nothing els, but to lay burdeas on our shoulders: and thus thei reueiled the worde of God, as a grievous burden.

<sup>c</sup> Because this worde was brought to contempt & derision, he wil teache them another maner of speache, and wil cause this worde Burden to cease, and teache them to aske with reuerence, What saith y<sup>e</sup> Lord? d The thing which they mocke & contemne, shal come vpon them.

Chap. 20, 11.

<sup>a</sup> The good figges signified the that were gone into captiuitie, and so saued their life, as chap. 21, 8. and the noghtie figges them y<sup>e</sup> remained, which were yet subiect to the sworde, famine and pestilence.

34 And the Prophet, or the Priest, or the people that shal say, The burden of the Lord, I wil euen visit euerie suche one, & his house.

35 Thus shal ye say euerie one to his neighbour, and euerie one to his brother, What hathe the Lord answered? and what hathe the Lord spoken?

36 And y<sup>e</sup> burden of the Lord shal ye mention no more: for euerie mans<sup>d</sup> worde shal be his burden: for ye haue peruered the wordes of the liuing God, the Lord of hostes our God.

37 Thus shalt thou say to y<sup>e</sup> Prophet, What hathe the Lord answered thee? and what hathe the Lord spoken?

38 And if you say, The burden of the Lord, Then thus saith the Lord, Because ye say this worde, The burden of the Lord, and I haue sent vnto you, saying, Ye shal not say, The burden of the Lord,

39 Therefore beholde I, euen I, wil utterly forget you, and I wil forsake you, & the citie that I gaue you & your fathers, and cast you out of my presence, 40 And wil bring *an euermlasting reproche vpon you, & a perpetual shame which shal neuer be forgotten.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 The Lord shewed me, & beholde, two baskets of figges were set before y<sup>e</sup> Temple of the Lord, after that Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel had caried away captiue Ieconiah y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudah, and the princes of Iudah with the workemen, and cunning men of Ierusalem, and had brought them to Babel.

2 One basket had verie good figges, euen like the figges that are first ripe: & the other basket had verie noghtie figges which coulde not be eaten, they were so euil.

3 Then said the Lord vnto me, What seest thou, Jeremiáh? And I said, Figges: the good figges verie good, & the noghtie verie noghtie, which can not be eaten, they are so euil.

4 Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Thus saith the Lord, the God of Israél, Like these good figges, so wil I knowe them that are caried away captiue of Iudah to be good, whome I haue sent out of this<sup>b</sup> place, into the land of the Caldeans.

6 For I wil set mine eyes vpon them for good, and I wil bring them againe to this land, and I wil buyld<sup>e</sup> them, and not destroy them, and I wil plant them, and not roote them out,

7 And I wil giue them<sup>c</sup> an heart to knowe me, that I am the Lord, and they shal be my* people, and I wil be their God: for they shal retorne vnto me with their whole heart.

8 *And as the noghtie figges which can not be eaten, they are so euil (surely thus saith the Lord) so wil I giue Zedekiah the King of Iudah, and his princes, and the residue of Ierusalem, that remaine in this land, & them that dwell<sup>d</sup> in the land of Egypt:

9 I wil euen giue them for a terrible plague to all the kingdomes of the earth, and for a reproche, and for a prouerbe, for a commune talke, and for a curse, in all places, where I shal cast them.

10 And I wil send the sworde, the famine, and the pestilence among them, til they be consumed out of the land, that I gaue vnto them and to their fathers.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The worde that came to Jeremiáh, concerning all the people of Iudah in the<sup>a</sup> fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudah that was in the first yere of Nebuchadnezzar King of Babel:

2 The which Jeremiáh the Prophet spake vnto all the people of Iudah, & to all the inhabitants of Ierusalem, saying,

3 From the thirtieth yere of Iosiah the sonne of Ammon King of Iudah, euen vnto this daye (that is the thre and twentieth yere) the worde of the Lord hathe come vnto me, & I haue spoken vnto you<sup>c</sup> rising early and speaking, but ye wolde not heare.

4 And the Lord hathe sent vnto you all his seruants the Prophetes, rising early and sending them, but ye wolde not heare, nor encline your eares to obeie.

5 Thei<sup>d</sup> said, Turne againe now euerie one from his euil waie, and from the wickednes of your inuencions, & ye shal dwell in the land that the Lord hathe giuen vnto you, and to your fathers for euer and euer.

6 And go not after other gods to serue the & to worship them, and prouoke me not to angre with the workes of your hands, & I wil not punish you.

7 Neuertheles ye wolde not heare me, saith the Lord, but haue prouoked me to angre with the workes of your hands to your owne hurt.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Because ye haue not heard my wordes, 9 Beholde, I wil send and take to me all the

<sup>c</sup> He sheweth that the Prophetes wholly with one consent did labour to pul y<sup>e</sup> people from those vices, & then reigned: rowit, fro 180. latrie, and the vaine confidence of men: for vnder these two all other were contained. 2 King 17, 13. cha 18, 11 & 35, 15. Iosiah, 1, 14.

• families of the North, saith the Lord, & Nebuchad-nezzár the King of Babel my seruante, and wil bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants thereof, & against all these nations rounde about, and wil destroye them, and make them an astonishment and an hissing, and a continual desolation.

10 * Moreouer I wil take from them the voice of mirth and the voice of gladnes, the voice of the bridegrome and the voice of the bride, the noise of the millstones, and the light of the candle.

11 And this whole land shal be desolate, and an astonishment, & these nacions shal serue the King of Babel seventy yeres.

12 And when the <sup>i</sup>seuentie yeres are accomplished, I wil visite<sup>k</sup> the King of Babel and that nacion, saith the Lord, for their iniquities, euen the land of the Caldeans, and wil make it a perpetual desolation, 13 And I wil bring vpon that land all my wordes which I haue pronounced against it, euen all <sup>y</sup> is written in this boke, which Ieremiáh hath prophecied against all nations.

14 For many nacions, and great Kings shal euen <sup>l</sup> serue them selues of them: thus wil I recompēce them according to their dedes, and according to the workes of their owne hands.

15 For thus hath the Lord God of Israël spoken vnto me, <sup>m</sup> Take the cup of wine of this <sup>mine</sup> indignacion at mine hand, and cause all the nacions, to whome I send thee, to drinke it.

16 And they shal drinke, and be moued & be madde, because of the sworde, that I wil send among them.

17 Then toke I the cuppe at <sup>y</sup> Lords hand, and made all people to drinke, vnto whome the Lord had sent me:

18 Euen Ierusalém, and the cities of Iudáh, and the Kings thereof, and the princes thereof, to make them desolate, an astonishment, an hissing, and a curse, <sup>a</sup> as appeareth this day:

19 Pharaóh also, King of Egypt, and his seruantes, and his princes, and all his people:

20 And all sortes of people, and all the Kings of the land <sup>o</sup> of Vz: and all the Kings of the land of the Philistims, & Ashkelón, and Azzáh, & Ekrón, and <sup>y</sup> remnant of Ashdód:

21 Edóm, and Moáb, and the Ammonites,

22 And all the Kings of Tyrus, and all the Kings of Zidón, & the Kings of <sup>y</sup> Yles, that are beyonde the sea,

23 And Dedán, and <sup>f</sup> Temá, & Buz, and all that dwell in the vttermoost corners, of Dedan the sonne of Abrahám and Keturáh.

24 And all the Kings of Arabia, and all the Kings of Arabia, that dwell in the desert, 25 And all the Kings of Zimrí, and all the Kings of Elám, and all the Kings of the Medes.

26 And all <sup>y</sup> Kings of the North farre, and nere one to another, and all the kingdomes of the worlde, which are vpon the earth, & the King of <sup>u</sup> Sheshách shal drinke after them.

27 Therefore say thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israël, Drinke and be drunken, and spewe and fall, and rise no more, because of the sworde, which I wil send among you.

28 ¶ But if thei refuse to take <sup>y</sup> cup at thine hand to drinke, then tel them, Thus saith <sup>y</sup> Lord of hostes, ye shal certainly drinke.

29 For lo, <sup>x</sup> I beginne to plague the citie, where my Name is called vpon, & shulde you go fre? Ye shal not go quite: for I wil call for a sworde vpon all the inhabitants of the earth, saith the Lord of hostes.

30 Therefore prophecie thou against them all these wordes, and saie vnto them, * The Lord shal roare from aboue, and thrust out his voice from his holie habitation: he shal roare vpon his habitation, & crye aloud, as thei that presse the grapes against all <sup>y</sup> inhabitants of the earth, 31 The sounde shal come to the ends of the earth: for the Lord hath a controuersie wth the natiós, and wil entre into iudgement with all flesh, & he wil giue them that are wicked, to the sworde, saith the Lord.

32 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, a plague shal go forth from nation to nation, and a * great whirlewinde shal be raised vp from the coastes of the earth, 33 And <sup>y</sup> the slaine of the Lord shal be at <sup>y</sup> daie, from <sup>one</sup> end of the earth, euen vnto the <sup>other</sup> end of the earth: thei shal not be mourned, nether gathered nor buried, but shal be as the dogue vpon the ground.

34 Howle, <sup>z</sup> ye shepherds, and crye, and walowe your selues in the ashes, ye principal of the flocke: for your daies of slaughter are accomplished, and of your dispercion, and ye shal fall like <sup>a</sup> precious vessels.

35 And the <sup>b</sup> flight shal faile from the shepherds, and the escaping from the principal of the flocke.

36 A voice of the crye of the shepherds, and an howling of the principal of the flocke shal be heard: for the Lord hath destroyed their pasture.

37 And the "best pastures are destroyed because of the wrath and indignacion of the Lord.

38 He hath forsaken his couert, as the lion: for their land is waste, because of <sup>y</sup> wrath of the oppressor, and because of the wrath of his indignacion.

<sup>i</sup> So the wicked and Satan him selfe are Gods seruantes, because he maketh them to serue him by constraint and wrath that which they do of malice, to his honour & glorie.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Ieremiáh moueth the people to repentance. 7 He is taken of the false Prophetes and Priestes and brought to iudgement. 23 Vriáh the Prophet is killed of Iehoiakím contrary to the wil of God.

IN the beginning of the reigne of Iehoiakím the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, came this worde from the Lord, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, Stand in the court of the Lords House, and speake vnto all the cities of Iudáh, which come to worship in the Lords House, all the wordes y I commādt thee to speake: kepe not <sup>a</sup> a worde backe,

3 If so be they wil hearken, and turne euerie man from his euil way, that I may <sup>c</sup> repent me of the plague, which I haue determined to bring vpon them, because of the wickednes of their workes.

4 And y shalt say vnto thē, Thus saith the Lord, If ye wil not heare me to walke in my Lawes, which I haue set before you,

5 And to heare the wordes of my seruants the Prophetes, whome I sent vnto you, both rising vp early, and sending them, and wil not obeie them,

6 Then wil I make this House like <sup>d</sup> Shiloh, and wil make this citie <sup>e</sup> a curse to all the nations of the earth.

7 So the Priestes, and the Prophetes, and all the people heard Ieremiáh speaking these wordes in the House of the Lord.

8 Now when Ieremiáh had made an end of speaking all that the Lord had commanded him to speake vnto all the people, thē the Priestes, and the Prophetes, and all the people toke him, and said, Thou shalt dye the death.

9 Why hast thou prophecied in the Name of y Lord, saying, This House shalbe like Shiloh, & this citie shalbe desolate without an inhabitant: & all the people were gathered against Ieremiáh in the House of the Lord.

10 And when the princes of Iudáh heard of these things, thei came vp from y Kings house into the House of the Lord, & sate downe in the entrie of the newe gate of the Lords House.

11 Then spake the Priestes, and the Prophetes vnto the princes, & to all y people, saying, " This man is worthie to dye: for he hath prophecied against this citie, as ye haue heard with your eares.

12 Then spake Ieremiáh vnto all the princes, & to all the people, saying, The Lord hath <sup>h</sup> sent me to prophecie against this House and against this citie all the things that ye haue heard.

13 Therefore now amēd your waies & your workes, & heare the voice of y Lord your God, y the Lord may repent him of y plague, y he hath pronounced against you.

14 As for me, beholde, I am in your hands: do with me as ye thinke good and right.

15 But knowe ye for certeine, y if ye put me to death, ye shal surely bring innocent blood vpon your selues, and vpon this citie, and vpon the inhabitants thereof: for of a truerth y Lord hath sent me vnto you, to speake all these wordes in your eares.

16 Then said the princes and all the people vnto the Priestes & to the Prophetes, This man is not worthie to dye: for he hath spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord our God.

17 ¶ Then rose vp certeine of the Elders of the land, and spake to all the assemblie of the people, saying,

18 Micháh the Morashite <sup>*prophecied in y</sup> Micháh 1, 2, 3, 12. dayes of Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, and spake to all the people of Iudáh, saying, Thus saith y Lord of hostes, Ziōn shalbe plowed like a field, and Ierusalēm shalbe an heape, & the mountaine of the <sup>i</sup> House shalbe as the high places of the forest.

19 Did Hezekiáh King of Iudáh, and all Iudáh put him to death? did he not feare the Lord, and prayed before the Lord, and the Lord repented him of the <sup>k</sup> plague, that he had pronouced against them: thus might we procure great euil against our soules.

20 And there was also a man that prophecied in y Name of the Lord, one Vriáh the sonne of Shemaiáh, of Kiríath-iarem, who prophecied against this citie, and against this land, according to all the wordes of Ieremiáh.

21 Now when Iehoiakím the King with all his men of power, & all the princes heard his wordes, the King foght to slaie him. But when Vriáh heard it, he was affraied and fled, and went into Egypt.

22 Thē Iehoiakím the King <sup>l</sup> sent men into Egypt, euen Elnathán the sonne of Achbór, and certeine with him into Egypt.

23 And thei fet Vriáh out of Egypt, and brought him vnto Iehoiakím the King, who slewe him with the sworde, and <sup>m</sup> cast his dead bodie into the graues of the children of the people.

24 But the hand of Ahikám <sup>n</sup> the sonne of Shaphán was with Ieremiáh y thei shulde not giue him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

CHAP. XXVII.

Ieremiáh as the commandment of the Lord sendeth bondes to the King of Iudáh and to the other Kings that were nere, whereby thei are monished to be subiectes vnto Nebuchad-nexár 9 He warneth the people & the Kings & rulers that thei beleue not false Prophetes.

IN the beginning of the reigne of <sup>a</sup> Iehoiakím y sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, did not altogether obserue the order of times, but did set some afore, which shulde be after, and contrarie wise: which if the reader marke wel, it shal auoide many doubts, & make the reading muche more easie.

<sup>f</sup> Because of Gods promes to the Temple, Psal. 132, 14. y he wolde for euer remaine there, y hypo-crites thought this Temple colde neuer perishe, and therefore thought it blasphemie to speake against it, Mat. 26, 61. act 6, 13, not considering y this was ment of y Church, where God wil remaine foreuer. <sup>g</sup> So called, because it was repaired by Ioathám, 2. Kings 15, 35. <sup>h</sup> Ebr. iudgement of death belongeth to this man. <sup>i</sup> He bothe sheweth the cause of his doings plainly, and also threateneth them y they shulde nothing auail, thogh they shulde put him to death, but heape greater vengeance vpon their heads.

<sup>k</sup> So that the citie was not destroyed, but by miracle was deliuered out of the hands of Sancherib. <sup>l</sup> Here is declared the furie of tyrants, who can not abide to heare Gods wordes declared, but persecute the ministers thereof, and yet in the end they preuaile nothing, but proue Gods iudgements so muche more. <sup>m</sup> As in the first Hezekiáh example is to be followed, so in this other Iehoiakím is to be abhorred: for Gods plague did light on him, and his household.

<sup>a</sup> As touching the disposition of these prophesies, they that gathered that together some afore, which shulde be after, and contrarie wise: which if the reader marke wel, it shal auoide many doubts, & make the reading muche more easie.

dáh came this worde vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,

1 Thus saith the Lord to me, Make thee bondes, and yokes, and put them vpon thy necke,

2 And send them to the King of Edóm, & to the King of Moáb, and to the King of the Ammonites, and to the King of Tyrus, and to the King of Zidón, by the hád of the messengers which come to Ierusalém vnto Zedekiáh the King of Iudáh,

3 And commande them to say vnto their masters, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Thus shal ye say vnto your masters,

4 I haue made the earth, the man, and the beast that are vpō the groude, by my great power, & by my outstretched arme, & haue giuen it vnto whome it pleased me.

5 But now I haue giuen all these lands into the hád of Nebuchad-nezzár the King of Babel my seruant, and the beastes of the field haue I also giuē him to serue him.

6 And all nations shal serue him, and his sonne, and his sonnes sonne vntil the verie time of his land come also: then manie nations and great Kings shal serue them selues of him.

7 And the nation & kingdome which wil not serue y same Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel, and that wil not put their necke vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, the same nation wil I visite, saith the Lord, with the sworde, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, vntil I haue wholly giuen them into his hands.

8 Therefore heare not your Prophetes nor your southsaiers, nor your dreamers, nor your inchanters, nor your forcerers, which saie vnto you thus, Ye shal not serue the King of Babel.

9 For thei prophecie a lie vnto you to cause you to go farre from your land, and that I shulde cast you out, and you shulde perish.

10 But the nation that put their neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, & serue him, those wil I let remaine stil in their owne land, saith the Lord, and thei shal occupie it and dwell therein.

11 ¶ I spake also to Zedekiáh King of Iudáh according to all these wordes, saying, Put your neckes vnder the yoke of the King of Babel, and serue him and his people, that ye may liue.

12 Why wil ye dye, thou, & thy people by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as the Lord hath spokē against y nation, that wil not serue y King of Babel?

13 Therefore heare not the wordes of the Prophetes, that speake vnto you, saying, Ye shal not serue the King of Babel: for they prophecie a lie vnto you.

14 For I haue not sent the, saith the Lord, yet they prophecie a lie in my Name, that I might cast you out, and that ye might perish, bothe you, & the Prophetes that prophecie vnto you.

15 ¶ Also I spake to y Priestes, & to all this people, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Heare not the wordes of your Prophetes that prophecie vnto you, saying, Beholde, the vessels of the House of the Lord shal now shortly be brought againe from Babel, for they prophecie a lie vnto you.

16 Heare the not, but serue the King of Babel, that ye may liue: wherefore shulde this citie be desolate?

17 But if they be Prophetes, and if the worde of the Lord be with the, let them intreat the Lord of hostes, that the vessels, which are left in the House of the Lord, & in the house of the King of Iudáh, & at Ierusalém, go not to Babel.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that remaine in this citie,

19 Which Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel toke not, when he caryed away captiue Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh from Ierusalém to Babel, with all the nobles of Iudáh and Ierusalém.

20 For thus saith the Lord of hostes y God of Israël, concerning the vessels y remaine in the House of the Lord, & in y house of the King of Iudáh, and at Ierusalém, 21 They shalbe brought to Babel, and there thei shalbe vntil the day that I visite the, saith the Lord: then wil I bring them vp, and restore them vnto this place.

CHAP. XXVIII.

The false prophecie of Hananiah. 12 Ieremiáh reprobeth Hananiah, and prophecieth.

1 And that same yere in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiáh King of Iudáh in the fourth yere, and in the fift moneth Hananiah the sonne of Azúr the Prophet, w was of Gibeón, spake to me in the House of the Lord in the presence of the Priestes, and of all the people, and said,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, the God of Israël, saying, I haue broken the yoke of the King of Babel.

3 Within two yeres space I wil bring into this place all the vessels of the Lords House, y Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel toke away from this place, and caryed them into Babel.

4 And I wil bring againe to this place Ieconiah the sonne of Iehoiakim King of Iudáh, with all the that were caryed away captiue of Iudáh, and wēt into Babel, saith the Lord: for I wil breake the yoke of the King of Babel.

<sup>f</sup> Meaning, that the Prophetes that did either denounce warre or peace, were tryed either true or false by the successe of their prophesies. Albeit God maketh to come to passe sometime that which the false prophet speaketh, to trye the faith of his, Deut. 13.3.

<sup>g</sup> This declareth the impudencie of the wicked hirelings, which haue no zeale to the truth, but are led w ambition to get the fauour of me, & therefore can not abide any, that might discredit them, but burst forth into rages, and contrarie to their owne conscience, passe not what lies they report, or how wickedly they do, so y they may maine taine their estimation.

<sup>k</sup> Seeing this thing was euident in the eyes of y people, and yet they returned not to y Lord, it is manifest, that miracles can not moue vs, neither the worde it self, except God touche the heare.

5 Then the Prophet Jeremiáh said vnto the Prophet Hananiáh in the presence of the Priests, & in the presence of all the people that stode in the House of the Lord.

6 Eue the Prophet Jeremiáh said, So be it: the Lord so do, the Lord confirme thy wordes which thou hast prophesied to restore the vessels of the Lords House, and all that is caried captiue from Babél into this place.

7 But heare thou now this worde that I wil speake in thine eares and in the eares of all the people.

8 The Prophetes that haue bene before me and before thee in time past, <sup>f</sup> prophesied against manie countreis, and against great kingdomes, of warre, & of plagues, and of pestilence.

9 And the Prophet which prophesieth of peace, when the worde of the Prophet shal come to passe, then shal the Prophet be knownen that the Lord hathe truely sent him.

10 Then Hananiáh the Prophet toke the yoke from the Prophet Jeremiahs necke, and brake it.

11 And Hananiáh spake in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus saith y Lord, Euen so wil I breake the yoke of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél, fró the necke of all nations within the space of two yeres: and the Prophet Jeremiáh went his way.

12 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came vnto Jeremiáh the Prophet, (after that Hananiáh the Prophet had broken the yoke from the necke of the Prophet Jeremiáh) saying, 13 Go, & tel Hananiáh, saying, Thus saith the Lord, Thou hast broken the yokes of wood: but thou shalt make for them yokes of yron.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israél, I haue put a <sup>h</sup> yoke of yron vpon y necke of all these natiós, that they may serue Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél: for thei shal serue him, and I haue giuen him the <sup>i</sup> beasts of the field also.

15 The said the Prophet Jeremiáh vnto the Prophet Hananiáh, Heare now Hananiáh, the Lord hathe not sent thee, but thou makest this people to trust in a lye.

16 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil cast thee from of the earth: this yere thou shalt dye, because thou hast spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

17 So Hananiáh the Prophet <sup>k</sup> dyed the same yere in the seuenth moneth.

CHAP. XXIX.

Jeremiáh writeth vnto them that were in captiuitie in Babylon. 10 He prophesieth their returne after seuentie yeres. 16 He prophesieth the destruction of the King and of the people that remaine in Ierusalem.

lem. 27 He threatneth the prophetes that seduce the people. 28 The death of Semeiah is prophesied.

Now these are y wordes of the <sup>o</sup> booke that Jeremiáh the Prophet sent fró Ierusalém vnto <sup>a</sup> the residue of the Elders which were caryed away captiues, and to the Priests, and to the Prophetes, and to all the people whome Nebuchad-nezzár had caryed away captiue from Ierusalém to Babél.

2 (After that Ieconiah the King, and the Quene, and the eunuches, the <sup>b</sup> princes of Iudáh, and of Ierusalém, and the worke men, and cuning men were departed from Ierusalém)

3 By the hand of Elafáh the sonne of Shaphán and Gemariáh the sonne of Hilkiáh (whome Zedekiah King of Iudáh <sup>c</sup> sent vnto Babél to Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babél) saying,

4 Thus hathe the Lord of hostes the God of Israél spoken vnto all that are caryed away captiues, whome I haue <sup>d</sup> caused to be caryed away captiues from Ierusalém vnto Babél

5 Buylde you houses to dwell in, and plant you gardens, and eat the frutes of them.

6 Take you wiues, and beget sonnes, and daughters, and take wiues for your sonnes, and giue your daughters to housbands, that they may beare sonnes & daughters, that ye may be increased there, and not diminished.

7 And seke the prosperitie of the citie, whether I haue caused you to be caryed away captiues, and <sup>e</sup> pray vnto the Lord for it: for in the peace thereof shal you haue peace.

8 ¶ For thus saith y Lord of hostes the God of Israél, Let not your prophetes, & your sothesayers that be amög you, deceiue you, nether giue eare to your dreames, which you dreame.

9 For they prophesie you a lye in my Name: I haue not sent them, saith the Lord.

10 But thus saith the Lord, That after seuentie yeres be accomplished at Babél, I wil visit you, and performe my good promes toward you, and cause you to returne to this place.

11 For I knowe y thoughts, that I haue thought towardes you, saith the Lord, euen the thoughts of peace, and not of trouble, to giue you an end, and your hope.

12 Then shal you crye vnto me, and ye shal go and pray vnto me, and I wil heare you, 13 And ye shal seke me and finde me, because ye shal seke me with all <sup>f</sup> your heart.

14 And I wil be founde of you, saith y Lord, and I wil turne away your captiuitie, and I wil gather you from all the nations and from all the places, whether I haue cast you, saith the Lord, and wil bring you againe again vnto the place, whence I caused you to be caryed away captiue.

15 ¶ Because ye haue said, The Lord hath raised vs vp s Prophetes in Babel, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord of the King, that sitteth vpon the throne of Dauid, & of all the people, that dwell in this citie, your brethren that are not gone forth with you into captiuitie:

17 Euen thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil send vpon them the <sup>h</sup> sworde, the famine, and the pestilence, & wil make them like vile figges, that can not be eatē, they are so noghtie.

18 And I wil persecute them with the sworde, with the famine, & with the pestilence: & I wil make them a terror to all kingdomes of the earth, & a curse, and astonishment, and an hissing, and a reproche among all the nations whether I haue cast them,

19 Because thei haue not heard my wordes, saith the Lord, which I sent vnto them by my seruāts the Prophetes, <sup>l</sup> rising vp carely, & sending them, but ye wolde not heare, saith the Lord.

20 ¶ Heare ye therefore the worde of the Lord all ye of the captiuitie, whome I haue sent from Ierusalēm to Babel.

21 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israël, of Aháb the sonne of Kolaiáh, & of Zedekiáh the sonne of Maaseiáh, which prophecie lies vnto you in my Name, Beholde, I wil deliuer them into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár Kíng of Babel & he shal slaye them before your eyes.

22 And all they of the captiuitie of Iudáh, that are in Babel, shal take vp this curse against them, & say, The Lord make thee like Zedekiáh and like Aháb, whome the King of Babel burnt <sup>m</sup> in the fyre, 23 Because they haue cōmitted <sup>a</sup> vilenie in Israël, and haue committed adulterie with their neighbours wiues, and haue spoken lying wordes in my Name, which I haue not commanded them, euen I knowe it, & testifie it, saith the Lord.

24 ¶ Thou shalt also speake to Shemaiáh the <sup>o</sup> Nehelamite, saying,

25 Thus speaketh <sup>y</sup> Lord of hostes, the God of Israël, saying, Because thou hast sēt letters in thy name vnto all the people, that are at Ierusalēm, & to Zephaniáh the sonne of Maaseiáh the Priest, and to all the Priests, saying, 26 The Lord hath made thee Priest, for <sup>o</sup> Iehoiadá the Priest, that ye shulde be officers in the House of <sup>y</sup> Lord, for euery mā that raueth & maketh him self a Prophet, to put him in prison and in the stockes.

27 Now therefore why hast not thou reproued Ieremiáh of Anathóth, which prophcieth vnto you?

28 For, for this cause he sent vnto vs in Babél, saying, This captiuitie is long: buylde houses to dwell in, and plant gardens, and eat the frutes of them.

29 And Zephaniáh the Priest red this letre in the eares of Ieremiáh the Prophet.

30 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, saying,

31 Send to all the of the captiuitie, saying, Thus saith the Lord of Shemaiáh the Nehelamite, Because that Shemaiáh hath prophcied vnto you, & I sent him not, & he caused you to trust in a lye, 32 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil visite Shemaiáh the Nehelamite, and his sede: he shal not haue a man <sup>p</sup> to dwell among this people, nether shal he beholde the good, that I wil do for my people, saith <sup>y</sup> Lord, because he hath spoken rebelliously against the Lord.

The returne of the people from Babylon. 16 He menaceth the enemies. 18 And comforteth the Church.

THe worde <sup>q</sup> that came to Ieremiáh frō the Lord, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord God of Israël, saying, Write thee all the wordes, that I haue spoken vnto thee in <sup>a</sup> a boke.

3 For lo, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil bring againe <sup>y</sup> captiuitie of my people Israël and Iudáh, saith the Lord: for I wil restore them vnto the land, that I gaue to their fathers, & they shal possesse it.

4 Again, these are the wordes <sup>y</sup> the Lord spake concerning Israël, and concernig Iudáh.

5 For thus saith the Lord, We haue heard <sup>a</sup> terrible voyce, of feare & not of peace.

6 Demande now & beholde, if man trauail with childe: wherefore do I beholde euery man with his hands on his loines as a woman in trauail, & all faces are turned into a palenes?

7 Alas, for this <sup>c</sup> day is great: none <sup>h</sup> hath bene like it: it is euen the time of Iakobs trouble, yet shal he be deliuered from it.

8 For in that <sup>d</sup> day, saith the Lord of hostes, I wil breake <sup>e</sup> his yoke from of thy necke, and breake thy bondes, and strangers shal no more serue them selues <sup>f</sup> of him.

9 But they shal serue the Lord their God, & <sup>g</sup> Dauid their King, whome I wil raise vp vnto them.

10 Therefore feare not, <sup>o</sup> my seruāt Iakób, saith the Lord, nether be afraied, <sup>o</sup> Israël: for lo, I wil deliuer thee from a farre <sup>com</sup> country, and thy sede from the land of their captiuitie, & Iakób shal turne againe, & shalbe in rest and prosperitie & none shal make him afraid.

11 For I am with thee, saith the Lord, to saue thee, though I vterly destroy all the nations where I haue scattered thee: yet wil I not vterly destroy thee, but I wil correct thee by iudgement, and not v<sup>t</sup>terly cut thee of.

12 For thus saith the Lord, Thy bruising is incurable, and thy wounde is dolorous.

13 There is none to iudge thy cause, or to lay a plaister: there are no medecines, nor helpe for thee.

14 All thy louers haue forgotten thee: they seke thee not: for I haue stricken thee with the wounde of an enemy, & with a sharpe chastisement for the multitude of thine iniquities, because thy sinnes were increased.

15 Why cryest thou for thine affliction? thy sorowe is incurable, for the multitude of thine iniquities: because thy sinnes were increased, I haue done these thigs vnto thee.

16 Therefore all they that deuoure thee, shal be deuoured, and all thine enemies euery one shal go into captiuitie: and they that spoyle thee, shalbe spoyled, & all they that robbe thee, wil I giue to be robbed.

17 For I wil restore helth vnto thee, & I wil heale thee of thy woundes, saith the Lord, because they called thee, The cast away, saying, This is Zión, whome no man seketh after.

18 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Iakobs tentes, and haue compassion on his dwelling places: and the citie shalbe buylded vpon her owne heape, and the palace shal remaine after the maner thereof.

19 And out of them shal procede a thanksgiuing, and the voyce of them that are ioyous, and I wil multiplie them, and they shal not be fewe: I wil also glorifie them, and they shal not be diminished.

CHAP. XXXI.

He rehearseth Gods benefites after their returne from Babylon, 23 And the spiritual ioye of the faithful in the Church.

At the same time, saith the Lord, wil I be the God of all the families of Israél, and they shalbe my people.

Thus saith the Lord, The people which escaped the sworde, founde grace in the wilderness: he walked before Israél to cause him to rest.

3 The Lord hath appeared vnto me of olde, say they: Yea, I haue loued thee with an euerlasting loue, therefore with mercie I haue drawn thee.

4 Againe I wil buyld thee, and thou shalt be buylded, o virgine Israél: thou shalt stil be adorned with thy tymbrels, and shalt go forth in the dāce of the that be ioyful.

5 Thou shalt yet plant vines vpon the mountaines of Samaria, and the planters that plant them, shal make them commune.

6 For the daies shal come that the watchmen vpon the moūt of Ephraim shal crye, Arise, and let vs go vp vnto Zión to the Lord our God.

7 For thus saith the Lord, Reioyce with gladnes for Iakób, and shoure for ioye among the chief of the Gentiles: publish praise, and say, O Lord, saue thy people, the remnant of Israél.

8 Beholde, I wil bring the from the North countrey, and gather them from the coastes of the worlde, with the blinde & the lame among them, with the woman with childe, & her that is deliuered also: a great companie shal returne hether.

9 They shal come weeping, and with mercie wil I bring them againe: I wil leade them by the riuers of water in a straight way, wherein they shal not stumble: for I am a Father to Israél, and Ephraim is my first borne.

10 Hear the worde of the Lord, o ye Gentiles, and declare in the yles a farre of, & say, He y<sup>e</sup> scattered Israél, wil gather him and wil kepe him, as a shepherd doeth his flocke.

11 For the Lord hath redeemed Iakób, & rāfomed him from the hand of him, that was stronger then he.

12 Therefore they shal come, and reioyce in the light of Zión, and shal runne to the boutifulnes of the Lord, euen for y<sup>e</sup> wheat and for the wine, and for the oyle, and for the increase of shepe, and bullockes: and their soule shalbe as a watered garden, and they shal haue no more sorow.

13 The shal the virgine reioyce in the dāce, and the yong men, & the olde men together: for I wil turne their mourning into ioye, and wil comforte them, & giue them ioye for their sorowes.

14 And I wil replenish the soule of the Priests with fatnes, and my people shalbe satisfied with my goodnes, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Lord, A voice was heard on hie, a mourning and bitter weping: Rachel weping for her children, refused to be comforted for her children, because they were not.

16 Thus saith the Lord, Refraine thy voice from weping; and thine eyes from teares: for thy worke shalbe rewarded, saith y Lord, and they shal come againe from the land of the enemye:

17 And there is hope in thine end, saith the Lord, that thy children shal come againe to their owne borders.

18 I haue heard Ephraim lamenting thus, Thou hast corrected me, and I was chastised as an vntamed calfe: y conuert thou me, and I shalbe conuerted: for thou art y Lord my God.

19 Surely after that I conuerted, I repented: & after that I was instructed, I smote vpon my thigh: I was ashamed, yea, euen confounded, because I did beare the reproche of my youth.

20 Is Ephraim my dere sonne or pleasant childe? yet since I spake vnto him, I stil remembred him: therefore my bowelles are troubled for him: I wil surely haue compassion vpon him, saith the Lord.

21 Set thee vp signes: make thee heapes: set thine heart toward the path and waie, that thou hast walked: turne againe, o virgine of Israel: turne againe to these thy cities.

22 How long wilt thou go astraie, o thou rebellious daughter? for the Lord hath created a newe thing in the earth: a woman shal compasse a man.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Yet shal they saie this thing in the land of Iudah, and in the cities thereof, when I shal bring againe their captiuitie, The Lord blesse thee, o habitation of iustice & holie mountaine.

24 And Iudah shal dwell in it; & all the cities thereof together, the housbandmen and they that go forth with the flocke.

25 For I haue satiat the weary soule, and I haue replenished euerie sorowful soule.

26 Therefore I awaked and behelde, and my slepe was swete vnto me.

27 Beholde, the daies come, saith the Lord, that I wil sowe the house of Israel, and the house of Iudah with the sede of man and with the sede of beast.

28 And like as I haue watched vpon them, to plucke vp and to roote out, & to throwe downe, and to destroye, and to plague them, so wil I wathe ouer them, to buylde and to plant them, saith the Lord.

29 In those dayes shal they say no more, The fathers haue seaten a sowre grape, & the childrens teeth are set on edge.

30 But euerie one shal dye for his owne iniquitie: euerie man that eateth the sowre grape, his teeth shalbe set on edge.

31 Beholde, the daies come, saith y Lord, that I wil make a newe couenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Iudah, 32 Not according to the couenant that I made with their fathers, when I toke them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Egypt, the which my couenant they brake, although I was an housband vnto them, saith the Lord.

33 But this shalbe the couenant that I wil make with the house of Israel, After those daies, saith the Lord, I wil put my Law in their inward partes, & write it in their hearts, & wil be their God, and they shalbe my people.

34 And they shal teache nomore euerie man his neighbour and euerie man his brother, saying, Knowe the Lord: for they shal all knowe me from the least of them vnto the greatest of them, saith the Lord: for I wil forgiue their iniquitie, and wil remember their sinnes no more.

35 Thus saith the Lord, which giueth the sunne for a light to the day, and the courses of y moone and of the starres for a light to the night, which breaketh the sea, whe the waues thereof roare: his Name is the Lord of hostes.

36 If these ordinances departe out of my sight, saith the Lord, then shal the sede of Israel cease from being a nation before me, for euer.

37 Thus saith the Lord, If the heauens can be measured, or the fundacions of the earth be searched out beneth, then wil I cast of all the sede of Israel, for all that they haue done, saith the Lord.

38 Beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that the cite shalbe buylt to the Lord fro the tower of Hananeel, vnto the gate of the corner.

39 And the line of the measure shal go forth in his presence vpon the hil Garéb, & shal compasse about to Goath.

40 And the whole valley of the dead bodies, and of the ashes, and all the fields vnto the broke of Kidron, and vnto the corner of the horsgate toward the East, shalbe holie vnto the Lord, nether shal it be plucked vp nor destroyed anie more for euer.

THe worde that came vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, in the tenth yere of Zedekiah King of Iudah, which was the eighteenth yere of Nebuchad-nezzár.

For then the King of Babels hoste besieged Ierusalem: and Ieremiáh the Prophet was shut vp in the court of the prison, w<sup>h</sup> was in the King of Iudahs house.

For Zedekiah King of Iudah had shut him vp, saying, Wherefore doest thou prophetic, & say, Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hands of the King of Babel, and he shal take it.

And Zedekiah the King of Iudah shal not escape out of the hand of the Caldeans, but shal surely be deliuered into the hands of the King of Babel, and shal speake with him mouthe to mouthe, and his eyes shal beholde his face,

And he shal lead Zedekiah to Babel, and there shal he be, vntil I visite him, saith the Lord: though ye fight with the Caldeans, ye shal not prosper.

¶ And Ieremiáh said, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

Beholde, Hanameél, the sonne of Shalúim thine vncle, shal come vnto thee and saie, Bye vnto thee my field, that is in Anathóth: for the title by kinred apperteineth vnto thee to bye it.

So Hanameél, mine vncles sonne, came to me in the court of the prison, according to the worde of the Lord, and said vnto me, Bye my field, I praie thee, that is in Anathóth, which is in the countrei of Beniamin: for the right of the possession is thine, and the purchase belongeth vnto thee: bye it for thee. Then I knewe that this was the worde of the Lord.

And I bought the field of Hanameél, mine vncles sonne, that was in Anathóth and weighed him y<sup>e</sup> siluer, euen seuen shekels, and ten pieces of siluer.

And I writ it in the boke and signed it, & toke witnesses, and weighed him the siluer in the balances.

So I toke the boke of the possession, being sealed & according to the Law, and custome, with the boke that was open,

And I gaue the boke of the possession vnto Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, the sonne of Maaseiáh, in the sight of Hanameél mine vncles sonne, and in y<sup>e</sup> presence of the witnesses, written in the boke of the possession, before all the Iewes that sate in the court of the prison.

And I charged Barúch before them, saying,

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel, Take the writings, euen this boke of the possession, bothe that is sealed, and this boke that is open, and put them in an earthen vessel, that thei maie continue a long time.

For the Lord of hostes, the God of Israel saith thus, Houses and fields, and vineyardes shalbe possessed againe in this land.

¶ Now when I had deliuered the boke of the possession vnto Barúch, the sonne of Neriáh, I prayed vnto the Lord, saying, Ah Lord God, beholde, thou hast made the heauē and the earth by thy great power, and by thy stretched out arme, and there is nothing hard vnto thee.

¶ Thou shewest mercie vnto thousands, and recompencest the iniquitie of the fathers into y<sup>e</sup> bosome of their childre after them: o God the great and mightie, whose Name is the Lord of hostes,

Great in counsel, and mightie in worke, (for thine eyes are opē vpon all the waies of the sonnes of men, to giue to euēie one according to his waies, and according to the frute of his workes)

Which hast set signes and wonders in the land of Egypt vnto this day, & in Israel, and among all men, and hast made thee a Name, as appeareth this daie,

And hast brought thy people Israel out of the lād of Egypt with signes, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, with a stretched out arme, and with great terror,

And hast giuen them this land, which thou didest sweare to their fathers to giue them, euen a land, that floweth with milke and honie,

And they came in, and possessed it, but they obeyed not thy voyce, nether walked in thy Law: all that thou commandedst them to do, they haue not done: therefore thou hast caused this whole plague to come vpon them.

Beholde, the mounts, they are come into the citie to take it, and the citie is giuen into the hand of the Caldeans, that fight against it by meanes of the sworde, and of the famiue, and of the pestilence, and what thou hast spoken, is come to passe, and beholde, thou seest it.

And thou hast said vnto me, o Lord God, Bye vnto thee the field for siluer, and take witnesses: for the citie shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

¶ The came the worde of the Lord vnto Ieremiáh, saying,

Beholde, I am the Lord God of all flesh: is there anie thing to hard for me?

Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue this citie into the hand of the Caldeans, and into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár

h And to hide them in the ground, that they might be preserved as a token of their deliuerance.

i Or, hid. Exod. 34, 7. deut. 1, 9.

i Because the wicked are subiect to the curse of God, he sheweth, that their posteritie, which by nature are vnder this malediction, shalbe punished bothe for their owne wickednes & that the iniquitie of their fathers, w<sup>h</sup> is likewise in the, shalbe also reneued on their head. k Meaning, y<sup>e</sup> his miracles in deliuering his people, shulde neuer be forgotten.

l The worde signifieth any thing that is cast vp, as a mount or rampart, and is also used for images of warre, which were layed on as his place to shoot into a citie, before that gonnes were in vse.

m That is, of euēie creature: who as thei are his worke, so doeth he governe and guide them as pleaseth him, whereby he sheweth y<sup>e</sup> as he is the autor of this their captiuitie for their sinnes, so will he be for his mercies be their redemer so restore the againe to libertie.

chad-nezzár, King of Babel, and he shal take it.

39 And the Caldeans shal come and fight against this citie, and set fyre on this citie and burne it, with the houses, vpon whose rooves they haue offred incense vnto Bál, and powred drinke offrings vnto other gods, to prouoke me vnto angre.

30 For the children of Israél, and the children of Iudáh haue surely done euil before me from their youth: for the children of Israél haue surely prouoked me to angre with the workes of their hands, saith the Lord.

31 Therefore this citie hath bene vnto me as a prouocation of mine angre, and of my wrath, from the daye, that they buylt it, euen vnto this daye, that I shulde remoue it out of my sight,

32 Because of all the euil of the children of Israél, and of the children of Iudáh, which they haue done to prouoke me to angre, euen they, their Kings, their princes, their Priests, and their Prophetes, and the me of Iudáh, and the inhabitáts of Ierusalém.

33 And they haue turned vnto me the backe & not the face: thogh I taught them, & rising vp early, and instructing them, yet they were not obediēt to receiue doctrine,

34 But they set their abominations in the house (whereupon my Name was called) to defile it,

35 And they buylt the hye places of Bál, which are in the valley of Ben-hinnóm, to cause their sonnes, and their daughters to passe through the fyre vnto Moléch, w<sup>ch</sup> I commaunded them not, nether came it into my minde, that they shulde do suche abomination, to cause Iudáh to sinne.

36 And now therefore, thus hath the Lord God of Israél spoken, concerning this citie, whereof ye say, It shalbe deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel by the sworde, and by the famine, and by the pestilence, 37 Beholde, I wil gather the out of all countreys, wherein I haue scatred them in mine angre, & in my wrath, and in great indignation, and I wil bring them againe vnto this place, and I wil cause them to dwell safely.

38 And they shal be my people, and I wil be their God.

39 And I wil giue the one heart & one way y<sup>e</sup> they may feare me for euer for the welth of them, & of their children after them.

40 And I wil make an euerlasting couenāt wth the, that I wil neuer turne away frō the to do the good, but I wil put my feare in their hearts, y<sup>e</sup> they shal not departe frō me.

41 Yea, I wil delite in the to do the good, & I wil plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart, & with all my soule.

42 For thus saith the Lord, Like as I haue brought all this great plague vpon this people, so wil I bring vpon them all the good that I haue promised them.

43 And the fields shal be possessed in this land, whereof ye say, It is desolate without man or beast, and shalbe giuen into the hand of the Caldeans.

44 Mé shal bye fields for siluer, and make writings, and seale them, and take witnesses in the land of Beniamín, and round about Ierusalém, & in the cities of Iudáh, and in the cities of the mountaines, and in the cities of the plaine, and in the cities of the South: for I wil cause their captiuitie to returne, saith the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIII.

The Prophet is moued of the Lord to pray for the deliuerance of the people, which the Lord promised. 15 Of the birth of Christ. 20 The kingdome of Christ in the Church shal neuer be ended.

Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto Ieremiáh, the seconde time (while he was yet shut vp in the court of the prison) saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, the maker thereof, the Lord that formed it, and established it, the Lord is his Name.

3 Call vnto me, and I wil answer thee, and shewe thee great & mightie things, which thou knowest not.

4 For thus saith the Lord God of Israél, concerning the houses of this citie, and concerning the houses of the Kings of Iudáh, which are destroyed by the mountes, and by the sworde,

5 Thei come to fight with the Caldeans, but it is to fil the selues with the dead bodies of men, whome I haue slaine in mine angre and in my wrath: for I haue hid my face from this citie, because of all their wickednes.

6 Beholde, I wil giue it helth & amendment: for I wil cure them, and wil reueile vnto them the abundance of peace, and trueth.

7 And I wil cause the captiuitie of Iudáh, and the captiuitie of Israél to returne, & wil buylde them as at the first.

8 And I wil cleanse them from all their iniquitie, whereby they haue sinned against me: yea, I wil pardone all their iniquities, whereby they haue sinned against me, and whereby they haue rebelled against me.

9 And it shalbe to me a name, a bioy, a praise, and an honour before all the nacions of the earth, which shal heare all the good that I do vnto them: and they shal feare, & tremble for all the goodnes, and for all the welth, that I shewe vnto this citie.

He threatneth that the citie, and the King Zedekiah shalbe giuen into the hands of the King of Babylon. He rebuketh their crueltie towards their seruants.

THe worde w<sup>o</sup> came vnto Ieremiáh frō the Lord (when <sup>a</sup> Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babél, and all his hoste, & all the kingdomes of the earth, that were vnder the power of his hand, and all people foght against Ierusalém, and against all the cities thereof) saying, and euerie one his handmaide, and that none shulde serue them selues of them any more, thei obeyed and let them go.

<sup>q</sup> Meaning, the Caldeans and other infidels which thought God had vnterly cast of Iudáh and Israél or Beniamín, because he did correcte them for a time for their amende- ment.

<sup>16</sup> But ye repented, and polluted my Name: for ye haue caused euerie man his seruant, & euerie man his handmaide, whome ye had set at libertie at their pleasure, to returne, and holde them in subiection to be vnto you as seruants and as handmaidens.

<sup>17</sup> Therefore thus saith the Lord, Ye haue not obeyed me, in proclaiming fredome euerie man to his brother, and euerie man to his neighbour: beholde, I proclaime a libertie for you, saith y Lord, to the sworde, to the pestilence, and to the famine, & I wil make you a terrour to all the kingdoms of the earth.

<sup>18</sup> And I wil giue those men that haue broken my couenant, and haue not kept the wordes of the couenant, which thei had made before me, when thei cut the calfe in twaine, and passed betwene the partes thereof.

<sup>19</sup> The princes of Iudáh, and the princes of Ierusalém, the Eunuches, and the Priestes, and all the people of the land, which passed betwene the partes of the calfe, <sup>20</sup> I wil euē giue them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hands of the that seke their life: and their dead bodies shalbe for meat vnto the foules of the heauen, and to the beastes of the earth.

<sup>3</sup> Then toke I Iazaniáh, the sonne of Ieremiáh the sonne of Habazziniáh, and his brethren, and all his sonnes, and the whole house of the Rechabites, <sup>4</sup> And I broght them into y House of the Lord, into the chamber of the sonnes of Hanán, the sonne of Igdaliáh a man of God, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was aboute the chamber of Maaseiáh the sonne of Shallúm, the keeper of the treasure.

<sup>5</sup> And I set before the sonnes of the house of the Rechabites, portes ful of wine, and cuppes, and said vnto them, Drinke wine.

<sup>7</sup> Nether shal ye buylde house, nor sowe fede, nor plant vineyarde, nor haue any, but all your daies ye shal dwell in tentes, that ye may liue a long time in the land where ye be strangers.

<sup>8</sup> Thus haue we obeyed y voice of Ionadáb the sonne of Recháb our father, in all that he hath charged vs, and we drinke no wine all our daies, nether we, our wiues, our sonnes, nor our daughters.

<sup>10</sup> But we haue remained in tentes, and haue obeyed, & done according to all that Ionadáb our father commanded vs.

<sup>11</sup> But when Nebuchadnezzár King of Babel came vp into the land, we said, Come, and let vs go to Ierusalém, from the hoste of the Caldeans, and from the hoste of Arám: so we dwell at Ierusalém.

<sup>13</sup> Thus saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, Go, and tel the men of Iudáh, and the inhabitants of Ierusalém, Wil ye not receiue doctrine to obey my wordes, saith the Lord?

CHAP. XXXVI.

Barúch writeth, as Ieremiáh enditeth, the boke of the curses against Iudáh and Israél. <sup>9</sup> He is sent with the boke vnto the people and readeth it before them all. <sup>14</sup> He is called before the rulers and readeth it before the also. <sup>23</sup> The King casteth it in the fyre. <sup>28</sup> There is another written at the cōmandement of the Lord.

And in the fourth<sup>a</sup> yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudáh, came this worde vnto Ieremiáh from the Lord, saying,

Take thee a roole or boke, and write therein all the wordes that I haue spoken to thee against Israél, & against Iudáh, and against all the nacions, from the daie that I spake vnto thee, <sup>even</sup> <sup>b</sup> from the daies of Iosiah vnto this daie.

It maie be that the house of Iudáh wil heare of all the euil, which I determined to do vnto them that thei may returne euerie man from his euil waie, that I maie forgiue their iniquitie and their sinnes.

Then Ieremiáh called Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, and Barúch wrote<sup>c</sup> at y<sup>e</sup> mouth of Ieremiáh all the wordes of the Lord, which he had spoken vnto him, vpo a roole or boke.

And Ieremiáh cōmanded Barúch, saying,

I am shut vp, <sup>d</sup> & can not go into y<sup>e</sup> House of the Lord.

Therefore go thou, and read the roole wherein thou hast writen at my mouth the wordes of the Lord in the audience of the people in the Lords House vpon the<sup>e</sup> fasting day: also thou shalt read them in the hearing of all Iudáh, y<sup>e</sup> come out of their cities.

It may be that thei wil<sup>f</sup> pray before the Lord, and euerie one returne from his euil way, for the angre & the wrath, that the Lord hathe declared against this people.

So Barúch the sonne of Neriáh did according vnto all, that Ieremiáh y<sup>e</sup> Prophet commanded him, reading in the boke the wordes of the Lord in the Lords House.

And in the fift<sup>s</sup> yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiah King of Iudáh, in the ninth moneth, they proclaimed a fast before the Lord to all the people in Ierusalém, and to all the people that came from the cities of Iudáh vnto Ierusalém.

Then red Barúch in the boke the wordes of Ieremiáh in the House of the Lord, in the chambre of Gemariáh the sonne of Shaphán the secretarie, in the hier court at the entrie of the<sup>h</sup> newe gate of the Lords House, in the hearing of all the people.

When Michaiáh the sonne of Gemariáh, the sonne of Shaphán had heard out of the boke all the wordes of the Lord,

Then he went downe to the Kings house into the Chancellours chamber, and lo, all y<sup>e</sup> princes sate there, <sup>even</sup> Elishamá the Chancellour, & Delaiáh the sonne of Shemaiah, and Elnathan y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Achbór, and Gemariáh the sonne of Shaphán, and Zedekiáh the sonne of Hananiáh, and all the princes.

Then Michaiáh declared vnto them all the wordes that he had heard whē Barúch red in the boke in the audience of the people.

Therefore all the princes sent Iehudí the sonne of Nethaniáh, the sonne of Shelemiah, the sonne of Chushí, vnto Barúch, saying, Take in thine hand the roole, wherein thou hast red in the audience of the people, and come. So Barúch the sonne of Neriáh, toke the roole in his hand, and came vnto them.

And thei said vnto him, Sit downe now, and read it, that we may heare. So Barúch red it in their audience.

Now when thei had heard all the wordes, they where<sup>i</sup> afraid bothe one and other, and said vnto Barúch, We wil certifye the King of all these wordes.

And thei examined Barúch, saying, Tell vs now, how didest y<sup>e</sup> write all these wordes at his mouth.

Then

<sup>g</sup> The fast was then proclaimed, and Barúch red this roole, which was a litle before that Ierusalém was first taken, and then Iehoiakim and Daniel, and his companions were led away captiues.

18 Then Barúch answered them, He pronounced all these wordes vnto me with his mouth, and I wrote them with yncke in the boke.

19 Then said the princes vnto Barúch, Go, hide thee, thou and Jeremiáh, and let no man knowe where ye be.

20 ¶ And thei wēt in to the Kíng to y<sup>e</sup> court, but thei laied vp y<sup>e</sup> roole in the chābre of Elisamá the Chancellour & tolde y<sup>e</sup> King all the wordes, that he might heare.

21 So the King sent Iehudí to fet y<sup>e</sup> roole, & he toke it out of Elisamá the Chancellors chābre, and Iehudí red it in the audience of the King, and in the audience of all the princes, which stode beside the King.

22 Now the King sate in the winter house, in the ninth moneth, and there was a fyre burning before him.

23 And when Iehudí had red thre, or foure fides, he cut it with the penknife and cast it into the fyre, that was on the herth vntil all the roole was cōsumed in the fyre, that was on the herth.

24 Yet thei were not afraid, nor rent m their garments, nether the King, nor any of his seruants, that heard all these wordes.

25 Neuertheles, Elnathán, and Delaiáh, and Gemariáh had befoght the King, that he wolde not burne the roole: but he wolde not heare them.

26 But the King commanded Ierahmeél the sonne of Hammélech, & Seraiáh the sonne of Azriél, & Shelemiáh the sonne of Abdiél, to take Barúch the scribe, and Jeremiáh the Prophet, but the Lord hid them.

27 ¶ Then the worde of the Lord came to Jeremiáh (after that the King had burnt the roole and the wordes w<sup>h</sup> Barúch wrote at the mouth of Jeremiáh) saying,

28 Take thee againe o another roole and write in it all y<sup>e</sup> former wordes that were in the first roole which Iehoiakím y<sup>e</sup> King of Iudáh hath burnt, 29 And y<sup>e</sup> shalt say to Iehoiakím Kíng of Iudáh, Thus saith y<sup>e</sup> Lord, Thou hast burnt this roole, saying, Why hast thou written therein, sayig, that the King of Babél shal certainly come and destroye this land, and shal take thence bothe man and beast?

30 Therefore thus saith the Lord of Iehoiakím King of Iudáh, He shal haue none to sit vpon the throne of Dauid, and his dead bodie shalbe cast out in the day to the heate, and in the night to the frost.

31 And I wil visite him and his sede, and his seruantes for their iniquitie, & I wil bring vpon them, and vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalém, & vpon the men of Iudáh all the euil that I haue pronounced against them: but they wolde not heare.

32 Then toke Jeremiáh another roole, and gaue it Barúch the scribe y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Neríáh, which wrote therein at the mouth of Jeremiáh all the wordes of the boke which Iehoiakím Kíng of Iudáh had burnt in the fyre, and there were added besides them many like wordes.

CHAP. XXXVII.

Zedekiáh succeeded Ieconiah. 3 He sendeth vnto Jeremiáh to praye for him. 12 Jeremiáh, going into the land of Benjamin, is taken. 15 He is beaten and put in prison.

1 And Kíng Zedekiáh the sonne of Iosiáh reigned for a Coniah the sonne of Iehoiakím, whome Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babél made King in the land of Iudáh.

2 But nether he, nor his seruants, nor the people of the land wolde obey the wordes of the Lord, which he spake by the ministerie of the Prophet Jeremiáh.

3 And Zedekiáh the King sent Iehucál the sonne of Shelemiáh, and Zephaniáh the sonne of Maaseiáh the Priest to the Prophet Jeremiáh, saying, Pray now vnto the Lord our God for vs.

4 (Now Jeremiáh went in and out among the people: for they had not put him into the prison.

5 The Pharaohs hoste was come out of Egypt: and whē the Caldeans that besieged Ierusalém, heard tidings of them, thei departed from Ierusalém)

6 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto the Prophet Jeremiáh, saying,

7 Thus saith the Lord God of Israél, Thus shal ye say to the King of Iudáh, y<sup>e</sup> sent you vnto me to inquire of me, Beholde, Pharaohs hoste, which is come forth to helpe you, shal returne to Egypt into their owne land.

8 And the Caldeans shal come againe, and fight against this citie, and take it & burne it with fyre.

9 Thus saith the Lord, Deceiue not your selues, saying, The Caldeans shal surely departe from vs: for thei shal not departe.

10 For though ye had smiten the whole hoste of the Caldeans that fight against you, & there remained but wounded men among them, yet shulde euery man rise vp in his tent, and burne this citie with fyre.

11 ¶ When the hoste of the Caldeans was broken vp from Ierusalém, because of Pharaohs armie, 12 Then Jeremiáh went out of Ierusalém to go into the land of Benjamin, separating him self thence from among the people.

13 And when he was in the gate of Benjamin, there was a chief officer, whose name was Iriáh, the sonne of Shelemiáh, the sonne of Hananiáh, and he toke Jeremiáh the Prophet, saying, Thou fleest to the Caldeans.

14 Then said Ieremiáh, That is false, I flee not to the Caldeás: but he wolde not heare him: so Iriiáh toke Ieremiáh, and broght him to the princes.

15 Wherefore the princes were angry with Ieremiáh, and smote him, and laid him in prison in the house of Iehonathan the scribe: for they had made that the <sup>h</sup> prison.

16 When Ieremiáh was entred into the dongeon, and into the prisons, and had remained there a long time, 17 Then Zedekiáh the King sent, and toke him out, and the King asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any worde from the Lord? And Ieremiáh said, Yea: for, said he, thou shalt be deliuered into the hand of the King of Babel.

20 Therefore heare now, I pray thee, O my lord the King: let my prayer be accepted before thee, that thou cause me not to returne to the house of Iehonathan the scribe, lest I dye there.

21 Then Zedekiáh the King commanded, that they shulde put Ieremiáh in the court of the prison, and that they shulde giue him daiely a piece of bread out of the bakers strete vntil all the <sup>i</sup> bread in the citie were eaten vp. Thus Ieremiáh remained in the court of the prison.

<sup>i</sup> That is, so long as there was any bread in the citie: thus God provided for his <sup>j</sup> he wil cause their enemies to preferre them to <sup>k</sup> end whereunto he hath appointed them.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

<sup>1</sup> Then Shephatiáh the sonne of Matán, and Gedaliáh the sonne of Pashhúr, and Iucál the sonne of Shelemiáh, & Pashhúr the sonne of Malchiáh, heard the wordes that Ieremiáh had spoken vnto all the people, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord, He that remaineth in this citie, shal dye by the sworde, by the famine and by the pestilence: but he that goeth forth to the Caldeans, shal liue: for he shal haue his life for <sup>b</sup> a pray, and shal liue.

3 Thus saith the Lord, This citie shal surely be giuen into the hand of the King of Babels armie, which shal take it.

4 Therefore the princes said vnto <sup>f</sup> King, We beseeche you, let this man be put to death: for thus he <sup>g</sup> weakeneth the hands of the men of warre <sup>h</sup> that remaine in this citie, and the hands of all the people, in speaking suche wordes vnto them: for this man seeketh not the wealth of this people, but the hurt.

5 Then Zedekiáh the King said, Beholde, he is in your hands, for the King can denie <sup>d</sup> you nothing.

6 Then toke they Ieremiáh, and cast him into the dongeon of Malchiáh the sonne of Hammélech, that was in the court of the prison: and they let downe Ieremiáh with coards: and in the dongeon there was no water but myre: so Ieremiáh stakke fast in the myre.

7 Now when Ebed-mélech the <sup>g</sup> blacke More one of the Eunuches, which was in the Kings house, heard that they had put Ieremiáh in the dongeon (then the King late in the <sup>h</sup> gate of Benjamin)

8 And Ebed-mélech wét out of the Kings house, and spake to the King, saying,

9 My lord the King, <sup>i</sup> these men haue done euil in all <sup>j</sup> they haue done to Ieremiáh the Prophet, whome they haue cast into <sup>k</sup> dongeon, and he dyeth for hunger in the place where he is: for there is no more bread in the citie.

10 Then the King commanded Ebed-mélech <sup>j</sup> blacke More, saying, Take fro hence thirtie men <sup>k</sup> with thee, and take Ieremiáh the Prophet out of the dongeon before he dye.

11 So Ebed-mélech toke the men with him and went to the house of the King vnder the tresurie, and toke there olde rotten ragges, and olde worne cloutes, and let them downe by coardes into the dongeon to Ieremiáh.

12 And Ebed-mélech the blacke More said vnto Ieremiáh, Put now these olde rotten ragges and worne vnder thine arme holes, betwene the coardes. And Ieremiáh did so.

13 So they drewe vp Ieremiáh with coardes and toke him vp out of the dongeon, and Ieremiáh remained in the court of the prison.

14 ¶ Then Zedekiáh the King sent, and toke Ieremiáh the Prophet vnto him, into the third entrie that is in the House of the Lord, & the King said vnto Ieremiáh, I wil aske thee a thing: hide nothing from me.

15 Then Ieremiáh said to Zedekiáh, If I declare it vnto thee, wilt not thou slaye me? and if I giue thee counsel, thou wilt not heare me.

16 So the King sware secretly vnto Ieremiáh, saying, As the Lord liueth, that made vs these soules, I wil not slaye thee, nor giue thee into the hands of those men that seke thy life.

17 Then said Ieremiáh vnto Zedekiáh, Thus saith the Lord God of hostes, <sup>j</sup> God of Israél, If thou wilt go forth vnto the King

<sup>19</sup> And Zedekiáh the King said vnto Ieremiáh, I am careful for the Iewes that are fled vnto the Caldeans, lest thei deliuer me into their hands, and thei mocke me.

<sup>25</sup> But if the princes vnderstand that I haue talked with thee, and thei come vnto thee, and say vnto thee, Declare vnto vs now, what thou hast said vnto the King, hide it not from vs, and we wil not slay thee: also what the King said vnto thee;

<sup>26</sup> Then shalt thou say vnto them, I humbly besought the King that he wolde not cause me to returne to Iehonathans house, to dye there.

<sup>3</sup> Herein, appeareth the infirmitie of the Prophet, who did dissemble to saue his life albeit it was not to the dishonour of his doctrine, or to the hurt of any.

<sup>13</sup> Euen thei sent, and toke Ieremiáh out of the court of the prison, and comitted him vnto Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán, that he shulde carie him home: so he dwelt among the people.

16 Go & speake to Ebed-mélech the blacke More, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Beholde, I wil bring my wordes vpon this citie for euil, and not for good, and thei shalbe accomplished in that daie before thee.

17 But I wil deliuer thee in that daie, saith the Lord; and thou shalt not be giuen into the hand of the men whome thou fearest.

18 For I wil surely deliuer thee; and thou shalt not fall by the sworde; but thy life shalbe for a pray vnto thee, because thou hast put thy trust in me, saith the Lord.

g Thus God recompensed his zeale and fa-uour, which he shewed to his Prophet in his troubles,

CHAP. XL.

1 Jeremiáh hath the licence to go whether he wil. 6 He dwelleth with the people that remaine with Gedaliáh.

1 THe worde which came to Jeremiáh from the Lord after that Nebuzar-adan the chief steward had let him go frõ Ramáth, when he had taken him being bounde in chaines among all that were caryed awaie captiue of Ierusalém and Iudáh, which were caryed awaie captiue vnto Babél.

a From this second verse vnto chap 42, it semeth to be as a parenthesis, and separated matter: & there this storie beginneeth agai-ne, & this visio is declared what it was.
b God moued this infidele to speake this, to declare the great blindnes and obstinacie of the Iewes, which colde not fele that which this heathen man confessed.
c Ebr. cease. d Or, as thy commandement.

2 And the chief steward toke Jeremiáh, and said vnto him, The Lord thy God hath pronounced this plague vpon this place.

3 Now the Lord hath brought it, & done according as he hath said: because ye haue<sup>b</sup> sinned against the Lord, and haue not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come vpon you.

4 And now beholde, I lose thee this daie from the chaines which were on thine handes, if it please thee to come with me into Babél, come, and I wil loke wel vnto thee: but if it please thee not to come with me into Babél, tary stil: beholde, all the land is<sup>c</sup> before thee: whether it seemeth good, and conuenient for thee to go, thether go.

5 For yet he was not returned: therefore he said, Returne to Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán, whome the King of Babél hath made gouernour ouer all the cities of Iudáh, and dwell with him among the people, or go wherefoeuer it pleaseth thee to go. So the chief steward gaue him vitayles and a rewarde, and let him go.

e Which was a cittie of Iudáh.

6 Then went Jeremiáh vnto Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, to Mizpáh, and dwelt there with him among the people that were left in the land.

d Which were scattered abroad for feare of the Cal-deans.

7 Now when all the captaynes of the hoste, which were in the fields, euen thei and their men heard, that the King of Babél had made Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám gouernour in the land, and that he had committed vnto him, men, and women, and children, and of the poore of the land, that were not caryed away captiue to Babél, 8 Then they came to Gedaliáh to Mizpáh, euen<sup>e</sup> Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, and Iohanán, and Ionathán the sonnes of Karéah, and Seraiah the sonne of Tanehuméth, and the sonnes of Ephái, the Netophathite, and Iezaniáh the sonne of Maachathi, thei and their men.

e Who was of the Kings blood and after slew him, Cha. 41.

9 And Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán<sup>f</sup> sware vnto them, and to their men, saying, Feare not to serue the Caldeans: dwell in the land, and serue the King of Babél, and it shalbe wel with you.

f 2. King. 21. 14.

10 As for me, beholde, I wil dwell at Mizpáh to<sup>g</sup> serue the Caldeans, which wil come vnto vs: but you, gather you wine, and sommer frutes, and oyle, and put them in your vessels, & dwell in your cities, that ye haue<sup>h</sup> taken.

g Or, as receiue them, or as increase them for you.

11 Likewise when all the Iewes that were in<sup>i</sup> Moáb, and among the Ammonites, and in Edóm, and that were in all the countreis, heard that the King of Babél had left a remnant of Iudáh, and that he had set ouer them Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán, h Or, chiefe of dwelling.

12 Euen all the Iewes returned out of all places where thei were driuen, and came to the land of Iudáh to Gedaliáh vnto Mizpáh, and gathered wine and sommer frutes, very muche.

i Which were fled also for feare of the Caldeans.

13 Moreouer Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaynes of the hoste, that were in the fields, came to Gedaliáh to Mizpáh, 14 And said vnto him, Knowest thou not that<sup>j</sup> Baalis the King of the Ammonites hath sent Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh to slay thee? But Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám beleued them not.

j For tender colour of in-tertainment of Ishmaél he sought only to make the to destroy one another.

15 Then Iohanán the sonne of Karéah spake to Gedaliáh in Mizpáh secretly, saying, Let me go, I pray thee, and I wil slay Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, and no man shal knowe it. Wherefore shulde he kyl thee, that all the Iewes, which are gathered vnto thee, shulde be scattered, and the remnant in Iudáh perish?

k Thus the godlie, which thinke no har-me to others, are someth de-ceiued & neuer lacke such as conspire their destruction.

16 But Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám said vnto Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, Thou shalt<sup>l</sup> not do this thing: for thou speakest falsely of Ishmaél.

CHAP. XLI.

Ishmaél killeth Gedaliáh guilefully, and many other with him. 11 Iohanán followeth after Ishmaél.

BVt in the<sup>m</sup> seventh moneth came Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, the sonne of Elishamá of the sede royal, and the princes of the <sup>b</sup> King, & ten men with him, vnto Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám to Mizpáh, and there thei did <sup>c</sup> eate bread together in Mizpáh.

2 Then arose Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh with these ten men that were with him, and smote Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám the sonne of Shaphán with the sworde, and slewe him, whome the King of Babel had made gouernour ouer the land.

3 Ishmaél also slewe all the Iewes that were with Gedaliáh at Mizpáh, & all the Caldeans that were founde there, & the men of warre.

4 Now the seconde daie that he had slaine Gedaliáh, and no man knewe it,

5 There came men from Shechém, frō Shiloh, & from Samaria, <sup>euen</sup> foure scoremen, hauing their beardes shauen, and their clothes rent and cut, with <sup>d</sup> offerings and incense in their hands to offre in the House of the Lord.

6 And Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh went forth from Mizpáh to mete them, weping as he went: & when he met them, he said vnto them, Come <sup>e</sup> to Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám.

7 And when thei came into the middes of the citie, Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh slewe the, and cast them into the middes of the pit, he and the men that were with him.

8 But ten men were founde among them, that said vnto Ishmaél, Slay vs not: for we haue treasures in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oyle, and of honie: so he staied, and slewe them not among their brethren.

9 Now the pit wherein Ishmaél had cast the dead bodies of the men (whome he had slaine because of Gedaliáh) is it, which Asá the King had <sup>f</sup> made because of Bashá King of Israël, and Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh filled it with them that were slaine.

10 Then Ishmaél caryed away captiue all the residue of the people that were in Mizpáh, <sup>euen</sup> the Kings daughters, and all the people that remained in Mizpáh, whome Nebuzar-adán the chief steward had committed to Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, and Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh caryed them away captiue, and departed to go ouer to the Ammonites.

11 But when Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, & all the <sup>g</sup> captaines of the hoste that were with him, heard of all the euil that Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh had done,

12 Then they all toke <sup>their</sup> men, and went to fight with Ishmaél <sup>y</sup> sonne of Nethaniáh, and founde him by the great waters that are in Gibeón.

13 Now when all the people whome Ishmaél caryed away captiue, sawe Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him, they were glad.

14 So all the people, that Ishmaél had caryed away captiue from Mizpáh, returned and came againe, and went vnto Iohanán the sonne of Karéah.

15 But Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, escaped from Iohanán with eight men, and went to the <sup>h</sup> Ammonites.

16 The toke Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, & all the captaines of the hoste, that were with him all the remnant of the people, whome Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh, had caryed away captiue from Mizpáh, (after that he had slaine Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám) <sup>euen</sup> the strong men of warre, and the women, and the children, & the eunuches, whome he had broght againe from Gibeón:

17 And thei departed and dwelt in Gerúth Chimham, which is by Beth-léhem, to go <sup>i</sup> to entre into Egypt, 18 Because of the Caldeans: for they feared them, because Ishmaél the sonne of Nethaniáh had slaine Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, whome the King of Babel made gouernour in the land.

CHAP. XLII.

1 Then all the captaines of the hoste, and Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, & Iezaniáh the sonne of Hoshaaiáh, and all the people from the least vnto the moste came,

2 And said vnto Jeremiáh <sup>y</sup> Prophet, <sup>b</sup> Hear our prayer, we beseeche thee, & pray for vs vnto the Lord thy God, <sup>eue</sup> for all this remnant (for we are left, <sup>but</sup> a fewe of manie, as thine eyes do beholde)

3 That the Lord thy God may shewe vs the way wherein we may walke, and the thing that we may <sup>a</sup> do.

4 Then Jeremiáh the Prophet said vnto them, I haue heard <sup>you</sup>: beholde, I wil pray vnto the Lord your God according to your wordes, and whatsoever thing the Lord shal answer you, I wil declare it vnto you: I wil kepe nothing backe frō you.

5 Then they said to Jeremiáh, <sup>b</sup> The Lord be a witnes of trueth, and faith betwene vs, if we do not, <sup>euen</sup> according to all things for the which the Lord thy God shal send thee to vs.

Dissembling hypocrites. Jeremiáh. Railings and sclander.

<sup>e</sup> Because all Kings hearts and waies are in his hands, he can turne them & dispose them as it pleaseth him, and therefore they neede not to feare man, but onely obey God, Prou. 21, 1 & 29, 23.

<sup>f</sup> Thus God turneth & politic of the wicked to their owne destruction: for their thought themselves sure in Egypt, and there Nebuchad-nezzár destroyed them, and the Egyptians, Chap. 46, 25.

send thee that it may be wel with vs, when we obey the voyce of the Lord our God.

7 ¶ And so after ten dayes came y<sup>e</sup> worde of the Lord vnto Jeremiáh.

8 Then called he Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste, which were with him, and all the people from the least to the moste,

9 And said vnto the, Thus saith the Lord God of Israél, vnto whome ye sent me to present your prayers before him,

10 If ye wil dwell in this land, then I wil buyld you, and not destroye you, and I wil plant you, and not roote you out: for I repent me of the euil that I haue done vnto you.

11 Feare not for the King of Babel, of whome ye are afraid: be not afraid of him, saith the Lord: for I am with you, to saue you, and to deliuer you from his hand, 12 And I wil grant you mercie that he may haue compalsion vpon you, and he shal cause you to dwell in your owne land.

13 But if ye say, We wil not dwell in this land, nether heare the voyce of the Lord your God,

14 Saying, Nay, but we wil go into the lād of Egypt, where we shal se no warre, nor heare the sounde of the trumpet, nor haue hungre of bread, and there wil we dwell,

15 (And now therefore heare the worde of the Lord, ye remnant of Iudáh: thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israél, If ye set your faces to entre into Egypt, and go to dwell there)

16 Then the sworde that ye feared, f shal take you there in the land of Egypt, and the famine, for y<sup>e</sup> which ye care, shal there hāg vpo you in Egypt, & there shal ye dye.

17 And all the men that set their faces to entre into Egypt to dwell there, shal dye by the sworde, by the famine & by y<sup>e</sup> pestilence, & none of them shal remaine nor escape fro the plague, that I wil bring vpon them.

18 For thus saith the Lord of hostes y<sup>e</sup> God of Israél, As mine angre and my wrath hath bene powred forth vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalém: so shal my wrath be powred forth vpo you, when ye shal entre into Egypt, & ye shal be a detestation, & an astonishmēt, and a curse, and a reproche, and ye shal se this place no more.

19 O ye remnant of Iudáh, the Lord hath said concerning you, Go not into Egypt: knowe certainly that I haue admonished you this day.

20 Surely ye h<sup>e</sup> dissembled in your hearts when ye sent me vnto the Lord your God, saying, Pray for vs vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord our God and declare vnto vs euen according vnto all that the Lord our God shal say, and we wil do it.

Therefore I haue this day declared it you, but you haue not obeyed the voyce of the Lord your God, nor anie thing for the which he hath sent me vnto you.

21 Now therefore, knowe certainly that ye shal dye by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place whither ye desire to go and dwell.

CHAP. XLIII.

Iohanán carryeth the remnant of the people into Egypt contrarie to the minde of Jeremiáh. & Jeremiáh prophesieth the destruction of Egypt.

NOW whē Jeremiáh had made an end of speaking vnto the whole people all the wordes of the Lord their God, for the which y<sup>e</sup> Lord their God had sent him to them, euen all these wordes,

2 Then a spake Azariáh the sonne of Hosaiáh, and Iohanán the sonne of Karéah and all the b<sup>e</sup> proude men, saying vnto Jeremiáh, c Thou speakest fallily: the Lord our God hath d<sup>e</sup> not sent thee to say, Go not into Egypt to dwell there,

3 But Barúch the sonne of Neriáh e<sup>e</sup> prouoketh thee against vs, for to deliuer vs into the hand of the Caldeans, that they might slaye vs, and carie vs away captiues into Babel.

4 So Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste, and all the people obeyed not the voyce of the Lord, to dwell in the land of Iudáh.

5 But Iohanán the sonne of Karéah, and all the captaines of the hoste toke all y<sup>e</sup> remnant of Iudáh, that were returned from all f<sup>e</sup> nations, whether thei had benedriue, to dwell in the land of Iudáh:

6 Euen men and women, and children, and the Kings daughters, and euerie persone, that Nebuzar-adán the chief steward had left with Gedaliáh the sonne of Ahikám, the sonne of Shaphán, and Jeremiáh s<sup>e</sup> the Prophet, & Barúch the sonne of Neriáh.

7 So they came into the land of Egypt: for they obeyed not the voyce of the Lord: thus came they h<sup>e</sup> to Tahpanhes.

8 ¶ Thē came the worde of the Lord vnto Jeremiáh in Tahpanhes, saying,

9 Take great stones in thine hand, and i<sup>i</sup> hide them in the clay in the bricke kil, which is at the entrie of Pharaohs house in Tahpanhes in the sight of the men of Iudáh,

10 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israél, Beholde, I wil send and bring Nebuchad-nezzár the King of Babel k<sup>k</sup> my seruant, and wil set his throne vpo these stones y<sup>e</sup> I haue hid, and he shal spreade his pauillion ouer the.

11 And when he shal come, he shal smite the land of Egypt: l<sup>l</sup> suche as are appointed for death, to death, & such as are for captiuitie, to captiuitie, and suche as are for the sworde, to the sworde.

14 He shal breake also the images of Bethshémesh, that is in the land of Egypt, and the houses of the gods of the Egyptians shal he burne with fyre.

CHAP. XLIIII.

He reproveth the people for their idolatrie. 15 Thei that set light by the threatening of the Lord, are chastened. 26 The destruction of Egypt and of the Iewes therein, is prophesied.

1 The worde that came to Ieremiāh concerning all the Iewes, which dwell in the land of Egypt, and remained at Migdól and at Tahpanhes, and at Noph, and in the countrey of Pathrós, saying,

2 Thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Ye haue sene all the euil that I haue broght vpon Ierusalém, and vpon all y cities of Iudáh: & beholde, this day thei are desolate, & no man dwelleth therein,

3 Because of their wickednes which thei haue committed, to prouoke me to angre in that thei went to burne incense, & to serue other gods, whome thei knewe not, neither thei nor you nor your fathers.

4 Howbeit I sent vnto you all my seruants the Prophetes rising early, and sending them, saying, Oh do not this abominable thing that I hate.

5 But thei wolde not heare nor incline their eare to turne from their wickednes, and to burne no more incense vnto other gods.

6 Wherefore my wrath, and mine angre was powred forthe and was kindled in the cities of Iudáh, and in the stretes of Ierusalém, and thei are desolate, & wasted, as appeareth this daye.

7 Therefore now thus saith y Lord of hostes the God of Israël, Wherefore commit ye this great euil against your soules, to cut of from you man and woman, childe & suckeling out of Iudáh, and leaue you none to remaine?

8 In that ye prouoke me vnto wrath with the workes of your hands, burning incense vnto other gods in the land of Egypt whether ye be goneto dwell: y ye might bring destruction vnto your selues, and that ye might be a curse and a reproche among all nations of the earth.

9 Haue ye forgotten the wickednes of your fathers, and the wickednes of the Kings of Iudáh and the wickednes of their wiues and your owne wickednes and the wickednes of your wiues, which thei haue committed in the land of Iudáh and in y stretes of Ierusalém?

10 Thei are not humbled vnto this daye, neither haue thei feared nor walked in my Lawe nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.

11 Therefore thus saith y Lord of hostes y God of Israël, Beholde, I wil set my face against you to euil & to destroy all Iudáh, 12 And I wil take the remnant of Iudáh, that haue set their faces to go into the land of Egypt there to dwell, and thei shal all be consumed & fall in the land of Egypt: they shal euen be consumed by the sworde & by y famine: thei shal dye from the least vnto the moste, by the sworde, & by the famine, & thei shal be a detestation and an astonishment and a curse and a reproche.

13 For I wil visit them that dwell in the lād of Egypt, as I haue visited Ierusalém, by y sworde, by the famine, & by the pestilence, 14 So that none of the remnant of Iudáh, which are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shall escape or remaine, that thei shuld returne into the lād of Iudáh to the which thei haue a desire to returne to dwell there: for none shal returne, but s suche as shal escape.

15 Then all the men which knewe that their wiues had burnt incense vnto other gods and all the women that stode by, a great multitude, euen all the people that dwelt in the land of Egypt in Pathrós, answered Ieremiāh, saying,

16 The worde that thou hast spoken vnto vs in the Name of the Lord, we wil not heare it of thee,

17 But we wil do whatsoeuer thing goeth out of our owne mouth, as to burne incense vnto the Quene of heauē, & to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, as we haue done, bothe we and our fathers, our Kings and our princes in the citie of Iudáh, and in the stretes of Ierusalém: for then had we plentie of vitales and were wel and felt none euil.

18 But since we left of to burne incense to the Quene of heauen, and to powre out drinke offrings vnto her, we haue had scarcenes of all things, and haue bene consumed by the sworde and by the famine.

19 And when we burnt incense to the Quene of heauen & powred out drinke offrings vnto her, did we make her cakes to make her glad, and powre out drinke offrings vnto her without our housbandes?

20 Then said Ieremiāh vnto all the people, to the men, and to the women, and to all y people w had giue him y answer, saying,

21 Did not y Lord remeber the incense, that ye burnt in y cities of Iudáh, & in the stretes of Ierusalém, bothe you, & your fathers, your Kings, and your princes, and the people of y lād, & hathe he not considered it?

The obstinat idolaters. Jeremiáh. Baruchs infirmitie.

22 So that the Lord colde no longer forbear, because of the wickednes of your inuencions, & because of the abominations, which ye haue comitted: therefore is your land desolate and an astonishment, & a curse without inhabitant, as appeareth this daie.

23 Because ye haue burnt incense and because ye haue sinned against the Lord, & haue not obeyed the voice of the Lord, nor walked in his Law nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies, therefore this plague is come vpon you, as appeareth this day.

24 Moreouer Jeremiáh said vnto all the people and to all the women, Heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudáh that are in the land of Egypt.

25 ¶ Thus speaketh y<sup>e</sup> Lord of hostes, y<sup>e</sup> God of Israel, saying, Ye and your wiues haue bothe spoken with your mouthes, and fulfilled with your hand, saying, We wil performe our vowes y<sup>e</sup> we haue vowed to burne incense to y<sup>e</sup> Queene of heauen, and powre out drinke offrings to her: ye wil performe your vowes and do the things that ye haue vowed.

26 Therefore heare the worde of the Lord, all Iudáh that dwell in the land of Egypt. Beholde, I haue sworne by my great Name, saith the Lord, that my Name shal no more be called vpon by the mouth of any man of Iudáh, in all the land of Egypt, saying, The Lord God liueth.

27 Beholde, I wil watche ouer them for euil and not for good, and all men of Iudáh that are in the land of Egypt, shal be consumed by the sworde, and by the famine, vntil thei be viterly destroyed.

28 Yet a smale nombre that escape the sworde, shal returne out of the land of Egypt into the land of Iudáh: and all the remnant of Iudáh that are gone into the land of Egypt to dwell there, shal knowe whose wordes shal stand, mine or theirs.

29 And this shal be a signe vnto you, saith the Lord, when I visite you in this place, that ye maie knowe that my wordes shal surely stand against you for euil.

30 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil giue Pharaoh Hophrá King of Egypt into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of them that seke his life: as I gaue Zedekiah King of Iudáh into the hand of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel his enemy, who also soght his life.

CHAP. XLV.

¶ Jeremiáh comforteth Baruch assuring him that he shoulde not perishe in the destruction of Ierusalem.

¶ The worde that Jeremiáh the Prophet spake vnto a Baruch the sonne of Neriáh, when he had writen these wordes in a booke at the mouth of Jeremiáh, in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh, saying,

1 Thus saith the Lord God of Israel vnto thee, o Baruch,

2 Thou didest say, Wo is me now: for the Lord hath layed sorowe vnto my sorow: I fainte in my mourning, and I can finde no rest.

3 Thus shalt thou say vnto him, The Lord saith thus, Beholde, that which I haue buylt, wil I destroye, & that which I haue planted, wil I plucke vp, euen this whole land.

4 And sekest thou great things for thy selfe: seke them not: for beholde, I wil bring a plague vpon all flesh, saith the Lord: but thy life wil I giue thee for a pray in all places, whether thou goest.

CHAP. XLVI.

¶ He prophesieth the destruction of Egypt, & deliuerance is promised to Israel.

1 The wordes of the Lord, which came to Jeremiáh the Prophet against the Gentiles,

2 As against Egypt, against the armie of Pharaoh Nechó King of Egypt, which was by the riuer Peráth in Carchemish, which Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel smote in the fourth yere of Iehoiakim the sonne of Iosiáh King of Iudáh.

3 Make readie buckeler and shield, and go fourth to battel.

4 Make readie the horses, and let the horsemen get vp, & stand vp wth your fallers, fourbush the speares, and put on the brigandines.

5 Wherefore haue I sene them afraide, & driuen backe: for their mightie men are smitten, and are fled away, and loke not backe: for feare was round about, saith the Lord.

6 The swift shal not flee away, nor the strong man escape: they shal stumble, and fall towarde the North by the riuer Peráth.

7 Who is this, that cometh vp, as a flood, whose waters are moued like the riuers?

8 Egypt riseth vp like the flood, and his waters are moued like the riuers, and he saith, I wil go vp, & wil couer the earth: I wil destroye the citie with them that dwell therein.

9 Come vp, ye horses, and rage ye charets, and let the valiant men come forth, & the blacke Mores, and the Lybians that beare the shield, and the Lydians that handle & bend the bowe.

10 For this is the day of the Lord God of hostes, & a day of vengeance, that he may aduenge him of his enemies: for the sworde shal deuoure, and it shal be satiat, and made drunke with their blood: for the Lord God of hostes hath a sacrifice in the North m You haue comitted double euil in making wicked vowes, and in performing y<sup>e</sup> same.

n This declarereth an horrible plague toward idolaters, seeing that God wil not vouchsafe to haue his Name mentioned by such as haue polluted it.

o We see therefore, that God hath a perpetual care ouer his, wherefoeuer they are scattered: for though they be but twoorthree, yet he wil deliuer them when he destroyeth his enemies.

p He sheweth the meanes whereby they shoulde be destroyed to assure them of y<sup>e</sup> certaintie of y<sup>e</sup> plague, and yet they remaine still in their obstinacie till they perish: for Iosephus lib. 10. de Antiq. cap. 11. writeth that sene yere after the taking of Ierusalem, Nebuchad-nezzár the younger, hauing overcome the Moabites and the Ammonites, wth against Egypt, & slew the King, & so brought these Iewes, and other into Babylon.

a Which was Jeremiáh's disciple, & wrote his prophecies vnder him.
b Whereof read Chap. 36.

c Baruch moved with an inconsiderate zeale of Ieremiáh's imprisonment, but chiefly for the destruction of the people, and the Temple, maketh this lamentation, as Psal. 6. 6.

c He warneth the Egyptians to prepare themselves to warre.

d The Prophet had this vision of the Egyptians which shoulde be put to flight by the Babylonians at Carchemish.

e The Babylonians shal discomfort them at the riuer Euphrates.
f He denieth y<sup>e</sup> boastings of the Egyptians who thought by their riches, & power to haue overcome all the world, aluding to the riuer Nilus, which at certaine times overfloweth the country of Egypt.
g For these nations toke part with the Egyptians.
h He calleth the slaughter of Gods enemies a sacrifice, because it is a thing that doeth please him, Isa. 34. 6.

12 The nations haue heard of thy shame, & thy crye hath filled the land: for <sup>y</sup> strong hath stumbled against the strong & they are fallen bothe together.

13 ¶ The worde that the Lord spake to Jeremiáh the Prophet, how Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel shulde come and smite the land of Egypt.

14 Publish in Egypt & declare in Migdól, and proclaime in Noph, & in Tahpanhés, & say, Stand stil, and prepare thee: for the sworde shal deuoure rounde about thee.

15 Why are thy valiant men put backe? thei colde not stand, because the Lord did driue them.

16 He made many to fall, and one fel vpon another: and they said, Arise, let vs go againe to our <sup>a</sup> owne people, & to the land of our natiuitie from the sworde of the violent.

17 They did crye there, Pharaóh King of Egypt, and of a great multitude <sup>o</sup> hath passed the time appointed.

18 As I liue, saith the King, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, surely as Tabór <sup>is</sup> in the mountaines, & as Carmél <sup>is</sup> in the sea: so shal <sup>p</sup> it come.

19 O thou daughter dwellig in Egypt, make thee geare to go into captiuitie: for Noph shalbe waste and desolate, without an inhabitant.

20 Egypt <sup>is</sup> like a <sup>q</sup> faire calfe, but destruction cometh: out of the North it cometh.

21 Also her hired men <sup>are</sup> in the middes of her like fat calves: thei are also turned backe and fled away together: they colde not stand, because the day of their destruction was come vpon them, & the time of their visitacion.

22 The voyce thereof shal go forth like a <sup>r</sup> serpent: for they shal marche with an armie, and come against <sup>r</sup> her with axes, as hewers of wood.

23 They shal cut downe <sup>r</sup> her forest, saith <sup>y</sup> Lord: for they can not be counted, because they are more then the <sup>r</sup> greshoppers, and are innumerable.

24 The daughter of Egypt shalbe confounded: she shalbe deliuered into the hands of the people of the North.

25 ¶ Thus saith the Lord of hostes, <sup>y</sup> God of Israél, Beholde, I wil visite the <sup>y</sup> comune people of No & Pharaóh, and Egypt, with their gods & their Kings, euen Pharaóh, and all them that trust in him, 26 And I wil deliuer them into the hands of those, that seke their liues, and into the hád of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel, and into the hands of his seruantes, and afterward she shal dwell as <sup>a</sup> in the olde time, saith the Lord.

28 Feare thou not, <sup>o</sup> Iakób my seruat, saith the Lord: for I am with thee, and I wil vtterly destroy all the natiós, whether I haue driuen thee: but I wil not vtterly destroy thee, but correct <sup>b</sup> thee by iudgement, and not vtterly cut thee of.

CHAP. XLVII.

The worde of the Lord against the Philistims.

1 The wordes of the Lord that came to Jeremiáh the Prophet, against <sup>y</sup> Philistims, before that Pharaóh smote <sup>a</sup> Azzáh.

2 Thus saith the Lord, Beholde, waters rise vp out of the <sup>b</sup> North, & shalbe as a swelling flood, and shal ouerflowe the land, & all that is therein, and the cities with them that dwell therein: then the men shal crye, & all the inhabitants of <sup>y</sup> land shal howle,

3 At the noyce & stamping of the hoofes of his strong horses, at the noyce of his charets, and at the rumbling of his wheles: the fathers shal not cloke backe to their children, for feblenes of <sup>d</sup> hands,

4 Because of the daye that cometh to destroye all the Philistims, and to destroye Tyrus, and Zidon, & all the rest, that take their parte: for the Lord wil destroye the Philistims, <sup>y</sup> remnant of the yle of <sup>e</sup> Caph-tór.

5 <sup>f</sup> Baldenes is come vpo Azzáh: Ashkelón is cut vp with the rest of their vailles. How long wilt <sup>g</sup> thou cut thy self?

6 O thou sworde of the Lord, how long wil it be or thou cease! turne againe into thy scaberde, rest and be stil.

7 How can it <sup>h</sup> cease, seing the Lord hath giuen it a charge against Ashkelón, & against the sea bancke: euen there hath he appointed it.

The worde of the Lord against the Moabites, <sup>so</sup> Because of their pride and crueltie.

2 Moáb shal boast no more of Heshbón: for thei haue deuised euil against it. <sup>b</sup> Come, and let vs destroye it, that it be no more a nacion: also thou shalt be destroyed, <sup>c</sup> <sup>o</sup> Madmén, and the sworde shal pursue thee.

- 15 Moáb is destroyed, and his cities <sup>p</sup> burnt vp, & his chosen yong mé are gone downe to slaughter, saith the King, whose name is, The Lord of hostes.
- 16 The destruction of Moáb is readie to come, and his plague hasteth fast.
- 17 All ye <sup>q</sup> y are about him, mourne for him, & all ye that knowe his name, say, <sup>r</sup> How is the strong staffe broken, & the beautiful rod!
- 18 Thou daughter that doest inhabite Dibón, come downe from <sup>s</sup> thy glorie, & sit in thir st: for the destroyer of Moáb shal come vp vpon thee, and he shal destroy thy strong holdes.
- 19 Thou that dwellest in Aroér, stād by the way, and beholde: aske him that fleeth and that escapeth, <sup>t</sup> & say, What is done?
- 20 <sup>u</sup> Moáb is confounded: for it is destroyed: howle, and crye, telye it in Arnón, that Moáb is made waste,
- 21 And iudgement is come vpon the plaine countrey, vpon Holón & vpon Iahazáh, and vpon Mepháath,
- 22 And vpon Dibón, and vpon Nebó, and vpon the house of Diblatháim,
- 23 And vpon Kiriatháim, and vpon Beth-gamúl, and vpon Beth-meón,
- 24 And vpon Kerióth, and vpon Bozráh, & vpon all the cities of the land of Moáb farre or nere.
- 25 The <sup>v</sup> horne of Moáb is cut of, and his arme is broken, saith the Lord.
- 26 Make ye him <sup>w</sup> drunken: for he magnified him self against the Lord: Moáb shal <sup>x</sup> walow in his vomite, and he also shalbe in derision.
- 27 For didest not <sup>y</sup> deride Israël, as thogh he had bene founde among theues? for when thou speakest of him, thou art <sup>z</sup> moued.
- 28 O ye that dwell in Moáb, leaue the cities, and dwell in the rockes, and be like the doue, that maketh her neste in the sides of the holes mouth.
- 29 <sup>a</sup> We haue heard the pride of Moáb (<sup>b</sup> he is exceding proude) his stoutnes, and his arrogancie, and his pride, and the hautenes of his heart.
- 30 I knowe his wrath, saith the Lord, <sup>c</sup> but it shal not be so: <sup>d</sup> & his dissimulations, for thei do not right.
- 31 <sup>e</sup> Therefore wil I howle for Moáb, and I wil crye out for all Moáb: <sup>f</sup> mine heart shal mourne for the men of Kir-héres.
- 32 O vine of Sibmáh, I wil wepe for thee, as I wept for Iazér: thy plantes are gone ouer the sea, thei are come to the sea <sup>g</sup> of Iazér: the destroyer is fallen vpon thy sommer frutes, and vpon thy vintage,
- 33 And ioye, and gladnes is taken from the plentiful field & from the land of Moáb: and I haue caused wine to faile from the wine presse: none shal tread with shewtng: <sup>h</sup> their shewtng shalbe no shewtng.
- 34 Fró the crye of Heshbón vnto Elaléh & vnto Iaház haue thei made their noyse from Zóar vnto Horonáim, the <sup>i</sup> heiffer of thre yere olde shal go lowing: for the waters also of Nimrim shalbe waited.
- 35 Moreouer, I wil cause to cease in Moáb, saith the Lord, him that offred in the high places, and him that burneth incense to his gods.
- 36 Therefore mine heart shal sould for Moáb like a <sup>j</sup> shaume & mine heart shal sould like a shaume for the men of Kir-héres, because the riches that he hath gotten, is perished.
- 37 <sup>k</sup> For euery head shalbe <sup>l</sup> balde, and euery bearde plucked: vpon all the handes shalbe cuttings, and vpon the loynes sackcloth.
- 38 And mourning shalbe vpon all the house toppes of Moáb and in all the stretes thereof: for I haue brokē Moáb like a vessel wherein is no pleasure, saith the Lord.
- 39 Thei shal howle, <sup>m</sup> saying, How is he destroyed

Vnto the children of <sup>a</sup> Ammón thus saith the Lord, Hath Israel no sonnes? or hath he none heire? Why then hath the their <sup>b</sup> King possessed Gad? and his people dwell in <sup>c</sup> his cities?

Therefore beholde, the dayes come, saith the Lord, that I wil cause a noyse of warre to be heard in <sup>d</sup> Rabbáh of the Ammonites, and it shalbe a desolate heape, & her daughters shalbe burnt with fyre: then shal Israel possesse those that possessed him, saith the Lord.

Howle, o Heshbón, for Ai is wasted: crye ye daughters of Rabbáh: girde you with sackcloth: mourne & runne to & fro by <sup>y</sup> hedges: for their King shal go into captiuitie, & his Priests, and his princes likewise.

Wherefore gloriest thou in the <sup>e</sup> valleis? thy valley floweth away, o rebellious daughter: she trusted in her treasures, saying, Who shal come vnto me?

Beholde, I wil bring <sup>f</sup> a feare vpon thee, saith the Lord God of hostes, of all those that be about thee, and ye shalbe scared euerie man <sup>g</sup> right forthe, & none shal gather him that fleeth.

captiuitie of the children of Ammón.

7 ¶ To Edóm thus saith the Lord of hostes, Is wisdom no more in <sup>i</sup> Temán? is counsel perished from their children? is their wisdom vanished?

8 Flee, ye inhabitants of Dedán (<sup>k</sup> they are turned backe, and haue consulted to dwell) for I haue broght the destruction of Esáu vpon him, and the time of his visitation.

<sup>k</sup> The enemies that shal dissemble as though they fled away, shal turne backe, & invade your land, and possesse it.

9 If the <sup>l</sup> grape gatherers come to thee, wolde they not leaue some grapes? if theues come by night, they wil destroye til they haue ynough.

10 For I haue discovered Esáu: I haue vncouered his secrets, and he shal not be able to hide him self: his sede is wasted, and his brethré and his neighbours, and there shalbe none to say,

11 Leaue thy <sup>n</sup> fatherles children, & I wil preferue them aliue, and let thy widowes trust in me.

12 For thus saith the Lord, <sup>o</sup> Beholde, they whose iudgement was not to drinke of the cuppe, haue assuredly drunkē, and art thou he that shal escape fre? thou shalt not go fre, but thou shalt surely drinke of it.

13 For I haue sworne by my self, saith the Lord, that <sup>p</sup> Bozrah shalbe waste, and for a reproche, and a desolation, and a curse, and all the cities thereof shalbe perpetual desolations.

14 I haue heard a rumour from the Lord, & an embassadour is sent vnto the heathen, saying, Gather you together, and come against <sup>q</sup> her, and rise vp to the battel.

15 For lo, I wil make thee but smale among the heathen, and despised among men.

16 Thy <sup>r</sup> feare, and the pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee, thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rocke, and kepest the height of the hill: though thou shuldest make thy nest as hie as the egle, I wil bring thee downe from thence, saith the Lord.

17 ¶ Also Edóm shalbe desolate: euerie one that goeth by it, shalbe astonished, & shal hiss at all the plagues thereof, 18 As in the ouerthrowe of Sodom, and of Gomoráh, and the places thereof nere about, saith the Lord: no man shal dwell there, neither shal the sonnes of men remaine in it.

19 Beholde, <sup>t</sup> he shal come vp like a lyon from the swelling of Iordén: vnto the strong dwelling place: for I wil make <sup>u</sup> Israel to rest, euen I wil make <sup>v</sup> him to haste away from her, & who is a chosen mā that I may appoint against her? for who is like me? & who wil appoint me <sup>y</sup> time? & who is the <sup>w</sup> shepherd that wil stand before me?

26 Therefore her yong mē shal fall in her stretes, and all her men of warre shal be cut of in that day, saith the Lord of hostes.

27 And I wil kindle a fyre in the walle of Damascus, which shal consume the palaces of <sup>b</sup> Ben-hadad.

28 ¶ Vnto <sup>c</sup> Kedár, and to the kingdomes of Hazór, which Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel shal smite, thus saith the Lord, Arise, & go vp vnto Kedár, and destroye the men of the East.

29 Their tentes and their flockes shal they take away: yea, they shal take to the selues their <sup>d</sup> curtaines, and all their vessels, and their camels & they shal crye vnto them, Feare is on euerie side.

31 ¶ Arise, & get you vp vnto the welthie nation that dwelleth without care, saith the Lord, which haue nether gates nor barres, but dwell alone.

32 And their camels shal be a boutie, and the multitude of their cattel a spoile, and I wil scatter the into all windes, and to the vtmost corners, and I wil bring their destruction from all the sides thereof, saith the Lord.

33 And Hazór shal be a dwelling for dragons, & desolation for euer: there shal no man dwell there, nor the sonnes of men remaine in it.

34 ¶ The wordes of the Lord that came to Ieremiáh the Prophet, concerning <sup>g</sup> Elám, in the beginning of the reigne of Zedekiah King of Iudáh, saying, 35 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil breake the <sup>h</sup> bowe of Elám, <sup>u</sup> euen the chief of their strength.

36 And vpon Elám I wil bring the foure winds frö the foure quarters of heauen, & wil scatte the towards all these windes, and there shal be no nation, whether the fugitiues of Elám shal not come.

37 For I wil cause Elám to be afraied before their enemies, and before them that seke their liues, and wil bring vpon them a plague, <sup>u</sup> euen the indignation of my wrath, saith the Lord, and I wil send the sworde after them til I haue consumed them.

38 And I wil set my <sup>i</sup> throne in Elám, and I wil destroye <sup>u</sup> both the King and the princes from thence, saith the Lord: but <sup>k</sup> in the latter dayes I wil bring againe the captiuitie of Elám, saith the Lord.

CHAP. L.

He prophesieth the destruction of Babylon, and the deliverance of Israel, which was in captiuitie.

THe worde that the Lord spake, concerning Babel, & concerning the land of the Caldeans by the ministerie of Ieremiáh the Prophet.

1 Declare among the nations, and publish it, and set vp a standart, proclaime it & cocele it not: say, <sup>a</sup> Babel is taken, Bel is confounded, <sup>b</sup> Merodach is broken downe: her idoles are confounded, and their images are burst in pieces.

2 For out of the North there <sup>c</sup> cometh vp a nation against her, which shal make her land waste, and none shal dwell therein: they shal flee, and departe, bothe man and beast.

3 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the children of Israel shal <sup>d</sup> come, they, and the children of Iudáh together, going, and <sup>e</sup> weeping shal they go, and seke the Lord their God.

4 They shal aske the waye to Zión, with their faces thetherward, saying, Come, and let vs cleaue to the Lord in a perpetual couenant that shal not be forgotten.

5 ¶ My people hath bene as lost shepe: their <sup>f</sup> shepherdes haue caused them to go astray, and haue turned them away to the mountaines: they haue gone from <sup>g</sup> mountaine to hil, & forgottē their resting place.

6 All that found them, haue deuoured the, and their enemies said, We offend not because they haue sinned against the Lord, <sup>h</sup> the habitation of iustice, euen the Lord the hope of their fathers.

7 ¶ Flee from the middes of Babel, and departe out of the land of the Caldeans, and be ye as the he goates <sup>k</sup> before the flocke.

8 For lo, I wil raise, and cause to come vp against Babel a multitude of mightie nations from the North countrey, and thei shal set them selues in aray against her, whereby she shal be taken: their arrowes shal be as of a strong man, which is expert for none shal returne in vaine.

<sup>i</sup> I will place Nebuchad-nezzar there, and in these prophesies Ieremiáh speaketh of those countreies, which shulde be subdued vnder the first of those foure monarchies wherof Daniel maketh mention.

<sup>k</sup> This may be referred to the empire of the Persians, and Medes after the Caldeans, or vnto the time of Christ, as Chap. 48. 47. <sup>u</sup> Ebr. bad.

10 And Caldea shalbe a spoile: all that spoile her, <sup>1</sup> shalbe satisfied, saith the Lord.
 11 Because ye were glad and reioyced in destroying mine heritage, & because ye are grown fat, as the calves in the grass, <sup>m</sup> & neyed like strong horses, 12 Therefore your mothers shalbe fore confounded, and she that bare you, shalbe ashamed: beholde, the vttermost of the nations shalbe a desert, a drye land, & a wilderness.
 13 Because of the wrath of the Lord it shal not be inhabited, but shalbe wholly desolate: euerie one that goeth by Babel, shal be astonished, <sup>n</sup> & hisse at all her plagues.
 14 Put your selues in araye against Babel round about: all ye that bend the bowe, shoote at her, spare no arrowes: for she hath sinned against the Lord.
 15 Crye against her round about: she hath giuen her hand: her foundations are fallē, & her walles are destroyed: for it is y vengeance of the Lord: take vengeance vpon her: as she hath done, do vnto her.
 16 Destroye the <sup>q</sup> sower from Babel, and him that handleth the sickle in the time of haruest: because of the sworde of the oppressour they shal turne euerie one to his people, and they shal flee euerie one to his owne land.
 17 Israel is like scattered shepe: the lyons haue disperfed them: first the King <sup>r</sup> of Asshur hath deuoured him, & last this Nebuchad-nezzar King of Babel hath broke his bones.
 18 Therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes the God of Israel, Beholde, I wil visite the King of Babel, and his land, as I haue visited the King of Asshur.
 19 And I wil bring Israel againe to his habitation: he shal fede on Carmel and Bashan, and his soule shalbe satisfied vpon the mount Ephraim and Gilead.
 20 In those dayes, and at that time, saith the Lord, the iniquitie of Israel shalbe sought for, and there shal be none: and the sinnes of Iudah, & they shal not be found: for I wil be merciful vnto them, whome I reuerue.
 21 Go vp against the land of the <sup>t</sup> rebelles, <sup>euen</sup> against it, and against the inhabitants of Pekod: destroye, and lay it waste after them, saith the Lord, and do according to all that I haue commanded thee.
 22 A crye of battel is in the land, & of great destruction.
 23 How is the <sup>u</sup> hammer of the whole worlde destroyed, and broken! how is Babel become desolate among the nations!
 24 I haue snared thee, and thou art taken, O Babel, and thou wast not aware: thou art founde, and also caught, because thou hast striuen against the Lord.

25 The Lord hath opened his treasure, and hath brought forth the weapons of his wrath: for this is the worke of the Lord God of hostes in y land of the Caldeans.
 26 Come against her <sup>2</sup> from the vtmost border: open her store houses: tread on her as on sheaues, and destroye her vtterly: let nothing of her be left.
 27 Destroye all her <sup>x</sup> bullockes: let them go downe to the slaughter. Wo vnto them, for their day is come, and the time of their visitation.
 28 The voice of them that <sup>y</sup> flee, and escape out of the land of Babel to declare in Zion y vengeance of the Lord our God, and the vengeance of his Temple.
 29 Call vp the archers against Babel: all ye that bend y bowe, besiege it rounde about: let none thereof escape: <sup>Reuel. 18. 24</sup> recompence her according to her worke, and according to all that she hath done, do vnto her: for she hath bene proude against the Lord, <sup>euen</sup> against the holy one of Israel.
 30 Therefore shal her yong men fall in the stretes, and all her men of warre shalbe destroyed in that day, saith the Lord.
 31 Beholde, I come vnto thee, O proude man, saith the Lord God of hostes: for thy day is come, <sup>eue</sup> the time that I wil visite thee.
 32 And the proude shal stumbe and fall, & none shal raise him vp: and I wil kindle a fyre in his cities, and it shal deuoure all rounde about him.
 33 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The children of Israel, and the children of Iudah were oppressed together: and all that toke them captiues, helde them, and wolde not let them go.
 34 But their strong redemer, whose Name is the Lord of hostes, he shal mainteine their cause, that he may giue rest to the land, <sup>z</sup> & disquiet the inhabitants of Babel.
 35 A sworde is vpon the Caldeans, saith the Lord, and vpon the inhabitants of Babel, and vpon her princes, and vpon her wise men.
 36 A sworde is vpon the <sup>a</sup> sothefayers, and thei shal dote: a sworde is vpon her strong men, and thei shal be afraied.
 37 A sworde is vpon their horses and vpon their charets, and vpon all the multitude that are in the middes of her, and thei shal be like women: a sworde is vpon her treasures, and thei shal be spoiled.
 38 A <sup>b</sup> drought is vpon her waters, and thei shal be dried vp: for it is the lad of graue images, and thei dote vpon their idoles.
 39 Therefore y <sup>b</sup> Ziims with the Iims shal dwell there, & the ostriches shal dwell therein: for it shal be no more inhabited, neither shal it be inhabited from generacion vnto generacion.

42 Thei shal holde y<sup>e</sup> bowe & the buckeler: they are cruel & vnmerciful: their voyce shal roare like the sea, and they shal ride vpon horses, & be put in aray like men to y<sup>e</sup> battel against thee, o daughter of Babel.

Thus faith the Lord, Beholde, I wil raise vp against Babel, and against the inhabitants that lift vp their heart against me, a destroying winde,

2 And wil send vnto Babel fanners that shal fanne her, and shal emptie her land: for in y<sup>e</sup> day of trouble thei shal be against her on euerie side.

3 Also to the bender that bendeth his bowe, and to him that listeth him self vp in his brigandine, wil I say, Spare not her yong men, but destroye all her hostes.

4 Thus the flaine shal fall in the lād of the Caldeans, and they that are thrust through in her stretes.

5 For Israēl hath bene no widow, nor Iudáh from his God, from the Lord of hostes, though their lād was filled with sinne against the holy one of Israēl.

6 Flee out of the middes of Babel, & deliuer euerie mā his soule: be not destroyed in her iniquitie: for this is the time of the Lords vengeance: he wil rendre vnto her a recompence.

7 Babel hath bene as a golden cuppe in the Lords hand, that made all the earth drunken: the nations haue drunken of her wine, therefore do the nations rage.

8 Babel is suddely fallen, & destroyed: howle for her, bring balme for her sore, if she may be healed.

9 We wolde haue cured Babel, but she coulde not be healed: forsake her, and let vs go euerie one into his owne countreie: for her iudgement is come vp vnto heauen, & is lifted vp to the cloudes.

10 The Lord hath brought forth the our righteousnes: come and let vs declare in Zión the worke of the Lord our God.

11 Make bright the arrowes: gather y<sup>e</sup> shields: the Lord hath raised vp the spirit of the King of the Medes: for his purpose is against Babel to destroye it, because it is the vengeance of the Lord, and the vengeance of his Temple.

12 Set vp the standart vpon the walles of Babel, make the watche strong: set vp the watchmen: prepare the skoutes: for the Lord hath bothe deuised, and done that which he spake against the inhabitants of Babel.

13 O thou that dwellest vpon many waters, abundant in treasures, thine end is come, euen the end of thy couetousnes.

14 The Lord of hostes hath sworn by him selfe, saying, Surely I wil fil thee with men, as with caterpillers, and thei shal crye and shoute against thee.

15 He hath made the earth by his power, and established the worlde by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heauen by his discretion.

16 He giueth by his voice the multitude of waters in the heauen, and he caueth the cloudes to ascend frō the ends of y<sup>e</sup> earth: he turneth lightnings to raine, and bringeth forth the winde out of his treasures.

17 Euerie man is a beast by his owne knowledge: euerie founder is confounded by the grauen image: for his melting is but falsehood and there is no breth therein.

18 Thei are vanitie, & the worke of errors: in the time of their visitacion they shal perish.

19 The porcion of Iakób is not like them: for he is the maker of all things, and Israēl is the rod of his inheritance: the Lord of hostes is his Name.

20 Thou art mine hammer, and weapons of warre: for with thee wil I breake the nations, and with thee wil I destroye kingdomes, 21 And by thee wil I breake horse and horseman, and by thee wil I breake the charret and him that rideth therein.

22 By thee also wil I breake man & womā, and by thee wil I breake olde and yong, and by thee wil I breake the yong man &

25 Beholde, I come vnto thee, o destroying mountaine, saith the Lord, which destroyest all the earth: and I wil stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and roll thee downe from the P rockes, & wil make thee a burnt mountaine.

26 Thei shal not take of thee a stone for a corner, nor a stone for fundaciõs, but thou shalt be destroyed for euer, saith the Lord.

27 Set vp a standart in the land: blowe the trumpets among the nacions: prepare the nacions against her: call vp the king domes of Arará, Minni, and Ashchenáz against her: appoint the prince against her: cause horses to come vp as the rough caterpillers.

28 Prepare against her the nacions with the Kings of the Medes, the dukes thereof, & the princes thereof, and all the land of his dominion.

29 And the land shal tremble & sorowe: for the deuise of the Lord shal be performed against Babél, to make the land of Babél waste without an inhabitant.

30 The strög men of Babél haue ceased to fight: thei haue remained in their holdes: their strength hath failed, and thei were like women: thei haue burnt her dwelling places, and her barres are broken.

31 A post shal runne to mete the post, and a messenger to mete the messenger, to shewe the King of Babél, that his citie is taken on a side thereof, 32 And that the passages are stopped, and y redes burnt with fyre, and the mé of warre troubled.

33 For thus saith y Lord of hostes the God of Israél, The daughter of Babél is like a threshing floore: the time of her threshing is come: yet a litle while, and the time of her haruest shal come.

34 Nebuchad-nezzár y King of Babél hath deuoured me, & destroyed me: he hath made me an emptie vessel: he swallowed me vp like a dragon, and filled his belie with my delicates, & hath cast me out.

35 The spoile of me, & that which was left of me, is brought vnto Babél, shal the inhabitant of Zión say: and my blood vnto the inhabitants of Caldea, shal Ierusalem say.

36 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, I wil mainteine thy u cause, and take vengeance for thee, and I wil drye vp the sea, and drye vp her springs.

27 And Babél shal be as heapes, a dwelling place for dragons, an astonishment, and an hissing, without an inhabitant.

38 Thei shal roate together like lions, and yell as the lions whelpes.

39 In their x heat I wil make them feastes, and I wil make them drunken, that they may reioice, and slepe a perpetual slepe, and not wake, saith the Lord.

40 I wil bring them downe like lambes to the slaughter, & like rams and goates.

41 How is y Sheshách taken! and how is the glorie of the whole earth taken! how is Babél become an astonishment among the nacions!

42 The z sea is come vp vpon Babél: she is couered with the multitude of the waues thereof.

43 Her cities are desolate: the land is drye & a wilderness, a land wherein no mā dwel leth, nether doeth the sonne of man passe thereby.

44 I wil also visite Bel in Babél, and I wil bring out of his mouth, that which a he hath swallowed vp, and the nacions shal runne no more vnto him, and the wall of Babél shal fall.

45 My people, go out of the middes of her, & deliuer ye euerie man his soule frõ the fierce wrath of the Lord, 46 Lest your heart euen faint, and ye feare the rumour, that shalbe heard in the land: the rumour shal come this yere, and after that in the other b yere shal come a rumour, and crueltie in the land, and ruler against ruler.

47 Therefore beholde, the dayes come, that I wil visite the images of Babél, and the whole land shal be confounded, & all her flaine shal fall in the middes of her.

48 Then the heauen and c the earth, and all that is therein, shal reioice for Babél: for the destroyers shal come vnto her frõ the North, saith the Lord.

5 So the citie was besieged vnto y<sup>e</sup> eleuenth yere of the King Zedekiah.

6 Now in the fourth moneth, the ninth day of the moneth, the famine was sore in the citie, so that there was no more bread for the people of the land.

7 Then the citie was broken vp and all the men of warre fled, and went out of the citie by night, by the<sup>b</sup> way of the gate betwene the two walles, which was by the Kings garden: (now the Caldeans were by the citie rounde about) and thei went by the way of the wildernes.

8 But the armie of the Caldeans pursued after the King, and toke Zedekiah in the desert of Ierichó, & all his hoste was scattered from him.

9 Then thei toke the King and caryed him vp vnto the King of Babél to Ribláh in the land of Hamáth, c where he gaue iudgement vpon him.

<sup>r</sup> The Prophet bewaileth the miserable estate of Ierusalém, & sheweth that they are plagued because of their sinnes. The first and seconde chapter beginne euery Verse according to the letters of the Ebrewe Alphabet. The third hath thre Verses for euery letter, & the fourth is as the first.

with her, & are her enemies.

3 Iudáh is caryed away captiue, because<sup>e</sup> of affliction, and because of great seruitude: she dwelleth among the heathē, & findeth no rest: all her persecuters toke her in the streites.

As men pined away & sorrow & that have no courage.

Thus Ierusalem lamenteth, mouing others to pittie her and to learne by her example.

This declarereth that we shuld acknowledge God to be the author of all our afflictions, to the intent that we might seeke vnto him for remedie.

Mine heauy finnes are continually before his eyes, as he that tyeth a thing to his hand for a remembrance.

like harts that finde no pasture, & they are gone without strength before the pursuer.

Ierusalem remembred the daies of her affliction, and of her rebellion, and all her pleasant things, that she had in times past, when her people fell into the hand of the enemy, & none did helpe her: y aduersaries sawe her, & did mocke at her <sup>k</sup> Sabbaths.

Ierusalem hathe grievously sinned, therefore she is in derision: all y honoured her, despise her, because they haue sene her filthines: yea, she sigheth and turneth backward.

Her filthines is in her skirtes: she remembred nor her last end, therefore she came downe wonderfully: she had no comforter: O Lord, beholde mine affliction: for the enemy is proude.

The enemy hathe stretched out his had vpon all her pleasant things: for she hathe sene the heathen entre into her Sanctuarie, whome thou didest comande, that they shulde not entre into thy Church.

All her people sigh and seke their bread: they haue giuen their pleasant things for meat to refresh the soule: se, O Lord, & consider: for I am become vile.

Haue ye no regarde, all ye that passe by this way: beholde, & se, if there be any sorowe like vnto my sorowe, which is done vnto me, wherewith the Lord hathe afflicted me in the day of his fierce wrath.

From aboue hathe he sent fyre into my bones, which preuaile against them: he hathe spread a net for my fete, & turned me backe: he hathe made me desolate, & daily in heauines.

The yoke of my trasgressions is bounde vpon his hand: they are wrapped, and come vp vpon my necke: he hathe made my strength to fall: y Lord hathe deliuered me into their hands, nether am I able to rise vp.

The Lord hathe troden vnder fote all my valiant me in the middes of me: he hathe called an assemblie against me to destroy my yong men: the Lord hathe troden the wine presse vpon the virgine the daughter of Iudah.

For these things I wepe: mine eye, mine eye casteth out water, because the comforter that shulde refresh my soule, is farre from me: my children are desolate, because the enemy preuailed.

Zion stretcheth out her hands, and there is none to comfort her: the Lord hathe appointed the enemies of Iakob rounde about him: Ierusalem is as a menstruous woman in the middes of them.

The Lord is righteous: for I haue rebelled against his commandement: heare, I pray you, all people & beholde my sorow: my virgines and my yong men are gone into captiuitie.

I called for my louers, but they deceiued me: my Priests and mine Elders perished in the citie while they sought their meat to refresh their soules.

Beholde, O Lord, how I am troubled: my bowels swell: mine heart is turned within me, for I am full of heauines: the sworde spoyleth abroad, as death doeth at home.

They haue heard that I mourne, but there is none to comfort me: all mine enemies haue heard of my trouble, & are glad, that thou hast done it: thou wilt bring the day, that thou hast pronounced, and they shalbe like vnto me.

Let all their wickednes come before thee: do vnto them, as thou hast done vnto me, for all my transgressions: for my sighs are many, and mine heart is heauie.

CHAP. II.

How hathe the Lord darkened the daughter of Zion in his wrath! and hathe cast downe from heauen vnto the earth the beautie of Israel, & remembred not his fote stole in the day of his wrath!

The Lord hathe destroyed all the habitacions of Iakob, and not spared: he hathe throwen downe in his wrath the strong holdes of the daughter of Iudah: he hathe cast them downe to the ground: he hathe polluted the kingdome and the princes thereof.

He hathe cut of in his fierce wrath all the thorne of Israel: he hathe drawe backe his right hand from before the enemy, and there was kindled in Iakob like a flame of fyre, which deuoured rounde about.

He hathe bet his bowe like an enemy: his right hand was stretched vp as an aduersarie, and slewe all that was pleasant to the eye in the tabernacle of the daughter of Zion: he powred out his wrath like fyre.

The Lord was as an enemy: he hathe deuoured Israel, & consumed all his palaces: he hathe destroyed his strong holdes, and hathe increased in the daughter of Iudah lamentacion and mourning.

For he hathe destroyed his tabernacle, as a garden, he hathe destroyed his congregation: y Lord hathe caused the feasts & Sabbaths to be forgottē in Zion, & hathe despised in the indignacion of his wrath the King and the Priest.

The Lord hathe forsaken his altar: he hathe abhorred his Sanctuarie: he hathe giue into the hand of the enemy the wallles of her palaces: they haue made a noyse in the House of y Lord, as in the day of solēitie.

The Lord hathe determined to destroye the wall of the daughter of Zion: he stretched out a line: he hathe not withdrawn his had from destroying: therefore he made the rampart and the wall to lament: they were destroyed together.

That is, they dyed for hunger.

Of desiring vengeance against the enemy, read Lere. 11.20. & 18.11. Or, gather like grapes.

That is, brought her into prosperitie to adueritie. b Hathe giuen her a most irre fall.

c Alluding to the Temple or to the Arke of the couenant, which was called the fote-stole of y Lord because they shulde not let their hands so lowe, but lift vp their hearts toward the heauens.

d Meaning, the glorie and strength, as 1. Sam 2.1.

e That is, his succour which he was wont to send vs, when our enemies oppressed vs. f Snewing, y there is no remedie but deliuerie, where God is the enemy.

g As the people were accustomed to praise God in the solēne feastes with a loud voice, so now the enemies blaspheme him with shouting & crying. h This is a figurative speache, as y was, when he said, the wayes did lament, Chap. 1.4: meaning, y thus sorowe was so great that the insensible things had their parte thereof.

9 Her

9 Her gates are sonke to the ground: he hath destroyed and broken her barres: her King and her princes are among the Gentiles: the Lawe is no more, nether can her Prophetes receiue any vision from the Lord.

10 The Elders of the daughter of Zion sit upon the ground, and kepe silence: they haue cast upon dust upon their heades: they haue girded themselves with sackcloth: the virgines of Ierusalem hang downe their heades to the ground.

11 Mine eyes do faile with teares: my bowels swell: my liuer is powred upon the earth, for the destruction of the daughter of my people, because the children and sucklings swoune in the stretes of the citie.

12 They haue said to their mothers, Where is bread and drinke? when they swoune as the wounded in the stretes of the citie, & where they gaue upon the ghost in their mothers bosome.

13 What thing shall I take to witnes for thee? what thing shall I compare to thee, O daughter Ierusalem: what shall I like to thee, that I may comfort thee, O virgine daughter Zion? for thy breach is great like the sea: who can heale thee?

14 Thy Prophetes haue looked out vaine, and foolish things for thee, and they haue not discovered thine iniquitie, to turne away thy captiuitie, but haue looked out for thee false prophecies, and causes of banishment.

15 All that passe by the way, clappe their handes at thee: they hisse and wagge their head upon the daughter Ierusalem, saying, Is this the citie that men call, The perfection of beautie, and the ioye of the whole earth?

16 All thine enemies haue opened their mouth against thee: they hisse and gnash the teeth, saying, Let vs deuoure it: certainly this is the day that we looked for: we haue founde and sene it.

17 The Lord hath done that which he had purposed: he hath fulfilled his worde that he had determined of olde time: he hath thrown downe, and not spared: he hath caused thine enemy to reioice ouer thee, and set upon the horne of thine aduersaries.

18 Their heart cryed vnto the Lord, O wall of the daughter Zion, let teares runne downe like a riuer, day and night: take thee no rest, nether let the apple of thine eye cease. 19 Arise, crye in the night: in the beginning of the watches powre out thine heart like water before the face of the Lord: lift up thine hands toward him for the life of thy yong childre, that faint for hungre in the corners of all the stretes.

20 Beholde, O Lord, and confide to whome thou hast done thus: shall the women eat their frute, and children of a spanne long?

shall the Priest and the Prophet be slaine in the Sanctuarie of the Lord?

21 The yong and the olde lye on the ground in the stretes: my virgines and my yong men are fallen by the sworde: thou hast slain them in the day of thy wrath: thou hast killed and not spared.

22 Thou hast called as in a solemne day my terrours rounde about, so in the day of the Lords wrath none escaped nor remained: those that I haue nourished & brought up, hath mine enemy consumed.

CHAP. III.

1 I Am the man, that hath sene affliction in the rod of his indignation.

2 He hath led me, and brought me into darcknes, but not to light.

3 Surely he is turned against me: he turneth his hand against me all the day.

4 My flesh and my skinne hath he caused to waxe olde, & he hath broke my bones.

5 He hath builded against me, & compassed me with gall, and labour.

6 He hath set me in darke places, as they that be dead for euer.

7 He hath hedged about me, that I can not get out: he hath made my chaines heauie.

8 Also when I crye and shoute, he shutteth out my prayer.

9 He hath stopped up my waies with heuie stone, and turned away my paths.

10 He was vnto me as a beare lyig in waite, & as a lion in secret places.

11 He hath stopped my waies, & pulled me in pieces: he hath made me desolate.

12 He hath bent his bow and made me a marke for the arrowe.

13 He caused the arrowes of his quier to entre into my reines.

14 I was a derision to all my people, and their song all the daye.

15 He hath filled me with bitternes, & made me drunken with worme wood.

16 He hath also broken my teeth with stones, and hath couered me with ashes.

17 Thus my soule was farre of from peace: I forgot prosperitie, 18 And I said, My strength & mine hope is perished from the Lord, 19 Remembring mine affliction, & my mourning, the wormewood and the gall.

20 My soule hath them in remembrance, and is humbled in me.

21 I consider this in mine heart: therefore haue I hope.

22 It is the Lords mercies that we are not consumed, because his compassions faile not.

23 They are renewed euerie morning: great is thy faithfulness.

24 The Lord is my portion, faith my soule: therefore wil I hope in him.

25 The Lord is good vnto them, that trust in him, & to the soule that seeketh him.

Chap. III.

a The Prophet complaineth of the punishments and afflictions that he endured by the false Prophetes & hypocrites, when he declared the destruction of Ierusalem, as Ierem. 20. 2. b He speaketh this as one who felt Gods heauie iudgements, who he greatly feared, & therefore setteth them out with this diuersitie of wordes.

c This is a great temptation to the godlie, when they see not the frute of their prayers, and catch them to thinke that they are not heard, which thing God voucheth to do, that they might praise more earnestly and the oftener.

d And keepeth me in holie, as a prisoner.

e He hath no pittie on me.

f With great anguish & sorrowe he hath made me to lose my sense.

g Thus with paine he was driuen to and fro betwene hope and despair, as godlie oft times are, yet in the end the Spirit getteth the victory.

h He sheweth that God thus vseth to exercise his to the intent that hereby they maie knowe their selues and feele his mercies.

i Considering the wickednes of man, it is maruel that anie remaineth aliue: but only that God for his owne mercies sake and for his promises wil euer haue his Church to remaine though they be neuer so fewe in number, Isa. 59.

k We feele thy benefices daily. l The godlie put their whole confidence in God, & therefore loke for none other inheritance, as psal. 16. 5.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignacion: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fyre in Ziön, which hath deuoured the fundaciõs thereof.

12 The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the worlde wolde not haue believed that the aduersarie and the enemy shulde haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

13 For the sinnes of her Prophetes, and the iniquities of her Priestes, that haue shed the blood of the iust in the middes of her.

14 Thei haue wandered as blinde men in the stretes, and they were polluted with blood, so y<sup>e</sup> thei wolde not touche their garments.

15 But thei cryed vnto them, Departe, ye polluted, departe, departe, touche not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: thei haue said among the heathen, They shal no more dwell there.

16 The angre of the Lord hath scattered them, he wil no more regarde them: thei reuerenced not the face of the Priests, nor had compassion of the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for a nation that colde not saue vs.

18 They hunte our steppes that we can not go in our stretes: our end is nere, our daies are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our persecuters are swifter then the eagles of the heauen: thei pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and laied wait for vs in the wilderness.

20 The breth of our nostrels, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whome we said, Vnder his shadowe we shalbe preferred aliue among the heathen.

21 Reioyce & be glad, o daughter Edóm, that dwellest in the land of Vz, the cup also shal passe through vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken and vomite.

22 Thy punishment is accomplished, o daughter Ziön: he wil no more carie thee awaie into captiuitie, but he wil visit thine iniquitie, o daughter Edóm, he wil discouer thy sinnes.

Remember, o Lord, what is come vpon vs: consider, and beholde our reproche.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliantes.

3 We are fatherles, euen without father, & our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue dronke our water for money, & our wood is solde vnto vs.

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are weary, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our hands to the Egyptians, & to Asshur, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none wolde deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 We gate our bread with the peril of our liues, because of the sworde of the wilderness.

10 Our skin was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Ziön, & the maides in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They toke the yong men to grinde, and the children fell vnder the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the gate & the yong men from their songs.

15 The ioye of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: now vnto vs, that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauy for these things, our eyes are dimme,

18 Because of the mountaine of Ziön which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

19 But thou, o Lord, remainest for euer: thy throne is fro generacion to generaciõ.

20 Wherefore dost thou forget vs for euer, & forsake vs so long time?

21 Turne thou vs vnto thee, o Lord, and we shalbe turned: renew our dayes as of olde.

22 But thou hast vtterly reiected vs: thou art exceedingly angrie against vs.

a This prayer as is thought, was made whē some of the people were carryed away captiue, others as the poorest remained, and some went into Egypt & other places for socour: albeit it seemeth that y<sup>e</sup> Prophet foreseeing their miserie to come, thus prayed.
b Meaning, their extreme seruitude and bondage.
c We are ioyned in leagues and amitie wth them, or haue submitted our selues vnto them.
d As our fathers haue bene punished for their sinnes, so we that are culpable of y<sup>e</sup> same sinnes, are punished.
e Because of y<sup>e</sup> enemy that came from the wilderness, and wolde not suffer vs to go, & seke our necessarie fode.
f That is, by y<sup>e</sup> enemies hand.
g Their seruitude was so great, that they were not able to abide it.
h There were no more laws nor forme of comune welth.
i With weeping.
k And therefore thy covenant, and mercies can neuer faile.
l Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuerte vs, and thus God worketh in vs before we can turne to him, Ierem. 31. 18.

g He meaneth that these things are come to passe the more, contrary to all mens expectation.
h Some referre this to y<sup>e</sup> blinde men, which as they went, stumbled on the blood, whereof the cite was full.
i Meaning, the heathen which came to destroy the, colde not abyde them.
k That is, the enemies.
l He sheweth two principal causes of their destruction: the crueltie, & their vaine confidence in man: for they trusted in the helpe of the Egyptians.

m Our King Iosiah, in whome shode our hope of Gods fauour, and on whome depended our state & life, was slayne whome he called anointed, because he was a figure of Christ.
n This is spoken by derision.

o He comforteth the Church by y<sup>e</sup> after sentie yeres their sorowes shal haue an end, where as the wicked shulde be tormented for ever.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsel of Ieremiab & Ezechiel had yelded him self to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother & diuers of his princes & of the people, certaine began to repent and murmur that thei had obeyed the Prophets counsel, as thogh the thing which thei had prophecied shulde not come to passe, & therefore their estate shulde be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophecies, declaring by new visions & reuelations shewed

Gen. 19. 21.

Or, no strength was against her.

e They that were before moke in Gods fauour, are now in greatch abomination vnto him, Nomb. 6. 2.

f For lacke of fode they pyne away, and consume.

11 The Lord hath accomplished his indignacion: he hath powred out his fierce wrath, he hath kindled a fyre in Ziön, which hath deuoured the fundaciõs thereof.

12 The Kings of the earth, and all the inhabitants of the worlde wolde not haue believed that the aduersarie and the enemy shulde haue entred into the gates of Ierusalem:

13 For the sinnes of her Prophetes, and the iniquities of her Priestes, that haue shed the blood of the iust in the middes of her.

14 They haue wandered as blinde men in the stretes, and they were polluted with blood, so y<sup>e</sup> they wolde not touche their garments.

15 But they cryed vnto them, Depart, ye polluted, depart, depart, touche not: therefore they fled away, and wandered: they haue said among the heathen, They shal no more dwell there.

16 The angre of the Lord hath scattered them, he wil no more regarde them: he reuercend not the face of the Priestes, nor had compassion of the Elders.

17 Whiles we waited for our vaine helpe, our eyes failed: for in our waiting we looked for a nation that coulde not saue vs.

18 They hunt our steppes that we cannot go in our stretes: our end is nere, our daies are fulfilled, for our end is come.

19 Our persecuters are swifter then the eagles of the heauen: they pursued vs vpon the mountaines, and laied wait for vs in the wildernesses.

20 The breth of our nostrels, the Anointed of the Lord was taken in their nets, of whome we said, Vnder his shadowe we shalbe preserued aliuie among the heathen.

21 Reioyce & be glad, o daughter Edóm, that dwellest in the land of Vz, the cup also shal passe through vnto thee: thou shalt be drunken and vomite.

22 Thy punishment is accomplished, o daughter Ziön: he wil nomore carie thee awaie into captiuitie, but he wil visit thine iniquitie, o daughter Edóm, he wil discouer thy sinnes.

Remember, o Lord, what is come vpon vs: consider, and beholde our reproche.

2 Our inheritance is turned to the strangers, our houses to the aliantes.

3 We are fatherles, euen without father, & our mothers are as widowes.

4 We haue dronke our water for money, & our wood is solde vnto vs.

5 Our neckes are vnder persecution: we are weary, and haue no rest.

6 We haue giuen our hands to the Egyptians, & to Asshur, to be satisfied with bread.

7 Our fathers haue sinned, and are not, and we haue borne their iniquities.

8 Seruants haue ruled ouer vs, none wolde deliuer vs out of their hands.

9 We gate our bread with the peril of our liues, because of the sworde of the wildernesses.

10 Our skin was blacke like as an ouen because of the terrible famine.

11 They defiled the women in Ziön, & the maidens in the cities of Iudah.

12 The princes are hanged vp by their hand: the faces of the Elders were not had in honour.

13 They toke the yong men to grinde, and the children sell vnder the wood.

14 The Elders haue ceased from the gate & the yong men from their songs.

15 The ioye of our heart is gone, our dance is turned into mourning.

16 The crowne of our head is fallen: we now vnto vs, that we haue sinned.

17 Therefore our heart is heauy for these things, our eyes are dimme,

18 Because of the mountaine of Ziön which is desolate: the foxes runne vpon it.

19 But thou, o Lord, remainest for euer: thy throne is fro generacion to generaciõ.

20 Wherefore dost thou forget vs for euer, & forsake vs so long time?

21 Turne thou vs vnto thee, o Lord, and we shalbe turned: renew our dayes as of olde.

22 But thou hast vtterly reiectet vs: thou art exceedingly angrie against vs.

a This prayer as is thought, was made whē some of the people were carryed away captiue, others as the poorest remained, and some went into Egypt & other places for socour: albeit it seemeth that y<sup>e</sup> Prophet foreseeing their miseries to come, thus prayed.

b Meaning, their extreme seruitude and bondage.

c We are ioyned in leagues and amitie wth them, or haue submitted our selues vnto them.

d As our fathers haue been punished for their sinnes, so we that are culpable of y<sup>e</sup> same sinnes, are punished.

e Because of y<sup>e</sup> enemy that came from the wildernesses, and wolde not suffer vs to go, & seke our necessarie fode.

f That is, by y<sup>e</sup> enemies hand.

g Their seruitude was so great, that they were not able to abide it.

h There were no more laws nor forme of comune welth i With weeping. k And therefore thy countenance, and mercies can neuer faile.

l Whereby is declared that it is not in mans power to turne to God, but is onely his worke to conuerte vs, and thus God worketh in vs before we can turne to him, Ierem. 31. 18.

EZEKIEL

THE ARGUMENT.

After that Iehoiachin by the counsel of Ieremiab & Ezekiel had yelded him self to Nebuchadnezzar, and so went into captiuitie with his mother & diuers of his princes & of the people, certaine began to repent and murmur that they had obeyed the Prophets counsel, as though the thing which they had prophesied shulde not come to passe, & therefore their estate shulde be still miserable vnder the Caldeans. By reason whereof he confirmeth his former prophesies, declaring by new visions & reuelations shewed unto him that the citie shoulde moste certainly be destroyed, & the people grievously tormēted by Gods plagues, in so much that they that remained shoulde be brought into cruel bondage. And lest the godlie shoulde dispaire in these great troubles, he assureth them that God wil deliuer his Church at his time appointed, and also destroye their enemies which either afflicted them or reioyced in their miseries. The effect of the one and the other shoulde chiefly be performed vnder Christ, of whome in this booke are many notable promises, and in whome the glorie of the new Temple shoulde perfectly be restored. He prophesied these things in Caldea at the same time that Ieremiāh prophesied in Iudah, and there began in the first yere of Iehoiachins captiuitie.

After that booke of the Law was foun-de, which was the eightenth yere of the reigne of Iosi-ah, so that siue

c That is, notable, and excel-be knowne, it was no natural dreaime, but came of God.

f Which were 4 foure Cherubims y represented y glorie of God, as
Chap. 1. 24.

5 Also out of the middes thereof came the likenes of foure beastes, f and this was their forme: they had the appearance of a man,

6 And euery one had foure faces, and eu-rie one had foure wings.
7 And their fete were straight fete, and the sole.

Midi, or the South.

sole of their fete was like the sole of a calves fete, and they sparkled like the appearance of bright brasse.

8 And the hands of a mā came out frō vnder their wings in the foure partes of thē, and thei foure had their faces, & their wings.

9 They were ioyned by their wings one to another, & when they went forth, they returned not, but euerie one went streight forward.

10 And the similitude of their faces was as the face of man: and they foure had the face of a lyon on the right side, and they foure had the face of a bullocke on the left side: they foure also had the face of an egle.

11 Thus were their faces: but their wings were spred out aboue: two wings of euerie one were ioyned one to another, and two couered their bodies.

12 And euerie one went streight forward: they went whether their spirit led them, & thei returned not whē they wēt forth.

13 The similitude also of the beastes, and their appearance was like burning coles of fyre, and like the appearance of lampes: for the fyre ran among the beastes, & the fyre gaue a glister, and out of the fyre there went lightening.

14 And the beastes ran, and returned like vnto lightening.

15 Now as I behelde the beastes, beholde, a whele appeared vpon the earth by the beastes, hauing foure faces.

16 The facio of the wheles and their worke was like vnto a chrysolite: & they foure had one forme, and their facion, and their worke was as one whele in another whele.

17 Whē they wēt, thei wēt vpon their foure sides, & they returned not when they wēt.

18 They had also rings, and height, & were feareful to beholde, and their rings were ful of eyes, round about them foure.

19 And when the beastes went, the wheles wēt with them: and when the beastes were lift vp frō the earth, the wheles were lift vp.

20 Whether their spirit led thē, they wēt, and thether did the spirit of the wheles lead them, and the wheles were lifted vp besides them: for the Spirit of the beastes was in the wheles.

21 When the beastes went, they went, and when they stode, they stode, & when they were lifted vp from the earth, the wheles were lifted vp besides them: for the spirit of the beastes was in the wheles.

22 And the similitude of the firmament vpon the heads of the beastes was wonderful, like vnto chrystal, spred ouer their heads aboue.

23 And vnder the firmament were their wings streight, the one towarde the other: euerie one had two, which couered thē, & euerie one had two, which couered their bodies.

24 And when they went forth, I heard the noise of their wings, like the noise of great waters, and as the voice of the Almighty, even the voyce of speache, as the noise of an hoste: and when they stode, they let downe their wings.

25 And there was a voyce from the firmament, that was ouer their heades, whē they stode, and had let downe their wings.

26 And aboue the firmament that was ouer their heades, was the facion of a throne like vnto a saphir stone, and vpon the similitude of the throne was by appearance, as the similitude of a man aboue vpon it.

27 And I sawe as the appearance of ambre, and as the similitude of fyre rounde about within it to lōke to, euen from his loynes vpwarde, and to lōke to, euen from his loynes downewarde: I sawe as a likenes of fyre, and brightnes rounde about it.

28 As the likenes of the bowe, that is in the cloude in the day of raine, so was the appearance of the light rounde about.

29 This was the appearance of the similitude of the glorie of the Lord: and when I sawe it, I fell vpon my face, and I heard a voyce of one that spake.

CHAP. II.

The Prophet is sent to call the people from their error.

1 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, stand vp vpon thy fete, & I will speake vnto thee.

2 And the Spirit entred into me, when he had spoken vnto me, and set me vpon my fete, so I heard him that spake vnto me.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of mā, I send thee to the childre of Israël, to a rebellious nation, that hath rebelled against me: for they & their fathers haue rebelled against me, euen vnto this very day.

4 For they are impudent children, and stifhearted: I do send thee vnto them, & thou shalt say vnto thē, Thus saith the Lord God.

5 But surely they wil not heare, nether in dede wil they cease: for they are a rebellious house: yet shal they knowe that there hath bene a Prophet among them.

6 And thou sonne of man, feare them not, nether be afrayed of their wordes, althogh rebelles, and thornes be with thee, & thou remainest with scorpions: feare not their wordes, nor be afraide at their lōkes, for they are a rebellious house.

7 Therefore thou shalt speake my wordes vnto them: but surely they wil not heare, nether wil they in dede cease: for they are rebellious.

8 But thou sonne of man, heare what I say vnto thee: be not thou rebellious, like this rebellious house: open thy mouth, and eat that I giue thee.

9 And whē I looked vp, behold, an hād was set vnto me, & lo, a rolle of a booke was therein.

CHAP. III.

1 The Prophet being fed with the worde of God and with the constant boldnes of the Spirit, is sent vnto the people that were in captiuitie. 17 The office of true ministers.

1 Moreouer he said vnto me, Sonne of mā, eat that thou findest: a eat this rolle, and go, and speake vnto the house of Israēl.

2 So I opened my mouth, and he gaue me this rolle to eat.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, cause thy belly to eat, and fil thy bowels with this rolle that I giue thee. The did I eat it, and it was in my mouth as swete as honie.

4 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, go, & entre into the house of Israēl, and declare them my wordes.

5 For thou art not sent to a people of an vnknown<sup>n</sup> tongue, or of an hard language, but to the house of Israēl,

6 Not to manie people of an vnknown<sup>n</sup> to- gue, or of an hard language, whose wordes thou canst not vnderstand: yet if I shulde send thee to them, they wolde obey thee.

7 But the house of Israēl wil not obey thee: for they wil not obey me: yea, all the house of Israēl are impudent and stif hearted.

8 Beholde, I haue made thy face<sup>b</sup> strong against their faces, and thy forehead hard against their foreheads.

9 I haue made thy forehead as the adamāt, & harder then the flint: feare them not therefore, nether be afraid at their lokes: for they are a rebellious house.

10 He said moreouer vnto me, Sonne of man, receiue in thine heart all my wor- des that I speake vnto thee, and heare them with thine eares, 11 And go & entre to them that are led a- way captiues vnto the children of thy peo- ple, and speake vnto them, and tel them, Thus saith the Lord God: but surely they wil not heare, nether wil thei in dede cease.

12 Then the Spirit toke me vp, and I heard behinde me a noyse of a great ruffling, saying, d Blessed be the glorie of the Lord out of his place.

13 I heard also the noyse of the wings of the beasts, that touched one another, and the ratling of the wheles that were by them, euen a noyse of a great ruffling.

14 So the Spirit lift me vp, & toke me away and I<sup>e</sup> went in bitternes, & indignation of my spirit, but the hād of the Lord was strong vpon me.

15 The I came to them that were led away captiues to<sup>f</sup> Tel-ābib, that dwelt by the riuer Chebār, and I sate where they sate, and remained there astonished amōg the<sup>s</sup> seuen dayes.

16 And at the end of seuen dayes, the wor- de of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, I haue made thee a<sup>h</sup> wat- chman vnto the house of Israēl: therefore heare the worde at my mouth, and giue the warning from me.

18 When I shal say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt surely dye, and thou giuest not him warnig, nor speakest to admonish the wic- ked of his wicked way, that he may liue, the same wicked man shal dye in his iniquitie: but his blood wil I require at thine hand.

19 Yet if thou warne the wicked, & he tur- ne not from his wickednes, nor from his wicked way, he shal dye in his iniquitie, but thou hast deliuered thy soule.

20 Likewise if a<sup>i</sup> righteous man turne frō his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, I wil lay a<sup>k</sup> stumbling blocke before him, and he shal dye, because thou hast not gi- uen him warning: he shal dye in his sinne, and his<sup>l</sup> righteous dedes, which he hathe done, shal not be remēbred: but his blood wil I require at thine hand.

21 Neuertheles, if thou admonish that ri- ghteous man, that the righteous sinne not, and that he doeth not sinne, he shal liue be- cause he is admonished: also thou hast de- liuered thy soule.

22 And the<sup>m</sup> hand of the Lord was there vpon me, and he said vnto me, Arise, & go into the<sup>n</sup> field, and I wil there talke with thee.

23 So when I had risen vp, and gone forthe into the field, beholde, the<sup>n</sup> glorie of the Lord stode there, as y<sup>n</sup> glorie which I sawe by the riuer Chebār, and I fel downe vpon my face.

24 Then the Spirit entred into me, which<sup>o</sup> set me vp vpon my fete, and spake vnto me, and said to me, Come, & p<sup>p</sup> shut thy self within thine house.

25 But thou, o<sup>q</sup> sonne of man, beholde, they shal put bandes vpon thee, and shal binde thee with them, and thou shalt not go out among them.

26 And I wil make thy tongue<sup>q</sup> cleaue to the roofof thy mouth, that thou shalt be dumme, and shalt not be to them as a man that rebuketh: for they are a rebellious house.

27 But when I shal haue spoken vnto thee, I wil open thy mouth, and thou shalt say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, He that heareth, let him heare, and he that leaueth of, let him leaue: for they are a<sup>r</sup> rebellious house.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The besieging of the citie of Ierusalem is signified. 9 The long continuance of the captiuitie of Israēl. 16 An hunger is prophesied to come.

1 THou also sonne of man, take thee a bricke, and lay it before thee, & pour-tray vpon it the citie, euen Ierusalém,

2 And lay siege against it, and buyld a fort against it, and cast a mount against it: set the campe also against it, and lay engins of warre against it rounde about.

3 Moreover, take an <sup>a</sup> yron panne, and set it for a wall of yron betwene thee and the citie, and direct thy face toward it, & it shal be besieged, and thou shalt lay siege against it: this shalbe a signe vnto the house of Israël.

4 Slepe thou also vpon thy left side, & lay the iniquitie of the <sup>b</sup> house of Israël vpon it: according to the nōbre of the daies, that thou shalt slepe vpon it, thou shalt beare their iniquitie.

5 For I haue laied vpon thee the yeres of their iniquitie, according to the number of the daies, euen thre hundredth and ninety daies: so shalt thou beare the iniquitie of the house of Israël.

7 Therefore <sup>d</sup> shalt direct thy face toward the siege of Ierusalém, & thine <sup>e</sup> arme shalbe vncovered, and thou shalt prophetic against it.

8 And beholde, I wil lay <sup>f</sup> bands vpon thee, and thou shalt not turne thee from one side to another, til thou hast ended the daies of thy siege.

9 Thou shalt take also vnto thee wheat, & barley, and beanes, and lentiles, and millet, & fitches, and put them in one vessel, & make thee bread thereof according to the number of the daies, that thou shalt slepe vpon thy side: euen thre hundredth & ninety daies shalt thou eat thereof.

10 And the meat, whereof thou shalt eat, shalbe by weight, euen <sup>g</sup> twētie shekels a day: and from time to time shalt thou eat thereof.

11 Thou shalt drinke also water by measure, euen the sixt parte of <sup>h</sup> an Hin: from time to time shalt thou drinke.

12 And thou shalt eat it as barley cakes, and thou shalt bake it <sup>i</sup> in the dongue that cometh out of man, in their sight.

13 And the Lord said, So shal the children of Israël eat their defiled bread among the Gentiles, whether I wil cast them.

14 Then said I, Ah, Lord God, beholde, my soule hath not bene polluted: for frō my youth vp, euen vnto this houre, I haue not eaten of a thing dead, or torne in pieces, nether came there any <sup>j</sup> vncleane flesh in my mouth.

15 Then he said vnto me, Lo, I haue giuen thee bullockes <sup>m</sup> dōgue for mans dongue, & thou shalt prepare thy bread therewith.

16 Moreover he said vnto me, Sonne of mā, beholde, I wil breake <sup>n</sup> the staffe of bread in Ierusalém, and they shal eat bread by weight, and with care, and they shal drinke water by measure, and with astonishment.

17 Because that bread and water shal faile, they shalbe astonied one with another, & shal consume away for their iniquitie.

CHAP. V.

The signe of the heeres, whereby is signified the destruction of the people.

1 AND thou sonne of man, take thee a sharpe knife, or take thee a barbour's razor & cause it <sup>a</sup> to passe vpo thine head, and vpon thy beard: then take thee balances to weigh, and deuide the heere.

2 Thou shalt burne with fyre the third part in the middes of <sup>b</sup> the citie, whē the dayes of the siege are fulfilled, & thou shalt take the other third parte, & smite about it with a knife, and the last third parte thou shalt scatter in the winde, and I wil drawe out a sworde after them.

3 Thou shalt also take thereof a fewe in number, and binde them in thy <sup>c</sup> lappe.

4 Then take of them againe and cast them into the middes of the fyre, & burne them in the fyre: <sup>d</sup> for thereof shal a fyre come forth into all the house of Israël.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, This is Ierusalém: I haue set it in the middes of the nations and countreys, that are rounde about her.

6 And she hath changed my <sup>e</sup> iudgements into wickednes more then the nations, & my statutes more then the countreys, that are rounde about her: for thei haue refused my iudgements and my statutes, and they haue not walked in them.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because your <sup>f</sup> multitude is greater then the nations that are rounde about you, and ye haue not walked in my statutes, nether haue ye kept my iudgements: no, ye haue not done according to the iudgements of the nations, that are rounde about you,

CHAP. VI.

He sheweth that Ierusalem shalbe destroyed for their idolatrie. & He prophesieth the repentance of the remnant of the people, and their deliuerance.

1 A Gaine the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, Set thy face towards the *mountaines of Israel, and prophecie against them,

3 And say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God: thus saith the Lord God to the <sup>a</sup>mountaines and to the hillis, to the riuers and to the valles, Beholde, I, euē I, wil bring a sworde vpon you, and I wil destroye your hie places:

4 And your altars shalbe desolate, and your images of the <sup>b</sup>sunne shalbe broken: and I wil cast downe your slayne men before your idoles.

5 And I willay the dead carkeises of the children of Israel before their idoles, and I wil scatter your bones rounde about your altars.

6 In all your dwelling places the cities shalbe desolate, and the hie places shalbe laied waste, so y your altars shalbe made waste and desolate, & your idoles shalbe broken, and cease, and your images of the sunne shalbe cut in pieces, and your workes shalbe abolished.

7 And the slayne shal fall in the middes of you, and ye shal knowe that I am y Lord.

8 Yet wil I leaue a remnant, <sup>d</sup>that you may haue some that shal escape the sworde among the nacions, when you shalbe scattered through the countreis.

9 And they that escape of you, shal remember me among the nacions, where they shalbe in captiuitie, because I am grieved for their whorish hearts, which haue departed from me, and for their eyes, which haue gone awhoring after their idoles, and they <sup>e</sup>shalbe displeased in them selues for the euils, which they haue committed in all their abominacions.

10 And they shal knowe that I am the Lord, and that I haue not said in vaine, that I wolde do this euil vnto them.

11 Thus saith the Lord God, <sup>f</sup>Smite with thine hand, and stretche forth with thy fote, and say, Alas, for all the wicked abominacions of the house of Israel: for they shal fall by the sworde, by the famine, and by the pestilence.

12 He that is farre of, shal dye of the pestilence, and he that is nere, shal fall by the sworde, and he that remaineth and is besieged, shal dye by the famine: thus wil I accomplish my wrath vpon them.

13 Then ye shal knowe, that I am y Lord, when their slayne men shalbe among their idoles rounde about their altars, vpon euery hie hill in all the toppes of the mountaines, and vnder euery grene tre, and vnder euery thicke oke, which is the place where they did offer swete sauour to all their idoles.

14 So wil I <sup>g</sup>stretch mine hand vpon them, & make the land waste, and desolate <sup>h</sup>fro the wildernes vnto Diblath in all their habitacions, and they shal knowe, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. VII.

The end of all the land of Israel shal suddenly come.

1 Moreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Also thou sonne of man, thus saith the Lord God, An end <sup>i</sup>is come vnto the lad of Israel: the end is come vpon the foure corners of the land.

3 Now <sup>j</sup>is the end come vpon thee, and I wil send my wrath vpon thee, and wil iudge thee according to thy waies, and wil laye vpon thee all <sup>k</sup>thine abominacions.

4 Nether shal mine eye spare thee, nether wil I haue pitie: but I wil laie thy waies vpon thee: and thine abominacion shalbe in the middes of thee, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God, <sup>l</sup>Beholde, one euil, euē one euil is come.

<sup>d</sup> He sheweth that in all dangers God will preserve a few which shalbe as the seede of his Church & call vpon his Name.

<sup>8</sup> Now I wil shortly powre out my wrath vpon thee, and fulfil mine angre vpon thee: I wil iudge thee according to thy wayes, and wil lay vpon thee all thine abominations.

<sup>28</sup> The King shal mourne, and the prince shal be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people in the land shal be troubled: I wil do vnto them according to their wayes, and according to their iudgements wil I iudge them, and they shal knowe that I am the Lord.

7 And he caused me to entre at the gate of the court: and when I looked, beholde, an hole was in the wall.

8 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, digge now in the wall. And when I had digged in the wall, beholde, there was a dore.

9 And he said vnto me, Go in, and beholde the wicked abominations that they do here.

10 So I went in, and sawe, and beholde, there was euerie similitude of creeping things and <sup>k</sup> abominable beastes and all the idoles of the house of Israël painted vpon the wall rounde about.

11 And there stood before them seuentie men of the Ancients of the house of Israël, and in the middes of them stood Iazaniáh, the sonne of Shaphán, with euerie man his censour in his hand, and the vapour of the incense went vp like <sup>m</sup> a cloud.

12 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, hast thou sene what the Ancients of the house of Israël do in the darke, euerie one in the chambre of his imagerie: for they saie, The Lord seeth vs not, the Lord hath forsaken the earth.

13 Again he said also vnto me, Turne thee againe, & thou shalt see greater abominations that they do.

17 Then he said vnto me, Hast thou sene this, <sup>o</sup> sonne of man? Is it a small thing to the house of Iudáh to commit these abominations which they do here: for they haue filled the land with crueltie, and haue returned to prouoke me: and lo, they haue cast out <sup>p</sup> stinke before their noses.

2 And beholde, six <sup>b</sup> men came by the way of the hie gate, which lieth toward the North, and euerie man a weapon in his hand to destroye it: and one man among them was clothed with linnen, with a writers <sup>d</sup> ynkhorne by his side, & they went in and stood beside the brasen altar.

3 And the glorie of the God of Israël was gone vp from the Cherub, whereupon he was and stood on the <sup>e</sup> dore of the house & he called to the man clothed with linnen, which had the writers ynkhorne by his side.

4 And <sup>f</sup> Lord said vnto him, Go through the middes of the citie, <sup>euē</sup> through the middes of Ierusalém, and set <sup>a</sup> a marke vpon the foreheads of them that <sup>f</sup> mourne, and crye for all the abominations that be done in the middes thereof.

5 And to the other he said, that I might heare, Go ye after him through the citie, and smite: let your eye spare none, nether haue pitie.

6 Destroye vtterly the olde, & the yong, and the maids, and the children, and the women, but touche no man, vpon whome is the <sup>g</sup> marke, and begin at my Sanctuarie. Then they began at the <sup>h</sup> Ancient men, which were before the house.

7 And he said vnto the, Defile the House, and fil the courtes with the slaine, then go forth: and they went out, and slewe them in the citie.

8 Now when they had slaine them, and I had escaped, I fel downe vpon my face, and cryed, saying, Ah Lord God, wilt thou destroye all the residue of Israël, in powring out thy wrath vpon Ierusalém?

9 Then said he vnto me, The iniquitie of the house of Israël, and Iudáh is exceeding great, so that the land is full <sup>i</sup> of blood, & the citie full of corrupt iudgement: for they say, The Lord hath forsaken the earth, and the Lord seeth vs not.

10 As touching me also, mine eye shal not spare them, nether wil I haue pitie, but wil recompence their wayes vpon their heads.

11 And beholde, the man clothed with linnen which had the ynkhorne by his side, made report

CHAP. X.

Of the man that toke hte burning coles out of the middle of the wheles of the Cherubims. A rehearsal of the vision of the wheles, of the beastes, and of the Cherubims.

Chap. 1. 23. AND as I looked, beholde, in the <sup>a</sup>firmament that was about the head of the <sup>a</sup>Cherubims there appeared vpon the like vnto the similitude of a throne, as it were a saphir stone.

a Which in the first chap. ver. 5. he called the four beastes.

2 And he spake vnto the man clothed with linen, and said, Go in betwene the wheles, then vnder the Cherub, and fil thine hands with coles of fyre from betwene the Cherubims, and scatter them ouer <sup>b</sup>the citie. And he went in in my sight.

b This signified, that the citie shoulde be burnt.

3 Now the Cherubims stode vpon the right side of the house when the man went in, & the cloude filled the inner court.

c Meaning, that the glorie of God shoulde departe from the Temple.

4 Then the glorie of the Lord <sup>c</sup>went vpon the Cherub, and stode ouer the dore of the house, and the house was filled with the cloude, and <sup>y</sup>court was filled with the brightness of the Lords glorie.

d Read Chap. 4. 14.

5 And the <sup>d</sup>founde of the Cherubims wings was heard into the vtter court, as the voyce of the Almighty God, when he speaketh.

6 And when he had commanded the man clothed with linnen, saying, Take fyre from betwene the wheles, & from betwene the Cherubims, then he went in and stode beside the whele.

7 And one Cherub stretched forth his hand from betwene the Cherubims vnto the fyre, that was betwene the Cherubims, & toke thereof, and put it into the hands of him that was clothed with linnen: who toke it and went out.

8 And there appeared in the Cherubims, <sup>y</sup>likenes of a mans hand vnder their wings.

9 And when I looked vp, beholde foure wheles were beside the Cherubims, one whele by one Cherub, and another whele by another Cherub, and the appearance of the wheles was as the colour of a <sup>e</sup>chrysolite stone.

e Read Chap. 4. 16.

10 And their appearance (for they were all foure of one facion) was as if one whele had bene in another whele.

11 When they went forth, they went vpon their foure sides, and they returned not as they went: but to the place whether the first went, they went after it, & they turned not as they went.

f Until they had executed Gods iudgements.

12 And their whole body, and their <sup>r</sup>rings, & their hands, and their wings, & the wheles were full of eyes round about, even in the same foure wheles.

13 And the Cherub cried to these wheles in mine hearing, saying, O whele.

14 And euery beast had foure faces: <sup>y</sup>first face was the face of a Cherub, and the seconde face was the face of a man, and the third the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an egle.

15 And the Cherubims were lifted vp: <sup>this</sup> is the beast that I sawe at the riuer Chebar. Chap. 1. 5.

16 And when the Cherubims went, the wheles went by them: and when the Cherubims lift vp their wings to mount vp from the earth, the same wheles also turned not from beside them.

17 When the Cherubims stode, thei stode: and when thei were lifted vp, thei lifted them selues vp also: for the <sup>s</sup>pirit of the beast was in them.

g There was one consene betwene the Cherubims & the wheles. h Read Chap. 9. 1.

18 <sup>h</sup>Then the glorie of the Lord departed from about the dore of the House, & stode vpon the Cherubims.

19 And the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and mounted vp from the earth in my sight: when thei went out, the wheles also were beside them: & euery one stode at the entrie of <sup>y</sup>gate of the Lords House at the East side, & the glorie of the God of Israel was vpon them on hie.

20 *This is the beast that I sawe vnder the God of Israel by the riuer Chebar, and I knewe that thei were the Cherubims. Chap. 1. 5.

i That is, the whole body of the foure beasts or Cherubims.

21 Euery one had foure faces, and euery one foure wings, and the likenes of mans hands was vnder their wings.

22 And the likenes of their faces was the selfe same faces, which I sawe by the riuer Chebar, and the appearance of the Cherubims was the selfe same, and thei went euery one straight forward.

CHAP. XI.

Who thei were that seduced the people of Israel. 1 Against these he prophesieth, shewing them how thei shal be dispersed abroad. 19 The reuening of the heart commeth of God. 21 He threatneth them that leane vnto their owne counsels.

MOREouer, the Spirit lift me vp, and broght me vnto the East gate of the Lords House, which lieth Eastward, and beholde, at the entrie of the gate were five, and twentie me: among whome I sawe Iazaniáh the sonne of Azúr, & Pelatiáh the sonne of Benaiáh, the princes of <sup>y</sup>people.

2 Then said he vnto me, Sonne of man, these are the men that imagine mischief, and deuise wicked counsel in this citie.

a Thus the wicked derided the Prophetes, as though they preached but errors, & therefore gaue the felues til to their pleasures.

3 For thei say, <sup>a</sup>It is not nere, let vs buylde houses: this citie is the <sup>b</sup>caldron, and we be the flesh.

b We shal not be pulled out of Ierusalem, til the houre of our death comes: & the sh is not take out of the caldron til it be sod.

4 Therefore prophecie against them, sonne of man, prophecie.

5 And <sup>y</sup>Spirit of the Lord fel vpon me, & said vnto me, Speake, Thus saith <sup>y</sup>Lord, O ye house of Israel, this haue ye said, & I know that <sup>w</sup>risseth vp of your mindes.

An heart of flesh. om d I Ezekiél. Gods glorie departeth.

6 Manie haue ye murdered in this citie, and ye haue filled the stretes thereof with the slaine.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Thei that ye haue slaine, and haue layed in the middes of it, thei are <sup>e</sup> the flesh, and this citie is the caldrō, but I wil bring you forth of the middes of it.

8 Ye haue feared the sworde, and I wil bring a sworde vpon you, saith the Lord God.

9 And I wil bring you out of the middes thereof, and deliuer you into <sup>d</sup> the hands of strangers, and wil execute iudgements among you.

10 Ye shal fall by <sup>y</sup> sworde, & I wil iudge you in the border of <sup>e</sup> Israël, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

11 This citie shal not be your caldron, neither shal ye be the flesh in the middes thereof, but I wil iudge you in the border of Israël.

12 And ye shal knowe that I am the Lord: for ye haue not walked in my statutes, neither executed my iudgements, but haue done after the maners of the heathen, that are rounde about you.

13 ¶ And when I prophesied, Pelatiáh the sonne of <sup>f</sup> Benaiah dyed: then fel I downe vpon my face & cryed with a loude voice, and said, Ah Lord God, wilt thou then utterly destroie all the remnant of Israël?

14 Againe the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

15 Sonne of man, thys brethren, euen thy brethren, the men of thy kindred, and all the house of Israël, wholly are thei vnto whome the inhabitants of Ierusalem haue said, Departe ye farre from the Lord: for the land is giuen vs in possession.

16 Therefore say, Thus saith the Lord God, Although I haue cast them farre of among the heathen, and although I haue scattered them among the countreis, yet wil I be to them as a litle <sup>h</sup> Sanctuarie in the countreis where they shal come.

17 Therefore saie, Thus saith <sup>y</sup> Lord God, I wil gather you againe from the people, & assemble you out of the countreis where ye haue bene scattered, and I wil giue you the land of Israël.

18 And thei shal come thether, and thei shal take awaie all the idoles there of, and all <sup>y</sup> abominations thereof from thence.

19 ¶ And I wil giue them one heart, and I wil put a newe spirit within their bowels: and I wil take the stonie heart out of their bodies, & wil giue them an heart of flesh, 20 That thei maie walke in my statutes, & kepe my iudgements, and execute them: and thei shal be my people, and I wil be their God.

21 But vpon <sup>thē</sup>, whose heart is toward their idoles, & whose affection goeth after their abominations, I willaie their waie vpon their owne heades, saith the Lord God.

22 ¶ Then did the Cherubims lift vp their wings, and the wheles besides them, and the glorie of the God of Israël was vpon them on hie.

23 And the glorie of the Lord went vp frō the middes of the citie, and stode vpon <sup>y</sup> mountaine which is toward the East side of the citie.

24 Afterwarde the Spirit toke me vp and broght me in a vision by the Spirit of God into Caldea to them <sup>y</sup> were led awaie captiues: so the vision that I had sene, went vp from me.

25 Thē I declared vnto <sup>thē</sup> that were <sup>k</sup> led awaie captiues, all the things that <sup>y</sup> Lord had shewed me.

CHAP. XII.

The parable of the captiuitie. 18 Another parable whereby the distres of hunger and thirst is signified.

1 The worde of <sup>y</sup> Lord also came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, thou dwellest in the middes of a rebellious house, which haue eyes to se, and se <sup>a</sup> not: thei haue eares to heare, & heare not: for thei are a rebellious house.

3 Therefore thou sonne of man, prepare thy stuffe to go into captiuitie & go forth by daie in their sight: and thou shalt passe from thy place to another place in their sight, if it be possible that thei maie consider it: for thei are a rebellious house.

4 Then shalt thou bring forth thy stuffe by daie in their sight as the stuffe of him <sup>y</sup> goeth into captiuitie: & <sup>y</sup> shalt go forth at euen in their sight, as thei that go forth into captiuitie.

5 Dig thou through the wall in their sight, and carie out thereby.

6 In their sight shalt thou beare it vpon thy sholders, & carie it forth in the darke: thou shalt couer thy face that thou se not the earth: for I haue set thee as a <sup>b</sup> signe vnto the house of Israël.

7 And as I was cōmanded, so I broght forth my stuffe by day, as <sup>y</sup> stuffe of one that goeth into captiuitie: and by night I digged through the wall with mine hand, and broght it forth in the darke, and I bare it vpon my shulder in their sight.

8 And in the morning came the worde of <sup>y</sup> Lord vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, hathe not the house of Israël, the rebellious house, said vnto thee, What <sup>c</sup> doest thou?

10 But saie thou vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, This <sup>b</sup> burden concerneth the chief in Ierusalem, and all the house of Israël that are among them.

11 Saie, I am your signe: like as I haue done, so shal it be done vnto them: thei shal go

<sup>h</sup> Thei shal be yet a litle Church, shewing that the Lord wil euer haue some to call vpon his Name, whome he wil preserve and restore, though thei be for a time afflicted.

12 And the chiefeſt that is among them, ſhal beare vpon his ſhulder in the darke and ſhal go forth: thei ſhal digge through the wall, to carie out thereby: he ſhal couer his face & he ſe not the ground with his eyes.

13 My net alſo wil I ſpread vpon<sup>d</sup> him, and he ſhal be taken in my net, and I wil bring him to Babel to y<sup>e</sup> land of the Caldeas, yet ſhal he not ſe it, thogh he ſhal dye there.

14 And I wil ſcatter towarde euerie winde all that are about him to helpe him, and all his garifons, and I wil drawe out the ſworde after them.

15 And thei ſhal knowe that I am the Lord, when I ſhal ſcatter the among the nations, and diſperſe them in the countreis.

16 But I wil leaue a<sup>e</sup> litle nombre of them from the ſworde, from the famine, and fro the peſtilence, that thei may declare all theſe abominations among the heathen, where thei come, and thei ſhal knowe, that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, 18 Sonne of man, eat thy bread with trembling, and drinke thy water with trouble, & with carefulnes, 19 And ſay vnto the people of the land, Thus ſaith the Lord God of the inhabitants of Ieruſalem, and of the land of Iſrael, Thei ſhal eat their bread with carefulnes, & drinke their water with deſolatiō: for the land ſhal be deſolate fro her abundance becauſe of the crueltie of them that dwell therein.

20 And the cities that are inhabited, ſhal be left voide, & the land ſhal be deſolate, and ye ſhal knowe that I am the Lord.

21 ¶ And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

22 Sonne of man, what is that prouerbe that you haue in the land of Iſrael, ſaying, The dayes<sup>f</sup> are prolonged and all viſions<sup>g</sup> faile?

23 Tel them therefore, Thus ſaith the Lord God, I wil make this prouerbe to ceaſe, & thei ſhal no more uſe it as a prouerbe in Iſrael: but ſay vnto them, The dayes are at hand and the effect of euerie viſion.

24 For no viſion ſhal be any more in vaine, nether ſhal there be anie flattering diuinatiō within the houſe of Iſrael.

25 For I am the Lord: I wil ſpeake, and that thing that I ſhal ſpeake, ſhal come to paſſe: it ſhal be no more prolonged: for in your daies, o rebellious houſe, wil I ſay the thing, & wil perſorme it, ſaith y<sup>e</sup> Lord God.

26 Again the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying, 27 Sonne of man, beholde, thei of the houſe of Iſrael ſay, The viſion that he ſeeth, is for many daies to come, & he prophecieth of the times that are far of.

28 Therefore ſay vnto the, Thus ſaith the Lord God, All my wordes ſhal no longer be delayed, but y<sup>e</sup> thing which I haue ſpoken, ſhal be done, ſaith the Lord God.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The worde of the Lord againſt falſe prophetes, which teach the people the counſels of their owne hearts.

2 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, ſaying,

3 Sonne of man, prophecie againſt the Prophetes of Iſrael, that prophecie, and ſay thou vnto the, that prophecie out of their owne hearts, Heare the worde of y<sup>e</sup> Lord.

4 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Wo vnto the fooliſh prophetes that followe their owne ſpirit, and haue ſene nothing.

5 O Iſrael, thy Prophetes are like the foxes in the waſte places.

6 Ye haue not riſen vp in y<sup>e</sup> gappes, nether made vp the hedge for the houſe of Iſrael, to ſtand in y<sup>e</sup> battel in the day of the Lord.

7 Thei haue ſene vanitie, & lying diuinatiō, ſaying, The Lord ſaith it, & the Lord hath not ſent the: & thei haue made others to hope that thei wolde confirme y<sup>e</sup> worde of their prophecie.

8 Haue ye not ſene a vaine viſion? & haue ye not ſpoken a lying diuination: ye ſay, The Lord ſaith it, albeit I haue not ſpoke.

9 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, Becauſe ye haue ſpoken vanitie & haue ſene lies, therefore beholde, I am againſt you, ſaith the Lord God,

10 And mine hand ſhal be vpo the Prophetes y<sup>e</sup> ſe vanitie, & deuine lies: thei ſhal not be in the aſſembly of my people, nether ſhal thei be writtē in the writing of the houſe of Iſrael, nether ſhal thei entre into the land of Iſrael: and ye ſhal knowe that I am the Lord God.

11 And therefore, becauſe thei haue deceiued my people, ſaying, Peace, & there was no peace: & one buyld vp a ſwall, & beholde, y<sup>e</sup> others daubed it wth vnſtemperd mortar, 12 Say vnto the which dawbe it wth vnſtemperd mortar, that it ſhal fall: for there ſhal come a great ſhowre, & I wil ſend haile ſtones, which ſhal cauſe it to fall, and a ſtormie winde ſhal breake it.

13 Lo, when the wall is fallen, ſhal it not be ſaid vnto you, Where is y<sup>e</sup> dawbing wherewith ye haue dawbed it?

14 Therefore thus ſaith y<sup>e</sup> Lord God, I wil cauſe a ſtormie winde to breake forth in my wrath, & a great ſhowre ſhal be in mine angre, & haile ſtones in mine indignation to conſume it.

15 So I wil deſtroy the wall y<sup>e</sup> ye haue dawbed with vnſtemperd mortar, & bring it downe to y<sup>e</sup> ground, ſo y<sup>e</sup> the fundaciō thereof ſhal be diſcouered, & it ſhal fall, & ye ſhal be conſumed in the middes thereof, & ye ſhal knowe, that I am the Lord.

16 To wit, the Prophetes of Israél, which prophecies vpon Ierusalém, and se visions of peace for it, and there is no peace, saith the Lord God.

17 Likewise thou sonne of man, set thy face against <sup>y</sup> daughters of thy people, which prophecies out of their owne heart: and prophecies thou against them, and say,

18 Thus saith the Lord God, Wo vnto the women that sowe <sup>i</sup> pillows vnder all arme holes, and make vailles vpon the head of euerie one that stādeth vp, to hunt soules: wil ye hunt the soules of my people, and wil ye giue life to the soules that come vnto you?

19 And wil ye pollute me among my people for handfuls of <sup>k</sup> barlie, & for pieces of bread to slay the soules of them that shulde not dye, and <sup>l</sup> to giue life to the soules that shuldenot liue in lying to my people, that heare your lies?

20 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I wil haue to do with your pillows, wherewith ye hunt <sup>y</sup> <sup>m</sup> soules to make the to flie, and I wil teare them from your armes, and wil let the soules go, <sup>euen</sup> the soules, that ye hunt to make them to flie.

21 Your vailles also wil I teare, and deliuer my people out of your hand, and thei shal be no more in your handes to be hunted, & ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

22 Because with your lyes ye haue made the heart of the <sup>n</sup> righteous sad, whome I haue not made sad, and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he shulde not returne from his wicked way, by promising him life,

1 Then came certeine of the Elders of Israél vnto me, and <sup>a</sup> sate before me.

2 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, these men haue set vp their idoles in their <sup>b</sup> heart, & put the stumbling blocke of their iniquitie before their face: shulde I, being required, answer them?

4 Therefore speake vnto them, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Euerie man of the house of Israél that setteth vp his idoles in his heart, & putteth <sup>y</sup> stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his fa-

7 For euerie one of the house of Israél, or of the stranger that sojourneth in Israél, which departeth frō me, and setteth vp his idoles in his heart, and putteth the stumbling blocke of his iniquitie before his face, and cometh to a Prophete, for to inquire of him for me, I the Lord wil answer him <sup>f</sup> for my selfe,

8 And I wil set my face against that man, and wil make him an example and prouerbe, and I wil cut him of from the middes of my people, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

9 And if the Prophet be <sup>g</sup> deceiued, when he hath spoken a thing, I the Lord haue deceiued that Prophet, and I wil stretch out mine hand vpon him, and wil destroy him frō the middes of my people of Israél.

4 Beholde, it is cast in the fyre to be consumed: the fyre consumeth bothe the ends of it, and the middes of it is burnt. Is it mete for any worke?

5 Beholde, when it was whole, it was mete for no worke: how muche lesse shal it be mete for any worke, when the fyre hath consumed it, and it is burnt?

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, As the vine tre, <sup>that is</sup> among the trees of the forest, which I haue giuen to the fyre to be consumed, so wil I giue the inhabitants of Ierusalem.

The Prophet declareth the benefites of God toward Ierusalem.

salém. 15 Their unkindnes. 46 He iustificeth the wickednes of other people in comparison of the finnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominacions, into which the Sodomites fel. 60 Mercie promised to the repentant.

1 A Gaine, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, cause Ierusalem to knowe her abominacions,

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitacion & thy kinred is of the land <sup>a</sup>of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Hittite.

4 And in thy natiuitie whe thou wast <sup>b</sup>borne, thy navel was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swadeled in cloures.

5 None eye pitied thee to do any of these vnto thee, for to haue compasion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field to the contempt of thy persone in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I sawe thee polluted in thine <sup>c</sup>owne blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when y<sup>e</sup> wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiplie, as y<sup>e</sup> bud of the field, and thou hast increased, and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breasts are facioned, thine heere is growen, where as thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, beholde, thy time was as the time of loue, & I spred my skirres ouer thee, and couered <sup>d</sup>thy filthines: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entred into a couenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becomest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with <sup>e</sup>water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I anointed thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broidered worke, and shod thee with badgers skinne: and I girded thee about with fine linen, & I couered thee with silke.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put brasselets vpon thine hands, & a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontelet vpon thy face, and earigs in thine eares, & a beautiful <sup>h</sup>crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with golde and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linen, and silke, & broidered worke: thou didest eat fine floure, and hony and oyle, & thou wast very beautiful, and thou didest growe vp into a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spred among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfite through my <sup>i</sup>beautie which I had set vpon thee, saith the Lord God.

<sup>b</sup> When I first brought thee out of Egypt, & planted thee in this land to be my Church.

<sup>c</sup> Being thus in thy filthines and fornication of all men, I took thee & gaue thee life: whereby is meant that before God wast his Church, & gaue life, there is nothing, but filthines and death.

<sup>d</sup> These wordes, as blood, pollution, nakednes & filthines are oft times repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before God receiued them to mercie, fauoured them & couered their shame.

<sup>a</sup> Which bringeth forth no fruite, no more then the other trees of the forest: meaning, that if Ierusalem, which bare the name of his Church, did not bring forth the fruite, it shoulde be utterly destroyed.

Ezekiel. Their iudgement.

- 16 And thou didest take thy garments, and deckt thine hie places with diuers colours, <sup>m</sup> and plaied the harlot thereupon: the like things shal not come, nether hathe anie done so.
- 17 Thou hast also takē thy faire iewels made of my golde & of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, & <sup>n</sup> madest to thy self images of men, and didest commit whoredome with them,
- 18 And toke thy broidered garments, & couered them: and thou hast set mine oyle & my perfume before them.
- 19 My meat also, which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle, & hony, where-with I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before the for a sweete sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.
- 20 Moreouer thou hast taken thy sonnes & thy daughters, whome <sup>y</sup> hast borne vnto me, & these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to <sup>o</sup> be deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

- 22 And in all thine abominacions & whoredomes thou hast not remēbred the daies of thy youth, when thou wast naked and bare, & wast polluted in thy blood.
- 23 And beside all thy wickednes (wo, wo vnto thee, saith the Lord God)
- 24 Thou hast also buylt vnto thee an hie place, and hast made thee an hie place in euery strete.
- 25 Thou hast buylt thine hie place at euery corner of <sup>y</sup> way, & hast made thy beautie to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy fete to euery one that passed by, & multiplied thy whoredome.
- 26 Thou hast also comitted fornicacion wth the <sup>p</sup> Egyptians thy neighbours, which haue great members, and hast encreased thy whoredome, to prouoke me.
- 27 Beholde, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and wil diminish thine ordinarie, and deliuer thee vnto the wil of them that hate thee, euen to the daughters of the Philistims, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.
- 28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Assyriās, because thou wast insatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.
- 29 Thou hast moreouer multiplied thy fornicacion from the land of Canāā vnto Caldea, & yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

- 31 In that thou buyldest thine hie place in the corner of euery way, and makest thine hie place in euery strete, & hast not bene as an harlot <sup>q</sup> that despiseth a rewarde,

- 34 And the contrary is in thee from other women in thy fornicacions, nether the like fornicacion shal be after thee: for in that thou giuest a rewarde, & no rewarde is giuen vnto thee, therefore thou art contrary.
- 35 Wherefore, o harlot, heare the worde of the Lord.
- 36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy <sup>r</sup> shame was powred out, and thy filthines discovered through thy fornicacions with thy louers, and with all the idoles of thine abominacions & by the blood of thy children, which thou didest offre vnto them,
- 37 Beholde, therefore I wil gather all <sup>r</sup> thy louers, with whome thou hast takē pleasure, and all them that thou hast loued, with all them that thou hast hated: I wil euen gather them rounde about against thee, & wil discouer thy filthines vnto them that thei may se all thy filthines.
- 38 And I wil iudge thee after the maner of them that are harlots, and of them that shed blood, & I wil giue thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.
- 39 I wil also giue thee into their hands, and they shal destroy thine hie place, and shal breake downe thine hie places: they shal strippe thee also out of thy clothes, & shal take thy faire iewels, and leaue thee naked and bare.
- 40 They shal also bring vp a companie against thee, and they shal stone thee wth stones, & thrust thee through wth their swordes.
- 41 And thei <sup>r</sup> shal burne vp thine houses wth fyre, & execute iudgements vpon thee in the sight of many women: and I wil cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no rewarde any more.
- 42 So wil I make my wrath toward thee to rest, & my <sup>r</sup> ielousie shal departe from thee, and I wil cease and be no more angrie.
- 43 Because <sup>y</sup> hast not remēbred the daies of thy youth, but hast prouoked me with all these things, beholde, therefore I also haue <sup>u</sup> brought thy way vpon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominacions.

The vices of Sodóm.

Ezekiél. The two egles. 340

That is, of Samaria and Sodóm.

That is, her cities. "Eie, thy sister judge thei thou."

But done worse.

He allegeth these foure vices, pride, exesse, idleness & contempe of the poore, as foure principal causes of such abominations, wherefore they were so horribly punished, Ge. 19, 24.

Which were shipped & calles in Bethel and Dan.

Thou art so wicked, that in respect of thee Sodóm & Samaria were iust.

This he speakes in compassion, saying, that he wold restore Ierusalem when Sodóm shulde be restored, y<sup>e</sup> is neuer: and this is met of the greatest parte of the Iewes.

In that thou hast shewed thy self worse then they, and yet thought to escape punishment.

Meaning, y<sup>e</sup> it shalde neuer come to passe.

Eie, warne a remour in thy mouth.

Thou woldst not call her punishment to mynde when thou wast aloft, to learne by her exaple to feare my iudgements.

That is, till y<sup>e</sup> wast brought vnder by the Syrians & Philistims, 1 Chro. 29, 19.

Which ioyned with the Syrians, or compassed about Ierusalem.

thou art y<sup>e</sup> sister of thy y<sup>e</sup> sisters, which forsake their housbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

46 And thine elder sister is Samaria, & her daughters, that dwell at thy left hand, and thy yong sister, that dwelleth at thy right hand, is Sodóm, and her daughters.

47 Yet hast thou a not walked after their waies, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very litle thing, thou wast corrupted more then thei in all thy waies.

48 As I liue, saith the Lord God, Sodóm thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters, as thou hast done & thy daughters.

49 Beholde, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodóm, b Pride, fulnes of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her, and in her daughters: nether did she strengthen the hand of the poore and nedie.

50 But thei were hautie, and comitted abomination before me: therefore I toke the away, as pleased me.

51 Nether hath the Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceded the in thine abominations, and hast iustified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast iustified thy sisters, beare thine owne shame for thy sinnes, that thou hast comitted more abominable the thei which are more righteous then thou art: be thou therefore confounded also, and beare thy shame, seing that thou hast iustified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I wil brig againe e their captiuitie with the captiuitie of Sodóm, and her daughters, and with the captiuitie of Samaria, and her daughters: euen the captiuitie of thy captiues in the middes of them, 54 That thou maist beare thine owne shame, and maist be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodóm and her daughters shal returne to their former state: Samaria also & her daughters shal returne to their former state, whē thou & thy daughters shal returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodóm was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride.

57 Before thy wickednes was discovered, as in that same time of the reproche of the daughters of Arám, and of all the daughters of the Philistims round about k her which despise thee on all sides.

58 Thou hast borne therefore thy wickednes and thine abomination, saith the Lord.

59 For thus saith the Lord God, I might euen deale with thee, as y<sup>e</sup> hast done: when thou didst despise the l othe, in breaking the couenant.

60 Neuertheles, I wil remember my couenant made with thee in the daies of thy youth, and I wil confirme vnto thee an euerlasting couenant.

61 Then thou shalt remembre thy waies, & be ashamed, when thou shalt receiue thy sisters, bothe thy elder and thy yonger, and I wil giue them vnto thee for daughters, but not by thy couenant.

62 And I wil establish my couenant with thee, and thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord, 63 That thou maist remembre, and be ashamed, and neuer open thy mouth any more: because of thy shame when I am pacified toward thee, for all that thou hast done, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XVII.

The parable of the two egles.

And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, put forth a parable and speake a prouerbe vnto the house of Israel,

2 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, The great egle with great wings, and long wings, and ful of fethers, which had diuers colours, came vnto Lebanón, and toke the hiest branche of the cedre,

3 And brake of the toppe of his twigge, & caried it into the land of marchants, and set it in a citie of marchants.

4 He toke also of the fede of the land, and planted it in a fruteful ground: he placed it by great waters, and set it as a willow tre.

5 And it budded vp, and was like a spreading vine of lowe stature, whose branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were vnder it: so it became a vine, & it broght forth the branches, and shot forth the buds.

6 There was also another great egle with great wings and many fethers, & beholde, this vine did turne her rootes toward it, & spread forth her branches toward it that she might water it by the trenches of her plantacion.

7 It was planted in a good soile by great waters, that it shulde bring forth the branches, and beare frute, and be an excellent vine.

8 Say thou, Thus saith the Lord God, Shal it prosper? shal he not pul vp the rootes thereof, and destroy the frute thereof, and cause them to drye? all the leaues of her bud shal wither without great power, or many people, to plucke it vp by the rootes thereof.

n This promise is made to the Church & shal be as a smale remnant & as the top of a tre. o I wil trymme it and dresse it. p Bothe the Jewes & Gentils shal be gathered into it.

10 Beholde, it was planted: but shal it prosper? shal it not be dryed vp, and wither? when the East winde shal touche it, it shal wither in the tréches, where it grewe.
11 Moreover, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,
12 Say now to this rebellious house, Knowe ye not, what these things meane? tel them, Beholde, the King of Babel is come to Ierusalem, and hath taken k the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel, 13 And hath taken one of the Kings sede, and made a couenant with him, and hath taken l an othe of him: he hath also taken the princes of the land, 14 That the kingdome might be in subiection, and not lift it self vp, but kepe their couenant, and stand to it.
15 But he rebelled against him, and sent his ambassadours into Egypt, that thei might giue him horses, & muche people: shal he prosper? shal he escape, that doeth such things? or shal he breake the couenant, & be deliuered?
16 As I liue, saith the Lord God, he shal dye in the middes of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whose othe he despised, and whose couenant made with him, he brake.
17 Nether shal Pharaoh with his mightie hoste, & great multitude of people, mainreine him in the warre, when thei haue cast vp mounts, and buylded ramparts to destroy many persones.
18 For he hath despised the othe, and broken the couenant (yet lo, he had giuen m his hand) because he hath done all these things, he shal not escape.
19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, As I liue, I wil surely bring mine othe that he hath despised, and my couenant that he hath broken, vpon his owne head.
20 *And I wil spread my net vpō him, & he shal be taken in my net, & I wil bring him to Babel, and wil entre into iudgement with him there for his trespas that he hath committed against me.
21 And all that fle from him with all his hoste, shal fall by the sworde, and thei that remaine, shal be scatered toward all y windes: and ye shal knowe that I the Lord haue spoken it.
22 Thus saith the Lord God, I wil also take of the toppe n of this hie cedre, and wil set it, and cut of the o toppe of the tendre plante thereof, and I wil plante it vpon an hie mountaine and great.
23 Even in the hie mountaine of Israel wil I plant it: and it shal bring forth the boughs and beare frute, and be an excellent cedre, and vnder it shal remaine all birdes, and euerie p soule shal dwell in the shadowe of the branches thereof.

and feareth, nether doeth suche like,

15 That hathe not eaten vpon the mountaynes, nether hathe lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israël, nor hathe defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Nether hathe oppressed anie, nor hathe withholden the pledge, nether hathe spoiled by violence, but hathe giue his bread to the hungrie, and hathe couered the naked with a garment,

17 Nether hathe withdrawn his hand fro the afflicted, nor receiued vsurie nor increase, but hathe executed my iudgements, & hathe walked in my statutes, he shal not dye in the iniquitie of his father, but he shal surely liue.

18 His father, because he cruelly oppressed and spoiled his brother by violence, and hathe not done good among his people, lo, euen he dyeth in his iniquitie.

19 Yet saie ye, Wherefore shal not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hathe executed iudgement & iustice, & hathe kept all my statutes, and done them, he shal surely liue.

20 * The same soule that sinneth, shal dye: the sonne shal not beare the iniquitie of the father, nether shal the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteousness of the righteous shal be vpon him, and the wickednes of the wicked shal be vpon him self.

21 But if the wicked wil returne from all his sinnes that he hathe committed, and kepe all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shal surely liue, & shal not dye.

22 All his transgressions that he hathe committed, thei shal not be mentioned vnto him, but in his righteousness that he hathe done, he shal liue.

23 Have I anie desire that the wicked shul de dye, saith the Lord God? or shal he not liue, if he returne from his waies?

24 But if the righteous turne awaie from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, & do according to all the abominacions, that the wicked man doeth, shal he liue? all his righteousness that he hathe done, shal not be mentioned: but in his transgression that he hathe committed, and in his sinne that he hathe sinned, in them shal he dye.

25 Yet ye saie, The waie of the Lord is not equal: heare now, O house of Israël. Is not my waie equal? or are not your waies vnequal?

26 For when a righteous man turneth awaie from his righteousness, and comitteth iniquitie, he shal euen dye for the same, he shal euen dye for his iniquitie, that he hath done.

27 Againe when the wicked turneth a way from his wickednes that he hathe committed, and doeth that which is lawful and right, he shal saue his soule alieue.

28 Because he considereth, & turneth awaie from all his transgressions that he hathe committed, he shal surely liue & shal not dye.

29 Yet saith the house of Israël, The waie of the Lord is not equal. O house of Israël, are not my waies equal? or are not your waies vnequal?

30 Therefore I wil iudge you, O house of Israël, euerie one according to his waies, saith the Lord God: returne therefore and cause others to turne awaie from all your transgressions: so iniquitie shal not be your destruction.

31 Cast away from you all your transgressions, whereby ye haue transgressed & make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why wil ye dye, O house of Israël?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dyeth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

The captiuitie of the Kings of Iudah signified by the lions whelpes, and by the lion. 10 The prosperitie of the citie of Ierusalem that is past, and the miserie thereof that is present.

1 Thou also, take vp a lamentacion for the apinces of Israël,

5 Now when she sawe, that she had waited and her hope wast lost, she toke another of her whelpes, and made him a lion.

6 Which went among the lions, & became a lion, and learned to catche the praie, and he deuoured men.

7 And he knewe their widowes, and he destroyed their cities, and the land was wasted, and all that was therein by the noise of his roaring.

8 Then the nations set against him on euerie side of the courtreis & laid their nettes for him: so he was taken in their pit.

9 And thei put him in prison & in chaines, and brought him to the King of Babel, & thei put him in holdes, that his voice shulde no more be heard vpon the mountaines of Israël.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denieth that he wil answer them when they praie because of their unkindenes. 33 He promisseth that his people shal returne from captiuitie. 46 By the forest that shulde be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

1 And in the <sup>a</sup> seuenth yere in the fift moneth, <sup>y</sup> tenth day of <sup>y</sup> moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Irael to enquire of the Lord, and sate before me.

2 Then came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Irael, and saie vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye come to inquire of me? as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I wil not answer you.

4 Wilt thou iudge them, sonne of mā? wilt thou iudge them? cause <sup>b</sup> them to vnderstand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And saie vnto them, Thus saith <sup>y</sup> Lord God, In the daie when I chose Irael, and lift vp mine hand vnto the sede of the house of Iakob, and made my self knowe vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and said, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the daie that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had prouided for them, flowing with milke & honie which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let euerie man cast awaie the abominacions of his eyes, and defile not your selues with <sup>y</sup> idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, and wolde not heare me: for none cast awaie the abominacions of <sup>e</sup> their eyes, nether did they forsake <sup>y</sup> idoles of Egypt: then I thoght to powre out mine indignacion vpon the, & to accomplish my wrath against them in the middes of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my <sup>f</sup> Name, that it shulde not be polluted before the heathen, among whome they were, & in whose sight I made my self knowe vnto the in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt & broght them into the wilderness.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, * which if a man do, he shal liue in them.

12 Moreouer I gaue the also my * Sabbaths to be a signe betwene me and the, that they might knowe that I am <sup>y</sup> Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Irael rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast awaie my iudgements, which if a man do, he shal liue in them, and my Sabbaths haue they greatly polluted: then I thoght to powre out mine indignacion vpon them * in the wilderness to consume them,

14 But I had respect to <sup>g</sup> my Name, that it shulde not be polluted before the heathen in whose sight I broght them out.

15 Yet neuertheles, I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness that I wolde not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke & honie, which was pleasant aboue all lands, 16 Because they cast awaie my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my <sup>h</sup> Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Neuertheles, mine eye spared the, that I wolde not destroye them, nether wolde I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wilderness, Walke ye not in the ordinances of your fathers, nether obserue their maners, nor defile your selues with their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and kepe my iudgements & do the,

20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, & they shalbe a signe betwene me & you, that ye maie knowe that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against me: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to do the, which if a man do, he shal liue in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thoght to powre out mine indignacion vpon them, & to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Neuertheles I withdrewe mine hand & had respect to my Name that it shulde not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I broght them forth.

23 Yet I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I wolde scatter them among the heathen, and disperse them through the countreis.

24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast awaie my statutes & had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after <sup>k</sup> their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I <sup>l</sup> gaue them also statutes that were not good, & iudgements, wherein they shulde not liue.

<sup>g</sup> Who might thereby take an occasion to blaspheme my Name & to accuse me of lacke of abilitie, or els that I had sought a meane to destroye them more commodiously.

m I condemned those things, & counted them as abominable which they thought had been excellent, & to have declared more zealous, Luk. 16. 15 for that which God required as more excellent, that gave they to their idoles.

n Not only in the wilderness, when I brought the out of Egypt, but since I placed them in this land: which declareth how prompt mans hearts to idolatry, being by no admonition he can be drawn backe.

o Which signifieth, an hie place, declaring that they wanted the felues of their idolatry, and were not ashamed thereof, though God had commanded them expressly, that they should have no altar lifted up on hie by stones, Exod 20. 26.

p He sheweth, that the ingratitude of the people deserueth, that God should cut the of & that they should not haue the comfort of his worde.

q He declareth that man of nature is wholly enemie vnto God & to his owne saluatio, and therefore God calleth him to right way, partly by chastising, but chiefly by his mercie in forgiving his rebellion, and wickednes.

r I wil bring you among nations as into a wilderness, and there wil visit you, & so call you to repentance & the bring the people home againe, Isa 65. 9.

s Signifying, & he wil not burne the corne with chaffe, but chuse out the wicked to punish the while he wil spare the.

t This is spoken to the hypocrites.

26 And I polluted the in their owne giftes in that they caused to passe by the fyre all that first openeth the wobe, that I might destroye them, to the end that they might knowe that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore, sonne of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, & say vnto the, Thus saith the Lord God, yet in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before grievously transgressed against me.

28 For when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it, then they sawe euerie hie hil, & all the thicke trees, and they offred there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of prouocation: there also they made their swete sauour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

29 Then I said vnto them, What is the hie place whereunto ye go? And the name thereof was called ° Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore, say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted after the maner of your fathers? & commit ye not whoredome after their abominations?

31 For when you offer your giftes, and make your sonnes to passe through the fyre, you pollute your selues with all your idoles vnto this day: shal I answer you whē I am asked, o house of Israel, as I liue, saith the Lord God, p I wil not answer you when I am asked.

32 Nether shal that be done that cometh into your minde: for ye say, We wil be as the heathen, and as the families of the countreis, and serue wood, and a stone.

33 As I liue, saith the Lord God, I wil surely rule you with a mightie hand, and with a stretched out arme, & in my wrath powred out, 34 And wil bring you from the people, and wil gather you out of the countreis, wherein ye are scatred, with a mightie hand, & with a stretched out arme and in my wrath powred out.

35 And I wil bring you into the wilderness of the people, & there wil I plead with you face to face.

36 Like as I pleaded with your fathers in the wilderness of the lād of Egypt, so wil I pleade with you, saith the Lord God.

37 And I wil cause you to passe vnder the rod, and wil bring you into the bonde of the couenant.

38 And I wil chuse out from among you the rebelles, and them that transgresse against me: I wil bring them out of the lād where they dwell, & they shal not entre into y lād of Israel, & you shal knowe y I am y Lord.

39 As for you, o house of Israel, thus saith the Lord God, Go you, and serue euerie one his idole, seing that ye wil not obey me, and pollute mine holie Name no more with your giftes and with your idoles.

40 For in mine holie mountaine euen in the hie mountaine of Israel, saith y Lord God, there shal all the house of Israel, and all in the land, serue me: there wil I accept the, and there wil I require your offrings and the first frutes of your oblations, with all your holy things.

41 I wil accept your swete sauour, when I bring you from the people, & gather you out of the countreis, wherein ye haue bene scattered, that I may be sanctified in you before the heathen.

42 And ye shal knowe, that I am the Lord, when I shal bring you into the land of Israel, into the lād, for the which I lifted vp mine hand to giue it to your fathers.

43 And there shal ye remeber your wayes, and all your workes, wherein ye haue bene defiled, and ye shal iudge your selues worthy to be cut of, for all your euils, that ye haue committed.

44 And ye shal knowe, that I am the Lord, when I haue respect vnto you for my Names sake, and not after your wicked waies, nor according to your corrupt workes, o ye house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

45 Moreover, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

46 Sonne of man, set thy face toward the way of Teman, and droppe thy worde toward the South, and prophecie toward the forest of the field of the South,

47 And say to the forest of the South, Heare the worde of the Lord: thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil kindle a fyre in thee, and it shal deuoure all the grene wood in thee, and all the dry wood: the continual flame shal not be quenched, & euerie face from the South to the North shal be burnt therein.

48 And all flesh shal see, that I y Lord haue kindled it, & it shal not be quenched. The said I, Ah Lord God, thei say of me, Doeth not he speake parables?

6 Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, as in the paine of thy <sup>a</sup> reines, & mourne bitterly before them.

8 ¶ Againe, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sworde, a sworde bothe sharpe, and fourbished.

10 It is sharpened to make a sore slaughter, & it is fourbished that it may <sup>f</sup> glitter: how shal we reioyce? for it contemneth the <sup>g</sup> rod of my sonne, as <sup>h</sup> all other trees.

11 And he hath giuen it to be fourbished, that he may handle it: this sworde is sharpe, and is fourbished, that he may giue it into the hand of the <sup>i</sup> slayer.

12 Crye, and houle, sonne of man: for this shal come to my people, and it shal come vnto all the princes of Israél: the terrours of the sworde shalbe vpon my people: <sup>k</sup> smite therefore vpon thy thigh.

13 For it is a tryal, <sup>l</sup> and what shal this be, if the sworde contemne euen the rod? It shal be no more, saith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophecie, and smite <sup>m</sup> hand to hand, and let the sworde be doubled: let the sworde that hath killed, <sup>n</sup> returne the thirde time: it is the sworde of the great slaughter entring into their priuie chambers.

15 I haue brought the feare of the sworde into all their gates to make <sup>o</sup> their heart to faint, and to multiplie <sup>p</sup> their ruines. Ah it is made bright, & it is dressed for the slaughter.

17 I wil also smite mine hands together, & wil cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord haue said it.

18 ¶ The worde of the Lord came vnto me againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee <sup>o</sup> two wayes, that the sworde of the King of Babel may come: bothe twaine shal come out of one land, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of y citie.

20 Appoint a way, that the sworde may come to Rabbáth of the Ammonites, and <sup>p</sup> to Iudáh in Ierusalem the strong citie.

22 At his right hand was the diuination for Ierusalem to appoint captaines, to open <sup>s</sup> their mouthe in the slaughter, and to lift vp <sup>t</sup> their voyce with shouting, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to buyld a fortres.

23 And it shalbe vnto them <sup>u</sup> as a false diuination in their sight for the othes made vnto them: <sup>v</sup> but he wil call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they shulde be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye haue made your iniquitie to be remembered, in discovering your rebellion, y in all your workes your sinnes might appeare: because, <sup>w</sup> I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shalbe taken with the hand.

25 And thou <sup>x</sup> prince of Israél polluted, & wicked, whose day is come, when iniquitie shal haue an end, 27 I wil ouerturne, ouerturne, ouerturne it, and it shalbe no more vntil he <sup>z</sup> come, whose right it is, and I wil giue it him.

28 ¶ And thou, sonne of man, prophecie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammón, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sworde, the sworde is drawe forth, & fourbished to the slaughter, to consume, because of the glittering.

29 Whiles they se <sup>a</sup> vanitie vnto thee, and prophecied a lye vnto thee to bring thee vpon the neckes of the wicked that are slaine, whose day is come when their iniquitie shal haue an end.

<sup>w</sup> That is, vnto the coming of Mesiahs: for though y Jewes had some signe of gouernment afterward vnder the Persians, Grekes, and Romans, yet this restitution was not til Christs coming, and at length shulde be accomplished, as was promised, Gen. 49. 10.

<sup>x</sup> Though the Jewes and Ammonites wolde not beleue, y thou, to wit, the sworde, shuldest come vpon them, and said that the Prophets, which threatned, spake lies, yet y shalt as surely come as though thou werest already vpon their neckes.

wilt y iudge this bloody citie? wilt thou shewe her all her abominacions?

3 Then say, Thus saith the Lord God, The citie sheddeth blood in the middes of it, that her time may come, and maketh idoles against her self to pollute her self.

4 Thou hast offended in thy blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy self in thine idoles, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to drawe nere, & art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproche to the heathē, & a mocking to all countreys.

5 Those that be nere, and those that be farre from thee, shal mocke thee, which art vile in name & sore in affliction.

6 Beholde, the princes of Israél euery one in thee was ready to his power, to shed blood.

7 In thee haue thei despised father & mother: in the middes of thee haue they oppressed the stranger: in thee haue thei vexed the fatherles and the widowe.

8 Thou hast despised mine holy things, & hast polluted my Sabbaths.

9 In thee are men that cary tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eat vpon the mountaines: in the middes of thee they commit abomination.

10 * In thee haue thei discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euery one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euery one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, & in thee hath euery man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken vsurie and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten me, saith the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue smitten mine hands vpon thy couetousnes, that thou hast vsed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the middes of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hands be strong, in the daies that I shal haue to do with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and wil do it.

15 And I wil scatter thee amōg the heathē, and disperse thee in the countreys, and wil cause thy filthines to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy self in the sight of the heathen, and thou shalt knowe, that I am the Lord.

17 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, the house of Israél is vnto me as a droffe: all they are brasse, & tynne, and yron, and lead in the middes of the founace: thei are euen the droffe of siluer.

19 Therefore, thus saith the Lord God, Because ye are all as droffe, beholde, therefore I wil gather you in the middes of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather siluer and brasse, & yron, and lead, & tynne into the middes of the founace, to blowe the fyre vpon it to melt it, so wil I gather you in mine angre and in my wrath, and wil put you there & melt you.

21 I wil gather you, I say, and blowe the fyre of my wrath vpon you, and you shal be melted in the middes thereof.

22 As siluer is melted in the middes of the founace, so shal ye be melted in the middes thereof, and ye shal knowe, that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land, that is vncleane, & not rained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracie of her Prophetes in the middes thereof like a roaring lyon, rauening the pray: thei haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches & precious things: thei haue made her many widdowes in the middes thereof.

26 Her Priestes haue broken my Law, & haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betwene the holy & prophane, nether discerned betwene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am prophaned among them.

27 Her princes in the middes thereof are like wolues, rauening y pray to shed blood, and to destroye soules for their owne couetous lucre.

28 And her Prophetes haue dawbed them with vntempered mortar, seing vanities, & diuinig lies vnto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoyling and robbing, & haue vexed the poore & the neady: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them, that shulde make vpon the hedge, & stand in the gap before me for the land, that I shulde not destroy it, but I founde none.

31 Therefore haue I powred out mine indignacion vpon them, & consumed them with the fyre of my wrath: their owne waies haue I rendred vpon their heads, saith the Lord God.

the daughters of one mother.

3 And they committed fornicacion<sup>b</sup> in Egypt, they committed fornicacion in their youth: there were their breasts preſſed, & there thei bruised the teates of their virginitie.

4 And the names of<sup>c</sup> them were Aholáh, the elder, and Aholibáh her ſiſter: & thei were mine, and thei bare ſonnes and daughters:
thus were their names. Samaria is Aholáh, and Ierusalem Aholibáh.

5 And Aholáh plaied the harlot<sup>d</sup> whē<sup>d</sup> ſhe was mine, and ſhe was ſet on fyre with her louers, to wit, with the Aſſyrians her neighbours,

6 Which were clothed with blewe ſilke, bo-the captaines & princes: thei were all pleaſant yong men, & horſemen riding vpon horſes.

7 Thus ſhe comitted her whoredome with them, euen with all them that were the choſen men of Aſhur, and with all on whome ſhe doted, & defiled her ſelf with all their idoles.

8 Nether left ſhe her fornicaciōs, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth thei<sup>e</sup> laye with her, & thei bruised the breasts of her virginitie, and powred their whoredome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deliuered her into the hands of her louers, euen into the hands of the Aſſyrians, vpon whome ſhe doted.

10 Theſe diſcouered her ſhame: thei toke away her ſonnes & her daughters, & ſlewe her with the ſworde, & ſhe had an evil name among women: for thei had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her ſiſter Aholibáh ſawe this, ſhe marred her ſelf with inordinate loue, more then ſhe, and with her fornicacions more then her ſiſter with her fornicaciōs.

12 She doted vpon the Aſſyrians her neighbours, bothe captaines and princes clothed with diuers ſutes, horſemen riding vpon horſes: thei were all pleaſant yong men.

13 Then I ſawe, that ſhe was defiled, and that they were bothe after one ſorte,

14 And that ſhe encreaſed her fornicacions:
for when ſhe ſawe men g painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermelon,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with dyed attyre vpon their heads (loking all like princes after the maner of the Babylonians in Caldea, y land of their natiuitie)

16 Allone, I ſay, as ſhe ſawe them, ſhe doted vpon them, & ſent meſſengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornicacion, & ſhe was polluted with them, and her luſt departed from them,

18 So ſhe diſcouered her fornicacion, & diſ-cloſed her ſhame: then mine heart forſoke her, like as mine heart had forſakē her ſiſter 19 Yet ſhe encreaſed her whoredome more, & called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein ſhe had plaied the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For ſhe doted vpon their ſeruants whoſe membres are as the membres of aſſes, and whoſe yſſue is like the yſſue of horſes.

21 Thou calledſt to remembrance the wickednes of thy youth, when thy teates were bruised by the Egyptians: therefore y pappes of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, o Aholibáh, thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil raiſe vpon thy lo-uers againſt thee, from whome thine heart is departed, and I wil bring them againſt thee on euery ſide,

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Cal-deans, <sup>h</sup> Paked, and Shoáh, and Kóa, & all the Aſſyrians with the: they were all pleaſant yong men, captaines and princes: all thei were valiant & renoumed, riding vpon
horſes.

24 Euen theſe ſhal come againſt thee with charettes, waggens, and wheles, and with a multitude of people, which ſhal ſet againſt thee, buckler & ſhield, and helmet rōunde about: and I wil leaue the puniſhment vnto them, & they ſhal iudge thee according to their iudgements.

25 And I wil lay mine indignation vpon thee, and thei ſhal deale cruelly with thee:
they ſhal cut of thy<sup>i</sup> noſe and thine eares, and thy remnant ſhal fall by the ſworde:
they ſhal cary away thy ſonnes and thy daughters, and thy reſidue ſhal be deuoured by the fyre.

26 They ſhal alſo ſtrippe thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus wil I make thy wickednes to ceaſe from thee and thy fornicacion out of the land of Egypt: ſo that thou ſhalt not liſt vpon thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus ſaith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil deliuer thee into the hand of them, whome thou hateſt: euen into the hands of them from whome thine heart is departed.

29 And they ſhal handle thee diſpitefully, and ſhal take away all thy<sup>k</sup> labour, & ſhal leaue thee naked and bare, and the ſhame of thy fornicaciōs<sup>l</sup> ſhal be diſcouered, bo-the thy wickednes, and thy whoredome.

30 I wil do theſe things vnto thee, becauſe thou haſt gone a whoring after the heathē, & becauſe y art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou haſt walked in y way of thy ſiſter:
therefore wil I giue her<sup>m</sup> cup into thine hād

32 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Thou ſhalt derision, because it containeth muche.

34 Thou shalt even drinke it, and wring it out to the dregges, & thou shalt breake the sherdes thereof, & reare thine owne breasts: for I haue spokē it, saith y<sup>e</sup> Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten me, and cast me behind thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednes & thy whoredome.

36 ¶ The Lord said moreover vnto me, Sonne of man, wilt thou iudge Aholah & Aholibah? and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whome they bare vnto me, to passe by the fyre to be their <sup>o</sup> meat.

<sup>a</sup> That is, to be sacrificed to their idoles, read Chap. 16, 20. 38 Moreover thus haue they done vnto me: they haue defiled my sanctuarie in the same day, & haue prophaned my Sabbaths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuarie to defile it: and lo, thus haue they done in y<sup>e</sup> middes of mine house.

<sup>a</sup> They sent into other countries to haue such as shoulde teache the seruice of their idoles. 40 And how muche more is it that they sent for men to come from y<sup>e</sup> farre vnto whome a messenger was sent, & lo, they came? for whome thou didest wash thy self, and painted thine eyes, & deckedst thee with ornaments,

42 And a voyce of a multitude being at ease, was with her: and with the men to make the companie great were brought men of y<sup>e</sup> Sabā from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their hands, and beautiful crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her, that was olde in adulteries, Now shal she and her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her as they go to a comune harlot: so wēt they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked women.

<sup>a</sup> That is, whereby death, read Chap. 16, 38. 45 And the righteous men they shal iudge them, after the maner of y<sup>e</sup> harlores, and after the maner of murderers: for they are harlots, and blood is in their hands.

46 Wherefore thus saith the Lord God, I wil bring a multitude vpon them, and wil giue them vnto the tumulte, and to the spoyle, 47 And the multitude shal stone them with stones, and cut them with their swords: they shal slay their sonnes, and their daughters, & burne vp their houses with fyre.

48 Thus wil I cause wickednes to cease out of the lād, that all <sup>a</sup> women may be taught not to do after your wickednes.

49 And they shal lay your wickednes vpō you, and ye shal beare the finnes of your idoles, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A Gaine in the <sup>a</sup> ninth yere, in the tēth moneth, in the tenth day of the <sup>b</sup> mo-neth came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the King of Babel set him self against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto y<sup>e</sup> rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a <sup>c</sup> pot, prepare it, and also power water into it.

4 Gather the <sup>d</sup> pieces thereof into it, even the euerie good piece, as the thigh and the shuldre, & fil it with the chief bones.

5 Take one of the best shepe, and <sup>e</sup> burne also the <sup>e</sup> bones vnder it, & make it boyle wel, and sethe the bones of it therein,

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Wo to the bloodie citie, even to the pot, <sup>f</sup> whose skome is therein, and whose skome is not gone out of it: bring it out <sup>g</sup> piece by piece: let no <sup>h</sup> lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the middes of her: she set it vpon an high <sup>i</sup> rocke, and powred it not vpon the grounde to couer it wth dust,

8 That it might cause wrath to arise, & take vengeance: even I haue set her blood vpon an high rocke y<sup>e</sup> it shulde not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, <sup>k</sup> Wo to the bloodie citie, for I wil make <sup>k</sup> the burning great.

10 Heape on muche wood: <sup>k</sup> kindle the fyre, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it emptie vpon the coles thereof, that <sup>k</sup> the brasle of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthines of it may be molten in it, and that the skome of it may be consumed.

12 <sup>k</sup> She hath wearied herself with lies, & her great skome went not out of her: therefore her skome shalbe consumed with fyre.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthines & wickednes: because I wolde <sup>m</sup> haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged frō thy filthines, til I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shal come to passe, and I wil do it: I wil not go backe, nether wil I spare, nether wil I repent:

according to thy wayes, and according to thy workes shal they iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

15 ¶ Also the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

16 Sonne of man, beholde, I take away fro thee the pleasure of thine eyes with a plague: yet shalt thou nether mourne nor wepe, nether shalt thy teares runne downe.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, & binde the tyre of thine head vpon thee, & put on thy shoes vpon thy fete, & couer not thy lippes, and eat not the bread of men.

18 So I spake vnto the people in the morning, and at euen my wife dyed: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people said vnto me, Wilt thou not tel vs what these thigs meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying, 21 Speake vnto the house of Israél, Thus saith y Lord God, Beholde, I wil pollute my Sanctuarie, euen the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, & your sonnes, & your daughters whome ye haue left, shal fall by the sworde.

22 And ye shal do as I haue done: ye shal not couer your lippes, nether shal ye eat the bread of men.

23 And your tyre shal be vpon your heads, & your shoes vpon your fete: ye shal not mourne nor wepe, but ye shal pine away for your iniquities, & mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, ye shal do: and when this cometh, ye shal knowe that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shal it not be in the day when I take from the their power, the ioye of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters?

26 That he that escapeth in that day, shal come vnto thee to tel thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shal thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, and thou shalt speake, and be no more domme, and thou shalt be a signe vnto them, and they shal knowe that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

¶ The worde of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, set thy face against y Ammonites, and prophecie against them,

2 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thou saydest, a Ha, ha, against my Sanctuarie, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israél, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudáh, when they went into captiuitie, 4 Beholde, therefore I wil deliuer thee to y me of the East for a possession, and they shal set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shal eat thy frute, and they shal drinke thy milke.

5 And I wil make d Rabbáh a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a shep-cote, & ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the fete, and reioyced in heart with all thy despite against the land of Israél,

7 Beholde, therefore I wil stretche out mine hand vpon thee, and wil deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, & I wil roote thee out from the people, and I wil cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreis & I wil destroye thee, & thou shalt knowe that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir do say, Beholde, the house of Iudáh is like vnto all the heathen, 9 Therefore, beholde, I wil open the side of Moab, euen of the cities of his cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey, Beth-ieshimóth, Báal-meon, and Kariatháim.

10 I wil call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and wil giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shal no more be remembred among the nations, 11 And I wil execute iudgements vpon Moab, & thei shal knowe y I am the Lord.

12 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edóm hath done euil by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudáh, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged him self vpon them, 13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I wil also stretche out mine hand vpon Edóm, and destroye man, and beast out of it, and I wil make it desolate fro Temán, and they of Dedán shal fall by y sworde.

14 And I wil execute my vengeance vpon Edóm by the hand of my people Israél, & they shal do in Edóm according to mine angre, and according to mine indignatió, and they shal knowe my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Philistims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged the selues with a despiteful heart, to destroye it for the olde hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith y Lord God, Beholde, I wil stretche out mine had vpon y Philistims, & I wil cut of the Cherethims, & destroye the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And

He prophesieth that Tyrus shalbe ouertrowen because he is reioyced at the destruction of Ierusalém. 15 The wondring and astonishment of the marchantes for the destruction of Tyrus.

And in the eleuenth yere, in the first daie of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

1 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalém, A ha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seing she is desolate, I shalbe replenished,

2 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, o Tyrus, and I wil bring vp manie nations against thee, as the sea mounteth vp with his waues.

3 And thei shal destroye the walles of Tyrus & breake downe her towers: I wil also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the toppe of a rocke.

4 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nettes in the middes of the sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shalbe a spoyle to the nations.

5 And her daughters which are in the fielde, shalbe slaine by the sworde, and thei shal knowe that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, beholde, I wil bring vpon Tyrus Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel, a King of Kings from the North, with horses and with charrets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and muche people.

7 He shal slaie with the sworde thy daughters in the fielde, and he shal make a forte against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

8 He shal set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towres.

9 The dust of his horses shal couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shal shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheles, & of the charrets, whē he shal entre into thy gates as into the entrie of a citie that is broken downe.

10 With his houses of his horses shal he tread downe all thy stretes: he shal slaie thy people by the sworde, and the pillars of thy strength shal fall downe to the grounde.

11 And thei shal robbe thy riches and spoile thy marchandise, and thei shal breake downe thy walles, and destroye thy pleasant house, and thei shal cast thy stones and thy timbre and thy dust into the middes of the water.

12 Thus wil I cause the founde of thy songs to cease, and the founde of thine harpes shalbe no more heard.

13 I will laie thee like the toppe of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nettes: thou shalt be buylt no more: for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

14 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shal not the yles tremble at the founde of thy fall: and at the crye of the wounded, when thei shalbe slaine and murdered in the middes of thee?

15 Then all the princes of the sea shal come downe from their thrones: thei shal laie awaye their robes, & put of their broyded garments, and shal clothe them selues with astonishment: thei shal sit vpon the grounde, and be astonished at euery moment, and be amased at thee.

16 And thei shal take vp a lamentacion for thee, and saie to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of seamen, the renoumed citie which was strong in the sea, bothe she & her inhabitants, which cause their feare to be on all the haunt therein!

17 Now shal the yles be attonished in the daie of thy fall: yea, the yles that are in the sea, shalbe troubled at thy departure.

18 For thus saith the Lord God, Whē I shal make thee a desolate citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, & whē I shal bring the deape vpon thee, and great waters shal couer thee,

19 When I shal cast thee downe with them that descende into the pit, with the people of olde time, and shal set thee in the lowe partes of the earth, like the olde ruines, with them, I say, which go downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shal shewe my glorie in the lād of the liuing, 20 I wil bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt be no more: thogh thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer be founde againe, saith the Lord God.

20 I haue giuen him the land of Egypt for his labour, that he serued against it, because thei wrought for me.

The destruction of Egypt & the cities thereof.

6 Thus saith <sup>g</sup> Lord, Thei also that main- teine Egypt, shal fall, and the pride of her power shal come downe from the towre of <sup>h</sup> Seuenéh shal thei fall by <sup>g</sup> sworde, saith the Lord God.

7 And thei shalbe desolate in the middes of the countreis that are desolate, and her cities shalbe in <sup>g</sup> middes of the cities that are wasted.

8 And thei shal knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue set a fyre in Egypt, and when all her helpers shalbe destroyed.

9 In that day shal their messengers go for- the from me in shippes, to make the care- les Mores afraid, and feare shal come vpo them, as in the day of Egypt: for lo, it cometh.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, I wil also make the multitude of Egypt to cease by the had of Nebuchad-nezzár King of Babel.

11 For he and his people with him, euen the terrible nacions shal be brought to destroy the land: and thei shal drawe their swordes against Egypt, & fil the land with <sup>g</sup> slaine.

12 And I wil make the riuers drye, and sel the land into the hands of the wicked, and I wil make the land waste, and all thar therein is by the hands of strangers: I the Lord haue spoken it.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, I wil also destroy the idoles, and I wil cause their idoles to cease out of <sup>h</sup> Noph, and there shal be no more a prince of the land of Egypt, & I wil send a feare in the land of Egypt.

14 And I wil make Pathrós desolate, & wil set fyre in <sup>h</sup> Zóan, and I wil execute iudge- ment in No.

<sup>h</sup> To cause this destruction of the King of Assyria to seeme more horrible, he setteth forth the other Kings and princes which are dead, as though they reioyced at the fall of suche a tyrant. i Meaning, that Pharaohs power was no thing so great as his was. k Read Chap. 28, 10.

18 To whome <sup>i</sup> art thou thus like in glorie & in greatnes amog the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt be cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the nether partes of the earth: thou shalt slepe in y middes of the <sup>k</sup> vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sworde: this is Pharaoh & all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

<sup>a</sup> The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 He prophesieth that destruction shal come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

1 AND in y <sup>a</sup> twelfth yere in the twelfth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentacion for Pharaoh King of Egypt, & say vnto him, Thou art like a <sup>b</sup> lyon of the nations & art as a <sup>c</sup> dragon in the sea: thou castest out thy riuers <sup>c</sup> and troublest the waters with thy fete, and stamest in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, * I wil therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, & they shal make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then wil I leaue thee vpon the land, & I wil cast thee vpon the open field, & I wil cause all the foules of the heauē to remaine vpon thee, and I wil fil all the beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I wil laye thy flesh vpon the mountaines, & fil the valleis <sup>d</sup> with thine height.

6 I wil also water with thy blood the land, wherein thou <sup>e</sup> swimmeest, <sup>euen</sup> to the mountaines, and the riuers shalbe full of thee.

7 And when I shal <sup>f</sup> put thee out, I wil couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: * I wil couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shal not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen wil I make darke for thee, and bring <sup>g</sup> darkenes vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I wil also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shal bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreis which thou hast not knowen.

10 Yea, I wil make many people amased at thee, & their Kings shalbe astonished with feare for thee, when I shal make my sworde to glitter against their faces, & they shal be afraied at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sworde of the King of Babel shal come vpo thee.

12 By the swordes of the mightie wil I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shalbe terrible nations, and they shal destroye the <sup>h</sup> pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shalbe consumed.

13 I wil destroye also all the beasts thereof from the great watersides, nether shal the fote of man trouble them any more, nor the houses of beast trouble them.

14 Then wil I make <sup>i</sup> their waters depe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shal make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shalbe laied wast: when I shal smite all them, which dwell therein, then shal they knowe, that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shal lament her: the daughters of the nations shal lament her: they shal lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yere also in the fiftenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and <sup>k</sup> cast them downe, <sup>euen</sup> they and the daughters of the mightie nations vnto the nether partes of the earth, with them that go downe into the pit.

19 Whome doest thou passe <sup>l</sup> in beautie? go downe and slepe with the vncircumcised.

20 They shal fall in the middes of them that are slayne by y sworde: <sup>m</sup> she is deliuered to the sworde: drawe her downe, & all her multitude.

21 The moste <sup>n</sup> mighty & strong shal speake to her out of the middes of hel with them y helpe her: they are gone downe and slepe with the vncircumcised that be slaine by y sworde.

22 Ashtur is there & all his companie: their graues are about him: all they are slayne and fallen by the sworde.

23 Whose graues are made in the side of the pit, & his multitude are rounde about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde, which caused feare to be in the land of the liuing.

24 There is <sup>o</sup> Elam and all his multitude rounde about his graue: all they are slaine and fallen by the sworde & are gone downe with the vncircumcised into the nether partes of the earth, which caused the felues to be feared in the land of the liuing, yet haue they borne their shame with them that are gone downe to the pit.

25 They haue made his bed in the middes of the slaine with all his multitude: their graues are rounde about him: all these vncircumcised are slaine by the sworde: though they

26 There is <sup>a</sup> Méshech, Tubál, & all their multitude: their graues are rounde about them: all these vncircumcised were slaine by the sworde, though thei caused their feare to be in the land of the liuing.

27 And thei shal not lye with the valiant of the vncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the graue, with their weapons of warre, and haue layed their swordes vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shalbe vpō their bones: because thei were <sup>c</sup> feare of the mightie in the lād of the liuing.

28 Yea, thou shalt be broken in the middes of the vncircumcised, and lye with them that are slaine by the sworde.

29 There is Edóm, his Kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are laied by them that were slaine by the sworde: they shal slepe with the vncircumcised, and with them that go downe to the pit.

CHAP. XXXII.

1 And in <sup>y</sup> a twelfth yere in the twelfth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentacion for Pharaoh King of Egypt, & say vnto him, Thou art like <sup>a</sup> b lyon of the nations & art as <sup>a</sup> dragon in the sea: thou castest out thy riuers <sup>c</sup> and troublest the waters with thy fete, and stamest in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, * I wil therefore spread my net ouer thee with a great multitude of people, & they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then wil I leaue thee vpon the land, & I wil cast thee vpon the open field, & I wil cause all the foules of the heauē to remaine vpon thee, and I wil fil all the beasts of the field with thee.

5 And I wil laye thy flesh vpon the mountaines, & fil the valleis <sup>d</sup> with thine height.

6 I wil also water with thy blood the land, wherein thou <sup>e</sup> swimmeest, euen to the mountaines, and the riuers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall <sup>f</sup> put thee out, I wil couer the heauen, and make the starres thereof darke: * I wil couer the sunne with a cloude, and the moone shall not giue her light.

8 All the lights of heauen wil I make darke for thee, and bring <sup>g</sup> darkenes vpon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I wil also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and vpon the countreis which thou hast not knownen.

10 Yea, I wil make many people amased at thee, & their Kings shall be astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sworde to glitter against their faces, & they shall be afraied at euery moment: euery man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

For thus saith the Lord God, The sworde of the King of Babel shall come vpo thee.

12 By the swordes of the mightie wil I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nacions, and they shall destroye the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I wil destroye also all the beasts thereof from the great watersides, neither shall the fote of man trouble them any more, nor the houses of beast trouble them.

14 Then wil I make <sup>i</sup> their waters depe, and cause their riuers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be laied wast: when I shall smite all them, which dwell therein, then shall they knowe, that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nacions shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all her multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 ¶ In the twelfth yere also in the fiftenth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and <sup>k</sup> cast them downe, euen they and the daughters of the mightie nacions vnto the nether partes of the earth, with them that go downe into the pit.

24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, <sup>m</sup> Abraham was but one, and he possessed <sup>y</sup> land: but we are many, therefore the land shalbe giuen vs in possession.

CHAP. XXXIIII.

2 Against the shepherdes that despised the flocke of Christ, & seke their owne gain. 7 The Lord saith that he wil visite his disperfed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promisseth the true shepherd Christ, and with him peace.

1 And the worde of the Lord came vn to me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, prophetic againt the shepherdes of Israel, prophetic and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God vnto the shepherdes, * Wo be vnto the <sup>a</sup> shepherdes of Israel, that fede them selues: shulde not the shepherdes fede the flockes?

Jerem. 23. 1. a By the shepherds he meeth the King, the magistrates, Priests, & Prophetes. b Ye seke to enrich your selues by their comodities, & so spoile their riches & substance. c He describeth the offence and dutie of a good pastor, who ought to loue and sicor his flocke and not to be cruel toward them. d For lacke of good gouernement & discipline they perished.

3 Ye eat the <sup>b</sup> fat, and ye clothe you with the woll: ye kil them that are fed, but ye fede not the shepe.

4 The <sup>c</sup> weake haue ye not strengthened: the sicke haue ye not healed, nether haue ye bounde vp the broken, nor brought againe that which was driue away, nether haue ye sought that which was lost, but with crueltie, & with rigour haue ye ruled the.

5 And they were scattred without a shepherd: and when thei were disperfed, thei were <sup>d</sup> deuoured of all the beastes of the field.

6 My shepe wādrēd through all the mountaines, and vpon euerie hye hil: yca, my flocke was scattred through all the earth, and none did seke or serche after them.

7 Therefore ye shepherdes, heare the worde of the Lord.

8 As I liue, saith the Lord God, surely because my flocke was spoiled, and my shepe were deuoured of all <sup>y</sup> beastes of the field, hauing no shepherd, nether did my shepherdes seke my shepe, but the shepherdes fed them selues, and fed not my shepe, 9 Therefore, heare ye the worde of <sup>y</sup> Lord, o ye shepherdes.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come againt the shepherdes, and wil require my shepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feding the shepe: nether shal the shepherds fede them selues any more: for I wil deliuer my shepe from their mouthes, and thei shal nomore deuoure them.

For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I wil serche my shepe, and seke them out.

As a shepherd sercheth out his flocke, when he hathe bene among his shepe that are scattered, so wil I seke out my shepe & wil deliuer them out of all places, where thei haue bene scattered in the cloudie & darke daie,

And I wil bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countreis, and wil bring them to their owne land, and fede them vpon the mountaines of Israél, by the riuers, and in all the inhabited places of the countrey.

I wil fede the in a good pasture, and vpon the hie mountaines of Israél shal their folde be: there shal thei lie in a good folde and in fat pasture shal thei fede vpon the mountaines of Israél.

I wil fede my shepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

I wil seke that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driuen awaie, and wil binde vp that which was broken, and wil strengthen the weake, but I wil destroy the fat and the strong, & I wil fede them with iudgement.

Also you my shepe, thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I iudge betwene shepe, and shepe, betwene the rams & the goates.

Some thing it a smale thing vnto you to haue eaten vp the good pasture, but ye must tread downe with your fete the residue of your pasture: & to haue dronke of the depe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your fete?

And my shepe eat that which ye haue troden with your fete, and drinke that w<sup>ch</sup> ye haue troubled with your fete.

Therefore thus saith the Lord God vnto them, Beholde, I, euē I wil iudge betwene the fat shepe and the leane shepe.

Because ye haue thrust with side & with shulder, and pusht all the weake with your hornes, til ye haue scattred them abroad, Therefore wil I helpe my shepe, and thei shal nomore be spoiled, and I wil iudge betwene shepe and shepe.

And I wil set vp a shepherd ouer them, and he shal fede them, euē my seruant Dauid, he shal fede them, and he shal be their shepherde.

And I the Lord wil be their God, and my seruant Dauid shal be the prince amōg them. I the Lord haue spoken it.

And I wil make with them a couenant of peace, and wil cause the euil beastes to cease out of the land: and thei shal dwell safely in the wildeines, and slepe in the woods.

And I wil seke them, as a blessing, euē rounde about my mountaine: & I wil cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shalbe raine of blessing.

And the tre of the field shal yelde her frute, & the earth shal giue her frute, and thei shalbe safe in their land, and shal knowe that I am the Lord, when I haue broken the cordes of their yoke, and deliued them out of the hands of those that serued them selues of them.

And thei shal nomore be spoiled of the heathen, nether shal the beasts of the land deuoure them, but thei shal dwell safely and none shal make them afraid.

And I wil raise vp for them a plant of renoume, and they shalbe no more consumed with hungre in the land, nether beare the reproche of the heathen anie more.

Thus shal thei vnderstand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that thei, euē the house of Israél, are my people, saith the Lord God.

And ye my shepe, the shepe of my pasture are men, & I am your God, saith y<sup>e</sup> Lord God.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shal all the worlde reioyce when I shal make thee desolate.

15 As thou didest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so wil I do vnto thee: thou shalt be desolate, o mount Seir, & all Idumea wholly, and thei shal knowe, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promiseth to deliuer Israel from the Gentiles.

22 The benefites done vnto the Iewes, are to be ascribed to the mercie of God, and not vnto their deservings.

26 God renueth our hearts, that we maie walke in his commandements.

Chap 6.2.

1 Also thou sonne of man, prophecie vnto the mountaines of Israel, and saie, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare y worde of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the enemy hath said against you, Aha, euen the hie places of the worlde are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophecie, and saie, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they haue made you desolate, and swallowed you vp on euery syde, that ye might be a possession vnto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come vnto the lippes & tongues of men, and vnto the reproche of the people,

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the worde of the Lord God, Thus saith y Lord God to the mountaines and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleis, and to the waste, & desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are rounde about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Surely in the fyre of mine indignation haue I spoken against the residue of the heathē, and against all Idumea, which haue taken my land for their possession, with the ioye of all their heart, & with despightful mindes to cast it out for a praie.

6 Prophecie therefore vpon the land of Israel, and saie vnto the mountaines, and to the hilles, to the riuers, and to the valleis, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I haue spoken in mine indignation, and in my wrath, because ye haue suffered the shame of the heathen, 7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I haue lifted vp mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shal beare their shame.

8 But you, o mountaines of Israel, ye shal shoote for the your branches, and bring for the your frute to my people of Israel: for thei are ready to come.

9 For beholde, I come vnto you, and I wil turne vnto you, and ye shal be tilled and sown.

10 And I wil multiplie the men vpon you, euen all the house of Israel wholly, & the cities shalbe inhabited, & the desolate places shalbe buylded.

11 And I wil multiplie vpon you man and beast, and thei shal encrease, and bring frute, and I wil cause you to dwell after your olde estate, & I wil bestowe benefites vpon you more then at the first, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I wil cause men to walke vpon you, I eue my people Israel, & thei shal possesse you, and ye shal be their inheritance, and ye shal nomore hence for the depriue the of men.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thei saie vnto you, Thou xland deuourest vp men, and hast bene a waister of thy people,

14 Therefore thou shalt deuoure men nomore, nether waste thy people hence for the, saith the Lord God, 15 Nether wil I cause men to heare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, nether shalt thou beare the reproche of the people any more, nether shalt cause thy folke to fall any more, saith y Lord God.

16 Moreouer the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

17 Sonne of man, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, thei defiled it by their owne waies, & by their dedes: their waie was before me as the filthines of the menstruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath vpon them, for the blood that thei had shed in the land, and for their idoles, where with thei had polluted it.

19 And I scattred them among the heathen, and thei were dispersed through the countreys: for according to their waies, and according to their dedes, I iudged them.

20 And when thei entred vnto the heathē, whether thei wēt, thei polluted mine holy Name, when they said of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

e Because you haue bene a laughing stocke vnto them, I wil make a solemne oath, read chap. 36.3

g God dealeth with his mercies and goodnes toward his Church who wil preferreth his, euen when he destroyeth his enemies.

h Which was accomplished vnder Christ, to whome all these temporal deliuerances did direct. That is, vpon the mountaines of Ierusalem. Or, there. k Thus the enemies impared as the reproche of the land which God did for sinnes of the people according to his iuste iudgements.

a That is, the Idumean.
b That is, Ierusalem, which for Gods promises was chiefest of all the worlde.

c Ye are made a matter of talke and derision to all the worlde.

d Thei appointed with them felues to haue it, and therefore came w Nebuchad-negzar against Ierusalem for this purpose.

21 But

1 And there-fore wolde not I suffer my Name to be had in contempt, as the heathen wolde haue reproched me, if I had suffered my Church to perish.

21 But I fauoured mine holy Name which the house of Israël had polluted among the heathen, whether they went.

22 Therefore say vnto the house of Israël, Thus saith the Lord God, I do not this for your sakes, o house of Israël, but for mine holie Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen whether ye went.

23 And I wil sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whome you haue polluted it, & the heathen shal knowe that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shalbe sanctified in you before their eyes.

24 For I wil take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and wil bring you into your owne land.

25 Then wil I powre cleane water vpon you, and ye shalbe cleane: yea, fro all your filthines, and fro all your idoles wil I cleanse you.

26 A new heart also wil I giue you, and a new spirit wil I put within you, and I wil take away the stonie heart out of your bodye, & I wil giue you an heart of flesh.

27 And I wil put my Spirit within you, & cause you to walke in my statutes, & ye shal kepe my iudgements and do them.

28 And ye shal dwell in the land, that I gaue to your fathers, and ye shal be my people and I wil be your God.

29 I wil also deliuer you from all your filthines, and I wil call for corn, and wil increase it, and lay no famine vpon you.

30 For I wil multiplie the frute of the trees, and the encrease of the field, that ye shal beare no more the reproche of famine among the heathen.

31 The shal ye remeber your owne wicked wayes, & your dedes that were not good, & shal iudge your selues worthie to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominacions.

32 Be it knowen vnto you that I do not this for your sakes, saith the Lord God: therefore, o ye house of Israël, be ashamed, and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shal haue cleansed you from all your iniquities, I wil cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shal be buylded.

34 And the desolate land shalbe tilled; where as it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they said, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shal knowe that I the Lord buylde the ruinous places, and plant the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and wil do it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I wil yet for this be sought of the house of Israël, to performe it vnto them: I wil encrease them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holie flocke, as the flocke of Ierusalem in their solemne feastes, so shal the desolate cities be filled with flockes of men, and they shal knowe, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 He prophesieth the bringing againe of the people, being in captiuitie. 16 He sheweth the union of the ten tribes with the two.

THE hand of the Lord was vpon me, & caryed me out in the Spirit of the Lord, and set me downe in the middes of the field, which was ful of bones.

2 And he led me round about by them, and beholde, there were very manie in the open field, and lo, they were verie drye.

3 And he said vnto me, Sonne of man, can these bones liue? And I answered, o Lord God, thou knowest.

4 Again he said vnto me, Prophecie vpon these bones and say vnto them, O ye drye bones, heare the worde of the Lord.

5 Thus saith the Lord God vnto these bones, Beholde, I wil cause breath to entre into you, and ye shal liue.

6 And I wil lay sinewes vpon you, and make flesh growe vpon you, and couer you with skin, and put breath in you, that ye may liue, and ye shal knowe that I am the Lord.

7 So I prophecied, as I was commanded: and as I prophecied, there was a noise, and beholde, there was a shaking, and the bones came together, bone to his bone.

8 And when I behelde, lo, the sinewes, and the flesh grewe vpon them, and aboue, the skin couered the, but there was no breath in them.

9 Then said he vnto me, Prophecie vnto the winde: prophecie, sonne of man, and say to the winde, Thus saith the Lord God, Come from the foure windes, o breath, and breathe vpon these slaine, that they may liue.

10 So I prophecied as he had commanded me: and the breath came into them, and they liued, and stode vp vpon their fete, an exceeding great armie.

11 Then he said vnto me, Sonne of man, these bones are the whole house of Israël. Beholde, they say, Our bones are dried, and our hope is gone, & we are cleane cut of.

12 Therefore prophecie, and say vnto the, thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, my people, I wil open your graues, and cause you to come vp out of your sepulchres, and bring you into the land of Israël, 15 And come from thy place out of the North partes, thou & muche people with thee: all shal ride vpon horses, <sup>c</sup> then a great multitude and a mightie armie.

18 At the same also time whē Gog shal come against the land of Israél, saith y Lord God, my wrath shal arise in mine angre.

19 For in mine indignation & in the fyre of my wrath haue I spokē it: surely at that time there shalbe a great shaking in the lād of Israél.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, & the foules of the heauen, and the beastes of the field, and all that moue & crepe vpon the earth, and all the men that are vpon the earth, shal tremble at my presence, & the mountaines shalbe ouerthrowen, & the <sup>n</sup> staires shal fall, and euery wall shal fall to the grounde.

21 For I wil call for a sworde against him <sup>o</sup> through out all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: euery mans sworde shal be against his brother.

22 And I wil pleade against him with pestilence, and with blood, and I wil cause to raine vpon him and vpon his bandes, and vpon the great people, that are with him, a fore raine, and haile stones, fyre, & brimstone.

23 Thus wil I be <sup>p</sup> magnified, and sanctified, and knowen in the eyes of many nations, and thei shal knowe, that I am the Lord.

4 Thou <sup>b</sup> shalt fall vpon the mountaines of Israél, and all thy bāds and the people, that is with thee: for I wil giue thee vnto the birdes and to euery feathered soule & beast of the field to be deuoured.

5 Thou shalt fall vpon the open field: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I wil send a fyre on Magóg, and among them that dwell safely in the <sup>c</sup> yles, and thei shal knowe, that I am the Lord.

7 So wil I make mine holy Name knowē in the middes of my people Israél, and I wil not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name anie more, and the heathen shal knowe that I am the Lord, the holie one of Israél.

8 Beholde, <sup>d</sup> it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof I haue spoken.

13 Yea, all the people of the land shal bury them, and they shal haue a name when I shalbe glorified, saith the Lord God.

19 And ye shall eat fat til you be full, and drinke blood, til ye be drunken of my sacrifice, which I haue sacrificed for you.

20 Thus you shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with valiant men, and with all men of warre, saith the Lord God.

21 And I wil set my glorie among the heathen, and all the heathen shall see my iudgement, that I haue executed, and mine hand, which I haue layed vpon them.

22 So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day and so forth.

23 And the heathen shall knowe, that the house of Israel went into captiuitie for their iniquitie, because they trespassed against me: therefore hid I my face from them, and gaue them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sworde.

<sup>l</sup> The heathen shall knowe y they ouerca-me not my people by their strength, neither yet by weakness of mine arme, but y this was for my peoples sakes.

24 According to their uncleannes, and according to their transgressions haue I done vnto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Now wil I bring againe the captiuitie of Iakob, and haue compassion vpon the whole house of Israel, and wil be ielous for mine holy Name, 26 After that they haue borne their shame, and all their transgression, whereby they haue transgressed against me, when they dwelt safely in their land, and without feare of any.

27 When I haue brought them againe from the people, and gathered them out of their enemies lands, and am sanctified in them in the sight of manie nations,

Chap. 36. 33.

28 Then shall they knowe, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to be led into captiuitie among the heathen: but

I haue gathered them vnto their owne land, and haue left none of them any more there, 29 Neither wil I hide my face any more from them: for I haue powred out my Spirit vpon the house of Israel, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XI.

The restoring of the citie and the Temple.

1 IN the five and twentieth yere of our being in captiuitie in the <sup>a</sup> beginning of the yere, in the tenth day of the moneth, in the fourteenth yere after that the citie was smitten, in the self same day, the hand of the Lord was vpon me, & brought me thither.

<sup>a</sup> The Iewes counted the beginning of the yere after two forer for their feastes they began to counte in March, and for their other affaires in September: that this is to be vnderstand of September. <sup>Or, signe of God.</sup>

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by <sup>b</sup> a diuine vision, and set me vpon a verie high mountaine, whereupon <sup>c</sup> was as the buylding of a citie, toward the South.

<sup>b</sup> Which was an Angel in forme of a man, that came to measure out this buylding.

3 And he brought me thither, and beholde, there <sup>d</sup> was a man, whose similitude was to loke to, like brasse, with a linen threde in his hand, and a rede to measure with: and he stode at the gate.

4 And the man said vnto me, Sonne of man, beholde with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, and set thine heart vpon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent, that they might be shewed thee, art thou brought hether: declare all that thou seest, vnto the house of Israel.

5 And beholde, I <sup>e</sup> sawe a wall on the outside of the house rounde about: and in the mans hand <sup>f</sup> was a rede to measure with, of six cubites long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so he measured the breadth of the buylding with one rede, and the height with one rede.

6 Then came he vnto the gate, which looketh toward the East, and went vp the stairer thereof, and measured the <sup>g</sup> poste of the gate, which <sup>h</sup> was one rede broad, and the other poste of the gate, which <sup>i</sup> was one rede broad.

7 And <sup>j</sup> euerie chamber was one rede long, & one rede broad, and betwene the chambers <sup>k</sup> were five cubites: and the poste of the gate by the porche of the gate within <sup>l</sup> was one rede.

8 He measured also the porche of the gate within with one rede.

9 Then measured he the porche of the gate of eight cubites, and the <sup>m</sup> postes thereof, of two cubites, and the porche of the gate <sup>n</sup> was inwarde.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, <sup>o</sup> were thre on this side, & thre on that side: they thre <sup>p</sup> were of one measure, and the postes had one measure on this side and one on that side.

11 And he measured the breadth of the entrance

NORTH.

And the gate of the outwarde court, that looked toward the North, measured he after the length and breadth thereof.

And the chambers thereof were, thre on this side, & thre on y<sup>e</sup> side, & the postes thereof & the arches thereof were after the measure of the first gate: the length thereof was fyftie cubites, & the breadth syue and twentie cubites.

And their windowes, & their arches with their palme trees, were after the measure of y<sup>e</sup> gate that loketh toward the East, and the going vp vnto it had seven steppes, & the arches thereof were before them.

And the gate of the inner court stode ouer against the gate toward the North, & toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundredth cubites.

After y<sup>e</sup>, he brought me toward the South, & lo, there was a gate toward the South, & he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to those measures.

And there were windowes in it, and in the arches thereof round about, like those windowes: the height was fyftie cubites, and the breadth syue and twentie cubites.

And there were seven to go vp to it, and the arches thereof were before them: & it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side vpon the poste thereof.

And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, & he measured fro gate to gate toward y<sup>e</sup> South an hundredth cubits.

And he brought me into y<sup>e</sup> inner court by y<sup>e</sup> South gate, & he measured the South gate 29 And the chambers thereof, & y postes thereof, & y arches thereof according to these measures, & there were windowes in it, & in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubits long & fiue & twentie cubits broad.

30 And the arches round about were fiue & twentie cubites long, & fiue cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, and the going vp to it had eight steppes.

32 ¶ Againe he brought me into the inner court toward the East, & he measured the gate according to those measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windowes therein, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fiue and twentie cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof, on this side & on that side, and the going vp to it had eight steppes.

35 ¶ After he brought me to the North gate, & measured it, accordig to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windowes therein round about: the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fiue and twentie cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the vtter court, and palme trees were vpon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, & the going vp to it had eight steppes.

38 And euerie chamber, & the entrie thereof was vnder y postes of the gates: there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porche of the gate stode two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, vpon the which they slewe the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steps, at the entrie of the North gate stode two tables, and on the other side, which was at y porche of the gate were two tables.

41 Foure tables were on this side, and foure tables on y side by the side of y gate, euen eight tables wherupō thei slewe their sacrifice.

42 And the foure tables were of hewen stone for the burnt offering, of a cubite and an halfe long, and a cubite and an halfe broad, and one cubite hie: wherupō also they layed the instrumēt wherewith they slewe the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and vpon the tables laye the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate were the chambers of the fingers in the inwarde court, which was at the side of the North gate: and their prospect was toward the South, & one was at the side of the East gate, hauing the prospect toward the North.

45 And he said vnto me, This chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priests, that haue charge to kepe y house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward y North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to kepe the altar: these are the sonnes of Zadok amōg the sonnes of Leui which may come nere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court, an hundredth cubites long, & an hundredth cubites broad even four square: likewise the altar that was before the House.

48 And he broght me to the porche of the house, and measured the postes of the porche, five cubites on this side, and five cubites on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porche was twentie cubites, and the breadth eleuen cubites & he broght me by  $\gamma$  steppes whereby thei wēt vp to it, & there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. XLII.

The disposition and order of the buylding of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

Afterwarde, he broght me to the Tēple, and measured the postes, six cubites broad on the one side and six cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the tabernacle.

5 And the breadth of the entrie was ten cubits, & the sides of the entrie were five cubits on  $\gamma$  one side, & five cubits on  $\gamma$  other side, & he measured the lēgth thereof fortie cubites, & the breadth twentie cubites.

6 The he went he in, and measured the postes of the entrie two cubites, and the entrie six cubites, and the breadth of the entrie seuen cubites.

7 So he measured the length thereof twentie cubites & the breadth twentie cubites before the Temple. And he said vnto me, This is the moſte holie place.

8 After, he measured the wall of the house, six cubites, and the breadth of euerie chambre foure cubites rounde about the house, on euerie side.

9 And the chambres were chambre vpon chābre, thre and thirtie fote high, & they entred into the wall made for the chambres which was rounde about the house  $\gamma$  the postes might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

10 And it was large and went round mounting vpwarde to the chambres: for the ſtaire of the house was mounting vpward, rounde about the house: therefore  $\gamma$  house was larger vpwarde: so thei went vp frō the lowest chābre to  $\gamma$  hieſt by the middes.

11 I ſawe alſo the house hie rounde about:  $\gamma$  fundacions of the chambres were a ſul rede of six great cubites.

12 The thicknes of the wall which was for the chamber without, was five cubites, and that which remained, was the place of the chambres that were within.

10 And betwene the chambres was the wydenes of twentie cubites rounde about the House on euerie ſide.

11 And the dores of the chābres were towarde the place that remained, one dore towarde the North, & another dore towarde the South, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubites rounde about.

12 Now the buylding that was before the ſeperate place towarde the Weſt corner, was ſeuentie cubites broad, and the wall of the buylding was five cubites thicke, rounde about, & the lēgth ninetie cubites.

13 So he measured the house an hundredth cubites long, & the ſeperate place and the buylding with the walles thereof were an hundredth cubites long.

14 Alſo the breadth of the forefront of the house and of the ſeperate place toward the Eaſt, was an hundredth cubites.

15 And he measured the length of the buylding ouer againſt  $\gamma$  ſeperate place, which was behinde it, and the chambres on the one ſide and on the other ſide an hundredth cubites with the Temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narowe windowes, & the chambres rounde about, on thre ſides ouer againſt the postes, ſiled with cedar wood rounde about and frō  $\gamma$  ground vp to  $\gamma$  windowes, and the windowes were ſiled.

17 And from aboue the dore vnto the inner house and without, and by all the wall rounde about within and without it was ſyled according to the meaſure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, ſo that a palme tree was betwene a Cherub and a Cherub: and euerie Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was towarde the palme tree on the one ſide, & the face of a lion towarde the palme tree on the other ſide: thus was it made through all the house rounde about.

20 From the grounde vnto aboue the dore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Tēple were ſquared, & thus to loke vnto was the ſimilitude & forme of the Sanctuarie.

22 The altar of wood was thre cubites hie, & the length thereof two cubites, and the corners thereof and the length thereof & the ſides thereof were of wood. And he ſaid vnto me, This is the table that ſhalbe before the Lord.

23 And the Temple & the Sanctuarie had two dores.

24 And the dores had two wickets, euery two turning wickets, two wickets for one dore, and two wickets for another dore.

CHAP. XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holie things.

Verf. 1 Hauing described the length and breadth of the Temple, he cometh to the outward court on y North side. 1. This appeareth in y great figure. He brought me into the chamber: that is, the rowe of chambers, which were toward the separate place Westward.

Verf. 2 He meaneth that the North was an hundred cubites long x y and in breadth fiftie. b. x.

Verf. 4 This gallerie appeareth in y great figure by this nombre. 12.

Verf. 5 These chambers were contrary fa- cioned to the of the Temple.

Verf. 8 So that the wall for y chambers of the outward court and the wall of the inner, was e- ther fiftie cu- bites, and the whole court an hundred.

Verf. 9 Under these cham- bers were en- tries, or dores to passe from one place to another, w are noted euer by z in the great figure.

Verf. 10 11. The chambers, p. of the East court M. were like to y chambers of the North court.

Verf. 13 Which chambers were in the East gate toward the North and South 3. and toward the separate place or backe buylding. 4. which chambers are called holie, because thei were by the Temple.

1 Then brought he me into y vtter court by the waie toward the North, and he brought me into the chamber that was ouer against the separate place, & which was before y buylding toward y North. Before y length of an hundred cubites was y North dore, & it was fiftie cubites broad.

2 Ouere against y twentie cubites which were for the inner court, & ouer against the pavement, which was for the vtter court, was chambre against chambre in thre rowes.

4 And before y chambers was a gallerie of ten cubites wide, & within was a waie of one cubite, and their dores toward y North.

5 Now the chambers aboue were narrower: for those chambers seemed to eat vp these, to wit, the lower, and those that were in the middes of the buylding.

6 For thei were in thre rowes, but had not pillers as the pillers of the court: therefore there was a difference fro the beneth & fro the middlemost, euen fro the ground.

7 And the wall y was without ouer against y chambers, toward y vtter court on y fore front of y chambers, was fiftie cubites long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the vtter court, was fiftie cubites: & lo, before y Temple were an hundred cubites.

9 And vnder these chambers was the entrie, on the East side, as one goeth into the fro the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thickenes of the wall of the court toward y East, ouer against the separate place, & ouer against the buylding.

11 And the waye before them was after the maner of the chambers, which were toward y North as long as thei, & as broad as thei: & all their entries were like, bothe according to their facions, and according to their dores.

12 And according to the dores of y chambers that were toward y South, was a dore in the corner of the waie, euen the waie directly before the wall toward the East, as one entreth.

13 Then said he vnto me, The North chambers & the South chambers which are before the separate place, thei be holie chambers, wherein the Priests that approche vnto the Lord, shal eat the moste holie things: there shal thei laie the moste holie things, and the meat offering, and the sinoffring, and the trespass offering: for the place is holie.

14 When the Priests entre therein, thei shal not go out of the holie place into the vtter court, but there thei shal laie their garmets wherein thei minister: for thei are holie, & shal put on other garmets, & so shal approche to those things, w are for the people.

15 Now when he had made an end of measuring y inner house, he brought me forth the toward y gate whose prospect is toward the East, and measured it rounde about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring rod, fise hundredth redes, euen with the measuring rede rounde about.

17 He measured also y North side, fise hundredth redes, euen with the measuring rede rounde about.

18 And he measured the South side fise hundredth redes with the measuring rede. Or, wide, 19 He turned about also to the West side, & measured fise hundredth redes with the measuring rede.

20 He measured it by the four sides: it had a wall rounde about, fise hundredth redes long, and fise hundredth broad to make a separation betwene the Sanctuarie, and y prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

2 He seeth the glorie of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idolatrie of the children of Israel for the which thei were consumed and brought to night. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

1 Afterward he brought me to the gate, A euen the gate that turneth toward y East.

2 And beholde, the glorie of y God of Israel came f o out of the East, whose voice was like a noise of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glorie.

3 And the vision which I saw was like the vision, euen as the vision that I saw when I came to destroye the citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the riuer Chebar: & I fel vpon my face. Chap. 3. 1.

4 And the glorie of the Lord came into the house by the waie of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit toke me vp and brought me into the inner court, and beholde, the glorie of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking vnto me out of the house: and there stode a man by me,

7 Which said vnto me, Sonne of man, this place is my throne, & the place of the soles of my fete, where as I wil dwell among the children of Israel for euer, and y house of Israel shal no more defile mine holie Name, nether thei, nor their Kings by their fornications, nor by the earkeises of their Kings in their high places. c By their idolatries. d He alludeth to Ammon & Manasse, who were buried in their gardens nere the Temple & there had erected vp monuments to their idoles.

8 Albeit they set their thresholds by my thresholds, and their postes by my postes (for there was but a wall betwene me & the) yet haue thei defiled mine holy Name with their abominacions, that thei haue committed: wherefore I haue consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let the put away their fornicacion, and the carkeises of their Kings farre fro me, and I wil dwell among them for euer.

10 ¶ Thou sonne of mā, shewe this House to the house of Israël, that thei may be ashamed of their wickednes, and let them measure the paterne.

11 And if thei be ashamed of all that thei haue done, shewe the the forme of y<sup>e</sup> house, & the paterne thereof, & the going out thereof, & the coming in thereof, and the whole facion thereof, & all the ordinances thereof, & all the figures thereof, & all the lawes thereof: & write it in their sight, that thei may kepe y<sup>e</sup> whole facion thereof, & all the ordinances thereof, and do them.

13 And these are y<sup>e</sup> measures of the Altar, after the cubites, the cubite is a cubite, & an hand breadth, euen y<sup>e</sup> bottome shall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, & the bordre thereof by y<sup>e</sup> edge thereof round about shall be a spāne: & this shall be y<sup>e</sup> height of y<sup>e</sup> altar.

THE FIGURE OF THE ALTAR.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower piece shall be two cubites: & the breadth one cubite, & from the litle piece to y<sup>e</sup> great piece shall be foure cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the altar shall be foure cubites, & from the altar vwarde shall be foure hornes.

16 And the altar shall be twelue cubites long, and twelue broad, and foresquare in the foure corners thereof.

17 And y<sup>e</sup> frame shall be fourtene cubites long, & fourtene broad in the four square corners thereof, and the bordre about it shall be halfe a cubite, & the bottome thereof shall be a cubite about, and the steppes thereof shall be turned toward the East.

18 ¶ And he said vnto me, Sone of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when thei shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt giue to the Priests, & to the Leuites, that be of the sede of Zadok, which approche vnto me, to minister vnto me, saith the Lord God, a yong bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the foure hornes of it, & on the foure corners of the frame, & vpon the bordre round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it, and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sinne offering, & burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuarie.

22 But the seconde day thou shalt offre an he goat without blemish for a sin offering, and thei shall cleanse the altar, as thei did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 Whē thou hast made an end of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a yong bullocke without blemish, and a ram out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And y<sup>e</sup> shalt offre the before the Lord, & y<sup>e</sup> Priests shall cast salt vpon the, & thei shall offre the for a burnt offering vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord.

25 Seuen daies shalt thou prepare euerie day an he goat for a sin offering: thei shall also prepare a yong bullocke and a ram out of the flocke, without blemish.

26 Thus shall thei seuen daies purifie the altar, and cleanse it, and consecrate it.

27 And when these daies are expired, vpon the eight day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings vpon the altar, and your peace offerings, and I wil accept you, saith the Lord God.

1 Out of the land of promes are there ſeparate foure porcions, of which the firſt is giuen to the Priests and to the Temple, the ſecond to the Leuites, the third to the citie, the fourth to the prince. 2 An exhortacion vnto the heads of Iſrael. 10 Of juſt weights and meaſures. 13 Of the firſt fruits, &c.

a Of all the land of Iſrael the Lord onely requireth this porcion for the Temple & for the Priests, for y<sup>e</sup> citie and for the prince.

1 MOrcouer when ye ſhal deuide the land for inheritance, ye ſhal offer an oblation vnto the Lord an<sup>a</sup> holy porcion of the land, five & twentie thouſand redes long, and ten thouſand broad: this ſhal be holy in all the borders thereof rounde about.

2 Of this there ſhal be for the Sanctuarie five hundredth in length with five hundredth in breadth, all ſquare rounde about, and fiftie cubites rounde about for the ſuburbs thereof.

3 And of this meaſure ſhalt thou meaſure the length of five and twentie thouſand, & the breadth of ten thouſand: & in it ſhal be the Sanctuarie, & the moſte holy place.

4 The holy porcion of the land ſhal be the Priests, which miniſter in the Sanctuarie, which came nere to ſerue the Lord: and it ſhal be a place for their houſes, and an holy place for the Sanctuarie.

5 And in the five and twentie thouſand of length, and the ten thouſand of breadth ſhal y<sup>e</sup> Leuites that miniſter in the houſe, haue their poſſeſſion for twentie chambers.

6 Alſo ye ſhal appoint the poſſeſſion of the citie, five thouſand broad, and five & twentie thouſand long ouer againſt the oblation of the holy porcion: it ſhal be for the whole houſe of Iſrael.

7 And a porcion ſhal be for the prince on the one ſide, and on that ſide of the oblation of the holy porcion, and of the poſſeſſion of the citie, euē before the oblation of the holy porcion, and before the poſſeſſion of the citie frō the Weſt corner Weſtwarde, and from the Eaſt corner Eaſtwarde, & the length ſhal be by one of the porcions from the Weſt border vnto the Eaſt border.

8 In this land ſhal be his poſſeſſiō in Iſrael: and my princes ſhal no more oppreſſe my people, and the reſt of the lād ſhal thei giue to the houſe of Iſrael, according to their tribes.

9 Thus ſaith the Lord God, Let it b ſuffice you, o princes of Iſrael: leaue of crueltie & oppreſſion, & execute iudgement & iuſtice: take away your exactions from my people, ſaith the Lord God.

10 Ye ſhal haue juſte balances, & a true<sup>c</sup> Ephāh, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephāh and the Bath ſhal be equal: a Bath ſhal contene the tenth parte of an Homér, & an Ephāh the tenth parte of an Homér: the equalitie thereof ſhal be after the Homér.

12 * And the ſhekel ſhal be twentie gerahs, & twentie ſhekels, and d five and twentie ſhekels & fiftene ſhekels ſhal be your Manéh.

13 ¶ This is the oblation that ye ſhal offer, the ſixt parte of an Ephāh of an Homér of wheat, and ye ſhal giue the ſixt parte of an Ephāh of an Homér of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, euē of the Bath of oyle, ye ſhal offer y<sup>e</sup> tenth parte of a Bath out of y<sup>e</sup> Coi (ten Baths are an Homér: for ten Baths ſil an Homér)

15 And one lambe of two hundredth ſhepe out of the fat paſtures of Iſrael for a meat offering, & for a burnt offering and for peace offerings, to make reconciliacion for them, ſaith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land ſhal giue this oblation for the prince in Iſrael.

17 And it ſhal be the princes parte to giue burnt offerings, and meat offerings, & drinke offerings in the ſolemne feaſts and in the new moones, & in the Sabbaths, & in all y<sup>e</sup> hie feaſtes of the houſe of Iſrael: he ſhal prepare the ſinne offering, and the meat offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliaciō for the houſe of Iſrael.

18 ¶ Thus ſaith the Lord God, In the firſt moneth, in the firſt day of<sup>e</sup> the moneth, thou ſhalt take a yōg bullocke without blemiſh and clenſe the Sanctuarie.

19 And the Priet ſhal take of the blood of the ſinne offering, and put it vpon the poſtes of the houſe, and vpon the foure<sup>e</sup> corners of the frame of the altar, and vpon the poſtes of the gate of the inner court.

20 And ſo ſhalt thou do the ſeuenth day of the moneth, for euery one that hath erred and for him that is diſceaued: ſo ſhal you reconcile the houſe.

21 * In the firſt moneth in the fourteenth day of the moneth, ye ſhal haue the Paſſeouer a feaſt of ſeuē daies, & ye ſhal eat vnleauened bread.

22 And vpon that day, ſhal the prince prepare for him ſelf, and for all the people of the land, a bullocke for a ſinne offering.

23 And in the ſeuē dayes of the feaſt he ſhal make a burnt offering to the Lord, euē of ſeuē bullockes, & ſeuē rams without blemiſh daiely for ſeuē dayes, and an he goat daiely for a ſinne offering.

25 In the ſeuenth moneth, in the fifteenth day of the moneth, ſhal he do the like in the feaſt for ſeuē daies, according to the ſinne offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meat offering, and according to the oyle.

3 Likewise the people of the land shal wor- ship at the entrie of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new mo- ones.

4 And the burnt offering that the price shal offe vnto the Lord on the Sabbath daye, shalbe six lambs without blemish, & a ram without blemish.

5 And the meat offering shalbe an Epháh for a ram: and the meat offering for the lambes a gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Epháh.

6 And in the daye of the new moone it shal be a yong bullocke without blemish, and six lambs and a ram: they shalbe without blemish.

7 And he shal prepare a meat offering, even an Epháh for a bullocke, and an Epháh for a ram, and for the lambes b according as his hand shal bring, and an Hin of oyle to an Epháh.

10 And the prince shalbe in the middes of them: he shal go in when they go in, & whé thei go forth, they shal go forth together.

11 And in the feasts, and in the solemnitie the meat offering shalbe an Epháh to a bul- locke, and an Epháh to a ram, and to the lambs, the gift of his hand, and an Hin of oyle to an Epháh.

12 Now when the prince shal make a fre burnt offering or peace offrings frely vn- to the Lord, one shal then open him the gate, y turneth toward the East, and he shal make his burnt offering and his peace of- frings, as he did on the Sabbath day: after, he shal go forth, and when he is gone for- the, one shal shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daicly make a burnt offering vnto the Lord of a labe of one yere with- out blemish: thou shalt do it euery mor- ning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offering for it euery morning, the sixt parte of an Epháh, and the third parte of an Hin of oyle, to mingle with the fine floure: this me- at offering shalbe continually by a perpetu- al ordinance vnto the Lord.

15 Thus shal they prepare the lambe, and the meat offering and the oyle euery mor- ning, for a continual burnt offering.

16 ¶ Thus saith the Lord God, If the prin- ce giue a gift of his inheritance vnto any of his sonnes, it shalbe his sonnes, & it shal be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he giue a gift of his inheritance to one of his seruants, then it shalbe his to the yere of libertie: after, it shal returne to the prince, but his inheritance shal re- maine to his sonnes for them.

18 Moreouer the prince shal not d take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but he shal cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne posses- sion, that my people be not scattered euery man from his possession.

19 ¶ After, he broght me through the entrie, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stode toward the North: and beholde, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said he vnto me, This is the place where the Priests shal seeth the trespass offering and the sinne offering, where they shal bake the meat offering, that thei shul- de not beare them into the vter court, e to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he broght me forth into the vter court, and caused me to go by the foure corners of the court: and beholde, in euery corner of the court, there was a court.

23 And there went a wall about them, even about those foure, and kitchins were made vnder the walles rounde about.

2 Then brought he me out toward y North gate, and led me about by the way without vnto the vtter gate, by the way that turneth Eastwarde: and beholde, there came forth the waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand, went forth the Eastwarde, he measured a thousand cubites, & he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Againe he measured a thousand, & brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: againe he measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loines.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a b riuer, that I colde not passe ouer: for the waters were risen, & the waters did flowe, as a riuer that colde not be passed ouer.

13 ¶ Thus saith y Lord God, This shal be the border, whereby ye shal inherit the land according to y twelue tribes* of Israel: Ioséph shal haue two porcions.

14 And ye shal inherit it, one aswel as another: concerning the which I lift vp mi-

17 And the border from the sea shalbe Hazár, Enán, & the border of Damascus, and the residue of the North, Northwarde, & the border of Hamáth: so shalbe the North parte.

18 But the East side shal ye measure from Haurán, and from Damascus, and from Giléad, and from the land of Israel by Iordén, & from the border vnto the East sea: and so shalbe the East parte.

19 And the Southside shalbe toward Temán from Tamár to the waters of l Meribóth in Kadésh, & the riuer to the maine sea: so shalbe y South parte toward Temán.

20 The West parte also shalbe the great sea frō the border, til a mā come ouer against Hamáth: this shalbe the West parte.

21 So shal ye deuide this land vnto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

DANIEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

The great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are moste lively here set forth, who neuer leaueh his destitute, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophetes, as Ezechiél, & Daniél, whome he adorned with suche graces of his holie spirit, that Daniél alone aliother had moste special reuelations of suche things as shulde come to the Church, euen from the time that thei were in captiuitie, to the last end of the worlde, and to the general resurrection, as of the foure Monarches and empires of all the worlde, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians, & Romaines. Also of the certeine nombre of the times euen vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices shulde cease, because he shulde be the accomplisment thereof: moreouer he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring euermore life. And as from the beginning God euer exercised his people vnder the crosse, so he teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, he wil still leaue this exercise to his Church vntil the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

CHAP. I.

- 1 The captiuitie of Ichoiakim King of Iudáh. 4 The King chuseth certeine yong men of the Iewes to learne his lawe. 5 Thei haue the Kings ordinarie appointed, 8 But this abstaine from it.

Read 2. King. 24. 1. and 1. Chron. 36. 1.

Which was a plaine by Babylon where was the Temple of their great god, and is here taken for Babylon.

Who was as master of the wardes.

He calleth the Eunuches whome the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countries afterward.

His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shewe him self victorious, and also by their good intreatie and learning of his religion, thei might fauour rather his then the Iewes and so to be able to serue him as gouerners in their land: moreouer by this meanes the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing otherwise to procure reburre to these noble men.

The King required three things, that thei shulde be of noble byrth, that thei shulde be witty & learned, and y thei shulde be of a high & comelie nature that thei might do him better seruice: this he did for his owne commoditie therefore it is not to praise his liberalitie: yet in this he is worthy praise, that he esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by.

That thei might forget their owne religion, and thought that Daniél did learne anie knowledge that was not godlie: in all pointes he refused the abuse of things and superstition, in so muche y he wolde not eate the meat which the King appointed him, but was content to learne y knowledge of natural things.

That by their good intertainment thei might learne to forget the mediocritie of their owne people.

To the intent that in this time thei might bothe learne the maners of the Caldeans and al so their tongue.

As wel to serue at the table, as in other offices.

IN the thirde yere of the reigne of Ichoiakim King of Iudáh, came Nebuchad-nezzár, King of Babel vnto Ierusalém, & besieged it.

2 And the Lord gaue Ichoiakim King of Iudáh into his hand, w parte of the vessels of the house of God, which he caried into the land of Shinár, to the house of his god, and he brought the vessels into his gods treasure.

3 And the King spake vnto Ashpenáz the master of his Eunuches, that he shulde bring certeine of the children of Israél, of the Kings sede, and of the princes:

4 Children in whome was no blemish, but wel fauoured, & instructed in all wisdom, and wel sene in knowledge, and able to vter knowledge, and suche as were able to stand in the Kings palace, and whome thei might teache the learning, and the tongue of the Caldeans.

5 And the King appointed them prouision euerie daie of a portion of the Kings meat, and of the wine, which he dranke, so nourishing the thre yere, that at the end thereof, thei might stand before the King.

6 Now among these were certeine of the children of Iudáh, Daniél, Hananiáh, Mishael, and Azariáh.

7 Vnto whome the chief of the Eunuches gaue other names: for he called Daniél, Belteshazár, & Hananiáh, Shadrách, & Mishael, Meshách, and Azariáh, Abednegó.

8 But Daniél had determined in his heart, that he wolde not defile him self with the porcion of the Kings meat, nor with the wine which he dranke: therefore he required y chief of the Eunuches that he might not defile him self.

9 (Now God had brought Daniél into fauour, and tender loue with the chief of the Eunuches)

10 And the chief of the Eunuches said vnto Daniél, I feare my lord the King, who hath appointed your meat and your drinke: therefore if he se your faces worse looking then the other children, which are of your sorte, the shal you make me lose mine head vnto the King.

11 Then said Daniél to Melzár, whome the chief of the Eunuches had set ouer Daniél, Hananiáh, Mishael, and Azariáh, 12 Proue thy seruants, I beseeche thee, ten daies, and let them giue vs pulse to eat, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eat of the porcion of the Kings meat: and as thou seest, deale with thy seruants.

14 So he consented to them in this matter, and proued them ten daies.

15 And at the end of ten daies, their countenances appeared fairer, and in better looking then all the childrens, which did eat the porcion of the Kings meat.

16 Thus Melzár toke awaie the porcion of their meat, and the wine that thei shulde drinke, and gaue them pulse.

1 That thei might altogether forget their religion: for the Iewes gaue their children names, which might euer put them in remembrance of some point of religion: therefore this was a great temptation & a signe of seruitude which thei were not able to resist.

Not that he thought anie religion to be in the meat or drinke (for afterwarde he did eat) but because the King shulde not inrise hi by this sweete payson to forget his religion & accustomed sobrietie, and y in his meat & drinke he might daylie remembre of what people he was: and Daniél bringeth this in to shewe how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet.

He supposed thei did this for their religion, which was contrarie to the Babylonians, and therefore herein he representeth them, w are of no religion: for neither he wolde condene theirs nor mainteine his owne. o Meaning, that within this space he might haue the tryal, and that noman shulde be able to discern it: & thus he spake, being moued by the Spirit of God.

p Not that it was a thing abominable to eat dentie meates and to drinke wine, as bothe before and after thei did, but if thei shulde haue hereby bene wonne to the King and haue refused their owne religion, that meat and drinke had bene accursed.

q This bare feeding, and that also of Moses when he fled from the court of Egypt, declareth that we must liue in suche sobrietie as God doeth call vs vnto, seing he wil make it more profitable vnto vs, then all dentie: for his blessing onely sufficeth.

Daniels knowledge.

<sup>r</sup> Meaning, in the liberal sciences, and natural knowledge, and not in magical artes which are forbidden, Deu. 18. 11. f So that he only was a Prophet and none of the other: for by dreames & visions God appeared to his Prophetes, Nomb 12. 6. e Of the three yeres above mentioned ver. 5. u That is, he was esteemed in Babylon as a Prophet so long as y commune wealth stode.

- 17 As for these foure childre, God gaue the knowledge, and vnderstanding in all learning and wisdom: also he gaue Daniel vnderstanding of all visions & dreames.
- 18 Now when the time was expired, that the King had appointed to bring the in, the chief of the Eunuches brought the before Nebuchad-nezzar.
- 19 And the King comined with them: and among them all was founde none like Daniel, Hananiab, Mishael, and Azariah: therefore stode thei before the King.
- 20 And in all matters of wisdom, & vnderstanding that the King enquired of them, he founde them ten times better then all the inchanters & astrologians, that were in all his realme.
- 21 And Daniel was vnto the first yere of King Cyrus.

CHAP. II.

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name, so that this is ment of y sonne, when he reigned alone: for he reigned also after a fort w his father.

b Not that he had many dreames, but because many matters were contained in this dreame.

c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame that he had not had the like.

d He was so heavy with slepe that he began to slepe a gayne. Some read, and his slepe was broken from him.

e For all these astrologers & forcerers called them felues by this name of honour as though all the wisdom and knowledge of the countrey depended vpon the.

f That is, in y Syrian tongue which differed not much from the Caldeans, saue it seemed to be more eloquent, & therefore the learned, vsed to speake it: as the Iewish writers do to this day.

g This is a iuste rewarde of their arrogancie (which wanted of the selues that they had the knowledge of all things) y thei shulde be prouen tooles & y to their perpetual shame and confusion. h Here in appeared their ignorance that notwithstanding their brags, yet were thei not able to tel the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, & therefore thei wolde pretende knowledge where was but mere ignorance and so as leaders of the people, thei were worthy to dye.

i He redeme the time.

And in y a second yere of y reigne of Nebuchad-nezzar, Nebuchad-nezzar dreamed dreames wherwith his spirit was troubled, & his slepe was vpon him.

Then the King commanded to call y inchanters, and the astrologians and the forcerers, and the Caldeans for to shew the King his dreames: so thei came and stode before the King.

And the King said vnto them, I haue dreamed a dreame, & my spirit was troubled to knowe the dreame.

Then spake the Caldeans to the King in the Aramites language, O King, liue for euer: shewe thy seruants thy dreame, and we shal shewe the interpretacion.

And the King answered and said to the Caldeans, The thing is gone from me. If ye wil not make me vnderstand the dreame with the interpretacion thereof, ye shalbe drawn in pieces, and your houses shalbe made a iakes.

But if ye declare the dreame and the interpretacion thereof, ye shal receiue of me gifts and rewardes, and great honour: therefore shewe me the dreame and the interpretacion of it.

Thei answered againe, and said, Let the King shewe his seruants the dreame, and we wil declare the interpretacion thereof.

Then the King answered, and said, I knowe certainly that ye wolde gaine the time, because ye se the thing is gone from me.

And therefore the learned, vsed to speake it: as the Iewish writers do to this day. g This is a iuste rewarde of their arrogancie (which wanted of the selues that they had the knowledge of all things) y thei shulde be prouen tooles & y to their perpetual shame and confusion. h Here in appeared their ignorance that notwithstanding their brags, yet were thei not able to tel the dreame, except he entred them into the matter, & therefore thei wolde pretende knowledge where was but mere ignorance and so as leaders of the people, thei were worthy to dye.

Daniel. The Kings furie.

But if ye wil not declare me the dreame, there is but one iudgement for you: for ye haue prepared lying and corrupt wordes, to speake before me til y time be changed: therefore tel me the dreame, that I maie knowe, if ye can declare me the interpreta-cion thereof.

Then the Caldeans answered before the King, and said, There is no man vpon earth that can declare y Kings matter: yea, there is nether King nor prince nor Lord that asked suche things at an inchanter or astrologian or Caldean.

For it is a rare thing that the King requireth, & there is none other that can declare it before the King, except the gods whose dwelling is not with flesh.

For this cause the King was angrie and in great furie, and commanded to destroe all the wise men of Babel.

And when sentence was giuen, the wise men were slaine: and thei sought Daniel & his felowes to be put to death.

Then Daniel answered with counsel & wisdom to Arioch the Kings chief steward, which was gone forthe to put to death the wise men of Babel.

Yea, he answered and said vnto Arioch the Kings captaine, Why is the sentece so hastie from the King? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

So Daniel went and desired the King y he wolde giue him leasure & that he wolde shewe the King y interpretacion thereof.

Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Hananiab, Mishael, and Azariah his companions,

That thei shulde beseeche the God of heauen for grace in this secret, that Daniel & his felowes shuldenot perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

Then was the secret reueiled vnto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heauen.

And Daniel answered & said, The Name of God be praised for euer and euer: for wisdom and strength are his,

And he changeth the times and seasons: he taketh awaie Kings: he setteth vp Kings: he giueth wisdom vnto the wise, & vnderstanding to those that vnderstand.

He discovereth the depe & secret things: he knoweth what is in the darkenes, and the light dwelleth with him.

I thanke thee & praise thee, o thou God of my fathers, that thou hast giuen me wisdom and strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that we desired of thee: for thou hast declared vnto vs the Kings matter.

Therefore Daniel went vnto Arioch, whome the King had ordeined to destroe the wise men of Babel: he went and said i Which declareth y God wolde not haue his seruants ioyned in y panic of these forcerers, and astrologers, whose artes were wicked, and therefore iustly ought to dye, though y King did urge a rage, and no zeale.

j Or, the captaine of the gend.

k He sheweth that he hath nether wisdom nor knowledge but y darke blindness, and ignorance of him self: for it cometh onely of God, that he vnderstandeth anie thing.

Daniél. The interpretacion. 358

King proceeded

shoulde be re-

had said that only must reucale the signification of this dreame, the King might haue asked, why Da-niél did enterprise to interprete it, & therefore he sheweth, that he was, but Gods minister, and had no giftes, but such as God had giue him to ser-the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian, & Romaine kingdo-

fully rule all the worlde til Christ (which is here called the stone) come him selfe, and destroye
the last: & this was to assure the Jewes, that their afflictions shoulde not end with the empire of the Cal-deans, but that they shoulde pacely abyde
the coming of Messiah, & shoulde be at the end of this fourth monar-chie.

said thus vnto him, Destroye not the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I wil declare vnto the King the interpretacion.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniél before the King in all haste, and said thus vnto him,
I haue found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captiues, that wil declare vnto the King the interpretacion.

26 Then answered the King, and said vnto
Daniél, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to shewe me the dreame, w<sup>ch</sup> I haue sene, and the interpretacion thereof?

27 Daniél answered in the presence of the King, & said, The secret which the King hathe demanded, can nether the wise, the astrologians, the inchanters, nor the southesayers declare vnto the King.

28 But there is a God in heauen that reueilleth secrets, and sheweth the King Nebuchad-nezzar what shalbe in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things, w<sup>ch</sup> thou hast sene in thine head vpon thy bed, is this.

29 O King, when y<sup>e</sup> wast in thy bed, thoghts came into thy minde, what shulde come to passe hereafter, and he that reueilleth secrets, telleth thee, what shal come.

30 As for me, this secret is not shewed me for anie wisdom that I haue, more then anie other liuing, but onely to shewe the King the interpretaciō, and that thou mightst knowe his thoghts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and beholdest, there was a great image: this great image whose glorie was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 This images head was of fine golde, his breast and his armes of siluer, his bellie and his thighs of brasse,

33 His legges of yron, & his fete were parte of yron, and parte of clay.

34 Thou beheldest it til a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image vpon his fete, that were of yron and clay, and brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the siluer & the golde broken all together, and became like the chaffe of the sommer floores, and the winde caryed them away, that no place was founde for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and we wil declare before the King his interpretaciō thercof.

37 O King, thou art a King of Kings: for the God of heauen hathe giuen thee a kingdome, power, and strength, & glorie.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the foules of the heauen hathe he giuen into thine hand, and hathe made thee ruler ouer them all: thou art this head of golde.

39 And after thee shal rise another king dome, inferior to thee, of siluer, and another third kingdome shalbe of brasse, which shal beare rule ouer all the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shalbe strōg as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, & subdueth all things, and as yron bruseth all these things, so shal it breake in pieces and bruse all.

41 Where as thou sawest the fete and toes, parte of potters clay, and parte of yron:
the kingdome shalbe deuided, but there shalbe in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixt with the claye, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the fete were parte of yron, and parte of clay, so shal the king dome be partely strong, and partely broken.

43 And where as thou sawest yron mixt with clay & earth, they shal mingle them sel-ues with the sede of men: but they shal not ioine one with another, as yron can not be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these Kings, shal the God of heauen set vp a kingdome, which shal neuer be destroyed: and this kingdome shal not be giuen to another people, but it shal breake, and destroye all these kingdomes, and it shal stand for euer.

45 Where as y<sup>e</sup> sawest, that the stone was cut of the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the siluer and the golde: so the great God hathe shewed the King, what shal come to passe hereafter, and the drea-me is true, and the interpretacion thereof is sure.

46 ¶ Then the King Nebuchad-nezzar fel vpon his face, and bowed him self vnto Daniél, and commanded that thei shulde offer meat offrings, & swete odoures vnto him.

47 Also the King answered vnto Daniél, & said, I knowe of a trueth that your God is a God of gods, & the Lord of Kings, and the reuailer of secrets, finge thou couldest open this secret.

48 So the King made Daniél a great man, and gaue him manie and great giftes.
He made him gouernour ouer the whole prouince of Babel, and chief of the rulers, & aboue all the wise men of Babel.

King seemed to deserue commendation, yet because he ioyned Gods honour with the Prophets, it is to be reprobud, & Daniél herein erred if he suffred it: but it is credible that Daniél admonished him of his fault, and did not suffice it.

The golden image.

Daniél. Their answer.

<sup>e</sup> He did not this for their private profit, but that the whole Church which was there in affliction, might haue some release and ease, by this benefite. <sup>f</sup> Meaning, that ether he was a iudge, or that he had the whole authoritie, so that none coulde be admitted to the Kings presence, but by him.

CHAP. III.

<sup>a</sup> Under presence of religion, and holines in making an image to his idole Bel, he fought his owne ambition and vaine glorie: and this declareth, that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but yhe confessed him on a sudden motion as the wicked, when they are overcome with the greatnes of his workes. The Greke interpreters write, that this was done 18 yeres after the dreame, and as may appeare y King feared lest the Iewes by their religion shulde haue altered the state of his commonwealth, and therefore he met to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather fought his owne quietnes, then Gods glorie.

Then Nebuchad-nezzār the King sent forth to gather together the nobles, the princes & the dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellors, the officers, & all the gouerners of the prouinces, that they shulde come to the dedication of the image, which Nebuchad-nezzār the King had set vp.

So the nobles, princes, and dukes, the iudges, the receiuers, the counsellors, the officers, and all the gouerners of the prouinces were assembled vnto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzār the King had set vp: and they stode before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzār had set vp.

Then an herald cryed aloud, Be it knowē to you, o people, nations, and langages,

That when ye heare the sound of the cornet, trūpet, harpe, sackebut, psalteries, dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, ye fall downe and worship the goldē image, that Nebuchad-nezzār the King hath set vp.

And whosoeuer falleth not downe and worshippeth, shal the same houre be cast into the middes of an hote fyrie fornace.

Therefore as sone as all the people heard y sound of the cornet, trūpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, & all instruments of musicke, all y people, nations, & langages fel downe, and worshiped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzār the King had set vp.

By reason whereof at that same time came men of the Caldeās, and grieuously accused the Iewes.

For they spake and said to the King Nebuchad-nezzār, O King, liue for euer.

Thou, o King, hast made a decre, that euerie man that shal heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpes, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, shal fall downe & worship the golden image,

And whosoeuer falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that he shulde be cast into the middes of an hote fyrie fornace.

There are certeine Iewes whome thou hast set ouer the charge of the prouince of Babel, & Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednegō: these men, o King, haue not regarded thy commandement, nether wil they serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, that thou hast set vp.

Then Nebuchad-nezzār in his angre and wrath commanded that they shulde bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednegō: so these men were brought before the King.

Nebuchad-nezzār spake, and said vnto the, What disordre wil not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednegō serue my god, nor worship the goldē image, that I haue set vp?

Now therefore are ye ready whē ye heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackebut, psalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musicke, to fall downe, & worship the image, which I haue made: for if ye worship it not, ye shalbe cast immediately into the middes of an hote fyrie fornace: for who is that God, that can deliuer you out of mine hands?

Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednegō answered & said to the King, O Nebuchad-nezzār, we are not careful to answer thee in this matter.

Beholde, our God whome we serue, is able to deliuer vs frō the hote fyrie fornace, and he wil deliuer vs out of thine hand, o King.

But if not, be it knowen to thee, o King, y we wil not serue thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set vp.

Then was Nebuchad-nezzār ful of rage, and the forme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, & Abednegō: therefore he charged and commanded that they shulde heare the fornace at once seuen times more then it was wont to be heat.

And he charged the moste valiant men of warre y were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednegō, & to cast them into the hote fyrie fornace.

So these men were bounde in their coats, their hose, & their clokes, with their other garments, and cast into the middes of the hote fyrie fornace.

Therefore, because the Kings commandement was strait, that the fornace shulde be exceeding hote, the flame of y fyre slew those men y brought forth the Shadrach, Meshach, <sup>e</sup> It seemeth, y thei named not Daniél because he was greatly in the Kings fauour, thinking if these three had bene destroyed, they might haue had better occasion to accuse Daniél: and this declareth that this policie of erecting this image was induced by y malicion & detestable thoughts, without nothing, but y destruction of y Iewes, whome they accused of rebellious & ingratitude. <sup>f</sup> Signifying, y he wolde receive them to grace, if they wolde now at the length obey his decre. <sup>g</sup> For they shulde haue done iniurie to God, if they shulde haue doubted in this holie cause, & therefore they say, that they are resoluēd to dye for Gods cause. <sup>h</sup> They prouide on two pointes, first in the power, & prouidence of God ouer them, and secondly on their cause, & was Gods glorie, and y testifying of his true religion, their blood & so make open confession, that they wil not so muche as outwardly consent to idolatrie. <sup>i</sup> This declareth that the more, that tyrantes rage, & the more witty they shewe them selues in inuenting strage, and cruel punishments, the more is God glorified by his seruants to whome he giueth patience and constancie to abide y crueltie of their punishment: for ether he deliuereth them frō death, or els for this life giueth thei a better.

Deliuérance out of the fyre. Daniél. The high tre. 359

Meshách and Abednegó.

23 And these thre men Shadrách, Meshách and Abednegó fel downe bounde into the middes of the hore fyrie fornace.

24 ¶ The Nebuchad-nezzár the King was astonied and rose vp in haste, & spake, and said vnto his counsellers, Did not we cast thre men bounde into the middes of the fyre? Who answered and said vnto the King, It is true, ô King.

25 And he answered, and said, Lo, I se foure men loose, walking in the middes of the fyre, and they haue no hurt, and the forme of the fourth is like the<sup>k</sup> sonne of God.

26 Then the King Nebuchad-nezzár came nere to the mouth of the hore fyrie fornace, & spake and said, Shadrách, Meshách and Abednegó, the seruants of the hie God, go forthe & come hether: so Shadrách, Meshách and Abednegó<sup>1</sup> came forthe of the middes of the fyre.

27 Then the nobles, princes and dukes, and the Kings counsellers came together to se these men, because the fyre had no power ouer their bodies: for not an heere of their head was burnt, nether was their coats changed, nor any smel of fyre came vpon them.

28 Wherefore Nebuchad-nezzár spake and said, <sup>m</sup> Blessed be the God of Shadrách, Meshách and Abednegó, who hathe sent his Angel, and deliuered his seruants, that put their trust in him, and haue changed the Kings commandement, & yelded their bodies rather thē thei wolde serue or worship anie god, saue their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decre, that euery people, nacion, and langage, which speake any<sup>n</sup> blasphemie against the God of Shadrách, Meshách and Abednegó, shal be drawn in pieces, and their houses shal be made a iakes, because there is no god that can deliuer after this sorte.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrách, Meshách and Abednegó in the prouince of Babel.

31 Nebuchad-nezzár King vnto all people, nations and langages, that dwell in all the<sup>o</sup> worlde, Peace be multiplied vnto you:

32 I thought it good to declare the signes and wonders, that the hie God hathe wrought towarde me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders! <sup>p</sup> his kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome, and his dominion is from generacion to generacion.

CHAP. IIII.

34 Another dreame of Nebuchad-nezzár, which Daniél declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how of a proude King he shoulde become as a beast. 31 After he confesseth the power of God and is restored to his former dignitie.

1 Nebuchad-nezzár being at a rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace,

2 Sawe a<sup>b</sup> dreame, which made me afraied, and the thoghtes vpon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decre, that thei shulde bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare vnto me the interpretacion of the dreame.

4 So came the enchanters, the altrologians, the Caldeans and the southsayers, to whom I tolde the dreame, but<sup>c</sup> they colde not shewe me the interpretacion thereof,

5 Til at the last Daniél came before me, (whose name was<sup>d</sup> Belteshazzár, according to the name of my god, which hathe the spirit of the holy gods in him) and before him I tolde the dreame, saying,

6 O Belteshazzár, chief of the enchanters, because I knowe, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, & no secret troubleth thee, tel me the visions of my dreame, that I haue sene and the interpretacion thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And beholde, I sawe a<sup>f</sup> tre in the middes of the earth and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tre & strong, and the height thereof reached vnto heauen, & the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The boughes thereof were faire and the frute thereof muche, and in it was meat for all: it made a shadowe vnder it for the beastes of the field, and the foules of the heauen dwelt in the boughs thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I sawe in the visions of mine head vpon my bed, and beholde, a<sup>g</sup> watchman & an holy one came downe from heauen, 11 And cryed aloud, and said thus, Hewe downe the tre, and breake of his branches: shake of his leaues, and scattre his frute, that the beastes may flee from vnder it, & the foules from his branches.

12 Neuertheles leaue the stumpe of his rootes in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, and let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his porcion be with the beastes among the grasse of the field.

13 <sup>h</sup> Let his heart be changed from mans nature, & let a beastes heart be giuen vnto him, and let seuen times be passed ouer him.

14 <sup>i</sup> The sentence is according to the decre of the watchmen, and according to the worde of the holy ones: the demande

<sup>a</sup> There was no trouble that might cause me to dreame, and therefore it came onely of God.

<sup>b</sup> This was another dreame besides that which he sawe of the foure empires: for Daniél berthe declared what that dreame was, and what it ment: and he rebe onely expoundeth the dreame.

<sup>c</sup> In that that he sent abroad to others whose ignorance in times past he had experienced, and lett Daniél was euer ready at hand, it declared the nature of the vngodlie, & neuer seke to the seruantes of God, but for very necessitie, and then they spare no flatterings.

<sup>d</sup> This no denie was a great grief to Daniél not onely to haue his name changed, but to be called by <sup>f</sup> name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzár did to make him forget the true religion of God.

<sup>e</sup> Which also was a great grief to the Prophet to be nobred among the forerers & men whose practises were wicked and contrary to Gods worde.

<sup>f</sup> By the tre, is signified the dignitie of a King, whome God ordeineth to be a defence for all kinde of men, & who se state is profitable for mankind.

<sup>g</sup> Meaning, the Angel of God, which nether eateth nor sleepeth, but is euer ready to do Gods will & is not infected with corruption but is euer holy: and in that that he cometh to cut downe this tre, he knowe <sup>i</sup> it shulde not be cut downe by ma but by God. <sup>h</sup> Hereby he meaneth <sup>j</sup> Nebuchad-nezzár shulde not onely for a time loose his kingdome, but be like a beast. <sup>i</sup> God hathe decreed this iudgement and the whole armie of heauen haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also thei desire the execution of his decre against all them that lift vp them selues against God.

<sup>k</sup> For the Angels were called the sonnes of God, because of their excellencie: therefore the King called this Angel, whome God sent to comfort his in these great torments, the sonne of God. <sup>l</sup> This commendeth their obedience vnto God that they wolde not for any feare departe out of this fornace: til the time was appointed, as Noah remained in his Ark, til the Lord called him forthe. <sup>m</sup> He was moued by great desir of the miracle to praise God, but his heart was not touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to convert men to God, but <sup>n</sup> doctrine must chiefly be adioyned, without the which there can be no faith. <sup>o</sup> If this heathen King moued by Gods Spirit, wolde not be blasphemous vngodly, but made a law and set a punishment to such errangers, muche more ought all they that profess religion, take order that such impietie reigne not, lest according as their knowledge & charge is greater, so they suffer double punishment. <sup>p</sup> Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended. <sup>q</sup> Read Chap. 24.

The dreame expounded.

Daniél. The Kings pride & fall.

was answered, to the intent that liuing mé may knowe, that y moste high hath the power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whome soeuer he wil, and appointeth ouer it the moste abieft among men.

25 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad-nezzár haue sene: therefore thou, o Belteshazzár, declare the interpretacion thereof: for all the wisemen of my kingdome are not able to shewe me the interpretacion: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy gods is in thee.

26 ¶ Then Daniél (whose name was Belteshazzár) held his <sup>k</sup> peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, & the King spake and said, Belteshazzár, let nether the dreame, nor the interpretacion thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzár answered and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretacion thereof to thine enemies.

27 The tre y thou sawest, which was great and mightie, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the sight thereof through all the worlde,

28 Whose leaues were faire & the frute thereof muche, and in it was meat for all, vnder the which the beasts of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

29 It is thou, o King, y art great & mightie: for thy greatnes is growen, & reacheth vnto heauen, & thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

30 Where as the King sawe a watchman, & an holy one, that came downe from heauen, and said, Hewe downe the tre & destroy it, yet leaue the stumpe of the rootes thereof in the earth, and with a bande of yron and brasse binde it among the grasse of the field, & let it be wet with the dewe of heauen, and let his porcion be with the beasts of the field, <sup>l</sup> til seuen times passe ouer him,

31 This is the interpretacion, o King, and it is the decre of the moste high, which is come vpon my lord the King, 32 That they shal driue thee from men, & thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the field: they shal make thee to eat grasse as y oxen, & thei shal wet thee with the dewe of heauen: and seuen times shal passe ouer thee, til thou knowe, that <sup>n</sup> the moste high beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whome soeuer he wil.

33 Where as they said, that one shulde leaue the stumpe of the tre rootes, thy kingdome shal remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt knowe, that the heauens haue the rule.

34 Wherefore, o King, let my counsel be acceptable vnto thee, and <sup>o</sup> breake of thy sinnes by righteousness, & thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: lo, let there be an <sup>p</sup> healing of thine error.

25 All these things shal come vpon y King Nebuchad-nezzár.

26 ¶ At the end of twelue moneths, he walked in the royal palace of Babel.

27 And the King spake and said, Is not this great Babel, that I haue buylt for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my maiestie?

28 While y worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchad-nezzár, to thee be it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee, 29 And they shal driue thee from men, and thy dwelling shalbe with the beasts of the field: they shal make thee to eat grasse, as the oxen, and seuen times shal passe ouer thee, vntil thou knowest, that y most high beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, & giueth it vnto whome soeuer he wil.

30 The very same houre was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad-nezzár, and he was driuen from men, and did eat grasse as the oxen, and his bodie was wet with the dewe of heauen, til his heeres were growen as egles feathers and his nailes like birds clauies.

31 And at the end of these <sup>r</sup> dayes I Nebuchad-nezzár lift vp mine eies vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto me, and I gaue thanks vnto the moste high, and I praised and honored him that liueth for euer, <sup>s</sup> whose power is an euerlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to his wil he worketh in the armie of heauen, & in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What dost thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto me, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glorie and my beautie was restored vnto me, and my counsellours <sup>t</sup> and my princes fought vnto me, & I was established in my kingdome, and my glorie was augmented toward me.

34 Now therefore I Nebuchad-nezzár <sup>u</sup> praise, and extoll & magnifie the King of heauen, whose workes are all trueth, and his wayes iudgement, and those that walke in pride, he is able to abase.

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzár King of Babylon seeth an hand writing on the wall. 6 The soothsayers called of the King can not expounde the writing. 25 Daniél readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 30 The King is slayne. 31 Daniél enioyeth the kingdome.

p Suffre the errors of thy former life to be redressed.

q After that Daniél had declared this vision: & this his pride declared that it is not in man to couert to God except his spirit moue him, seeing y these terrible threatenings could not moue him to repent.

r While the term of these seuen yeres was accomplished

Chap. 7. 14. Mich. 4. 11. Luk. 1. 33.

s He confesseth Gods will to be the rule of all iustice & a moste perfect Law whereby he gouerneth bothe man and Angels and deuils, so y none ought to murmure, or alke a reason of his doings, but onely to stand content therewith and giue him y glorie. t By whome it semeth that he had bene put from his kingdome before. u He doeth not onely praise God for his deliuerance, but also confesseth his fault that God may onely haue the glorie & man the shame, & that he may be exalted & man cast downe.

k He was troubled for the great iudgement of God which he sawe ordeined against y King: and so the Prophetes vsed on the one parte to denounce Gods iudgements for the zeale they bare to his glorie, and on the other parte to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they shulde be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them w pite.

l Whereby he meant a long space, as seuen yeres. Some interpret seuen moneths, and others seuen weekes: but it semeth he met of yeres. m Not y his shape or forme was chaged into a beast, but that he was ether stricken mad, & so auoided mans company, or was cast out for his rannie and so wandered among the beasts, and ate herbes & grasse. n Daniél sheweth the cause, why God thus punished him. o Cease from prouoking God to angrer any longer by thy sinnes, that he may mitigate his punishment, if y shewe by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith & repentance.

And Belshazzar while he tasted the wine, commanded to bring him the golden and silver vessels, which his father Nebuchad-nezzar had brought from the Temple in Ierusalem, that the King and his princes, his wife, and his concubines might drinke therein.

Then were brought the goldé vessels, that were také out of the Temple of the Lords house at Ierusalem, and the King and his princes, his wiues, and his concubines drake in them.

They drake wine and praised the gods of golde, and of silver, of brass, of yron, of wood and of stone.

At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the plaister of the wall of the Kings palace, & the King sawe the palme of the hand that wrote.

Then the Kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the ioyntes of his loines were loosed, and his knees smote one against the other.

Wherefore the King cryed loud, that they shulde bring the astrologians, the Caldeans and the sothsaiers. And the King spake, and said to the wise men of Babel, Whosoeuer can read this writing, and declare me the interpretació thereof, shalbe clothed with purple, & shal haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shalbe the third ruler in the kingdome.

Then came all the Kings wise men, but they colde nether read the writing, nor shewe the King the interpretacion.

Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonied.

Now the Queene by reason of the talke of the King, and his princes came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and said, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

There is a man in thy kingdome, in whome is the spirit of the holie gods, and in the dayes of thy father light and vnderstanding & wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whome the King Nebuchad-nezzar thy father the King, I say, thy father, made chief of the enchanters, astrologians, Caldeans, and sothsaiers,

Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for he did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were founde in him, euen in Daniél, whome the King named Belshazzar: now let Daniél be called, and he wil declare the interpretacion.

¶ Then was Daniél brought before the King, and the King spake and said vnto Daniél; Art thou that Daniél, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whome my father the King brought out of Iewrie?

Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holie gods is in thee, & that light and vnderstanding and excellēt wisdom is found in thee.

Now therefore wisemen, & astrologians haue bene brought before me, that they shulde read this writing, and shewe me the interpretacion thereof: but they colde not declare the interpretacion of the thing.

Then heard I of thee, that thou coldest shewe interpretacions, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst read the writing, & shewe me the interpretacion thereof, thou shalt be clothed with purple, & shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt be the third ruler in the kingdome.

Then Daniél answered, and said before the King, Kepe thy rewardes to thy self, & giue thy giftes to another: yet I wil read the writing vnto the King and shewe him the interpretacion.

O King, heare thou, The moste high God gaue vnto Nebuchad-nezzar thy father a kingdome, and maiestie and honour and glorie.

And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and langages trembled, & feared before him: he put to death whome he wolde: he smote whome he wolde: whome he wolde he set vp, & whome he wolde he put downe.

But when his heart was puffed vp, and his minde hardened in pride, he was deposed from his kinglie throne, and they toke his honour from him.

And he was driuen from the sonnes of men, & his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fed him with grasse like oxen, and his bodie was wet with the dewe of the heauen, til he knewe, that the moste high God bare rule ouer the kingdome of men, and that he appointeth ouer it, whome soeuer he pleaseth.

And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, though thou knewest all these things,

But hast lift thy self vp against the Lord of heauen, and they haue brought the vessels of his House before thee, & thou and thy princes, thy wiues and thy concubines

For the idolaters thought, that Angels had power as God, and therefore had the in like estimation, as they had God, thinking that the spirit of prophetic, & vnderstanding came of them.

Before he read the writing, he declared to the King his great ingratitude toward God, who could not be moved to give him the glorie, considering his wonderful worke toward his grand father, & so sheweth, that he doeth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

The writing declared. Daniél. His constancie.

haue drunke wine in them, and thou hast praised the gods of siluer and golde, of brasfe, yron, wood and stone, which nether se, nether heare, nor vnderstand: and the God in whose hand thy breath is and all thy wayes, him hast thou not glorified.

m After that God had so long time deferred his angre, & patiently waited for this amendment. n This worde is twise writte for the certaintie of y thing: shewing, that God had moste surely counted: signifying also that God hath appointed a terme for all kingdome, & y a miserable end shal come on all that raise them selues against him.
"Or, wanting"

24 Then was the palme of the hand sent from him, and hath written this writing.

25 And this is the writing that he hath written, MENE, MENE, TEKEL, VPHARSIN.

26 This is the interpretacion of the thing, MENE, God hath nobred thy kingdome, and hath finished it:

27 TEKEL, thou art wayed in the balance, and art founde to light.

28 PERES, thy kingdome is diuided, and giuen to the Medes and Persians.

29 Then at the commandement of Belshazzar they clothed Daniél with purple, and put a chaine of golde about his necke, and made a proclamation concerning him that he shulde be the thirde ruler in the kingdome.

30 The same night was Belshazzar y King of the Caldeans slaine.

31 And Darius of the Medes toke y kingdome, being threscore and two yere olde.

o Cyrus his sonne in lawe gaue him this title of honour although Cyrus in effect had y dominion.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniél is made ruler ouer the gouerners. 5 An acte against Daniél. 16 He is put into a denne of lyons by the commandement of the King. 23 He is deliuered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put vnto the lyons. 25 Darius by a decre magnifieth the God of Daniél.

1 It pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundredth and twentie gouernours, which shulde be ouer y whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these, thre rulers (of whome Daniél was one) that the gouernours might giue accompts vnto them, and the King shulde haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniél was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole realme.

4 Wherefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniél concerning the kingdome: but they colde finde none occasiō nor faute: for he was so faithful that there was no blame nor faute founde in him.

5 Then said these mé, We shal not finde an occasion against this Daniél, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and said thus vnto him, King Darius, liue for euer.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decre for the King and to establish a statute, that whosoever shal aske a petition of anie god or man for thirtie dayes saue of thee, o King, he shalbe cast into the denne of lyons.

8 Now, o King, confirme the decre, and seale the writing, that it be not changed according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore King Darius sealed the writing and the decre.

10 ¶ Now when Daniél vnderstode that he had sealed the writing, he went into his house, and his windowe being open in his chamber toward Ierusalém, he kneeled vpon his knees thre times a day, & prayed and praised his God, as he did afore time.

11 Then these men assembled, and founde Daniél praying, and making supplicacion vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the King concerning the Kings decre, Hast thou not sealed the decre, that euerie man that shal make request to anie god or mā within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, o King, shalbe cast into the denne of lyons? The King answered, and said, The thing is true, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and said vnto the King, This Daniél which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudáh, regardeth not thee, o King, nor the decre, that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition thre times a day.

14 When the King heard these wordes, he was sore displeased with him self, and set his heart on Daniél, to deliuer him: and he laboured til the sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the King, and said vnto the King, Vnderstand, o King, that the law of the Medes and Persians is, that no decre nor statute, which the King confirmeth, may be altered.

16 ¶ Then the King commanded, and they broght Daniél, and cast him into the denne of lyons: now the King spake, and said vnto Daniél, Thy God, whome thou alway seruest, euen he wil deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was broght, and layed vpon the mouthe of the denne, and the King sealed it with his owne signet, & with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not be changed, concerning Daniél.

18 Then the King went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, nether were the instruments of musicke broght before him, and his slepe went from him.

19 ¶ Then the King arose early in the morning, and went in all haste vnto the denne of lyons.

d Herein is demanded the wickednes of the King, who wolde be set vp as a god, & passed for what wicked lawes he aproued for the maintenance of the same. e Because he wolde not by his silence shew that he consented to this wicked decre, he set open his windowes toward Ierusalém, when he prayed: both to stirre vp his self with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people when they shulde pray toward that Temple, & also y others might see that he wolde nether consent in heart nor dede for these fewe dayes to anie thing that was contrary to Gods glorie.

f Thus the wicked maintenance of lawes by constancie, and authoritie which is oftentimes either lightenes, or stubbnes when as the innocents thereby perill: & therefore gouernours nether ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such.

CHAP. VII.

sting kingdome of Christ.

people of Israel looked for a continual quietnes after these scuentie yeres, as Ieremiah had declared, he sheweth that this rest shal not be a deliuerance from all troubles,
but a beginning,
& therefore incou-raged the to loke for a continual affliction til the Messiah be vttered and receiued, by whome they shulde haue a spiritual deliuerance, and all the promises fulfilled: whereof they shulde haue a certeine token in the destruction of the Babylonical kingdome.

IN the first yere of Belshazzar King of Babél, Daniél sawe a dreame, and there were visions in his head, vpon his bed:
then he wrote the dreame, & declared y<sup>e</sup>
summe of the matter.

<sup>2</sup> Daniél spake and said, I sawe in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon <sup>b</sup> the great sea:

the sea one diuers from another.

wings: I behelde, til the wings thereof were plukte of, and it was lifted vp from the earth, and set vpon his fete as a man, and a mans heart was giuen him.

<sup>5</sup> And beholde, another beast which was the seconde, was like a <sup>d</sup> beare and stode vpon the <sup>e</sup> one side: and he had thre ribbes in his mouth betwene his teeth, & and thei said thus vnto him, Arise & deuoure muche flesh.

<sup>6</sup> After this I behelde, and lo, there was an other like a <sup>h</sup> leopard, which had vpon his backe <sup>i</sup> foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads, and <sup>k</sup> dominion was giuen him.

<sup>7</sup> After this I sawe in the visions by night, & beholde, the <sup>l</sup> fourth beast was fearful and terrible and verie strong. It had great myro teeth: it deuoured & brake in pieces and stamped <sup>n</sup> the residue vnder his fete: & it was vnlike to the beastes that were before it: for it had <sup>o</sup> ten hornes.

<sup>8</sup> As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came vp among them another litle horne, before whome there were <sup>q</sup> thre of the first hornes plukt awaie: & beholde, in this horne were <sup>r</sup> eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouthe speaking presumptuous things.

and the <sup>t</sup> Ancient of daies did sit, whose garment was white as snowe, and the heere

captaines, which had the empire among them after his death. Seleucus had Asia the great, Antigonus the lesse, Cassander, and after him Antipater was King of Macedonie, and Ptolomeus had Egypt. <sup>k</sup> It was not of him self nor of his owne power that he gate all these countreis: for his armie contained, but thirtie thousand men, and he ouercame in one battel Darius, which had ten hundred thousand, when he was so heauie with slepe that his eyes were scarce open, as the stories reporte: therefore this power was giuen him of God. <sup>l</sup> That is, the Romain empire which was as a monster & colde not be copared to anie beast, because the nature of none was able to expresse it.
<sup>m</sup> Signifying the tyrannie and griedines of the Romains. <sup>n</sup> That which the Romains colde not quietly enioie in other countreis, thei wolde giue it to other Kings and rulers that at all times when thei wolde, thei might take it againe: which liberalitie is here called the stamping of the rest vnder the fete. <sup>o</sup> That is, son drie and diners prouinces which were gouerned by the deputies and proconsuls, whereof euerie one might be compared to a King. <sup>p</sup> Which is ment of Iulius Cesar, Augustus, Tiberius, Caligula, Claudius, and Nero &c. who were as Kings in effect, but because thei colde not rule, but by the consent of the Senat, their power is compared to a litle horne. For Mahomet came not of the Romaine empire, and the Pope hath no vocation of gouernement: therefore this can not be applied vnto them, and also in this prophetic the Prophets purpose is chiefly to comfort the Iewes vnto the reuelation of Christ. Some take it for the whole bodie of Anti-christ. <sup>q</sup> Meaning, a certeine portion of the ten hornes: that is, a parte from the whole estate was pluckt awaie. For Augustus toke from the Senat the libertie of chosing the deputies to send into the prouinces, and toke the gouernement of certeine countreis to him self. <sup>r</sup> These Romaine Emperours at the first vied a certeine humanitie and gentlenes, and were content that others as the Consuls and Senat shulde beare the name of dignitie, so that thei might haue the profite, and therefore in elections and counsels wol-de behaue them selues according as did other Senatours: yet against their enemies and those that wolde resist them, thei were fierce and cruel, which is here ment by the proud mouth. <sup>s</sup> Meaning the places where God and his Angels shulde come to iudge these monarchies, which iudgement shulde beginne at the first coming of Christ. <sup>t</sup> That is, God which was before all times, and is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glorie.

of his head like the pure woll: his throne was like the fyrie flame, & his wheles as burning fyre.

10 A fyrie streame yssued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him, and ten thousand thousands stode before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened.

11 Then I behelde, because of the voyce of the presumptuous wordes, which the horne spake: I behelde, euen til the beast was slaine, and his bodie destroyed, and giuen to the burning fyre.

12 As concerning the other beastes, they had taken awaie their dominion: yet their liues were prolonged for a certeine time and season.

13 ¶ As I behelde in visions by night, beholde, a one like the Sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of daies, & they broght him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion, & honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and langages shulde serue him: his dominion is an euerlasting dominion, which shal neuer be taken awaie: and his kingdome shal neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniél was troubled in my spirit, in the middes of my bodie, and the visions of mine head made me afraied.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stode by, and asked him the trueth of all this: so he tolde me, and shewed me the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beastes which are foure, are foure Kings, which shal arise out of the earth, 18 And they shal take the kingdome of the Sainctes of the moste high, and possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this, I wolde knowe the trueth of the fourth beast, which was so vnlike to all the others, very feareful, whose teeth were of yron, and his nailes of brasse: which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his fete.

20 Also to knowe of the ten hornes that were in his head, & of the other which came vp, before whome they fell, and of the horne that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose voice was more stoute then his felowes.

21 I behelde, & the same horne made battel against the Sainctes, yea, and preuailed against them, 22 Vntil the Ancient of daies came, and iudgement was giuen to the Sainctes of the moste high: and the time approached, that the Sainctes possessed the kingdome.

23 Then he said, The fourth beast shal be the fourth kingdome in the earth, which shal be vnlike to all the kingdomes, and shal deuoure the whole earth, and shal treade it downe and breake it in pieces.

24 And the ten hornes out of this kingdome are ten Kings that shal rise: & another shal rise after them, and he shal be vnlike to the first, and he shal subdue thre Kings,

25 And shal speake wordes against the moste high, & shal consume the Sainctes of the moste high, & thinke he may change times and lawes, and they shal be giuen into his hand, vntil a time, and times & the deuiding of time.

26 But the iudgement shal sit, & they shal take awaie his dominion, to consume and destroye it vnto the end.

27 And the kingdome, and dominion, and the greatnes of the kingdome vnder whose heauen shal be giuen to the holie people of the moste high, whose kingdome is an euerlasting kingdome & all powers shal serue and obeie him.

28 Euen this is the end of the matter, I Daniél had manie cogitacions which troubled me, and my countenance changed in me: but I kept the matter in mine heart.

¶ This is ment of the foure beasts, which were more terrible then the other. I Meaning the Romaine Emperours, who were moche cruel against the Church of God bothe of the Iewes and of the Gentiles. ¶ Til God shewed his power in the person of Christ, and by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his Church rest & so obtained a famous name in the worlde, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdome of God. ¶ Read the exposition hereof, ver. 8. ¶ That is, shal make wicked decrees & proclamations against Gods worde and send through out all their dominion to destroy all that did professe it. ¶ These Emperours shal not consider they haue the power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods lawes and mans, and as it were of order of nature, as appeareth by Octavius, Tyberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus &c. ¶ God shal suffer them thus to rage against his Sainctes for a long time, which is ment by the time and times but at length he wil awaie these troubles and shorten the times for his elects sake, Mat. 24. 22. which is here ment by the diuiding of time. ¶ God by his power shal restore things that were out of order, and so destroye this little horne, that it shal neuer rise vp againe. ¶ He sheweth wherefore the beast shulde be destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnes, which though they donot fully inioye here, yet they haue it in hope and by the preaching of the Gospel enioye the beginning thereof, which is ment by these wordes vnder the heauen: & therefore he here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this worlde, which kingdome faithful haue by the participation that they haue with Christ their head. ¶ That is, some of euerie sorte that beare rule. ¶ Though he had manie motions in his heart moued him to and fro to seke out this matter curiously: yet he was content with that which God reueiled, and kept it in memorie and wrote it for the use of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

A vision of a battel betweene a ramme and a goat.

20 The understanding of the vision.

IN the thirde yere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared vnto me, euen vnto me Daniél, after that which appeared vnto me at the first.

21 And I sawe in a vision, & when I sawe it, I was in the palace of Shushán, which is in the prouince of Elám, & in a vision me-

¶ After the general vision, he cometh to certeine particular visions: as touching the destruction of the monarchie of the Persians, and Macedonians: for the ruine of the Babylonians was at hand, and also he had sufficiently spoken thereof. ¶ That is, of Persia.

¶ That is, an infinit number of Angels, who were ready to execute his commandment.

¶ This is ment of the first coming of Christ when as he wil of God was plainly reueiled by his Gospel.

¶ Meaning, he was astonished, when he sawe these Emperours in such the dignitie, & pride, & so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ where this fourth monarchie was subiect to men of other nations.

¶ As the three former monarchies had an end at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shal this fourth haue an end & they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shal inioye the promises.

¶ Which is ment of Christ who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was he the sonne of David according to the flesh, as he was afterwards: but appeared then in a figure, and that in cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sorte of men by manifeste signes of his diuinitie.

¶ To wit, when he ascended into the heauens, and his diuine maiestie appeared, and all power was giue vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediator.

¶ This is ment of the beginning of Christs kingdome when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediator, to the intent that he shulde gouerne here his Church in earth continually til the time that he broght them to eternal life. ¶ Through the stranges of the vision. ¶ Meaning, of the Angels, as ver. 10. ¶ Because Abraham was appointed heire of all the worlde Ro. 4. 13. & in him all the faithful, therefore the kingdome thereof is theirs by right, which these foure beastes or tyrants shulde invade, and vsurpe vntil the worlde were restored by Christ: and this was to confirme them that were in troubles, that their afflictions shulde haue an end at length. ¶ That is, of the moste high things, because God hath chosen them out of this worlde, & they shulde looke vp to the heauens, whereon all their hope dependeth. ¶ For the other thre monarchies were gouerned by a King, and the Romaine empire by Consuls: the Romaines changed their gouernours yereley, & the other monarchies retained them for terme of life: also the Romaines were the strongest of all the others, and were neuer quiet among them selues. ¶ Read ver. 7.

thought I was by the riuer of Vlái.

Then I loked vp and sawe, and beholde, there stode before the riuer a rāme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were hie: but one was <sup>d</sup> hier then another, & the hiest came vp last.

I sawe the ram puffling against <sup>y</sup> West and against the North, and against the South: so that no <sup>e</sup> beastes might stande before him, nor colde deliuer out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

And as I considered, beholde, <sup>f</sup> a goat came from the West ouer the whole earth, & touched not the ground: & this goat had an <sup>s</sup> horne that appeared betwene his eyes.

And he came vnto the ram that had the two hornes, whome I had sene standing by the riuer, and ranne vnto him in his fierce rage.

And I sawe him come vnto the ramme, & being moued against him, he <sup>h</sup> smote the ramme, and brake his two hornes: & there was no power in the rāme to stand against him, but he cast him downe to the groude, and stamped vpon him, & there was none that colde deliuer the rāme out of his power.

Therefore <sup>y</sup> goat waxed exceedig great, and when he was at the strongest, his great <sup>h</sup> horne was broken: and for it came vp foure that <sup>k</sup> appeared towarde the foure windes of the heauen.

And out of one of them came forth a litle horne, which waxed very great towarde the <sup>m</sup> South, and towarde the <sup>n</sup> East, and towarde the <sup>e</sup> pleasant land.

Yea, it grewe vp vnto the <sup>p</sup> hoste of heauen, and it cast downe some of the hoste, & of the starres to the grounde, and trode vpon them,

And extolled him self against the <sup>r</sup> prince of the hoste from whome the <sup>r</sup> dailie sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his Sanctuarie was cast downe.

And <sup>a</sup> time shal be giue him ouer the dailie sacrifice for the iniquitie: & it shal <sup>c</sup> cast downe the trueth to the grounde, & thus shal it do, and prosper.

Then I heard one of the <sup>n</sup> Sainctes speaking, & one of <sup>y</sup> Sainctes spake vnto a cer teine one, saying, How long shal endure the vision of the dailie sacrifice, and the iniquitie of the <sup>x</sup> desolation to tread bothe the Sanctuarie and the <sup>y</sup> armie vnder fote?

And <sup>z</sup> he answered me, Vnto the <sup>a</sup> euening and the morning, two thousand and thre hundredth: then shal the Sanctuarie be clesed.

Now when I Daniél had sene the vision, and soght for the meaning, beholde, there stode before me <sup>b</sup> like the similitude of a man.

And I heard a mans voyce betwene the bankes of Vlái, which called and said, Gabriél, <sup>c</sup> make this man to vnderstand the vision.

So he came where I stode: and when he came, I was afraied, and fel vpon my face: but he said vnto me, Vnderstand, <sup>d</sup> o sonne of man: for in the last time shal be the vision.

Now as he was speaking vnto me, I being a slepe fel on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me vp in my place.

And he said, Beholde, I wil shewe thee what shal be in the last <sup>e</sup> wrath: for in the end of the time appointed it shal come.

The ramme which thou sawest hauing two hornes, are the Kings of the Medes & Persians.

And the goat is the King of Grecia, & the great horne that is betwene his cies, is the first King.

And that that is broken, and foure stode vp for it, are foure kingdomes, which shal stand vp <sup>f</sup> of that nation, but not <sup>g</sup> in his strength.

And in the end of their kingdome, when the rebellious shal be consumed, a King of <sup>h</sup> fierce countenance, and vnderstanding darke sentences, shal stand vp.

And his power shal be mightie, but not <sup>i</sup> in his strength: and he shal destroe wonderfully, & shal prosper, and practise, and shal destroe the <sup>k</sup> mightie, and the holy people.

And through his <sup>l</sup> policie also, he shal cause craft to prosper in his hand, and he shal extoll him self in his heart, and by <sup>m</sup> peace shal destroy many: he shal also stand vp against the <sup>n</sup> prince of princes, but he shal be broken downe <sup>o</sup> without hand.

And the vision of the <sup>p</sup> euening and the morning, which is declared, is true: therefore scale thou vp the vision, for it shal be after many daies.

And I Daniél was stricken & sicke <sup>q</sup> certaine daies: but when I rose vp, I did the Kings busines, and I was astonished at the vision, but none vnderstode it.

Vuu. iiii.

maketh yeres thre moneths & an half: for so long vnder Antiochus was the Temple prophaned.

<sup>b</sup> Which was Christ, who in this maner declared him self to the olde fathers how he wolde be God manifested in flesh.

<sup>g</sup> Though he came in the name of all Grecia, yet he bare the title & dignitie of the general capitaine, so that the strength was attributed to him, which is meet by this horne.

<sup>h</sup> Alexander ouercame Darius in two sondry battels, and so had <sup>y</sup> two kingdomes of the Medes and Persians.

<sup>i</sup> Alexanders great power was broken: for when he had ouercome all <sup>y</sup> East, he thought to returne toward Grecia to subdue them that there had rebelled, and so dyed by the way.

<sup>l</sup> Which was Antiochus Epiphanes, who was of a seruile and flattering nature, and also there were other betwene him & the kingdome, and therefore is here called the litle horne, because neither prince lie conditions, nor any other thing was in him, why he shulde obtaine this kingdome.

<sup>s</sup> He sheweth that their finnes are the cause of these horrible afflictions: and yet comforteth them, in that he appointeth this tyrane a time, whome he wolde not suffer vtterly to abolish his religion.

uen hathe not bene the like, as hathe bene brought vpon Ierusalēm.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the Lawe of Moſes: yet made we not our prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities and vnderstand thy trueth.

14 Therefore hathe the Lord m made readie the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his workes which he doeth: for we wolde not heare his voice.

15 And now, n Lord our God, that haſt o brought thy people out of ſ land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and haſt gotten thee renoume, as appeareth this day, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly.

16 O Lord, according to all thy k righte-ousnes, I beſeche thee, let thine angre and thy wrath be turned away from thy citie Ierusalēm thine holy Mountaine: for because of our finnes, & for the iniquities of our fathers, Ierusalēm and thy people are a re-proche to all that are about vs.

17 Now therefore, p our God, heare the prayer of thy ſeruant, and his supplications, and cause thy face to q shine vpon thy Sanctuarie, that lyeth waste for the r Lords ſake.

18 O my God, encline thine eare and heare: open thine cies, and beholde our desolations, and the citie whereupon thy Name is called: for we do not present our supplications before thee for our owne s righteousness, but for thy great tendre mercies.

19 O Lord, heare, o Lord forgiue, o Lord t conſider, and do it: diſferre not, for thine owne ſake, o my God: for thy Name is called vpon thy citie, and vpon thy people.

20 And whiles I was speaking & praying, and confessing my sinne, and the sinne of my people Israél, and did present my supplication before the Lord my God, for the holy Mountaine of my God,

21 Yea, while I was speaking in praier, euen the man u Gabriél; whome I had ſene before in the vision, came flying, and tou-oblation.

22 And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniél, I am now come forth to giue thee knowledge v nderstanding.

23 At the beginning of thy supplications the commadement came forth, and I am come to shewe thee, for thou art greatly beloued: therefore vnderstand the matter and conſider the vision.

CHAP. X.

There appeareth vnto Daniél a man clothed in linen, which ſheweth him wherefore he is ſent.

<sup>1</sup> IN the third yere of Cyrus King of Perſia, a thing was reueiled vnto Daniél (whoſe name was called Belreſhazzár) and the worde was true, but the time appointed was long, and he vnderſtoode the thing, & had vnderſtanding of the viſion.

<sup>3</sup> I ate no pleaſant bread, nether came fleſh, nor wine in my mouth, nether did I anoint my ſelf at all, til thre weekes of daies were fulfilled.

<sup>4</sup> And in the foure & twentieth day of the firſt moneth, as I was by the ſide of that great river, euen Hiddekel, <sup>5</sup> And I liſt vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a man clothed in linen, whoſe loynes were girded with fine golde of Vphaz.

and his face (to loke vpon) like the lightening, and his eyes as lampes of fyre, and his armes and his fete were like in colour to poliſhed braſſe, and the voyce of his wordes was like the voyce of a multitude.

<sup>7</sup> And I Daniél alone ſawe the viſiõ: for the me that were with me, ſawe not the viſiõ: but a great feare fell vpon them, ſo that they fled away and hid them ſelues.

<sup>8</sup> Therefore I was left alone, and ſawe this great viſion, & there remained no ſtrength in me: for my ſtrength was turned in me into corruption, and I reitained no power.

<sup>9</sup> Yet heard I the voyce of his wordes: and when I heard the voyce of his wordes, I ſlept on my face: and my face was toward the ground.

<sup>10</sup> And beholde, an hand touched me, which ſet me vp vpon my knees and vpon the palmes of mine hands, <sup>11</sup> And he ſaid vnto me, O Daniél, a man greatly beloued, vnderſtand the wordes that I ſpeake vnto thee, and ſtand in thy place: for vnto thee am I now ſent. And when he had ſaid this worde vnto me, I ſtoode trembling.

<sup>12</sup> Then ſaid he vnto me, Feare not, Daniél: for from the firſt daye that thou dideſt ſet thine heart to vnderſtand, and to humble thy ſelf before thy God, thy wordes were heard, and I am come for thy wordes.

<sup>13</sup> But the prince of the kingdome of Perſia withſtoode me one and twentie dayes: but lo, Michaél one of the chief princes, came to helpe me, & I remained there by the Kings of Perſia.

<sup>14</sup> Now I am come to ſhewe thee what ſhal come to thy people in the latter dayes: for yet the viſion is for manie daies.

<sup>15</sup> And when he ſpake theſe wordes vnto me, I ſet my face toward the ground, & helde my tongue.

<sup>16</sup> And beholde, one like the ſimilitude of the ſonnes of man touched my lippes: then I opened my mouth, and ſpake, and ſaid vnto him that ſtoode before me, O my Lord, by the viſion my ſorowes are returned vpon me, and I haue reitained no ſtrength.

<sup>17</sup> For how can the ſeruãt of this my Lord talke with my Lord being ſuche one? for as for me, ſtraight way there remained no ſtrength in me, nether is there breth left in me.

<sup>18</sup> Then there came againe, and touched me one like the appearance of a man, and he ſtrengthened me, with him before in the ſimilitude of a man.

<sup>19</sup> And ſaid, O man, greatly beloued, feare not: peace be vnto thee: be ſtrong and of

CHAP. XI.

A prophesie of the kingdomes, which shoulde be enemies to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Grecia, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 36 And of the Remaines.

the Medes, euē I stode to incourage and to strengthen him.

holde, there shal stand vp yet <sup>3</sup> thre Kigs in Persia, and the fourth shalbe farre richer then they all: and by his strength, & by his riches he shal stirre vp <sup>4</sup> all against the realme of Grecia.

<sup>3</sup> But a <sup>4</sup> mightie King shal stand vp, that shal rule with great dominion, and do according to his pleasure.

dome shalbe broken, <sup>6</sup> and shalbe deu-ided towarde the <sup>7</sup> foure windes of heauen: & not to his <sup>8</sup> posteritie, nor according to his dominion, which he ruled: for his kingdome shalbe pluckt vp, euē to be for others besides <sup>9</sup> those.

tie, and one of <sup>2</sup> his princes, and shal preuaile against him, and beare rule: his dominion shalbe a great dominion.

<sup>6</sup> And in the end of yeres they shalbe ioyned together: for the Kings <sup>7</sup> daughter of the South shal come to the King of the North to make an agreement, but she shal not retein the power of the <sup>8</sup> arme, nether shal <sup>9</sup> he continue, nor his <sup>10</sup> arme: but she shalbe deliuered to death, and thei that brought her, and he <sup>1</sup> that begate her, & he that comforted her in these times.

one stand vp in his stead, <sup>9</sup> which shal come with an armie, and shal entre into the forteressē of the King of the North, and do with them as he list, and shal preuaile,

<sup>8</sup> And shal also carye captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of siluer and of golde, and he shal continue <sup>9</sup> mo yeres then the King of the North.

<sup>9</sup> So the King of the South shal come into his kingdome, & shal returne into his owne land.

<sup>10</sup> Wherefore his <sup>11</sup> sonnes shalbe stirred vp, and shal assemble a mightie great armie: and one <sup>12</sup> shal come, and ouerflowe, & passe through: then shal he <sup>13</sup> returne, and be stirred vp at his forteressē.

<sup>11</sup> And the King of the South shalbe an-grie, and shal come forth, and fight with him, euē with the King of the North: for he shal set forth a great <sup>14</sup> multitude, and the multitude shalbe giuen into his hand.

<sup>12</sup> Then the multitude shalbe proude, and their heart shalbe lifted vp: for he shal cast downe thousands: but he shal not stil preuaile.

ne, and shal set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shal come forth (after cer-teine yeres) with a mightie armie, & great riches.

<sup>14</sup> And at the same time there shal <sup>16</sup> manie stand vp against the King of the South:
also the rebellious children of thy <sup>17</sup> people shal exalte them selues to establish the vision, but they shal fall.

<sup>15</sup> So the King of the North shal come, and cast vp a mounte, & take the strong citie:
and the armes of the South shal <sup>18</sup> not resist, nether his chosen people, nether shal there be anie strength to withstand.

<sup>16</sup> But he that shal come, shal do vnto him as he list, and none shal stand against him:
& he shal stād in the <sup>19</sup> pleasant land, which by his hand shalbe consumed.

<sup>17</sup> Againē he shal <sup>20</sup> set his face to enter with the power of his whole kingdome, & his <sup>21</sup> confederates with him: thus shal he do, and he shal giue him the <sup>22</sup> daughter of women, to destroye <sup>23</sup> her: but <sup>24</sup> she shal not stande on his side, nether be for him.

red with him into Egypt to fulfil this prophesie: also the Angel sheweth that all these troubles which are in the Church, are by the prouidence & counsel of God. <sup>e</sup> The Egyptians were not able to resist Stopas Antiochus captaine. <sup>f</sup> He sheweth that he shal not onely afflict the Egyptians, but also the Iewes, and shal enter into their country, whereof he admonisheth the before that they may knowe that all these things come by Gods prouidence.
phanes. <sup>h</sup> To wit, a beautiful woman, & was Cleopatra Antiochus daughter.
<sup>i</sup> For he regarded not the life of his daughter in respect of the kingdome of Egypt. <sup>k</sup> She shal not agree to his wicked counsel, but shal loue her husband, as her duetie requireth, and not seeke his destruction.

<sup>f</sup> For his twelue chief princes first deu-ided his kingdome among them selues. <sup>g</sup> After this his monarchie was deu-ided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemus Egypt. <sup>h</sup> Thus God reuenged Alexanders ambition & crueltie in causing his posteritie to be murdered, partly of the fathers chief friends, & partly one of another. <sup>i</sup> None of these foure shalbe able to be compared to the power of Alexander. <sup>k</sup> That is, his posteritie hauing no par-19 For he shal turne his face toward the fortes of his owne land: but he shal be ouerthrowen & fall, & be no more foude.

20 Then shal stand vp in his place in y<sup>e</sup> glorie of the kingdome, one that shal raise taxes: but after fewe dayes he shal be destroyed, nether in wrath, nor in battell.

22 And the armes shal be ouerthrowen with a flood before him, & shal be broken: and also the prince of the couenant.

23 And after the league made with him, he shal worke disceitfully: for he shal come vp, and ouercome with a smale people.

24 He shal entre into the quiet and plentiful prouince, and he shal do that which his fathers haue not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shal deuide among them the pray and the spoile, and the substance, yea, & he shal forecast his deuises against the strong holdes, euen for a time.

25 Also he shal stirre vp his power and his courage against the King of the South wth a great armie, and the King of the South shal be stirred vp to battell wth a very great and mightie armie: but he shal not stand: for thei shal forecast & practise against hi.

nant: so shal he do, he shal euen returne: & haue intelligence with them that forsake the holie couenant.

31 And armes shal stand on his parte, and thei shal pollute the Sanctuarie of strength, & shal take away the dailie sacrifice, & they shal set vp the abominable desolation.

32 And such as wickedly breake the couenant, shal he cause to sinne by flatterie: but the people that do knowe their God, shal preuaile and prosper.

33 And they that vnderstand among the people, shal instruct many: yet they shal fall by sworde, and by flame, by captiuitie and by spoile many dayes.

34 Now when they shal fall, they shal be holpen with a litle helpe: but many shal cleaue vnto them sainedly.

35 And some of the of vnderstanding shal fall to trye them, and to purge, & to make them white, til the time be out: for there is a time appointed.

36 And the King shal do what him list: he shal exalte him self, & magnifie him self against all, that is God, & shal speake marueilous things against y<sup>e</sup> God of gods, & shal prosper, til y<sup>e</sup> wrath be accomplished: for the determination is made.

37 Nether shal he regarde the God of his fathers, nor the desires of women, nor care for any God: for he shal magnifie him self about all.

38 But in his place shal he honour the god Mauzzim, & the god whome his fathers knewe not, shal he honour with golde and with siluer, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.

39 Thus shal he do in the holdes of Mauzzim with a strange god whome he shal acknowledge: he shal increase his glorie, and shal cause them to rule ouer many, & shal diuide the land for gaine.

40 And at the end of time shal the King of the South push at him, and the King of the North shal come against him like a whirlle winde with charets, & with horsemen, and with many shippes, and he shal entre into the countreis, & shal ouerflowe and passe through.

5 They that remaine constant among the people, shal teache others by their example and edifie many in y<sup>e</sup> true religion.

6 Whereby he exhorteth the godlie to constancie although they shulde perseuere a thousand times, and though their miseries indure neuer so long.

7 As God wil not leaue his Church destitute, yet wil he not deliuer it all at once, but so helpe, as they may still seme to fight vnder the crosse, as he did in the time of the Maccabees whereof he here prophesieth.

8 That is, there shal be euen of this smale number many hypocrites. 9 To wit, of the that feare God & wil lose their life for the defense of true religion, signifying also that the Church must continually be tryed and purged & ought to looke for one persecution after another: for God hath appointed the time: therefore we must obey. 10 Because y<sup>e</sup> Angels purpose is to shewe the whole course of the persecutions of y<sup>e</sup> Iewes vnto the coming of Christ, he now speaketh of the monarchie of the Romaines which he noreth by the name of a King, who were without all religion & contemned the true God. 11 So long the tyrants shal preuaile as God hath appointed to punish his people: but he sheweth that it is but for a time. 12 The Romaines shal obserue no certaine forme of religion as other nations, but shal change their gods at their pleasures, yea, contemne them & preferre them selues to their gods. 13 Signifying that they shulde be without all humanitie for the loue of women is taken for singular or great loue, as 2 Sam 13. 14 That is, the god of power and riches: they shal esteeme their owne power about all their gods & worship it. 15 Vnder pretence of worshipping y<sup>e</sup> gods, they shal enriche their citie with the most precious iewels of all the worlde, because that hereby all men shulde haue the admiration for their power & riches. 16 Although in their hearts thei had no religion, yet they did acknowledge the gods and worshipped them in their temples, lest they shulde haue bene despised as atheists: but this was to increase their fame and riches: and when they gate any countrey, they so made others the rulers thereof, y<sup>e</sup> the profite euer came to y<sup>e</sup> Romaines. 17 That is, bothe the Egyptians & the Syrians shal at length fight against the Romaines, but they shal be ouercome. # The general resurrection. Daniél. Of pacient abiding.

41 He shal entre also into the <sup>c</sup> pleasant lād, & many countreys shalbe overthrowen: but these shal escape out of his hād, <sup>eue</sup> Edō & Moab, & the chief of <sup>y</sup> childre of Ammō.
42 He shal stretch forth his hāds also vpo the countreys, and the land of Egypt shal not escape.
43 But he shal haue power ouer <sup>y</sup> treasures of gold & of siluer, & ouer all <sup>y</sup> precious things of Egypt, & of the Lybians, and of the blacke Mores where he shal passe.
44 But the tidings out of the East and the North shal <sup>d</sup> trouble hī: therefore he shal go forth <sup>e</sup> with great wrath to destroy & roote out many.
45 And he shal plant <sup>y</sup> tabernacles <sup>f</sup> of his palace betwene <sup>y</sup> seas in the glorious and holie mountaine, yet he shal come to his end, & none shal helpe him.

CHAP. XII.

And at that <sup>a</sup> time shal Michael stād vp, the great prince, which standeth for the children of thy people, and there shalbe a time of trouble, suche as neuer was since there began to be, a nation vnto that same time: & at that time thy people shalbe deliuered, euerie one that shalbe founde written in the boke.
2 And many <sup>b</sup> of the that slepe in the dust of <sup>y</sup> earth, shal awake, some to everlasting life, & some to shame & perpetual corēpt.
3 And thei that be <sup>c</sup> wise, shal shine, as the brightnes of the firmament: & they that <sup>d</sup> turne many to righteousness, shal shine as the starres, for ever and euer.
4 But thou, o Daniel, <sup>e</sup> shut vp the wordes, and seale the boke <sup>f</sup> til the end of the time: many shal runne to and fro, & knowledge shalbe increased.

5 ¶ Then I Daniél looked, and beholde, there stode other two, the one on this side of the brinke of the riuer, and the other on that side of the brinke of the riuer.
6 And <sup>e</sup> said vnto the mā clothed in linnen, which was vpon the waters of the riuer, When shalbe the end of these wōders?
7 And I heard the man clothed in linnen which was vpon the waters of the riuer, when he held vp his <sup>h</sup> right hand, & his left hand vnto heauen, and sware by him that liueth for euer, that it shal tarie for <sup>i</sup> a time, two times & an halfe: and when he shal haue accomplished <sup>k</sup> to scatter the power of the holie people, all these things shalbe finished.
8 Then I heard it, but I vnderstode it not: then said I, O my Lord, what shal be the end of these things?
9 And he said, Go thy way, Daniél: for the wordes are closed vp, and sealed, til the end of the time.
10 Many shalbe purified, made white, and tried: but the wicked shal do wickedly, & none of the wicked shal haue vnderstanding: but the wise shal vnderstand.
11 And from the time that the <sup>l</sup> dailie sacrifice shalbe taken away, and the abominable desolation set vp, therem shalbe a thousand, two hundredth and ninetie dayes.
12 Blessed is he that waiteth and commeth to the thousand, thre hundredth and <sup>m</sup> five and thirtie dayes.
13 But go <sup>n</sup> thou thy way til the end be: for thou shalt rest and stand vp in thy lot, at the end of the dayes.

<sup>h</sup> Which was as it were a double othe: it did <sup>y</sup> more to firme the thg. <sup>i</sup> Meaning, a long time, a longer time, & at length a short time: signifying that their troubles shulde haue an end. <sup>k</sup> When the Church shalbe scattered & diminished in suche sorte as it shal seme to haue no power. <sup>l</sup> Fro the time that Christ by his sacrifice shal take away <sup>y</sup> sacrifice & ceremonies of <sup>y</sup> Law. <sup>m</sup> Signifying that the time shalbe long of Christs seceding, and yet the children of God ought not to be discouraged, though it be deferred. <sup>n</sup> In this number he addeth a month and an halfe to the former number, signifying <sup>y</sup> it is not in mā to appoint the time of Christs coming, but <sup>y</sup> they are blessed that patiently abide his appearing. <sup>o</sup> The Angel warneth the Prophet patiently to abide, til the time appointed come, signifying that he shulde departe this life, and rise againe with the elect, when God had sufficiently humbled & purged his Church.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked and subtil counsel of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stede of his true service commanded by his worde worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giuing them selues to moste vile idolatrie and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophetes to call them to repentance: but they grewe euer worse and worse, and stil abused Gods benefites. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites: (as he did at the same time Isaiiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to cōdemne them of their ingratitude: and where as they thoght them selues to be greatly in the fauour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adulterie: and therefore sheweth them that God wolde take away their kingdome, and giue them to the Assyrians to be led away captiues. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of seuentie yeres, though they remained stil in their vices & wickednes, & derided the Prophetes, & contemned Gods iudgements. And because they shulde nether be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter them selues by the sweetenes of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principal partes of the Law, which are the promes of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first parte he directeth the faithful to Messiah, by whome onely they shulde haue true deliuerance: and for the seconde, he vseth threatnings and menaces to bring them from their wicked maners and vices, & this is the chief scope of all the Prophetes, ether by Gods promises to allure them to be godlie, els by threatnings of his iudgements to feare thm frō vice: & albeit that the whole Law containe these two pointes, yet the Prophetes morcouer note peculiarly bothe the time of Gods iudgements and the maner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time wherein Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatrie of the people. 10 The calling of the Gentiles. 11 Christ is the head of all people.

<sup>a</sup> Called also Azariah, who being a lepre was depōsed from his kingdome. <sup>b</sup> So it may be gathered by the reignes of these foure Kings, that he preached aboue threthcore yere.

<sup>c</sup> That is, one that of long time hath accustomed to play the harlot: not that the Prophet did this thing in effect, but he sawe this in a vision, or els was commanded by God to see forthe vnder this parable or figure. <sup>d</sup> Idolatrie of the Synagogue, & of the people her children. <sup>e</sup> Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, & Diblaim chubbers of figges, declaring, that they were all corrupt like rotten figges. <sup>f</sup> Meaning, they shulde be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel did preuaile with God: but that they were as bastards, & therefore shulde be called Izreelites, that is, scattered people, alluding to Izreel, which was the chief citie of the ten tribes vnder Ahab where Iehushid so much the blood. <sup>g</sup> King. 10. 8. <sup>h</sup> I wil be reuēged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Izreel: for albeit God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambitio, & not for the glorie of God, as the end declared: for he buyle vp that idolatrie, which he had destroyed. <sup>i</sup> When the measure of their iniquitie is full, and I shal take vengeance and destroye all their policie and force. <sup>j</sup> That is, not obtaining mercie: whereby he signifieth, that Gods fauour was departed from them.

He worde of the Lord that came vnto Hosea the sonne of Beerí, in the dayes <sup>a</sup> of Vzziáh, Iotham, Aház, & Hezekiáh <sup>b</sup> Kings of Iudáh, & in the dayes of Ieroboám the sonne of Ioash King of Israël.

<sup>6</sup> She conceived yet againe, & bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name <sup>i</sup> Lo-ruhámah: for I wil no more haue pitié vpon the house of Israël: but I wil vtter ly <sup>i</sup> take them away.

<sup>7</sup> Yet I wil haue mercie vpon the house of Iudáh, and wil <sup>k</sup> saue them by the Lord their God, and wil not saue the by bowe, nor by sworde nor by battel, by horses, nor by horsemen.

<sup>8</sup> Now when she had wained Lo-ruhámah, she conceived, and bare a sonne.

<sup>10</sup> Yet the number of the <sup>m</sup> children of Israël shalbe as the sand of the sea, which cá not be measured nor tolde: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Ye are not my people, it shal be said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the liuing God.

<sup>n</sup> To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who shulde be the head bothe of the Iewes and Gentiles. <sup>o</sup> The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shalbe so great, that to restore them shalbe as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 5 He sheweth their idolatrie and threateneth them except they repent.

haue mercie. <sup>b</sup> God sheweth that the faute was not in him but in their Synagogue, and their idolatries, that he forsoke them, Isa. 57. 1. <sup>c</sup> Meaning, that their idolatrie was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16. 25.

<sup>m</sup> Because the thought that God coulde not haue bene true in his promes except he had preferred the, he declarerth, though they were destroyed yet the true Israelites, & are the sonnes of the promes, shulde be without number, & stand bothe of the Iewes, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 26.

<sup>n</sup> To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who shulde be the head bothe of the Iewes and Gentiles. <sup>o</sup> The calamitie and destruction of Izreel shalbe so great, that to restore them shalbe as a miracle.

1 Lest I strippe her naked, & set her as in y day that she was borne, & make her as a wilderness, & leaue her like a drye land, and slaye her for thirst.

4 And I wil haue no pitie vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: she that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for she said, I wil go after my louers that giue me my bread & my water, my woll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore beholde, I wil stoppe thy way with thornes, & make an hedge, y she shal not finde her paths.

7 Though she followe after her louers, yet shal she not come at them: though she seke them, yet shal she not finde them: then shal she say, I wil go & returne to my first housband: for at y time was I better then now.

8 Now she did not know that I gaue her corne, and wine, and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and golde, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore wil I returne, and take away my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and wil recouer my woll and my flaxe lent, to couer her shame.

10 And now wil I discouer her lewdnes in the sight of her louers, and no man shal deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I wil also cause all her myrth to cease, her feast dayes, her newe moones, & her Sabbathes, and all her solemne feasts.

12 And I wil destroy her vines and her fig-trees, whereof she hath said, These are my rewardes that my louers haue giue me: & I wil make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shal eat them.

13 And I wil visit vpon her the dayes of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to the: and she decked her self with her earrings and her iewels, & she followed her louers, and forgate me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore beholde, I wil allure her, & bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I wil giue her her vineyardes from thence, and the valley of Achor for the dore of hope, and she shal sing there as in the dayes of her youth, & as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me Ishi, and shalt call me no more Baali.

17 For I wil take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shal be no more remembered by their names.

18 And in that day wil I make a couenant for them, with the wilde beasts, and with the foule of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth: and I wil breake the bowe, and the sworde and the battell out of the earth, & wil make them to slepe safely.

19 And I wil marie thee vnto me for euer: yea, I wil marie thee vnto me in righteounes, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion.

20 I wil euen marie thee vnto me in faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I wil heare, saith the Lord, I wil euen heare the heauens, and they shal heare the earth, 22 And the earth shal heare the corne, and the wine, and the oyle, and they shal heare Izreel.

23 And I wil sowe her vnto me in the earth, and I wil haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, & I wil say to the which were not my people, Thou art my people. And they shal say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

1 The iewes shalbe cast off for their idolatrie. Afterwarde they shal returne to the Lord.

1 Then said the Lord to me, Go yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her housband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the childre of Israél: yet they looked to other gods, & bloued the wine bottels.

2 So I bought her to me for fiftene pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barlie and an halfe homer of barlie.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abide with me manie dayes: thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt be to none other man, and I wil be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israél shal remaine manie dayes without a King and without a prince, and without an offering, & without an image, & without an Ephod and without Teraphim.

5 Afterwarde shal the children of Israél conuert, and seke the Lord their God, and Dauid their King, & shal feare the Lord, and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

d I wil trie thee a long time as in thy widowehode whether thou wilt be mine or no. e Meaning, not onely all the time of their captiuitie, but also vnto Christ. f That is, they shulde neither haue pollicie nor religion, and their idoles also wherein they put their confidence, shulde be destroyed. g This is ment of Christs Kingdome, which was promised vnto Dauid to be eternal, Psal. 72, 38.

a Herein the Prophet representeth y person of God, which loued his Church before he called her, & did not withdrawe the same when she gaue her selfe to idoles.
b That is, gaue them felicitie wholly to pleasures, and coulde not take vp, as they are given to drunkenness.
c Yet I loued her & payed a small portion for her, lest she perceiving the greatness of my loue, shulde haue abused me and not bene vnder Iustice.
d For fiftene pieces of siluer were but half the price of a slave, Exod. 21, 32.

HEare the worde of the Lord, ye children of Israël: for the Lord hathe a cōtrouersie with y<sup>e</sup> inhabitants of the lād because there is no trueth, nor mercie nor knowledge of God in the land.
By swearing, and lying, and killing, and stealing, and whoring they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.
Therefore shal the land mourne, and euerie oste that dwelleth therein, shal be cut of, with the beasts in the field, and with the foules of the heauē, and also the fishes of the sea shal be taken away.
Yet let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.
Therefore shalt thou fall in the d<sup>a</sup> day, and the Prophet shal fall with thee in y<sup>e</sup> night, and I wil destroye thy mother.
My people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I wil also refuse thee, that thou shalt be no Priest to me: and seing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I wil also forget thy children.
As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore wil I change their glorie into shame.
They eat vp the sinnes of my people, & lift vp their mindes in their iniquitie.
And there shal be like people, like Priest: for I wil visit their wayes vpon them, & rewarde them their dedes.
For they shal eat, and not haue ynough: they shal commit adulterie, and shal not increase, because they haue left of to take hede to the Lord.
Whoredome, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart.
My people aske counsel at their stockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hathe caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.
They sacrifice vpon the toppes of the mountaines, and burne incense vpon the hilles vnder the oaks, and the poplar tre, and the elme, because the shadowe thereof is good: therefore your daughters shal be harlottes, and your spouses shal be whores.
I wil not visite your daughters when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for thei them selues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that doeth not vnderstand, shal fall.

Thogh thou, Israël, playe the harlot, yet let not Iudáh sinne: come not ye vnto Gilgál, nether goye vp to Beth-áuen, nor sweare, The Lord liueth.
For Israël is rebellious as an vnruilie heifer. Now the Lord wil fede them as a lambe in a large place.
Ephráim is ioyned to idoles: let him alone.
Their drunkennes stinketh: they haue committed whoredome: their rulers loue to say with shame, Bring ye.
The winde hathe bounde the vp in her wings, and they shal be ashamed of their sacrifices.

is, the house of God, Beth-áuen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holie where God is not purely worshipped. u God wil so disperse them that they shal not remaine in anie certeine place. x They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they wil commande men to bring them vnto them. y To carie them suddenly away.

Against the Priests and rulers of Israël. <sup>1</sup> The helpe of man is in vaine.
O Ye Priests, heare this, and hearken O ye, o house of Israël, & giue ye eare, o house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because you haue bene a snare on Mizpáh, & a net spread vpon Tabór.
Yet they were profounde, to decline to slaughter, thogh I haue bene a rebuker of them all.
I knowe Ephráim, and Israël is not hid from me: for now, o Ephráim thou art become an harlot, & Israël is defiled.
Thei wil not giue their mindes to turne vnto their God: for y<sup>e</sup> spirit of fornication is in the middes of them, & they haue not knowen the Lord.
And the pride of Israël doeth testifie to his face: therefore shal Israël and Ephráim fall in their iniquitie: Iudáh also shal fall with them.
They shal go with their shepe, and with their bullockes to seke the Lord: but they shal not finde him: for he hathe withdrawe him self from them.
They haue trasgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children: now shal a moneth deuoure them wth their porcions.
Blowe ye the trumpet in Gibeáh, & the shauime in Ramáh: crye out at Beth-áuen, after thee, o Beniamín.
Ephráim shal be desolate in y<sup>e</sup> day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israël haue I caused to knowe the trueth.
The princes of Iudáh were like the that remoue the bondes: therefore wil I powre out my wrath vpon them like water.
Ephráim is oppressed, & broken in iudgement, because he willingly walked after the commandement.
By the successe thei shal knowe that I haue surely determined this. k Thei haue turned vp side downe all political order, and all maner of religion. l To wit, after King Ieroboams commandement & did not rather follow Gods

<sup>r</sup> God coplaimeth that Iudáh is infected, and wil let them to learne by their example to returne in time. <sup>s</sup> For albeit the Lord had honored this place in time past by his presence, yet because it was abused by the idolatrie, he wolde not that his people shulde resort thither. <sup>t</sup> He calleth Beth-el, that is, the house of God, Beth-áuen, that is, the house of iniquitie, because of their abominations set vp there, signifying that no place is holie where God is not purely worshipped. <sup>u</sup> God wil so disperse them that they shal not remaine in anie certeine place. <sup>x</sup> They are so impudent in receiuing bribes, that they wil commande men to bring them vnto them. <sup>y</sup> To carie them suddenly away. <sup>a</sup> The Priests & princes caught the poore people in their snares as the fowlers did the birds, in these two high mountaines. <sup>b</sup> Notwithstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holiness, & to sacrifices, where he calleth slaughter in contempt. <sup>c</sup> Thogh I admonished them continually by my Prophets. <sup>d</sup> They boasted them selues not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their King Ieroboam came of that tribe. <sup>e</sup> Meaning, their continuing of all admonitions. <sup>f</sup> That is their children are degenerate, so y<sup>e</sup> there is no hope in them. <sup>g</sup> Their destruction is not farre off. <sup>h</sup> That is, all Israël comprehended vnder this parte, signifying y<sup>e</sup> the Lords plagues shulde puriue the fro place to place til they were destroyed. <sup>k</sup> Thei haue turned vp side downe all political order, and all maner of religion. <sup>l</sup> To wit, after King Ieroboams commandement & did not rather follow Gods

14. For I wil be vnto Ephraim as a lion, and as a lions whelp to the house of Iudah: I, Leuen I wil spoyle, and go away: I wil take away, and none shal rescue it.
15. I wil go, & returne to my place, til they acknowledge their faute, and seke me: in their affliction they wil seke me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God. 9 The wickednes of the Priests.

- COME, & let vs returne to the Lord: for he hathe spoiled, and he wil heale vs: he hathe wounded vs, and he wil binde vs vp.
2. After two dayes wil he reuiue vs, & in the thirde day he wil raise vs vp, and we shal liue in his sight.
  3. Then shal we haue knowledge, and endeavour our selues to knowe the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shal come vnto vs as the raine, & as the latter raine vnto the earth.
  4. O Ephraim, what shal I do vnto thee! O Iudah, how shal I entreat thee! for your goodnes is as a morning cloude, and as the morning dewe it goeth away.
  5. Therefore haue I cut downe by y Prophets: I haue slaine them by the wordes of my mouth, and thy iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.
  6. For I desired mercie, & not sacrifice, & the knowledge of God more then burnt offrings.
  7. But they like men haue transgressed y covenant: there haue they trespassed against me.
  8. Gilead is a citie of them that worke iniquitie, & is polluted with blood.
  9. And as theues waite for a mā, so the companie of Priests murther in the way by consent: for they worke mischief.
  10. I haue sene vilenie in the house of Israel: there is the whoredome of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.
  11. Yea, Iudah hathe set a plant for thee, whiles I wolde returne the captiuitie of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices & wantonnes of the people. 12 Of their punishment.

- WHEN I wolde haue healed Israel, the iniquitie of Ephraim was discovered, & the wickednes of Samaria:

- for they haue delt falsely: and the these cometh in, & the robber spoyleth without.
2. And they consider not in their hearts, that I remeber all their wickednes: now their owne inuencions haue beset them about: they are in my sight.
  3. They make y King glad with their wickednes, and the princes with their lies.
  4. They are all adulterers, & as a verie soue heated by the baker, which ceaseth fro raising vp, & from kneding the dowe vntil it be leauened.
  5. This is the day of our King: the princes haue made him sicke with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to scornors.
  6. For they haue made readie their heart like an ouen whiles they lie in waite: their baker slepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fyre.
  7. They are all hote as an ouen, and haue deuoured their Iudges: all their Kings are fallen: there is none among them that calleth vnto me.
  8. Ephraim hathe mixt him self amog the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the herth not turned.
  9. Strangers haue deuoured his strength, & he knoweth it not: yea, & graye heeres are here and there vpon him, yet he knoweth not.
  10. And the pride of Israel testifieth to his face, and they do not returne to the Lord their God, nor seke him for all this.
  11. Ephraim also is like a dowe deceived, without heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Affhur.
  12. But whē they shal go, I wil spred my net vpon them, & drawe them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I wil chastise the as their congregation hathe heard.
  13. Wo vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shal be vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.
  14. And they haue not cryed vnto me with their hearts, when they howled vpo their beds: m they assemble them selues for corne, & wine, and thei rebell against me.
  15. Though I haue bounde, and strengthened their arme, yet do they imagine mischief against me.
  16. They returne, but not to y most high: they are like a deceitful bow: their prices shal fall by the sworde, for the rage of their tongues: this shal be their derision in the land of Egypt.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Iudah and Israel, because of their idolatrie.

ly seke their owne comoditie and welth, and passe not for me their God.
n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruants, Psal. 73.9.

2 Israel shall<sup>b</sup> cry vnto me, My God, we knowe thee.

3 Israel hath cast of the thig that is good: the enemye shall pursue him.

4 They haue set vp a<sup>c</sup> King, but not by me: they haue made princes, and I knewe it not: of their siluer and their golde haue they made them idoles: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calfe, & Samaria, hath cast thee of: mine anger is kindeled against them: how long wil they be without<sup>d</sup> innocencie!

6 For it came euen from Israel: the workeman made it, therefore it is not God: but the calfe of Samaria shall be broken in pieces.

7 For they haue<sup>e</sup> sown the winde, & they shall reape the whirlwinde: it hath no stalk: the budde shall bring forth no meale: if so be it bring forth, the strangers shall deuoure it.

8 Israel is deuoured, now shall they be among the Gentiles as a vessel wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone vp to Asshur: they are as a wilde asse alone by him self: Ephraim hath hired louers.

10 Yet though they haue hired among the nations, now wil I gather them, and they shall sorowe a litle, for the<sup>h</sup> burde of the King, & the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I haue writen to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offrings, and eat it: but the<sup>k</sup> Lord accepteth them not: now wil he remember their iniquitie, and visite their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker, & buyldeth temples, and Iudah hath encreased strong cities. but I wil send a fyre vpon his cities, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captiuitie of Israel.

1 Reioyce not, & Israel for ioye<sup>a</sup> as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loued<sup>b</sup> a reward vpon euery corne floore.

2 The floore, and the wine presse shall not fede them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They wil not dwell in the Lords land, but Ephraim wil returne to Egypt, & they wil eat vncleane things in Asshur.

4 They shall not offer<sup>d</sup> wine to the Lord, nether shall their sacrifices be pleasant vnto him: but they shall be vnto the as the bread of mourners: all that eat thereof, shall be polluted: for their bread<sup>e</sup> for their soules shall not come into the House of the Lord.

5 What wil ye do<sup>f</sup> then in the solene day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For lo, they are gone from destruction: but Egypt shall gather them vp, and Memphis shall burye them: the nettles shall possesse the pleasant places of their siluer, & the thorne shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The daies of visitacion are come: the dayes of recompense are come: Israel shall knowe it: the Prophet is a foole: the spiritual man is mad, for the multitude of thine iniquitie: therefore the hatred is great.

8 The watchmen of Ephraim shall be with my God: but the Prophet is the snare of a fouler in all his waies, & hatred in y House of his God.

9 They<sup>k</sup> are depely set: they are corrupt as in the daies of Gibeah: therefore he wil remeber their iniquitie, he wil visite their sinnes.

10 I founde Israel like<sup>l</sup> grapes in the wilderness: I sawe your fathers as the first ripe in the fig tre at her first time: but they went to Baal-Peór, and separated them selues vnto that shame, and their abominacions were according to<sup>m</sup> their louers.

11 Ephraim their glorie shall flee away like a birde: fro the birth<sup>n</sup> and from the wombe, and from the conception, 12 Though they bring vp their children, yet I wil depriue them from being men: yea, wo to them, when I departe from them.

13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tre<sup>o</sup> in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim shall bring forth his children to the murderer.

14 O Lord, giue them: what wilt thou giue them? giue them a<sup>p</sup> baren wombe & drye breasts.

15 All their wickednes is in q Gilgal: for there do I hate them: for the wickednes of their inuencions, I wil cast them out of mine House: I wil loue them no more: all their princes are rebelles.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried vp: they can bring no frute: yea, though they bring forth, yet wil I slaie euen the dearest of their bodie.

17 My God wil cast the away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

ke them baren, rather then that this great slaughter shulde come vpon their children. q The chief cause of their destruction is that they commit idolatrie and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

CHAP. X.

Against Israel and his idoles. 14 His destruction for the same.

Yyy.i.

<sup>f</sup> When y Lord shall take away all y occasions of seruing him, which shall be the moste grievous point of your captiuitie, when you shall see your selues cut of fro God.

<sup>g</sup> Though they thinke to escape by fleeing y destruction that is at hand, yet shall they be destroyed in y place whether they flee for succour.

<sup>h</sup> Then they shall knowe y they were deluded by them who chalged to them selues to be their Prophetes & spiritual men.

<sup>i</sup> The Prophetes duetie is to bring men to God and not to be a snare to pul them from God.

<sup>k</sup> This people is so rooted in their wickednes, y Gibeah which was like to Sodome, was neuer more corrupt, Iud. 19. 22.

<sup>n</sup> Signifying y God wold destroy their childre by these sundry meanes, and so consume them by litle and litle.

<sup>o</sup> As they kept tender plantes in their houses in Tyrus to preserue them fro the colde ayre of y sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now I wil giue him to the slaughter.

<sup>p</sup> The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, praeth to God to make them baren, rather then that this great slaughter shulde come vpon their children.

<sup>q</sup> The chief cause of their destruction is that they commit idolatrie and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

The calfe of Israél.

Hofea. God did beare Israél.

CHAP. XI.

The benefites of the Lord toward Israél. & Their ingratitude against him.

When Israél <sup>a</sup> was a childe, then I loued him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

<sup>d</sup> I led Ephraim also, as one shulde beare them in his armes: but thei knewe not that I healed them.

<sup>e</sup> I led them with cordes <sup>f</sup> of a man, euen with bandes of loue, and I was to them, as he that taketh of the yoke from their iawes, and I laied the meat vnto them.

<sup>g</sup> He shal no more returne into the land of Egypt: but Asshur shalbe his <sup>h</sup> King, because thei refused to conuert.

<sup>j</sup> And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though <sup>k</sup> they called them to the most hie, yet none at all wolde exalt him.

<sup>o</sup> I wil not execute the fiercenes of my wrath: I wil not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man, the holy one in the middes of thee, & I wil not <sup>p</sup> entre into the citie.

<sup>q</sup> They shal walke after the Lord: he shal roare like a lyon: when he shal roare, then the children of the West shal feare.

He admonisheth by Iakobs example to trust in God, and not in man.

Ephraim is fed <sup>a</sup> with the winde, & foloweth after the Eastwinde: he increaseth dailey lies and destruction, and they do make a couenant with Asshur, & <sup>b</sup> oyle is caryed into Egypt.

9 Thogh I am the Lord thy God, from the land of Egypt, yet wil I make thee to dwell in the tabernacles, as in the dayes of the solemne feast.

10 I haue also spoken by the Prophetes, & I haue multiplied visiōs, & vsed similitudes by the ministerie of the Prophetes.

11 Is there iniquitie in Gilead: surely they are vanitie: they sacrifice bullockes in Gilead, and their altars are as heapes in the furrowes of the field.

12 And Iacob fled into the countrey of Aram, and Israel serued for a wife, and for a wife he kept shepe.

13 And by a Prophet the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt, and by a Prophet was he reserued.

14 But Ephraim prouoked him with his places: therefore shal his blood be powred vpon him, and his reproche shal his Lord rewarde him.

1 If you boast of your riches and nobilitie, ye seme to reprove your father who was a poore fugitive and seruant.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 And cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake, there was a trembling: he exalted him self in Israel, but he hath sinned in Baal, and is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their siluer, & idoles accordig to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the worke of y<sup>e</sup> craftesme: they say one to another whiles, thei sacrifice a dā, Let the kisse y<sup>e</sup> calues.

3 Therefore they shalbe as the morning cloude, & as the morning dewe y<sup>e</sup> passeth away, as y<sup>e</sup> chaffe that is driue with a whirle winde out of the floore, & as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

6 As in their pastures, so were they filled: they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore haue they forgotten me.

7 And I wil be vnto them as a verie lyon, & as a leoparde in the waye of Asshur.

8 I wil mete the, as a beare that is robbed of her whelpes, and I wil breake the calle of their heart, and there wil I deuoure them like a lyon: the wilde beast shal teare them.

9 O Israel, one hath destroyed thee, but in me is thine helpe.

10 I am: where is thy King, that shulde helpe thee in all thy cities? & thy iudges, of whome thou saidest, Giue me a King and princes?

11 I gaue thee a King in mine angre, and I toke him away in my wrath.

12 The iniquitie of Ephraim is bounde vpon him: his sinne is hid.

13 The sorowes of a trauailing woman shal come vpon him: he is an vnwise sonne, els wolde he nor stand stil at the time, euen at the breaking forth of the children.

14 I wil redeme them from the power of the graue: I wil deliuer them frō death: o death, I wil be thy death: o graue, I wil be thy destruction: repentance is hid from mine eyes.

15 Thogh he grewe vp among his brethren, an East winde shal come, euen the winde of the Lord shal come vpon him from the wilderness, and drye vp his veine, and his fountaine shalbe dryed vp: he shal spoyle the treasure of all pleasant vessels.

16 Samaria shalbe desolate: for she hath rebelled against her God: they shal fall by the sworde: their infants shalbe dashed in pieces, and their women with childe shalbe ript.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The destruction of Samaria. 3 He exhorteth Israel to turne to God, who requirith praise and thanks.

O Israel, a returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

2 Take vnto you wordes, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so wil we render the calues of our lippes.

3 Asshur shal not saue vs, nether wil we ride vpon horses, nether wil we say anie more to the worke of our hands, Te are our gods: for in thee the fatherles findeth mercie.

4 I wil heale their rebellio: I wil loue the frely: for mine anger is turned away frō hi.

5 I wil be as the dewe vnto Israel: he shal growe as the lillie and fasten his rootes as the trees of Lebanon.

6 His branches shal spreade, and his beautie shalbe as the oliue tre, and his smel as Lebanon.

<sup>f</sup> Thy destruction is certein, & my benefites toward thee declare that it cometh not of me: therefore thine owne malice, idolatrie and vaine confidence in men maketh thee be cause thereof. <sup>g</sup> I am allone, I am. 1. 17. <sup>h</sup> It is surely laid vpon to be punished, as Ierem. 17. 1.

<sup>c</sup> Declaring, y<sup>e</sup> this is the true sacrifice, that the faithful can offer, euen thanks & praises. Ebr 13. 15.

as a procectio,

They that dwell vnder his <sup>f</sup> shadowe, shal returne: they shal reuiue as the corne, and florish as the vine: the ſent thereof shalbe as the wine of Lebanón.

<sup>8</sup> Ephraim shal say, What haue I to do anie more with idoles? I <sup>g</sup> haue heard him, & loked vpō him: I amlike a grene fyrrer tre:

IOEL.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Prophet Ioél first rebuketh them of Iuda, that being now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine stil obstinat. Secondly he threateneth greater plagues, because they grewe daily to a more hardenes of heart, & rebellion against God notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it muste be earnest, and procede from the heart because they had grievously offended God. And so doing, he promiset, that God wil be merciful, & not forget his covenant that he made with their fathers: but wil send his Christ who shal gather the scattered shepe, and restore them to life, and libertie, though they ſemed to be dead.

CHAP. II.

He prophesieth of the comming and crueltie of their enemies. 13 An exhortacion to moue them to conuers. 18 The loue of God towards his people.

Blowe the trumpet in Zión, & shout in mine holie Mountaine: let all the inhabitants of the land tremble: for y<sup>e</sup> daie of the Lord is come: for it is at hand.

A <sup>b</sup> daie of darkenes, & of blackenes, a daie of cloudes, and obscuritie, as the morning spreade vpon the mountaines, so is there a <sup>c</sup> great people, and a mightie: there was none like it from the beginning, nether shal be anie more after it, vnto the yeres of manie generacions.

A fyre deuoureth before him, & behinde him a flame burneth vp: the land is as the garden of <sup>d</sup> Eden before him, and behinde him a desolate wilderness, so that nothing shal escape him.

The beholding of him is like the sight of horses, and like the horse men, so shal thei runne.

Like the noyce of charrets in the toppes of the mountaines shal thei leape, like the noyce of a flame of fyre that deuoureth the stubble, and as a mightie people prepared to the battel.

Before his face shal the people tremble: all faces <sup>e</sup> shal gather blackenes.

They shal runne like strong men, and go vp to the wall like men of warre, and euerie man shal go forward in his waies, & thei shal not staie in their paths.

Nether shal one <sup>f</sup> thrust another, but euerie one shal walke in his path: & when thei fall vpon the sworde, they shal not be wounded.

Thei shal runne to and fro in the citie: they shal runne vpon the wall: they shal clime vp vpon the houses, & enter in at the windowes like the thief.

The earth shal tremble before him, the heauens shal shake, the <sup>g</sup> sunne & the moone shalbe darke, and the starres shal withdrawe their shining,

And the Lord shal <sup>h</sup> vtter his voyce before his hoste: for his holte is verie great: for he is strong that doeth his worke: <sup>i</sup> for the daie of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abyde it!

Therefore also now the Lord saith, Turne you vnto me with all your heart, & with fasting, and with weping, and with mourning,

And <sup>j</sup> rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne vnto the Lord your God, for he is gracious, and merciful, slowe to angre, and of great kindenes, and repenteth him of the euil.

Who knoweth, if he wil <sup>k</sup> returne and repent and leaue a blessing behinde him, <sup>l</sup> enen a meat offering, and a drinke offering vnto the Lord your God?

Blowe the trumpet in Zión, sanctifie a fast, call a solemne assemblie.

Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the Elders: assemble the <sup>m</sup> children, and those that sucke the breasts: let the bridegrome go forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bride chamber.

Let the Priests, the ministers of the Lord wepe betwene y<sup>e</sup> porche & the altar, and let the say, Spare thy people, o Lord, and giue not thine heritage into reproche that the heathen shulde rule ouer them.

Wherefore shulde thei saie among the people, Where is their God?

Then wil the Lord be <sup>n</sup> ielouse ouer his land and spare his people.

Yea, the Lord wil answer and saie vnto his people, Beholde, I wil send you corne, and wine, and oyle, & you shalbe satisfied therewith: and I wil nomore make you a reproche among the heathen,

But I wil remoue farreof from you the <sup>o</sup> Northren armie, and I wil driue him into a land, baren and desolate with his face towards the <sup>p</sup> East sea, and his end to y<sup>e</sup> vtmost sea, and his stinke shal come vp, & his corruption shal ascend, because he hath exalted him self to do this.

Feare not, o land, but be glad and reioyce: for the Lord wil do great things.

Be not afraied, ye beastes of the field: for y<sup>e</sup> pastures of the wilderness are grene: for the tre beareth her frute: the figtre and the vine do giue their force.

Be glad the, ye children of Zión, and reioyce in the Lord your God: for he hath giuen you the rayne of <sup>q</sup> prighteousnes, and he wil cause to come downe for you the raine, <sup>r</sup> enen the first raine, and the later raine in the first moneth.

And the barnes shalbe ful of wheat, and the presses shal abounde with wine and oyle.

And I wil render you the yeres that the grasshopper hath eaten, the canker worme and the caterpillar and the palmer worme, my great hoste which I sent among you.

So you shal eat and be satisfied & praise the Name of the Lord your God, that hath delt marueilously with you: and my people shal neuer be ashamed.

Ye shal also knowe, that I am in the mid des of Israél, and that I am the Lord your God and none other, and my people shal neuer be ashamed.

And afterwarde wil I power <sup>s</sup> out my Spirit vpon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shal prophesie: your olde

Of the iudgement of God against the enemies of his people.

<sup>n</sup> He had suffe red his Church hitherto to lye in their filchines, but now he promisseth to cleanse them and to make them pure vnto him.

AMOS.

THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophetes that God raised vp to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickednes and idolatrie, he stirred vp Amos, who was an herdsman or shepherd of a poore towne, and gaue him bothe knowledge and constancie to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible iudgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them, that if God spare not the other nations about them, who had liued as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes wil punish them, that they coulde loke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfeined repentance. And finally, he comforteth the godlie with hope of the coming of the Messiah, by whome they shoulde haue persue deliuerance and saluacion.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophetic of Amos. 3 The worde of the Lord against Damascus. 6 The Philistims, Tyrus, Idumea and Ammon.

He wordes of Amos, who was among the herdmen at Tecoa, which he sawe vpon Israel, in the daies of Vzziah King of Iudah, and in the daies of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioash King of Israel, two yere before the earth quake.

And he said, The Lord shal roare from Zion, and utter his voyce from Ierusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepherds shal perish, and the top of Carmel shal wither.

Thus saith the Lord, For thre transgressions of Damascus, and for foure I wil not turne to it, because they haue threshed Gilead with threshing instrumēt of yro.

Therefore wil I send a fyre into the house of Hazael, and it shal deuoure the palaces of Ben-hadad.

I wil breake also the barres of Damascus, and cut of the inhabitant of Biceath-auen: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Beth-eden, & the people of Aram shal go into captiuitie vnto Kir, saith y Lord.

Thus saith the Lord, For thre transgressions of Azzah, and for foure, I wil not turne to it, because they caried away prisoners the whole captiuitie to shut them vp in Edom.

Therefore wil I send a fyre vpon the walles of Azzah, and it shal deuoure the palaces thereof.

And I wil cut of the inhabitant from Ashdod, and him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand to Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistims shal perish, saith the Lord God.

Thus saith the Lord, For thre transgressions of Tyrus, and for foure, I wil not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembered the brotherlie couenant.

Therefore wil I send a fyre vpon the walles of Tyrus, and it shal deuoure the palaces thereof.

Thus saith the Lord, For thre transgressions of Edom, and for foure I wil not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sworde, and did cast of all pitie, and his anger spoiled him euermore, and his wrath watched him alway.

Therefore wil I send a fyre vpo Teman, and it shal deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

Thus saith the Lord, For thre transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I wil not turne to it, because they haue ript vp the women with childe of Gilead, y they might enlarge their border.

Therefore wil I kindle a fyre in the wall of Rabbah, and it shal deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battel, & with a tempest in the day of the whirlewinde.

And their King shal go into captiuitie, he and his princes together, saith y Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, For thre transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I wil not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the King of Edom into lime.

Therefore wil I send a fyre vpon Moab, and it shal deuoure the palaces of Keriath, & Moab shal dye with tumult, with shouting, & with the sounde of a trumpet.

And I wil cut of the Iudge out of the middes thereof, & wil slaie all the princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

Thus saith the Lord, For thre transgressions of Iudah, & for foure, I wil not turne to it, because they haue cast away y Law of the Lord, & haue not kept his comandements, & their lies caused the to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

Therefore wil I send a fyre vpo Iudah, & it shal deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

Thus saith y Lord, For thre transgressions of Israel, & for foure, I wil not turne to it, because they solde y righteous for Yyy. iiii.

<sup>m</sup> He noteth y great cruelty of the Ammonites that spared not y women, but muste tyrannously tormented them, and yet y Ammonites came of Lot who was of y household of Abraham.

<sup>a</sup> For y Moabites were so cruel against y King of Edom y they burnt his bones after that he was dead: & declared their barbarous rage, seeing they wolde reuenge them selues of the dead. <sup>b</sup> Seeing the Gemiles that had not so farre knowledge were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lordes wil, might not thinke to escape. <sup>c</sup> If he spare not Iudah vnto whome his promises were made, much more he wil not spare this degenerate kingdome.

<sup>a</sup> Which was a towne six miles from Ierusalem in Iudaea, but he prophesied in Israel. <sup>b</sup> In his daies the kingdome of Israel did moue florish. <sup>c</sup> Which, as Iosephus writeth, was when Vzziah wolde haue vntured the Priests office, and therefore was smitten with the leprosie. <sup>d</sup> Whatsoever is fruitful and pleasant in Israel, shal shortly perish. <sup>e</sup> He sheweth first that all y people rounde about shoulde be destroyed for their manifold sinnes: y are ment by thre and foure which make seuen, because the Israelites shoulde the more depely consider Gods iudgements toward them. <sup>f</sup> If y Syrians shal not be spared for committing this cruelty against one citie, it is not possible y Israel shoulde escape punishment which hath committed so many & grievous sinnes against God & man. <sup>g</sup> The antiquitie of their buyldings shal not auoide my iudgements, read Ier. 49. 27. <sup>h</sup> Tiglath Pileser led the Syrians captiue, and brought him to Cyrene, which he call. th here Kir. <sup>i</sup> They ioyned them selues with the Edomites their enemies, which caried them away captiues.

7 And also I haue withholden the raine fro you, when there were yet thre moneths to the haruest, and I caused it to raine vpon one citie, and haue not caused it to raine vpon another citie: one piece was rained vpon, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

A lamentacion for the captiuitie of Israél.

1 HEare ye this worde, which I lift vpon you, euen a lamentacion of the house of Israél.

2 The virgine Israél is fallen, and shal no more rise: she is left vpon her land, & there is none to raise her vp.

3 For thus saith the Lord God, The citie which went out by a thousand, shal leaue an hundredth: and that which went forth by an hundredth, shal leaue ten to the house of Israél.

4 For thus saith the Lord vnto the house of Israél, Seke ye me, and ye shal liue.

5 But seke not Beth-él, nor enter into Gilgál, and go not to Beer-sheba: for Gilgál shal go into captiuitie, and Beth-él shal come to naught.

6 Seke the Lord, and ye shal liue, lest he breake out like fyre in the house of Ioséph and deuoure it, & there be none to quenche it in Beth-él.

7 They turne iudgemēt to wormewood, and leaue of righteousness in the earth.

8 He maketh Pleiades, and Orion, and he turneth the shadowe of death into the morning, and he maketh the day darcke as night: he calleth the waters of the sea, and powreth them out vpon the open earth: the Lord is his Name.

9 He strengtheneth the destroyer against the mightie: and the destroyer shal come against the fortresse.

10 They haue hated him, that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorre him that speaketh vprightly.

11 For asmuch then as your treading is vpon the poore, and ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye haue buylt houses of hewen stone, but ye shal not dwell in them: ye haue planted pleasant vineyardes, but ye shal not drinke wine of them.

12 For I knowe your manifold transgressions, and your mightie sinnes: they afflict the iust, they take rewardes, & they oppresse the poore in the gate.

13 Therefore the prudent shal kepe silence in that time, for it is an euil time.

14 Seke good and not euil, that ye may liue: and the Lord God of hostes shal be with you, as you haue spoken.

15 Hate the euil, and loue the good, and establish iudgement in the gate: it may be that the Lord God of hostes wil be merciful vnto the remnant of Ioséph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord saith thus, Mourning shal be in all stretes: and they shal say in all the hie waies, Alas, alas: and they shal call the housebādmān to lamentacion, & suche as can mourne, to mourning.

17 And in all the vines shal be lamentacion: for I wil passe through thee, saith the Lord.

18 Wo vnto you, that desire the day of the Lord: what haue you to do with it? the day of the Lord is darkenes and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lyon, and a beare met him, or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

20 Shal not the day of the Lord be darkenes, and not light? euen darkenes and no light in it?

21 I hate & abhorre your feast daies, and I wil not smel in your solemne assemblies.

22 Thogh ye offer me burnt offrings and meat offrings, I wil not accept them: neither wil I regarde the peace offering of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs (for I wil not heare the melodie of thy viols)

24 And let iudgemēt runne downe as waters, and righteousness as a mightie riuer.

God sheweth certeine visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israël. 10 The false accusation of Amaziah. 12 His crafty counsel.

12 Also g Amaziah said vnto Amós, O thou the Seer, go, flee thou away into the land of Iudáh, and there eat thy bread and prophecie there.

13 But prophecie no more at Beth-él: for it is the Kings chappel, and it is the Kings court.

OBADIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe Idumeans, which came of Esáu, were mortal enemies alway to the Israelites, which came of Iakób, & therefore did not onely vexe them continually with sondry kindes of crueltie, but also stirred vp others to fight against them. Therefore when thei were now in their greatest prosperitie, and did moste triumphe against Israël, which was in great affliction and miserie, God raised vp his Prophet to comfort the Israelites, for asmuche as God had now determined to destroy their aduersaries, which did so sore vexe them, and to send them suche as shulde deliuer them, and set vp the kingdome of Mefsiáh, which he had promised.

a God hath certainly reuiled to his Prophetes y he wil raise vp the heathé to destroy the Edomites, whereof y<sup>h</sup> rumour is now published, Ierem. 49, 14.

b Thus y<sup>h</sup> heathé incourage them selues to rise against Edóm.

c Which despise all others in respect of thyself & yet are but an handful in comparison of others, and are shut vp amog the hilles as separate from the rest of the worlde.

d God wil so destroy them y he wil leaue none, though theues when they come, take but til thei haue ynough, and they that gather grapes, euer leaue some behinde them, Ierem. 49, 9.

e They in whome thou didest trust, for to haue helpe and friendship of them shal be thine enemies and destroy thee.

THe vision of Obadiáh. Thus saith y<sup>h</sup> Lord God against Edóm, a We haue heard a rumor frö the Lord, and an ambasadour is sent amog the heathen: arise, and b let vs rise vp against her to battel.

Beholde, I haue made thee smale among the heathen: thou art vtterly despised.

The c pride of thine heart hath deceiued thee: thou that dwellest in the cleftes of the rockes, whose habitacion is hie, that saith in his heart, Who shal bring me downe to the grounde?

Yea though thou exalt thy self as the egle, & make thy nest among the starres, thence wil I bring thee downe, saith the Lord.

d Came theues to thee or robbers by night? how wast thou brought to filce? wolde thei not haue stollen, til they had ynough? if the grapegatherers came to thee, wolde thei not leaue some grapes?

How are the things of Esáu sought vp, & his treasures searched?

All the men of thy confederacie e haue driuen thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, haue deceiued thee, and preuailed against thee: thei that eat thy f bread, haue laid a woüde vnder thee: there is none vnderstanding in him.

8 Shal not I in that day, saith the Lord, euē destroy the wise men out of Edóm, and vnderstanding from the mount of Esáu.

9 And thy strong men, o Temán, shal be a fraied, because euerie one of the mount of Esáu shal be cut of by slaughter.

10 For thy crueltie against thy s brother Iakób, shame shal couer thee, and thou shalt be cut of for euer.

11 When thou stoodest h on the other side, in the day y<sup>h</sup> the strangers caryed away his substance, and strägers entred into his gates, and cast lottes vpon Ierusalém, euen thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shuldest not haue beholden the day of thy brother, in the day that he was made i a stranger, nether shuldest thou haue reioyced ouer the children of Iudáh, in the day of their destruction: thou shuldest not haue spoké proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shuldest not haue entred into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, nether shuldest thou haue once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor haue laid hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

14 Nether shuldest thou haue stand in the crosse waies to cut of them, that shulde escape, nether shuldest thou haue shut vp f That is, thy familiar friends and ghestes haue by secret practises destroyed thee.

g He sheweth the cause why the Edomites were so sharply punished: to wit, because they were enemies to his Church, whome now he comforteth by punishing their enemies.

h Wñ Nebuchad-nezzär came against Ierusalém, y ioyneäst with him & hadest part of y<sup>h</sup> spoile, & so didest reioyce when my people, y is, thy brother were afflicted, where as thou shuldest haue pitied & holpē thy brother. i When the Lord depriued them of their former dignitie and gaue them to be caryed into captiuitie.

the remnant thereof in the daie of affliction.

15 For the daie<sup>k</sup> of the Lord is nere, vpon all the heathen: as thou hast done, it shal be done to thee: thy rewarde shal returne vpon thine head.

16 For as ye haue<sup>l</sup> drunke vpon mine holy Mountaine, so shal all the heathen drinke continually: yea, thei shal drinke and swallowe vp, and thei shal be<sup>m</sup> as thogh thei had not bene.

17 But vpon mount Ziôn shal be deliuerance, and it shal be holy, & the house of Iakób shal possesse their possessions,

18 And the house of Iakób shal be<sup>n</sup> a fyre, and the house of Ioséph a flame, and the house of Esáu as stubble, & thei shal kindle in them and deuoure them: and there shal be no remnant of the house of Esáu: for the Lord hath spoken it.

19 And thei shal possesse the South side of the<sup>o</sup> mount of Esáu: and the plaine of the Philistims, and thei shal possesse the fieldes of Ephraim, & the fields of Samaria, and Benjamin shal haue Gileád.

20 And the captiuitie of this hoste of the children of Israël, which were among the<sup>p</sup> Canaanites, shal possesse vnto Zarepháth, and the captiuitie of Ierusalém, which is in Sepharád, shal possesse the cities of the South.

21 And thei that shal saue, shal come vp to Mount Ziôn to iudge the mount of Esáu, and the kingdome shal be the Lords.

<sup>o</sup> He describeth how the Church shal be enlarged & haue great possessions, but this chiefly is accomplished vnder Christ when as the faithful are made heires and lords of all things by him which is their head. <sup>p</sup> By the Canaanites the Iewes meane the Dutche men, and by Zarepháth, France, and by Sepharád, Spaine. <sup>q</sup> Meaning y God wil raise vp in his Church suche as shal rule & gouerne for y defence of y same, and destruction of his enemies vnder Messias, whom the Prophet calleth here the Lord & head of this kingdome.

IONAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Ionah had long prophesied in Israël and had little profited, God gave him expresse charge to go, and denounce his iudgements against Ninueb the chief citie of the Assyrians, because he had appointed, that thei which were of the heathen, shoulde conuert by the mightie power of his worde, and that within thre daies preaching, that Israël might see how horribly thei had provoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeres, had not conuerted to the Lord for so many Trophetes and so diligent preaching. He prophesied vnder Iosaph, and Ieroboám, as 2 King. 14. 25.

CHAP. I.

3 Ionah fled when he was sent to preache. 4 A tempest ariseth, and he is cast into the sea for his disobedience.

<sup>a</sup> After that he had preached along time in Israël: and so Ezechiel, after that for a time he had prophesied in Iuda, he had visions in Babylon, Ezech. 1. 1. <sup>b</sup> For seeing y great obstination of y Iralites, he sent his Prophet to the Gentiles y they might p- uenke the to repentance or at least make the inexcusable: for Ninueb was the chief citie of the Assyrians. <sup>c</sup> For as authors write, it is recorded in scripture about eight & fortie mile & had a thousand and fyue hundred towres, and at that time there were 20 hundred & twentie thousand children therein. Chap. 4. 1. <sup>d</sup> Whereby he declared his weakness, that wolde not promptly follow the Lords calling, but gave place to his owne reason, which perswaded him that he shoulde nothing at all profite there, seeing he had done so small good among his owne people. Chap. 4. 2. <sup>e</sup> Which was the haven, and porte to take shipping thither, called also Ioppe. <sup>f</sup> From that vocation whereunto God had called him, and wherein he wolde haue assisted him. <sup>g</sup> As one y wolde haue care of this care, and solicitude by seeking rest and quietnes.

He worde of the Lord came<sup>a</sup> also vnto Ionah the sonne of Amittái, saying, Arise, and go to<sup>b</sup> Ninueb, that<sup>c</sup> great citie, and crye against it: for their wickednes is come vp before me.

But Ionah rose vp to<sup>d</sup> flee into Tarsheish from the presence of the Lord, and went downe to<sup>e</sup> Iaphó: & he founde a ship going to Tarsheish: so he paid the fare thereof, and went downe into it, that he might go with them vnto Tarsheish, from the presence of the Lord.

But the Lord sent out a great winde into the sea, and there was a mightie tempest in the sea, so that the ship was like to be broken.

Then the mariners were afraied, and cryed euerie man vnto his god, and cast the wares that were in the ship, into the sea to lighten it of them: but Ionah was gone downe<sup>g</sup> into the sides of the ship, and he laie downe, and was fast a slepe.

6 So the shipmaster came to him, and said vnto him, What meanest thou, ó sleeper! Arise, call vpon thy<sup>h</sup> God, if so be<sup>i</sup> God wil thinke vpon vs, that we perish not.

7 And thei said euerie one to his felowe, Come, and let vs cast<sup>i</sup> lottes, that we maie knowe, for whose cause this euil is vpon vs. So thei cast lots, & the lot fel vpon Ionah.

8 Then said thei vnto him, Tel vs for whose cause this euil is vpon vs? what is thine occupation? and whence comest thou? which is thy countrey? and of what people art thou?

9 And he answered them, I am an Ebrew, & I feare the Lord God of heauen, which hath made the sea, and the drye land.

10 Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said vnto him, Why hast thou done this? (for the men knewe, that he fled from the presence of the Lord, because he had tolde them)

11 Then said thei vnto him, What shal we do vnto thee, that the sea maie be calme vnto vs? (for the sea wrought and was troublous)

12 And he said vnto them, Take me, and cast me into the sea: so shal the sea be calme vnto you: for I knowe that for my sake this great tempest is vpon you.

13 Neuertheles, the men rowed to bring it to the land, but thei coulde not: for the sea wrought, and was troublous against them.

<sup>h</sup> As they had called on their idoles, which declareth that idolaters haue no stay nor certaintie, but in their troubles seke, thei can not tel to whome. <sup>i</sup> Which declared that y matter was in great extremite, and doute, which thing was Gods motion in them for the trial of the cause: and this may not be done but in matters of great importance.

Ionahs praier.

eth that the very wicked in their necessities flee vnto God for suc-
cour, and also that they are touched with a certain feare to head mans blood, where as they knowe
no manifest si-nes.

<sup>l</sup> They were touched with a certaine repentance of their life past, and began to worship the true God, by whome they sawe them selues so wonderfully deliuered: but this was done for feare and not of a pure heart and affection, nether according to Gods worde. In Thus the Lord wolde chastise his Prophet with a more terrible spectacle of death, & hereby also confirmed him of his fauour and support in this his charge which was ioined him.

CHAP. II.

Ionah is in the fish belly. 3 His prayer. 11 He is deliue-red.

swallowed vp of death, and seeing no remedy to escape,
his faith braut out vnto the Lord knowing y<sup>e</sup> out of the very hel he was able to deliuer him.

<sup>b</sup> For he was now in the fishes belly as place of dar-kenes.

<sup>c</sup> This declar-prayer was, & how he labou-

lect of his vocation & Gods iudgements for the same:
but yet in the end faith gate the victorie.

deliuered me from the belly of the fi-she & all these dangers, as it were raising me from death to life.

depend vpon any thing saue on God alone.
f They refuse their owne fellicitie & that goodnes wher-by they shulde receiue of God.

<sup>14</sup> Wherefore thei cryed vnto the Lord, & said, We beseeche thee, O Lord, we beseeche thee, let vs not perish for this mans life, and laie not vpon vs innocent blood:
for thou, O Lord, hast done, as it pleased thee.

<sup>15</sup> So thei toke vp Ionah, and cast him into the sea, & the sea ceased from her raging.

dingly, & offered a sacrifice vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord, and made vowes.

<sup>17</sup> Now the Lord had prepared a great fish to swallowe vp Ionah: and Ionah was in the belly of the fish three daies, and three nights.

<sup>1</sup> Then Ionah praied vnto the Lord
his God <sup>a</sup> out of the fishes belly,
And said, I cryed in mine affliction vnto
the Lord, & he hearde me: out of the belly <sup>b</sup> of hel cryed I, and thou heardest my voice.

<sup>3</sup> For thou haddest cast me into y<sup>e</sup> bottome in the middes of the sea, and the floods compassed me about: all thy furies, and all thy waues passed ouer me.

<sup>4</sup> Then I said, I am <sup>c</sup> cast awaie out of thy sight: yet wil I loke againe towarde thine holy Temple.

<sup>5</sup> The waters compassed me about vnto the soule: the depth closed me rounde about,
& the wedes were wrapt about mine head.

<sup>6</sup> I went downe to the bottome of the moun-taines: the earth with her barres was about me for euer, yet hast thou brought vp my life from the pit, O Lord my God.

<sup>7</sup> When my soule fainted within me, I re-membred the Lord: and my praier came vnto thee, into thine holy Temple.

<sup>8</sup> Thei that waite vpon lying <sup>e</sup> vanities, forsake their owne <sup>f</sup> mercie.

ce of thankesgiuing, and wil paie that that I haue vowed: saluacion is of y<sup>e</sup> Lord.

<sup>10</sup> And the Lord spake vnto the fish, and it cast out Ionah vpon the drye land.

CHAP. III.

Ionah is sent againe to Nineueh. 5 The repentance of the King of Nineueh.

great declaration of Gods mercie y<sup>e</sup> he receiuerh him againg & sendeth hi forth
as his Prophet which had before shewed so great infirmitie.

<sup>1</sup> And the worde of the Lord came vnto <sup>a</sup> Ionah the seconde time, saying, Arise, go vnto Nineueh that great citie, and preache vnto it the preaching, which I bid thee.

<sup>3</sup> So Ionah arose and went to Nineueh according to the worde of the Lord: now Nineueh was a <sup>b</sup> great and excellent citie of three daies iourney.

Ionah. A proclamacion.

1.1.

<sup>c</sup> He went forward one daie in the citie, & preached, & so he continued till y<sup>e</sup> citie was conuerced.

<sup>d</sup> For he declared that he was a Prophet sent to them fro God to de-noyie his iudgements againt
them.

<sup>e</sup> Not that y<sup>e</sup> dumme beastes had sinned or coulde repent, but y<sup>e</sup> by their example man might be shoo-nished, confidering y<sup>e</sup> for his sinne y<sup>e</sup> angre of God hangeth ouer all creatures.

<sup>f</sup> He willed, that the men shulde earnestly call vnto
God for mercie.

<sup>g</sup> For partly by the threatning of y<sup>e</sup> Prophet, & partly by the motion of his owne consciece he doubted whether God wolde shewe them mercie.

<sup>h</sup> That is, the frutes of their repentance, & did procede of faith & God had plantid by the

<sup>4</sup> And Ionah began to entre into the citie
a daies <sup>c</sup> iourney, and he cryed, and said, Yet fortie daies, & Nineueh shalbe ouer-throwen.

and proclaimed a fast, & put on sackcloth from the greatest of them euē to the least of them.

<sup>6</sup> For worde came vnto the King of Nineueh, and he rose from his throne, and he laied his robe from him, and couered him with sackcloth, and sate in ashes.

<sup>7</sup> And he proclaimed and said through Nineueh, (by the counsel of the King and his nobles) saying, Let nether mā, nor <sup>e</sup> beast, bullocke nor shepe tast any thing, nether fede nor drinke water.

<sup>8</sup> But let man and beast put on sackcloth, and <sup>f</sup> crye mightely vnto God: yea, let eu-erie man turne from his euil waie, and from the wickednes that is in their hands.

and turne awaie from his fierce wrath, y<sup>e</sup> we perish not?

<sup>10</sup> And God sawe their <sup>h</sup> workes that thei turned from their euil wayes: & <sup>i</sup> God repentend of the euil that he had said that he wolde do vnto them, and he did it not.

CHAP. IIII.

The great goodnes of God toward his creatures.

reby he shulde be taken as a false prophet, & so the Name of God, which he preached,
shulde be blas-phemed.

1.3.

praied of grief fearing lest Gods Name
by this torgiuenes might be blasphemed as though he sent his Prophetes forthe to denoie his iudgements in vaine.

<sup>d</sup> Wilt thou be iudge when I do things for my glorie, and when I do not?

<sup>e</sup> For he dou-ted as yet whether God wolde shewe the mercie or no:
and therefore after fourtie daies he departed out of the citie, lo-king what y<sup>e</sup> fue God wolde
send.

<sup>1</sup> Therefore it displeased <sup>a</sup> Ionah excedingly, and he was angrie.

<sup>2</sup> And he praied vnto the Lord, and said, I praise thee, O Lord, was not this my sayig, when I was yet in my countrey: therefore I preuēred it to flee vnto <sup>b</sup> Tarshish: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and merciful, slowe to angre and of great kin-denes, and repentest thee of the euil.

<sup>3</sup> Therefore now O Lord, take, I beseeche thee, my life <sup>c</sup> from me: for it is better for me to dye then to liue.

<sup>d</sup> angrie?

the East side of the citie, and there made him a booth, and sate vnder it in the shadowe <sup>e</sup> til he might se what shulde be done in the citie.

& made it to come vp ouer Ionah, that it might be a shadowe ouer his head and de-liuer him from his grief. So Ionah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

<sup>7</sup> But God prepared a worme when the morning rose the next daie, and it smote

<sup>f</sup> Which was a further meanes to couer him from the heat of the sunne, as he remained in his booth.

the

the gourde, that it withered.

8 And when the sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East winde: and the sunne bet vpon the head of Ionáh, that he fainted, and wished in his heart to dye, and said, It is better for me to dye, then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Ionáh, Dost thou wel to be angrie for the gourde? And he said, I do wel to be angry vnto thy death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pitie on the gourde for the which thou hast not laboured, nether madest it growe, which came vp in a night, and perished in a night, 11 And shulde I not spare Nineuê that great citie, wherein are six score thousand persones, that can not discern betweene their right hand, & their left hand, and also much cattel?

h Thus God mercifully reproueth him, which wolde pitie him self & this gourde, and yet wolde restraîne God to shewe his compassion to so manie thou sand people. i Meaning, they were children, & infants.

MICAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micáh the Prophet of the tribe of Iudáh serued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudáh and Israel, at the least thirte yeres: at what time Isaiáh prophesied. He declareth the destruction, first of the one kingdome, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednes, but chiefly for their idolatrie. And to this end he noteth the wickednes of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the false prophetes, and the deliuing in them. Then he setteth forth the coming of Christ, his kingdome, & the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micáh which resisted Ahab, & all his false prophetes, as 1. King. 22, 8, but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

1 The destruction of Iudáh & Israel because of their idolatrie.

THe worde of the Lord, that came vnto Micáh the Morashite in the dayes of Iothám, Aház, and Hezekiáh Kings of Iudáh, which he sawe concerning Samaria and Ierusalém.

2 Heare, all ye people: hearken thou, O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God be witnes against you, euen the Lord from his holie Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord cometh out of his place, and wil come downe, & tread vpon the hie places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shal melt vnder him (so shal the valleis cleaue) as waxe before the fyre, & as the waters that are powred downward.

5 For the wickednes of Iakób is all this, & for the sinnes of the house of Israel: what is the wickednes of Iakób? Is not Samaria? & which are the hie places of Iudáh? Is not Ierusalém?

6 Therefore I wil make Samaria as an heape of the field, & for the planting of a vineyard, and I wil cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, & I wil discover the foundations thereof.

7 And all the grauen images thereof shal be broken, and all the gifts thereof shal be burnt with the fyre, and all the idoles thereof wil I destroye: for she gathered it of the hyre of an harlot, and they shal returne ne to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I wil mourne & houle: I wil go without clothes, and naked: I wil make lamentacion like the dragons, & mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudáh: the enimie is come vnto the gate of my people, vnto Ierusalém.

10 Declare ye it not at Gath, nether wepe ye: for the house of Aphrah roule thy self in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at Shaphír, go together naked with shame: she that dwelleth at Zaanán, shal not come forth in mourning of Beth-ézel: the enimie shal receiue of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Maróth waited for good, but euil came from the Lord vnto the gate of Ierusalém.

13 O thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the chariot to the beastes of price: she is the beginning of the sinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were founde in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou giue presents to Morésheth of Gath: the houses of Achzib shalbe as a lie to the Kings of Israel.

15 Yet wil I bring an heire vnto thee, O inhabitant of Maresháh, he shal come vnto Adullám, the glorie of Israel.

16 Make thee balde: and shau thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldenes as the eagle, for they are gone into captiuitie from thee.

o Thou first receiuest idolatrie of Ieroboám, & so didest infect Ierusalém. p Thou shalt bribe Philistims thy neighbours, but they shal deceiue thee, as well as thou of Ierusalém. q He prophesieth against his owne citie, & because it signified an heritage, he saith God wolde send an heire to possesse it. r For so they thought them selues for the strength of their citie.

CHAP. II.

1 Threatnings against the wanton & deintie people.

2 They wolde teach the Prophetes to preache.

Zzz.iiii.

This declareth the great inconueniences wherunto Gods seruants do fall when they giue place to their owne afflictions, & do not in all things willingly submit the selues to God.

a Some in Masrah a citie of Iudáh.

b Because of the malice, & obstinacie of people whome he had so oft exhorted to repentance, he somoneth the to Gods iudgements taking all creatures, & God him self to witness, that the preaching of his Prophetes, which they haue abused, shal be reuenged. c Meaning hereby that God wil come to iudgement against those cities & holdes of Samaria, which shulde haue bene an exaple to all Israel of true religio, & iustice, was a puffed up, and reues of all idolatrie, and corruption, & boasted them selues of their father Iakób. e That is, the idolatrie and infection. f Which they gathered by euil practises, & thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their seruice vnto them.

g The gaine came by their idoles, shalbe consumed as a thing of nought: for as wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent. h Left the Philistims our enemies reioyce at our destruction.

i Which was a citie nere to Ierusalém, 10 sh. 18, 23, & signifieth dust: therefore he wil lethe them to mourne, & roule the selues in dust, for their dustie citie.

k These were cities whereby the enimie shulde passe as he came to Iudáh. l He shal not departe before he hath ouercome you, and so you shal pay for his tarrying.

m For Rabshakéh had shut vp Ierusalém, & they coulde not send to succour them.

n To flee away: for Saneherib laid siege first to the citie, & remained therein while he sent his captaines, & armie against Ierusalém.

<sup>a</sup> As soon as they rise, they execute their wicked devices of night, and according to their power hurt others. <sup>b</sup> Ezech. 10. pow.

<sup>b</sup> Thus the Jews lament and say that there is no hope of restitution seeing their possessions are divided among the enemies. <sup>c</sup> Ye shall have no more lands to divide, as you had in times past, and as you were used to measure them in the cubit. <sup>d</sup> Thus the people warned the Prophets that they speak to them no more: for they can not abide their threatenings. <sup>e</sup> God saith, that they shall not prophetic, nor receive no more of their rebukes nor taunts. <sup>f</sup> Are these your works according to his law? <sup>g</sup> Do not the gods find my words comfortable? <sup>h</sup> That is, a foretime. <sup>i</sup> The people can have no commodity by them, but they spoyle them, as though they were enemies. <sup>k</sup> That is, their substance, and living, which is Gods blessing, and as it were, parte of his glorie. <sup>l</sup> Ierusalem shall not be your safeguard: but the cause of your destruction. <sup>m</sup> That is, shew him self to be a Prophet. <sup>n</sup> He sheweth what Prophecies they delight in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, & speake of their commodities. <sup>o</sup> To destroy thee. <sup>p</sup> The enemy shall breake their gates, and walles, and lead them into Caldea. <sup>q</sup> To drive them forward, and to helpe their enemies.

WO vnto the, that imagine iniquitie, and worke wickednes vpon their beddes: <sup>a</sup> whe y morning is light they practise it because their hand hath power.

And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, <sup>b</sup> euen man and his heritage.

Therefore thus saith the Lord, Beholde, against this familie haue I deuised a plague, whereout ye shall not plucke your neckes, and ye shall not go so proudly, for this time is euil.

In that day shall they take vp a parable against you, and lament with a doleful lamentacion, & say, <sup>b</sup> We be vtterly wasted: he hath changed the porcion of my people: how hath he taken it away to restore it vnto me? he hath diuided our fields.

Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a coard by lot in <sup>c</sup> the Congregation of the Lord.

O thou that art named the house of Iakob, is the Spirit of the Lord shortened? <sup>f</sup> are these his workes? are not my wordes good vnto him? that walketh vprightly?

But he that was <sup>h</sup> yester day my people, is risen vp on the other side, <sup>as</sup> against an enemy: they spoyle the <sup>i</sup> beautiful garment from the that passe by peaceably, as though they returned from the warre.

The women of my people haue ye cast out from their pleasant houses, & from their children haue ye taken away <sup>k</sup> my glorie continually.

Arise and departe, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroye you, euen with a fore destruction.

I wil surely gather <sup>o</sup> thee wholly, <sup>o</sup> Iakob: I wil surely gather the remnant of Israel: I wil put them together as the shepe of Bozrah, <sup>euen</sup> as the flocke in the middes of their folde: <sup>the cities</sup> shall be full of brute of the men.

The <sup>p</sup> breaker vp shall come vp before them: they shall breake out, and passe by the gate, and go out by it, and their King shall go before them, and the Lord shall be <sup>q</sup> vpon their heads.

And I said, Heare, I pray you, <sup>b</sup> heads of Iakob, and ye princes of the house of Israel: shulde not ye knowe a iudgement?

<sup>c</sup> Then shall they crye vnto the Lord, but he wil not heare them: he wil eue hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the prophetes that disceiue my people, and <sup>d</sup> bite them with their teeth, and crye peace, but if a man put not into their mouthes, they prepare warre against him, <sup>e</sup> Therefore <sup>e</sup> night shall be vnto you for a vision, and darkenes shall be vnto you for a diuination, and the sunne shall go downe ouer the Prophetes, and the day shall be darke ouer them.

Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the sothesaiers confounded: yea, they shall all couer their lippes, for they haue none answer of God.

Yet notwithstanding I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement and of strength to declare vnto Iakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iakob, and princes of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruert all equitie.

They buyld vp Zion with <sup>h</sup> blood, and Ierusalem with iniquitie.

The heads thereof iudge for rewardes, and the Priests thereof reache for hyre, & the Prophetes thereof prophecie for money: yet wil they <sup>i</sup> leane vpon the Lord, & say, Is not the Lord among vs? no euil can come vpon vs.

Therefore shall Zion for your sake be <sup>k</sup> plowed as a field, & Ierusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the hie places of the forest.

of his vocatio by the Spirit of God, setteth him self alone against all the wicked, shewing how God bothe gaue him giftes, habilitie, and knowledge, to discerne betwene good & euil, and also constancie to reprove the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. <sup>h</sup> They buylded them houses by briberie, which he calleth blood and iniquitie. <sup>i</sup> They wil say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his Name as a pretence, to cloke their hypocritic. <sup>k</sup> Read Ieremiash, 26, 18.

CHAP. III.

BVt in the <sup>a</sup> last dayes it shall come to passe, that the mountaine of the House of the Lord shall be prepared in the top of the mountaines, and it shall be exalted aboute the <sup>b</sup> hilles, and people shall flowe vnto it.

<sup>a</sup> That thing which is iust & lawfull, bothe to gouernour my people aright, & also to discharge your owne consciences. <sup>b</sup> The Prophet condemneth the wicked gouernours not onely of couetousnes, avarice, and rapine, but compareth them to wolves, lyons, & moste cruel beasts. <sup>c</sup> That is, while I shall visite their wickednes: for though I heare y gods crye before they crye, I shall yet I wil not heare these though they crye. I shall not heare them. <sup>d</sup> They deuoure all their substance, & then flatter them, promising that all shall goe well, but if one restrain from their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mischief. <sup>e</sup> As you haue loued to walke in darkness, and to prophecise lies to God, shall I reward you with grosse blindness, and ignorance, so y whil all others shall see the bright beames of Gods graces, ye shall as blinde men grope as in night. <sup>f</sup> When God shall discouer them to the world, they shall be afraid to speake: for all shall knowe y they were but false prophetes, and did belye the worde of God. <sup>g</sup> The Prophet being assured of his vocatio by the Spirit of God, setteth him self alone against all the wicked, shewing how God bothe gaue him giftes, habilitie, and knowledge, to discerne betwene good & euil, and also constancie to reprove the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. <sup>h</sup> They buylded them houses by briberie, which he calleth blood and iniquitie. <sup>i</sup> They wil say, that they are the people of God, and abuse his Name as a pretence, to cloke their hypocritic. <sup>k</sup> Read Ieremiash, 26, 18.

2 Yea,

1 Yea, many nacions shal come and say, Come, and let vs go vp to the Mountaine of the Lord, and to the House of the God of Iaakób, and he wil teache vs his waies, & we wil walke in his paths: for the Law shal go forth of Zión, and the worde of the Lord from Ierusalém.

2 And he shal iudge among many people, & rebuke mightie nacions a farre of, & they shal breake their swordes into mattocks, and their speares into fieths: nacion shal not lift vp a sworde against nacion, nether shal they learne to fight any more.

3 But they shal sit euery mā vnder his vine, and vnder his fig tre, and none shal make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

4 For all people wil walke: euery one in the name of his god, and we wil walke in the Name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

5 At the same day, saith the Lord, wil I gather her that halteth, and I wil gather her that is cast out, & her that I haue afflicted.

6 And I wil make her that halted, a remnant, & her that was cast farre of, a mightie nacion: and the Lord shal reigne ouer them in Mount Zión, from hence forth euen for euer.

7 And thou, o towre of the flocke, y strong holde of the daughter Zión, vnto thee shal it come, euen the first dominion, & kingdome shal come to the daughter Ierusalém.

8 Now why dost thou crye out with lamentation? is there no King in thee? is thy counsellor perished? for sorow hath taken thee, as a woman in trauail.

9 Sorow and mourne, o daughter Zión, like a woman in trauail: for now shalt thou go forth of the citie, and dwell in the field, & shalt go into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shal redeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

10 Now also many nacions are gathered against thee, saying, Zión shalbe cōdemned and our eye shal loke vpon Zión.

11 But they knowe not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsel, for he shal gather them as the sheaues in the barne.

12 Arise, and thresh, o daughter Zión: for I wil make thine horne yron, and I wil make thine hooues brasse, & thou shalt breake in pieces many people: and I wil consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole worlde.

Now assemble thy garisons, o daughter of garisons: he hath laied siege against vs: they shal smite the iudge of Israël with a rodde vpon the cheke.

2 And thou Beth-léem Ephráthah art little to be amōg the thousands of Iudáh, yet out of thee shal he come forth vnto me, that shal be the ruler in Israël: whose goings forth haue bene from the beginning & from euerlasting.

3 Therefore wil he giue them vp, vntil the time that she which shal beare, shal trauail: then the remnant of their brethren shal returne vnto the children of Israël.

4 And he shal stand, and fede in y strength of the Lord, & in the maiestie of the Name of the Lord his God, & they shal dwell still: for now shal he be magnified vnto the ends of the worlde.

5 And he shal be our peace whē Affhūr shal come into our land: when he shal tread in our palaces, then shal we raise against him seuen shepherds, and eight principal men.

6 And they shal destroie Affhūr with the sword, & the land of Nimród with their swordes: thus shal he deliuer vs from Affhūr, when he cometh into our land, & when he shal tread within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Iaakób shalbe amōg many people, as a dewe from the Lord, and as the showres vpon the grasse, that waiteth not for man, nor hopeth in the sonnes of Adám.

8 And the remnant of Iaakób shalbe amōg the Gentiles in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beasts of the forest, and as the lyons whelp among the flockes of shepe, who when he goeth thorow, treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shal be lift vp vpon thine aduersaries, & all thine enemies shalbe cut of.

10 And it shal come to passe in that day, saith y Lord, that I wil cut of thine horses out of the middes of thee, and I wil destroie thy charrets.

11 And I wil cut of the cities of thy land, and ouerthrowe all thy strong holdes.

12 And I wil cut of thine inchanters out of thine hand: and thou shalt haue no more soothsayers.

13 Thine idoles also wil I cut of, & thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I wil plucke vp thy groues out of the middes of thee: so wil I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I wil execute a vengeance in my by Assyriás and Babylonians which were the chief at that time. By these gouernours wil God deliuer vs when the enemy cometh into our land. This Remnant or Church which God shal deliuer, shal onely depend on Gods power and de sense, as doth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man. I wil destroy all things, wherein thou puttest thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie, and so wil helpe thee.

a He forewarneth them of the dangers y shal come, before they enioy these comforts, shewing y forasmuche as Ierusalém was accustomed w her garisons to trouble others the Lord wolde now cause other garisons to vex her, and that her Rulers shulde be smitten on the face most contemptuously.

b For so the Iewes deuiled their countrey, that for euery thousand there was a chief captaine: and because Beth-léem was not able to make a thousand, he calleth it little, but yet God wil raise vp his captaine and gouernour therein: & thus it is not the least by reaso of this benefit, as mat. 2. 6.

c He sheweth that the coming of Christ & all his waies were appointed of God from all eternitie. He compareth the Iewes to women w childre, who for a time shal haue great sorowes, but at length they shal haue a comfortable deliuerance, loh 16. 21.

e That is, Christes kingdome shalbe stable and euerlasting, and his people, as well the Gētiles as the Iewes shal dwell in safetie. This Mefsiáh shalbe a sufficient sauegarde for vs, and though the enemy innade vs for a time, yet shal God stirre vp many w shal be able to deliuer vs. These whom God shal raise vp for y deliuerance of his Church, shal destroy all the enemies thereof, which are ment here by y Assyriás and Babylonians which were the chief at that time. h By these gouernours wil God deliuer vs when the enemy cometh into our land. i This Remnant or Church which God shal deliuer, shal onely depend on Gods power and de sense, as doth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man. k I wil destroy all things, wherein thou puttest thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie, and so wil helpe thee.

Treasures of wickednes. Micah. Perilous times.

I It shal be so terrible that y<sup>e</sup> like hath not bene heard of Chap. VI.

a He taketh y<sup>e</sup> hie mountaines and hard rockes to witness against the obstinacie of his people.

b I haue not hurt thee, but bestowed infinite benefites vpon thee.

c That is, remember my benefites from y<sup>e</sup> beginning how I deliuered you from Balasams curse, and also spared you fro Shittim, which was in y<sup>e</sup> plaine of Moab, til I brought you into the land promised.

d That is, the crueltie of his promises & his manifeste benefites towards you.

e Thus the people by hypocrisie ask how to please God, and are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is nothing so deare to mag, but the hypocrites will offer it vnto God, if they thinke thereby to auoide his anger: but they will neuer be brought to mortifie their owne affections & to giue them selues willingly to serue God as he commandeth.

g The Prophet in few wordes calleth the to the obseruation of the se conderable, to knowe if they will obey God aright or no, saying y<sup>e</sup> God hath preferred them to do this.

h Meaning, y<sup>e</sup> when God speaketh to any citie or nation, the godlie will acknowledge his maiestie and consider not the mortal ma that bringeth the threatening, but God that sendeth it.

i That is, of Ierusalem.

An exhortacion to the dumme creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkinde. 6 What manner of sacrifices do please God.

Hearken ye now what the Lord saith, Arise thou, and contend before the mountaines, and let the hilles heare thy voyce.

Heare ye, o mountaines, the Lords quarel, and ye mightie fundacions of the earth: for the Lord hathe a quarel against his people, and he wil pleade with Israel.

O my people, what haue I done vnto thee? or wherein haue I grieved thee? testifie against me.

Surely I brought thee vp out of the land of Egypt, & redemed thee out of the house of seruants, and I haue sent before thee, Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

O my people, remember now what Balak King of Moab had diuised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim vnto Gilgal, that ye may knowe the righteousness of the Lord.

Wherewith shal I come before y<sup>e</sup> Lord, & bowe my self before the hie God? Shal I come before him with burnt offrings, & with calues of a yere olde?

Wil the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or wth ten thousand riuers of oyle? shal I giue my firstborne for my trasgression, euen the frute of my bodie for the sinne of my soule?

He hathe shewed thee, o ma, what is good, and what the Lord requireth of thee: surely to do iustely, and to loue mercie, and to humble thy self, to walke with thy God.

The Lords voyce cryeth vnto the citie, and the man of wisdom shal se thy name: Heare the rod, and who hathe appointed it.

Are yet the treasures of wickednes in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure, that is abominable?

Shal I iustifie the wicked balances, and the bag of deceitful weights?

For the riche men thereof are ful of crueltie, & the inhabitants thereof haue spoken lies, & their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.

Therefore also wil I make thee sicke in smiting thee, & in making thee desolate because of thy sinnes.

Thou shalt eat and not be satisfied, & thy casting downe shalbe in the middes of thee, and thou shalt take holde, but shalt not deliuer: & that which thou deliuerest, wil I giue vp to the sworde.

I Meaning, that the citie shoulde go about to saue her men, as they that lay holde on this which they wolde preserve.

Thou shalt sowe, but not reape: thou shalt treade the oliues, but thou shalt not anoint thee with oyle, and make swete wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

For the statutes of Omri are kept, and all the maner of the house of Abab, and ye walke in their counsels, that I shoulde make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore ye shal beare the reproche of my people.

CHAP. VII.

A complaint for the smale number of the righteous. 4 The wickednes of these times. 14 The prosperitie of the Church.

Woe is me, for I am as the sower gatherings, & as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat: my soule desired the first ripe frutes.

The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: thei all lie in waite for blood: euery man hunteth his brother with a net.

To make good for the euil of their hands, the prince asked, and the iudge iudgeth for a rewarde: therefore the great man he speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they wrap it vp.

The best of them is as a brier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen & the visitacion cometh: then shalbe their confusion.

Trust ye not in a friend, nether put ye confidence in a counsellor: kepe the dores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are y<sup>e</sup> men of his owne house.

Therefore I wil loke vnto the Lord: I wil waite for God my Sauour: my God wil heare me.

Reioyce not against me, o mineemie: though I fall, I shal arise: when I shal sit in darkenes, the Lord shal be a light vnto me.

I wil beare the wrath of the Lord because I haue sinned against him, vntil he pleade my cause, and execute iudgement for me: then wil he bring me forth to the light, & I shal se his righteousness.

Then she that is mineemie, shal loke vpon it, and shame shal couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? Mine eyes shal beholde her: now shal she be troden downe as the myre of the stretes.

m You haue received all the corruptio and idolatrie, wherewith the tribes were infected vnder Omri and Abab his sonnes: and to excuse your doings, you alledge the Kings autoritie by his statutes, and also wisdom & policie in so doing, but you shal not escape punishment, but as I haue shewed you great fauour, and taken you for my people, so shal your plagues be accordingly, Luk. 12. 47.

a The Prophet taketh vpon him the person of y<sup>e</sup> earth, which complaineth that all her frutes are gone, so none is left: is, that there is no godlied remaining for all are giuen to crueltie & deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother.

b He sheweth that y<sup>e</sup> prince, the iudge and the riche man are linked together, all to do euil and to cloke the doings one of another.

c That is, the riche man that is able to giue money, abstineth from no wickednes nor iniurie.

d These meane among the selues & conspire with one consent to do euil.

e They that are of most estimation and are counted most honest among the, are but thornes & briars to prick.

f Meaning of the Prophetes & gouernours

16 The nations shal se, and be confounded for all their power: they shal laye their hand vpon their mouth: <sup>q</sup> their eares shal be deafe.
17 They shal lick the dust like a serpent: thei shal moue out of their holes like wormes: they shal be afraide of the Lord our God, and shal feare because of thee.

19 He wil turne againe, and haue compassiō vpon vs: he wil subdue our iniquities, & cast all their sinnes into the bottome of the sea.

THE ARGUMENT.

As they of Nineuē shewed them selues prompt and ready to receiue the worde of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certeine time rather giuing the selues to worldlie meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had begone, they cast of the care of religion, and so returned to their vomite, and prouoked Gods iuste iudgement against them, in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Nineuē was destroyed, and Merōih-baladan King of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nexxār) enioyed the empire of the Assyrians. But because God haue a continual care of his Church, he stirreth vp his Prophet to comfort the godlie, shewing that the destruction of their enemies shulde be for their consolation. And as it semeth, he prophesied about the time of Hixekū, and not in the time of Manassē his sonne, as the Iewes write.

The Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicitie of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godlie, which indure all kinde of affliction & crueltie, and yet can see none end. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans shoulde come and take them awaie captiues, so that they coulde loke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbernes and rebellion against the Lord. And lest the godlie shoulde despaire, seeing this horrible confusion, he comforteth them by this that God wil punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and crueltie shalbe at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they shoulde comfort them selues.

THe burden, which Habakkuk y Prophet did se. O Lord, how long shal I crye, and thou wilt not heare! euen crye out vnto thee for violence, and thou wilt not helpe!

Why doest thou shewe me iniquitie, and cause me to beholde sorowe for spoyling, and violence are before me: and there are that raise vp strife and contention.

Therefore the Law is dissolued, and iudgement doeth neuer go forthe: for the wicked doeth compass about the righteous: therefore wrong iudgement procedeth.

Beholde among the heathen, and regarde, & wonder, & marueil: for I wil worke a worke in your daies: ye wil not beleue it, though it be tolde you.

For lo, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious nacion, which shal go vpō the breadth of the land to possesse the dwelling places, that are not theirs.

Thei are terrible & feareful: their iudgement and their dignitie shal procede of them selues.

Their horses also are swifter thē the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolues in the euening: & their horsemen are many: & their horsemen shal come frō farre: thei shal flie as y egle hasting to meat.

9 They come all to spoyle: before their faces shalbe an f Eastwinde, and they shal gather the captiuitie, s as the sand.

10 And thei shal mocke the Kings, and the princes shalbe a skorne vnto them: thei shal deride euery strong holde: for they shal gather dust, and take it.

11 Then shal thei take a courage, & transgresse & do wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Art not thou of olde, o Lord my God mine holy one? we shal not dye: O Lord, y hast ordeined them for iudgemēt, and o God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, and canst not see euil: y canst not beholde wickednes: wherefore doest thou loke vpon the trasgressors, & holdest thy tongue when the wicked deuoureth the man, that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the f fish of the sea, & as the creeping things, that haue no ruler ouer them.

15 Thei take vp all with the angle: thei cathe it in their net, and gather it in their yarne, whereof they reioyce & are glad.

16 Therefore thei sacrifice vnto their net and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their porcion is fat & their meat plenteous.

17 Shal thei therefore stretch out their net & not spare cōtinually to slaye y naciōs?

f For y Iewes more feared this winde, because it destroyed their frutes.

g They shalbe so many in number.

h They shal cast vp mountes against it.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithfull that God wil also destroy the Babylonians, because they shal abuse this victorie and become proud and insolēt, attributing the praise hercof to their idoles.

Because thou hast spoiled manie nacions, all the remnant of the people shal spoile thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, & vnto all that dwell therein.

Ho, he that couereth an euil couetousnes to his house, that he may set his nest on hie, to escape from the power of euil.

Thou hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying manie people, and hast sinned against thine owne soule.

For the stone shal crye out of the wall, and the beame out of the timber shal answer it.

Wo vnto him that buyldeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a citie by iniquitie.

Beholde, is it not of the Lord of hostes that the people shal labour in the very fyre? the people shal euen weary them selues for very vanitie.

For the earth shal be filled with the knowledge of the glorie of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

Wo vnto him that giueth his neighbour to drinke: thou ioynest thine heate, & makest him drunken also, that thou maist see their priuities.

Thou art filled with shame for glorie: drinke thou also, and be made naked: the cuppe of the Lords right hand shal be turned vnto thee, and shameful spuing shal be for thy glorie.

For the crueltye of Lebanón shal couer thee: so shal the spoile of the beastes, which made them afraide, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

What profiteth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, thogh he that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumme idoles.

Wo vnto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumme stone, Rise vp, it shal teache thee: beholde, it is laide ouer with golde and siluer, and there is no breath in it.

But the Lord is in his holie Temple: let all the earth kepe silence before him.

God commeth from Temán, and the holie one from mounte Parán, Selah. His glorie couereth the heauens, & the earth is ful of his praise,

And his brightnes was as the light: he had hornes coming out of his hands, and there was the hiding of his power.

Before him went the pestilence, and burning coles went forthe before his fete.

He stode and measured the earth: he behelde and dissolued the nacions and the euerlasting mountaines were broken, & the ancient hilles did bowe: his waies are euerlasting.

For his iniquitie I sawe the tentes of Cushán, and the curtaines of the land of Midíán did tremble.

THE ARGUMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendement, he denounceth the great iudgement of God, which was at hand, shewing that their countrei shoulde be viterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithful he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistims, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continual care ouer them. And as the wicked shoulde be punished for their sinnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godlie to patience, and to trust to finde mercie by reason of the fre promes of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abyde til God shewe them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they shoulde be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

4 I wil also stretche out mine hand vpó Iudáh, and vpon all the inhabitāts of Ierusalem, & I wil cut of the remnāt of Bāal fró this place, and the names of the b Chemarims with the Priesties,

7 And that coast shal be for the e remnant of the house of Iudah, to fede thereupon: in the houses of Ashkelón shal thei lodge towarde night: for y<sup>e</sup> Lord their God shal visite them, & turne away their captiuitie.

8 I haue heard the reproche of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammón, whereby they vpbraided my people, and magnified the selues against their borders.

9 Therefore, as I liue, saith the Lord of hostes, the God of Israél, surely Moab shal be as Sodóm, and the children of Ammón as Gomoráh, euen the breeding of nettles and salt pittes, and a perpetual desolation: the residue of my folke shal spoile them, & the remnant of my people shal possesse them.

THE ARGUMENT.

WHEN the time of the seuentie yeres captiuitie prophesied by Ieremiāh, was expired, God raised vp Haggái, Zechariāh and Malachi to comforte the Iewes and to exhorte them to the buylding of the Temple, which was a figure of the spiritual Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie stode in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures & commodities, he declareth that that plague of famine, which God sent then among them, was a iuste reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, if they wil returne to the Lord, with the promes of greater felicitie, forasmuche as the Lord wil finish the worke that he hathe begonne, and send Christ whome he had promised, and by whome they shulde attaine to persite ioy and glorie.

CHAP. I.

The time of the prophetic of Haggái. & An exhortaciō to buylde the Temple againe.

IN the secōde yere of King<sup>a</sup> Darius, in the sixt moneth, the first day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord (by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggái) vnto<sup>b</sup> Zerub babél the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudáh, and to Iehoshúa the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, saying,

Thus speaketh<sup>c</sup> y<sup>e</sup> Lord of hostes, saying, This people say, The time is not yet come, that the Lords House shulde be buylded.

Then came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of y<sup>e</sup> Prophet Haggái, saying,

Is it time for your selues to dwell in your<sup>d</sup> filed houses, & this House lie waste?

Now therefore thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne waies in your hearts.

Ye haue sowne muche, & bring in litle: ye eat, but ye haue not ynough: ye drinke, but ye are not filled; ye clothe you, but ye be not warme: and he that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bagge.

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne waies in your hearts.

Go<sup>f</sup> vp to the mountaine, & bring wood, & buylde this House, & I wil be fauorable in it, and I wil<sup>h</sup> be glorified, saith the Lord.

Ye looked for muche, and lo, it came to litle: and when ye brought it home, I did blowe<sup>i</sup> vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? Because of mine House that is waste, and ye runne euery man vnto his owne house.

Therefore the heauen ouer you staid it self from dewe, and the earth staid her frute.

And I called for a drought vpon the lād, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the corne, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the grounde bringeth forth: bothe vpon men and vpon cattel, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

When Zerubbabél the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshúa the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest with all the remnāt of the people, heard the<sup>k</sup> voyce of the Lord their God, & the wordes of the Prophet Haggái (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before y<sup>e</sup> Lord.

Then spake Haggái the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

And the Lord stirred vp<sup>l</sup> the spirit of Zerubbabél, the sonne of Shealtiel a prince of Iudáh, and the spirit of Iehoshúa the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the House of the Lord of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

He sheweth that the glorie of the seconde Temple shal exceede the first.

IN the foure and twentieth daye of the sixt moneth, in the seconde yere of King Darius,

In the seuenth moneth, in the one & twentieth day of the moneth, came the worde of the Lord by the ministerie of the Prophet Haggái, saying,

Speake now to Zerubbabél the sonne of Shealtiel prince of Iudáh, & to Iehoshúa the sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest, & to the residue of the people, saying,

Who is left among you, that sawe this<sup>a</sup> House in her first glorie, & how do you se it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it as nothing?

Yet now be of good courage, o Zerubbabél, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, o Iehoshúa, sonne of Iehozadak the hie Priest: and be strong, all ye people of the land, saith the Lord, and<sup>b</sup> do it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes,

According to the worde that I couenanted with you, when ye came out of Egypt: so my Spirit shal remaine among you, feare ye not.

For thus saith the Lord of hostes, Yet a litle while, and I wil shake the heauens and the earth, and the sea, and the drye land:

And I wil moue all nacions, and<sup>d</sup> the desire of all nacions shal come, and I wil fil this House with glorie, saith the Lord of hostes.

The<sup>e</sup> siluer is mine, and the golde is mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

The glorie of this last House shalbe greater then the first, saith the Lord of hostes: and in this place wil I giue<sup>f</sup> peace, saith the Lord of hostes.

In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the seconde yere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto y<sup>e</sup> Prophet Haggái, saying,

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Law, and say,

If one beare<sup>g</sup> a holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touche the bread, or the potage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shal it be holy? And the Priests answered and said, No.

The<sup>h</sup> said Haggái, If a polluted persone touche any of these, shal it be vncleane? And the Priests answered, & said, It shal be vncleane.

is this people, and so is this nacion before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the workes of their hands, and that which they offer here, is vncleane.

16 And now, I pray you, consider in your mindes: from this day, and afore, even afore a stone was laid vpon a stone in the Temple of the Lord:

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but ten: when one came to the wine presse for to drawe out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildewe, and with haile, in all the labours of your hands: yet you turned not to me, saith the Lord.

19 Consider, I pray you, in your mindes from this day, and afore from the four and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, even from the day that the fundacion of the Lords Temple was laid: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the seed yet in the barne? as yet the vines, and the figtre, & the pome grante, and the oliue tre hathe not brought forth: from this day wil I blesse you.

21 And againe the worde of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the four & twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speake to Zerubbabel the prince of Iudah, and say, I wil shake the heauens and the earth,

23 And I wil ouerthrowe the throne of kingdomes, and I wil destroy the strength of the kingdomes of the heathen, & I wil ouerthrowe the charrets, & those that ride in them, and the horse and the riders shal come downe, euerie one by the sworde of his brother.

24 In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, wil I take thee, o Zerubbabel my seruant, the sonne of Shealtiel, saith the Lord, & wil make thee as a signet: for I haue chosin thee, saith the Lord of hostes.

He exhorteth them to pacience and to abide til harvest came. and then they shulde see Gods blessings.

I will make a change and renewe all things in Christ, of whome Zerubbabel here is a figure.

Hereby he sheweth that there shalbe no let or hinderance when God wil make this wonderful restitution of his Church.

Signifying that his dignitie shulde be most excellent, which thing was accomplished in Christ.

ZECHARIAH.

THE ARGUMENT.

Two moneths after that Haggai had begonne to prophesie, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to helpe him in the labour, and to confirme the same doctrine. First therefore he putteh them in remembrance, for what cause God had so sore punished their fathers: and yet comforteth the, if they wil repent vnfeinedly, & not abuse this great benefite of God in their deliuerance, which was a figure of that true deliuerance, that all the faithful shulde haue from death and sinne by Christ. But because they stil remained in their wickednes and coldenes to set forth the Gods glorie, & were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh the moste sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he ewer mixeth the promes of grace, that they might by this meanes be prepared to receive Christ, in whome all shulde be sanctified to the Lord.

CHAP. I.

2 He exhorteth the people to returne to the Lord, & to eschewe the wickednes of their fathers. 16 He signifieth the restitution of Ierusalem and the Temple.

IN the eight moneth of the seconde yere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo, the Prophet, saying,

2 The Lord hathe bene sore displeased with your fathers.

3 Therefore say thou vnto the, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Turne ye vnto me, saith the Lord of hostes, & I wil turne vnto you, saith the Lord of hostes.

4 Be ye not as your fathers, vnto whome former Prophets haue cryed, sayig, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Turne you now from your euil wayes, & from your wicked workes: but they wolde not heare, nor hearken vnto me, saith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where are they? and do the Prophetes liue for euer?

6 But did not my wordes and my statutes, which I commanded by my seruants the Prophetes, take holde of your fathers? & as they returned, & said, As the Lord of hostes hathe determined to do vnto vs, according to our owne wayes, & according to our workes, so hathe he delt with vs.

7 Vpon the four and twentieth day of the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Shebat, in the seconde yere of Darius, came the worde of the Lord vnto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I sawe by night, and beholde a man riding

Though your fathers be dead, yet Gods iudgements in punishing the ought stil to be before your eyes: & though the Prophetes be dead, yet their doctrine remaineth for euer, 2 Pet. 1. 15.

Seeing ye saw the force of my doctrine in punishing your fathers, why do not ye feare the threatnings contained in the same and declared by my Prophetes?

g As men astonished with my iudgements, and not that they were touched with true repentance. h Which containeth parte of Ianuarie and parte of Februarie. i This vision signifieth the restauration of the Church, but as yet it shulde not appeare to mans eyes, which is here ment by the night, by the bogome & by mirre trees, which are blacke and giue a darke shadow: yet he compareth God to a King, who hathe his postes and messengers abroad, by whome he stil worketh his purpose and bringeth his matters to passe. k Who was the chief among the rest of the horse men.

Bbbb. ii.

Consider how God did plague you with famine afore you began to build the Temple. That is, because the building was begun.

From the time they began to build the Temple, he promised y<sup>e</sup> God wolde blesse them: & about as yet the true was not come forth, yet in the gathering they shulde haue plenty.

Chron. 24. 20, but had the same name, & is called y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Berechiah, as he was, because he came of those progenitors, as of Josada or Berechiah and Iddo. c He speaketh thus to feare the with Gods iudgements y<sup>e</sup> they shulde not prouoke him as their fathers had done, whome he so grievously punished. d Let your frutes declare, y<sup>e</sup> you are Gods people & that he hathe wrought in you by his Spirit & mortified you: for els ma hathe no power to returne to God, but God must conuert him, as Ier. 31. 18. the mirre trees, that were in a bottome, & behinde him were there <sup>1</sup> red hornes spe-

Then said I, O my Lord, what are these?
And the Angel that talked with me, said vnto me, I wil shewe thee what these be.

And the man that stode among the mir-re trees, answered and said, These are they whome the Lord hath sent to go through the worlde.

And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stode among the mirre trees, & said, We haue gone thorowe the worlde:
and beholde, all the worlde sitteth stil, and is at rest.

Then the <sup>m</sup> Angel of the Lord answered and said, O Lord of hostes, how long wilt thou be vnmerciful to Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iudah, with whome thou hast bene displeased now these thre score and ten yerres?

And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good wordes and co-fortable wordes.

So the Angel that communed with me, said vnto me, Crye thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hostes, I am <sup>n</sup> ielouse

And am greatly angrie against the ca-

Therefore thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Ierusalem with tender mercie:
mine house shal be buylded in it, saith the Lord of hostes, & a line <sup>p</sup> shal be stretched vpon Ierusalem.

Crye yet, and speake, Thus saith <sup>y</sup> Lord of hostes, My cities shal yet <sup>q</sup> be broken with plentie: the Lord shal yet comforte
Zion, and shal yet chuse Ierusalem.

Then lift I vp mine eyes and sawe, and beholde, <sup>r</sup> foure hornes.

And I said vnto the Angel that talked with me, What be these? And he answered me, These are the hornes which haue scattered Iudah, Israel, and Ierusalem.

And the Lord shewed me foure <sup>f</sup> carpenters.

Then said I, What come these to do? And he answered, and said, These are the hor-nes, which haue scattered Iudah, so that a man durst not lift vp his head: but these are come to fraye them, and to cast out the hornes of the Gentiles, which lift vp their horne ouer the land of Iudah, to scattre it.

Then said I, Whither goest thou? And he said vnto me, To measure Ierusalem, that I may se what is the breadth thereof,
and what is the length thereof.

And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angel went out to mete him,

And said vnto him, Runne, speake to this <sup>b</sup> yong man, and say, <sup>c</sup> Ierusalem shal be inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattel therein.

For I, saith the Lord, wil be vnto her a the glorie in the middes of her.

Ho, ho, come <sup>f</sup> forth, and flee from the land

thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes

That is, Christ spake to God as the Mediator of his Church, that he wolde rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth him self to be the continual presence of his Church. d Meaning, y Iehoshua was wonderfully preiured in the captiuitie, and now Satā fightt against him when he was doing his office in respect of glorious garments, and precious stones that the Priests did weare before the captiuitie: and by this contemptible shew the Prophet signifieth that these sinners shoulde be made excellent when Christ shal make the full restitution of his Church. f He sheweth of what apparrell he speaketh, & is wile our fleshy sinnes are taken away and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is ment of the spiritual restoration. g The Prophet praieth that besides the raiment the Priest might also haue tyre for his head accordingly, that is, that the dignity of the Priesthode might be perfect: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was bothe Priest and King: and here all suche are condemned that can content them selues with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet describeth the perfection, and obtaineth it. h That is, haue rule and gouernement in my Church as thy predecessours haue had. i Whereby he meaneth to haue the whole charge and ministerie of the Church. k That is, the Angels who represented the whole number of the faithful: signifying that all the godlie shoulde willingly receiue him. l Because they followe my worde, they are contented in the worlde, and esteemed as monsters, lsa. 8. 12. m That is, Christ, who did so humble him self, that not onely he became the seruant of God, but also the seruant of men: and therefore in him they shoulde haue comfort, although in the worlde they were contemned, lsa. 11. 1. iere. 23. 5. & 33. 14. n He sheweth that the ministers can not buyld before God lay y first stone, which is Christ, who is ful of eyes, bothe because he giueth light vnto all others, & that all ought to seeke light at him, Chap. 4. 10. o That is, I will make it perfect in all pointes, as a thing wrought by the hand of God. p Though I haue punished this land for a time, yet I will euen now be pacified, & visit their sinnes no more. q Ye shal then liue in peace & quietnes, that is, in the kingdome of Christ, lsa. 2. 2. micah 4. 4.

And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him he said, Beholde, I haue caused thine iniquitie to departe from thee, & I will clothe thee with change of raiment.

And I said, Let them set a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, & the Angel of y Lord stood by.

And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehoshua, saying,

Thus saith the Lord of hostes, If thou wilt walke in my waies, and kepe my watche, thou shalt also iudge mine House, & shalt also kepe my courtes, and I will giue thee place among these that stand by.

Heare now, o Iehoshua y hie Priest, thou and thy fellowes that sit before thee: for they are monstrous persones: but beholde, I will bring forth the Branch my seruant.

For lo the stone that I haue laid before Iehoshua: vpon one stone shalbe seuen eyes: beholde, I will cut out the grauing thereof, saith y Lord of hostes, & I will take away y iniquitie of this land in one day.

In that day, saith the Lord of hostes, shall ye call euery mā his neighbour vnder the vine, and vnder the fig tree.

And two oliue trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, & the other vpon the left side thereof.

So I answered, & spake to the Angel that talked with me, saying, What are these, my Lord?

The Angel that talked w me, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

Then he answered and spake vnto me, saying, This is the worde of the Lord vnto Zerubbabel, saying, Nether by an armie nor strength, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord of hostes.

Who art thou, o great mountaine, before Zerubbabel? thou shalt be a plaine, & he shal bring forth the head stone thereof, w showtings, crying, Grace, grace vnto it.

Moreouer, the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

The hands of Zerubbabel haue laid the fundaciō of this house: his hands shal also finish it, and thou shalt knowe that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shal reioyce, and shal se the stone of tinne in the hand of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of y Lord, which go thorowe y whole worlde.

Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two oliue trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

And I spake moreouer, and said vnto him, What be these two oliue branches, which thorowe the two golde pipes emptye them selues into the golde?

And he answered me and said, Knowest thou not what these be? And I said, No, my Lord.

Then said he, These are the two oliue branches, that stande with the ruler of the whole earth.

g Meaning, y Prophet, that I am Christ sent of my Father for the buylding, & preservation of my spiritual Tēple. h Signifying y all were discouraged at y small & poore beginnings of the Tēple. i Whereby he signifieth y plummet & line, that is, y Zerubbabel which represented Christ, shoulde go forward with his buylding to y ioye & comfort of y godlie, though the worlde be against him, & though his for a while be discouraged, because they se not things pleasant to y eye. k That is, God hath seuen eyes: meaning, a continual providence, so that nether Satan nor anie power in the worlde can go about or bring anie thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap. 3. 9. l Which were euery greene & ful of oyle, so that stil they poured forth the oyle into the lampes: signifying, that God wil continually mainteine and preserve his Church, and indue it stil with abundance and perfection of graces.

c Who was a figure of Christ and therefore this doctrine was directed to all y Church who are his bodie & members. d He sheweth y Gods power onely is sufficient to preferue his Church, though he vse not mā helpe thereunto. e He compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and wolde haue hindered Zerubbabel who represented Christ whome y enemies daily labour to let in the buylding of his spiritual Temple, but all in vaine. f Though y enemies thinke to stay this buylding, yet Zerubbabel shal lay the hieft stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, so that all the godlie shal reioyce, & pray vnto God that he wolde continue his grace, and fauour toward y Tēple.

CHAP. III.

The vision of the golden candelsticke, and the exposition thereof.

And the Angel that talked with me, came againe & waked me, as a man that is raised out of his slepe,

And said vnto me, What seest thou? And I said, I haue looked, & behold, a candelsticke all of gold with a bowle vpon the top of it, & his seuen lampes therein, & seuen pipes to y lampes, w were vpon the top thereof.

a Which was set in the middes of the Temple, signifying y grace of Gods spirit: shoulde shine there in more abundance, and in all perfection. b Which conueied the oyle that dropped fro the trees into the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: & this vision was to confirme the faith, that God had sufficient power in him self to continue his graces, & to bring his pmes to passe, though he had no help of mā.

CHAP. V.

The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of theues, and suche as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

Then I turned me, & lift vp mine eyes and looked, & behold, a flying booke.

And he said vnto me, What seest y? And I answered, I se a flying booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, & the breadth thereof ten cubites.

Then said he vnto me, This is the curse fling of all iudgement & equitie, he sheweth that Gods curses written in this booke had lustely light bothe on them, & their fathers: but now if they wolde repēt, God wolde send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

a Because the Iewes had provoked Gods plagues by continuing his worde, and cursing written in this booke had lustely light bothe on them, & their fathers: but now if they wolde repēt, God wolde send the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.

1 And to speake vnto <sup>2</sup> Priests, which were in the House of the Lord of hostes, and to the Prophetes, saying, Shulde I wepe in the fiftie moneth, and <sup>3</sup> separate my self as I haue done these so manie yeres?

4 Then came the worde of the Lord of hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, & to the <sup>6</sup> Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the fiftie and seuenth moneth, euen these seuentie yeres, did ye fast vnto me? <sup>7</sup> do I approue it?

8 And when ye did eat, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eat <sup>9</sup> for your selues, & drinke for your selues?

9 Shulde ye not heare the wordes, which <sup>10</sup> Lord <sup>11</sup> hath cryed by the ministerie of the former Prophetes whē Ierusalēm was inhabited, and in prosperitie, and the cities thereof rounde about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

12 And the worde of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

13 Thus speaketh <sup>14</sup> Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercie and compassion, euerie man to his brother,

15 And oppresse not the widowe, nor the fatherles, the stranger nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euil against his brother in your heart.

16 But they refused to hearken, & <sup>17</sup> pulled away the shulder, and stopped their eares, that they shulde not heare.

18 Yea, thei made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they shulde heare the Lawe and the wordes which the Lord of hostes sent in his <sup>19</sup> Spirit by the ministerie of the former Prophetes: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

19 Therefore it is come to passe, that as he cryed, and they wolde not heare, so they cryed, & I wolde not heare, saith the Lord of hostes.

20 But I scattered them among all the nations, whome they knewe not: thus the land was desolate <sup>21</sup> after them, that no man passed through nor returned: for they laid the pleasant land <sup>22</sup> waste.

for Zión with great ielousie, & I was ielous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus saith the Lord, I wil returne vnto Zión, and wil dwell in the middes of Ierusalēm, & Ierusalēm shalbe called a <sup>4</sup> citie of trueth, and the Mountaine of the Lord of hostes, the holie Mountaine.

4 Thus saith <sup>5</sup> Lord of hostes, There shal yet olde <sup>6</sup> men and olde women dwell in the stretes of Ierusalēm, and euerie man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the stretes of the citie shalbe ful of boyes and girles, playing in the stretes thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Thogh it be <sup>7</sup> vnpossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, shulde it therefore be vnpossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Beholde, I wil deliuer my people from the East countrey, and from the West countrey.

8 And I wil bring them, & they shal <sup>9</sup> dwell in the middes of Ierusalēm, and they shal be my people, and I wil be their God in trueth and in righteousnes.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Let your <sup>10</sup> hands be strong, ye that heare in these dayes these wordes by the mouth of the Prophetes, which were in the day, that the fundacion of the House of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be buylded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hier for <sup>11</sup> man nor anie hier for beast, nether was there anie peace to him that went out or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euerie one against his neighbour.

11 But now, I wil not <sup>12</sup> intreate the residue of this people as afore time, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the sede shalbe prosperous: the vine shal giue her frute, and the ground shal giue her increase & the heauens shal giue their dewe, & I wil cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shal come to passe, that as ye were a curse among the heathē, <sup>14</sup> house of Iudáh, and house of Israel, so wil I deliuer you, & ye shalbe a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thoght to punish <sup>15</sup> you: when your fathers prouoked me vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not,

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes <sup>16</sup> to do wel vnto Ierusalēm, and to the house of Iudáh: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shal do. Speake ye euerie man the trueth vnto his neighbour: execute iudgement truly and vprightly in your gates, b Because she shalbe faithful, and loyal toward me her housband.

c Thogh their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God wolde come, and dwell among them, & so preserve them so long as nature wolde suffer them to liue, and increase their children in great abundance.

d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to beleue that God can performe that which he hath promised thogh it seme neuer so vnpossible to man, Rom. 4. 20.

e So that their returne shal not be in vain: for God wil accomplish his promises, & their prosperitie shal be sure and stable.

f Let neither respect of your private commodities, nether counsel of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the buylding of the Temple, but be constant & obeye the Prophetes, & encourage you thereto. g For God curseth your worke, so that nether man nor beast had profit of their labours.

h Read Ezek. 12. 20.

i Which declareth, that man can not turne to God til he change mans heart by his Spirit, and so beginne to do well, which is to pardon his finnes and to giue him his graces.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalēm, and of the mercie of God towards them, 16 Of good workes.

20 The calling of the Gentiles.

1 A Gaine the worde of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

Thus saith <sup>2</sup> Lord of hostes, I was <sup>3</sup> ielous

1 I loved my citie, & a singular loue, so that I colde not abide that anie shulde do her anie iniurie.

The vocacion of Gentiles. Zechariah. Prisoners of hope.

17 And let none of you imagine euil in your hearts against his neighbour, & loue no false othe: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the worde of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth moneth, and the fast of the fiftie, and the fast of the seuenth, and the fast of the tenth, shal be to the house of Iudah ioye and gladnes, and prosperous hie feastes: therefore loue the trueth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That there shal yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one citie, shal go to another, saying, Vp, let vs go and pray before the Lord, and like the Lord of hostes: I wil go also.

22 Yea, great people and mightie nations shal come to seke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shal ten men take holde out of all langages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Iewe, & say, We wil go with you: for we haue heard, that God is with you.

8 And I wil campe about mine House against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, and no oppressour shal come vpon them anie more: for now I haue I sene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, o daughter Zion: shoute for ioye, o daughter Ierusalem: beholde, thy King cometh vnto thee: he is iuste & sau'd, poore and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the sole of an asse.

10 And I wil cut of the charretts from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battel shal be broken, and he shal speake peace vnto the heathen, & his dominion shal be from sea vnto sea, and from the riuer to the end of the land.

11 Thou also shal be sau'd through y blood of thy couenant. I haue losed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the strong holde, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day do I declare, that I wil render the double vnto thee.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bowe for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised vp thy sonnes, o Zion, against thy sonnes, o Grecia, and haue made thee as a gyants sworde.

14 And the Lord shal be sene ouer them, & his arrowe shal go forthe as y lightning: and the Lord God shal blowe the trumpet, and shal come forthe with the whirlwindes of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shal defend them, & they shal deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shal drinke, & make a noyse as thorowe wine, and they shal be filled like bowles, & as the hornes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shal deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shal be as the stones of y crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnes! and how great is his beautie! come shal make the yong men chereful, & new wine y maides.

sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the couenant of the Church because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them. f God sheweth that he wil deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seme they neuer so great. t That is, into the holie land where the citie and the Temple are, where God wil defend you. u Meaning the faithfull, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies on euerie side, and yet liued in hope that God wolde restore them to libertie. x That is, double benefites, and prosperitie in respect of that which your fathers enioyed from Dauids time to the captiuitie. y I wil make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which he here meaneth by the Grecians. z He promisseth that the Iewes shal destroye their enemies and haue abundance, and excesse of all things, as there is abundance on the altar whe the sacrifice is offred. 1 A Ske you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shal y Lord infidelitie thei put backe Gods graces promised, & so famine came by Gods iuste iudgement: therefore to auoide this plague he willerth the to turne to God, & to pray in faith to him, and so he wil giue them abundance.

1 THe burden of the worde of the Lord in the land of Hadrach: and Damascus shal be his rest. whe the eyes of man, euen of all the tribes of Israel shal be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shal border thereby: Tyrus also and Zidon, though they be verie wise.

3 For Tyrus did buyld her self a strong holde, and heaped vp siluer as the dust, & golde as the myre of the streates.

4 Beholde, the Lord wil spoile her, and he wil smite her power in the sea, & she shal be deuoured with fyre.

5 Ashkelon shal se it, and feare, and Azzah also shal be verie sorrowful, and Ekrón: for her countenance shal be ashamed, and the King shal perish from Azzah, and Ashkelon shal not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shal dwell in Ashdod, and I wil cut of the pride of y Philistims.

7 And I wil take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from betwene his teeth: but he that remaineth, eue he shal be for our God, & he shal be as a prince in Iudah, but Ekrón shal be as a Iebusite.

a Whereby he meaneth Syria. b Gods angre shal abide vpo their chief citie, and not spare so muche as that. c When the Iewes shal conuert and repen, then God wil destroye their enemies. d That is, by Damascus: meaning that Hamath or Antiochia shulde be vnder y same rod and plague. e He secretly sheweth y cause of their destruction, because they deceiued all other by their craft, and subtiltie, which they cloyed with this name of wisdom. f Though they of Tyrus thinke them selues inuincible by reason of the sea, that compasseth them round about, yet they shal not escape Gods iudgements. g Meaning, that all shulde be destroyed saue a verie fewe, that shulde remaine as strangers. h He promisseth to deliuer the Iewes when he shal take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them. i As the Iebusites had bene destroyed, so shulde Ekrón and all the Philistims.

1 Surely <sup>b</sup> the idoles haue spoken vanitie, and the sothsayers haue sene a lie, and the dreamers haue tolde a vaine thing: they cōfort in vaine: therefore <sup>c</sup> thei went away as shepe: thei were troubled, because there was no shepherd.

2 My wrath was kindled against the shepherds, and I did visite the <sup>d</sup> goates: but the Lord of hostes wil visite his flocke the house of Iudáh, & wil make them as <sup>e</sup> his beautiful horse in the battel.

3 Out of him shal the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bowe of battel, & out of him euerie <sup>f</sup> appointer of tribute also.

4 And they shalbe as y mightie men, which treade downe <sup>g</sup> their enemies in the myre of the stretes in the battel, & thei shal fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders on horses shalbe confounded.

5 And I wil strengthen the house of Iudáh, and I wil preserue the house <sup>h</sup> of Ioséph, and I wil bring them againe, for I pitie them: and they shalbe as thogh I had not cast them of: for I am the Lord their God, and wil heare them.

6 And they of Ephráim shalbe as a gyant, & their heart shal reioyce as thorowe wine: yea, their children shal se it, & be glad: & their heart shal reioyce in the Lord.

7 I wil <sup>i</sup> hisse for them, and gather them: for I haue redemed them: & they shal encrease, as they haue encreased.

8 And I wil <sup>j</sup> sowe them among the people, and they shal remember me in farre countreys: and thei shal liue with their children and <sup>k</sup> turne againe.

9 I wil bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, & gather them out of Asshur: and I wil bring them into the land of Gileád, and Lebanón, & <sup>l</sup> place shal not be founde for them.

10 And he <sup>m</sup> shal go into the sea with affliction, and shal smite the waues in the sea, and all the depthes of the riuer shal drye vp: and the pride of Asshur shalbe cast downe, and the sceptre of Egypt shal departe away.

11 And I wil strengthen them in the Lord, and they shal walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

12 And I wil strengthen them in the Lord, and they shal walke in his Name, saith the Lord.

1 Houle, <sup>b</sup> fyre trees: for the cedre is fallē, because all y mightie are destroyed: hou- le ye, o okes of Bashán, for the <sup>c</sup> defended forest is cut downe.

2 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepherds: for their <sup>d</sup> glorie is destroyed: y voyce of the roaring of lyons whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

3 Thus saith the Lord my God, Fede the shepe of the <sup>e</sup> slaughter.

4 They that possesse them, slaye them <sup>f</sup> and sinne not: and thei that sell thē, say, <sup>g</sup> Bles- sed be the Lord: for I am riche, and their owne shepherds spare them not.

5 Surely I wil no more spare those y dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but lo, <sup>h</sup> I wil deliuer the men euerie one into his ne- ighbours hand, and into the hand of his <sup>i</sup> King: and they shal smite the land, and out of their hands I wil not deliuer them.

6 For I fed the shepe of slaughter, euen the <sup>k</sup> poore of the flocke, and I toke vnto me <sup>l</sup> two staues: the one I called, Beautie, and the other I called, Bandes, and I fed the shepe.

7 Thre shepherdes also I cut of in one moneth, & my soule lothed <sup>m</sup> thē, & their soule abhorred me.

8 Then said I, I wil not fede you: that that dyeth, let it dye: and that that perissheth, let it perissh: & let the remnant eat, euerie one the flesh of his neighbour.

9 And I toke my staffe, euen Beautie, and brake it, that I might disanul my couenāt, which I had made with all people.

10 And it was broken in that day: and so the <sup>o</sup> poore of the shepe that waited vpon me, knewe that it was the worde of the Lord.

11 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue <sup>p</sup> me my wages: and if no, leaue of: so they weighed for my wages thirtie <sup>q</sup> pieces of siluer.

12 And the Lord said vnto me, Cast it vnto the <sup>r</sup> potter: a goodlie price, that I was va- lued at of them. And I toke the thirtie <sup>s</sup> pie- ces of siluer, and cast them to the potter in the House of the Lord.

13 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bandes, that I might dissolue the brother- hode betwene Iudáh and Israël.

14 And y Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet <sup>t</sup> y instruments of a foolish shepherd.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and buylding againe of Ierusalém.

1 The burden of the worde of the Lord vpon I Israél, saith the Lord, which spread the heauens, and layed the fundació of the earth, and formed the spirit of man within him.

2 Beholde, I wil make Ierusalém a cuppe of poyson vnto all the people rounde about: and also with Iudah wil he be, in the siege against Ierusalém.

3 And in that day wil I make Ierusalém an heauie stone for all people: all that lift it vp, shal be torne, thogh all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day, saith the Lord, I wil smite euery horse with stonishment, & his rider with madnes, and I wil open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and wil smite euery horse of the people with blindenes.

5 And the princes of Iudah shal say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalém shal be my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day wil I make the princes of Iudah like coles of fyre among the wood, & like a fyre brande in the sheafe, and they shal deuoure all the people rounde about on the right hand, and on the left: and Ierusalém shal be inhabited againe in her owne place, even in Ierusalém.

7 The Lord also shal preserue the tentes of Iudah, as afore time: therefore the glorie of the house of Dauid shal not boast, nor the glorie of the inhabitants of Ierusalém against Iudah.

8 In that day shal the Lord defende the inhabitants of Ierusalém, and he that is feble among them, in that daye shal be as Dauid: and the house of Dauid shal be as gods house, & as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day wil I seke to destroye all the nations that come against Ierusalém.

10 And I wil powre vpon the house of Dauid, & vpon the inhabitants of Ierusalém the Spirit of grace and of compassion, and they shal loke vpon me, whome they haue perced, and they shal lament for him, as one mourneth for his onelie sonne, and be sorie for him as one is sorie for his first borne.

11 In that day shal there be a great mourning in Ierusalém: as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Megiddon.

12 And the king shal bewaile euery familie a parte, the familie of the house of Dauid a parte, and their wiues a parte: the familie of the house of Nathan a parte, and their wiues a parte:

13 The familie of the house of Leui a parte, and their wiues a parte: the familie of Semei a parte, and their wiues a parte:

14 All the families that remaine, euery familie a parte, and their wiues a parte.

monie: but euery one touched with his owne grief shal lament. Under these certeyne families he containeth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sinnes perced Christ. Called also Simeon. To wit, which were eld by grace, and preferred from the comune destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane riddance of idolatrie. 3 The sale of the godlie against false prophetes.

1 In that day there shal be a fountaine opened to the house of Dauid, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalém, for sinne & for vncleannes.

2 And in that day, saith the Lord of hostes, I wil cut of the names of the idoles out of the land: and they shal no more be remembered: and I wil cause the prophetes, and the vncleane spirit to departe out of the land.

3 And when anie shal yet prophesie, his father & his mother that begate him, shal say vnto him, Thou shalt not liue: for thou speakest lies in the Name of the Lord: and his father and his mother that begate him, shal thrust him through, when he prophesieth.

4 And in that daye shal the Prophetes be ashamed euery one of his vision, when he hath prophesied: nether shal they weare a rough garment to deceiue.

5 But he shal say, I am no Prophet: I am an housband man: for man taught me to be an herdman from my youth vp.

6 And one shal say vnto him, What are these woundes in thine hands? Then he shal answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 Arise, o sworde, vpon my shepherd, and vpon the man, that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hostes: smite the shepherd, & the shepe shal be scattred: and I wil turne mine hand vpon the litle ones.

8 And in all the land, saith the Lord, two partes therein shal be cut of, & dye: but the third shal be left therein.

9 And I wil bring that third parte thorow the fyre, and wil fine them as the siluer is fined, and wil trye them as golde is tryed:

rentes and friends delt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they wolde so punish their children, that became false prophetes, that the markes & signes shulde remaine for euer. The Prophet warneth the Iewes before this great comfort shulde come vnder Christ, there shulde be an horrible discipacion among the people: for their gouernours and pastors shulde be destroyed, and the people shulde be as scattred shepe: and the Euangelist applie this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastours, Matt 26.31. The greatest parte shal haue no portion of these blessings, and yet they that shal enioye them, shal be tryed with great afflictions, so that it shal be knowne that onely Gods power and his mercies do preserue them.

By the arme he signifies strength, as he doeth wisdom and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God that take away both thy strength and iudgement.

Chap XII. a That is, the ten tribes, which neglected Gods benefite in deliuering their brethren, and had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to returne home, when God called them. b Ierusalém shal be defended against all her enemies: so shal God defend all Iudah also, and shal destroye the enemies.

c Euery captaine, that had many vnder him afore, shal now thinke himselfe a small power of Ierusalém shal be sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them. d The people are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shal be no lesse preserued by my power, then if they were vnder their Kings (which is met by the house of Dauid) or in their defended cities.

e They shal haue feeling of my grace by faith, and knowe that I haue compassion on them. f That is, whome they haue continually vexed with their obstinacie, and grieved my Spirit, Iohn 19.38. where it is referred to Christs bodie, which here is referred to the Spirit of God. g They shal turne to God by true repentance, whome before they had so grievously offended by their ingratitude. h They shal lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God.

Which was the name of a towne & place nere to Megiddon where Ioshiah was slayne. 2 Chron. 35.22.

k That is, in all places where the Iewes shal remaine. l Signifying this mourning or repentance shulde not be a vaine ceremony. m Under these certeyne families he containeth all the tribes, and sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sinnes perced Christ. Called also Simeon. To wit, which were eld by grace, and preferred from the comune destruction.

A He sheweth what shal be the fruite of their repentance, to wit, remission of sinnes by blood of Christ, & shal be a continual running fountaine, and purge the fro all vncleannes. b He promisseth that God wil also purge them from all superstition & that their religion shal be pure.

c Meaning, false prophetes and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whome the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits. d That is, when they shal prophesie lies & make God, who is the author of truth, a cloke thereunto.

e He sheweth what shall be the godlie that haue vnder the kingdom of Christ. f Deu 19.6 f God shal make them ashamed of their errors and lies and bring them to repentance, and they shal no more weare Prophetes apparel to make their doctrine seeme more holy.

g They shal confesse their former ignorance, & be content to labour for their liuing. h Hereby he sheweth that thogh their parents and friends delt more gently with them, and put them not to death, yet they wolde so punish their children, that became false prophetes, that the markes & signes shulde remaine for euer.

they shal call on my Name, & I wil heare them: I wil say, It is my people, and they shal say, The Lord is my God.

CHAP. XIII.

Of the doctrine that shal procede out of the Church, & of the restoration thereof.

Behold, the day of the Lord cometh, and thy spoyle shal be diuided in the middes of thee.

For I wil gather all nations against Ierusalem to battel, and the citie shal be taken, & the houses spoyled, and the women defiled, & half of the citie shal go into captiuitie, & the residue of the people shal not be cut of from the citie.

Then shal the Lord go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battel.

And his fete shal stand in that day vpon the mount of oliues, which is before Ierusalem on the East side, and the mount of oliues shal cleaue in the middes thereof: toward the East & toward the West there shal be a very great valley, & halfe of the mountaine shal remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

And ye shal flee vnto the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shal reache vnto Azal: yea, ye shal flee like as ye fled from the earthquake in the dayes of Vzziah King of Iudah: and the Lord my God shal come, & all the Saints with thee.

And in that day shal there be no cleare light, but darke.

And there shal be a day (it is known to the Lord) neither day nor night, but about the euening time it shal be light.

And in that day shal there waters of life go out from Ierusalem, halfe of the toward the East sea, & halfe of them toward the vttermoost sea, & shal be, bothe in sommer and winter.

And the Lord shal be King ouer all the earth: in that day shal there be one Lord, and his Name shal be one.

All the land shal be turned as a plaine from Geba to Rimmón, toward the South of Ierusalem, and it shal be lifted vp, & inhabited in her place: from Beniamin's gate vnto the place of the first gate, vnto the corner gate, and from the towre of Hananiél, vnto the Kings wine presses.

And men shal dwell in it, and there shal be no more destruction, but Ierusalem shal be safely inhabited.

And this shal be the plague, wherewith the Lord wil smite all people, that haue fought against Ierusalem: their flesh shal consume away, though they stand vpon their fete, and their eyes shal consume in their holes, & their tongue shal consume in their mouth.

But in that day a great tumult of the Lord shal be among them, and euerie one shal take the hand of his neighbour, and his hand shal rise vp against the hand of his neighbour.

And Iudáh shal fight also against Ierusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shal be gathered round about, with golde and siluer, and great abundance of apparel.

Yet this shal be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel and of the asse and of all the beasts that be in these tentes as this plague.

But it shal come to passe that euerie one that is left of all the nations, which came against Ierusalem, shal go vp from yere to yere to worship the King the Lord of hostes, and to kepe the feast of Tabernacles.

And who so wil not come vp of all the families of the earth vnto Ierusalem to worship the King the Lord of hostes, euen vpon them shal come no raine.

And if the familie of Egypt go not vp, and come not, it shal not raine vpon them. This shal be the plague wherewith the Lord wil smite all the heathen, that come not vp to kepe the feast of Tabernacles.

This shal be the punishment of Egypt, & the punishment of all the nations that come not vp to kepe the feast of Tabernacles.

In that day shal there be written vpon the bridels of horses, The holines vnto the Lord, and the pottes in the Lords House shal be like the bowles before the altar.

Yea, euerie pot in Ierusalem and Iudáh shal be holie vnto the Lord of hostes, and all they that sacrifice, shal come and take of them and seeth therein: and in that day there shal be no more the Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hostes.

Cccc.ii.

m God wil not onely raise vp warre without but sedition at home to trye them.
n To hurt, and oppresse him.

o The enemies are riche, and therefore shal not come for a pray, but to destroy & shea-de blood.

p As the men shulde be destroyed, ver. 12.

q By the Egyptians, which were greatest enemies to true religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying, that to what seruice they were put now (whether to labour, or to seruice in warre)

s As precious the one as the other, because they shal be sanctified.

t But all shal be pure, and cleane & there shal neither be hypocrite, or anie that shal corrupt the true seruice of God.

He smeth the godlie against the great nations, that shulde come, before they enjoyed this prosperous estate promised vnder Christ, that when these dangers shulde come, they might knowe that they were warned of them afore.
b As your fathers, and you haue had experience bothe at the red Sea, and at all other times.
c By this manner of sprache the Prophet sheweth Gods power, and care ouer his Church, and how he wil as in yere by miracle saue it.
d So that out of all the partes of the worlde they shal see Ierusalem, was before hid w this mountaine, and this he meaneth of the spiritual Ierusalem Church.
e He speaketh of the hypocrites, which coulde not abide Gods presence, but shulde see into all places where they might hide them among the mountaines.
f Read Amos, 1. 1.
g Because they did not credit the Prophetes wordes, he turneth to God, and comforteth him self in y that he knewe of these things shulde come, & saith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.
h Signifying, that there shulde be great troubles in the Church, and that the time thereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is here ment by the euening) God wolde send comfort.
i That is, the spiritual graces of God, which shulde euer continue in moste abundance.
k All idolatrie and superstition shal be abolished, and there shal be one God, one faith, and one religion.
l This newe Ierusalem shal be sene through all the worlde & shal excell the first in excellencie, welth and greatnes.

MALACHI.

THE ARGUMENT.

THis Prophet was one of the three, which God raised up for the comfort of his Church after the captivitie, and after him there was no more until Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they shulde with more fervent desires loke for the comming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine, that the two former do, but chiefly he reproveth the Priests for their countousnes, and for that they served God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his worde. He also noteth certain peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying of idolatrous and manie wives, murmurings against God, impaciencie, and such like. Notwithstanding for the comfort of the godlie he declareth that God wolde not forget his promes made vnto their fathers, but wolde send Christ his messenger, in whome the covenant shulde be accomplished, whose comming shulde be terrible to the wicked, and bring all consolation and ioye vnto the godlie.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel and chiefly the Priests.

Read Isa 13, 1.

HE burde of the worde of y Lord to Israel by y ministerie of Malachi.

I haue loued you, saith the Lord: yet ye say, <sup>b</sup> Wherein hast thou loued vs? Was not Esau Iakobs brother, saith y Lord: yet I loued Iakob,

And I hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

Though Edom say, We are impouerished, but we wil returne and buyld the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hostes, they shal buyld, but I wil destroye it, and they shal call them, The border of wickednes, and the people, with whome the Lord is angrie for euer.

And your eyes shal se it, and ye shal say, The Lord wil be magnified vpon the border of Israel.

A sonne honoreth his father, and a seruuant his master. If then I be a father, where is mine honour? & if I be a master, where is my feare, saith the Lord of hostes vnto you, <sup>d</sup> O Priests, that despise my Name: and ye say, <sup>e</sup> Wherein haue we despised thy Name?

Ye offer <sup>f</sup> vncleane bread vpon mine altar, & you say, Wherein haue we polluted thee? In that ye say the table of the Lord is not <sup>g</sup> to be regarded.

And if ye offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is <sup>h</sup> not euil: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euil: offer it now vnto thy prince: wil he be content w thee, or accept thy persone, saith the Lord of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, I pray before God, that he may haue mercie vpon vs: this hathe bene by your meanes: wil he regarde <sup>k</sup> your persones, saith the Lord of hostes?

10 Who is there euen among you, <sup>l</sup> that wolde shut the dores, and kindle not fire on mine altar in vaine, I haue no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hostes, nether wil I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is <sup>m</sup> great among the Gentiles, and in euerie place incense shalbe offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is <sup>n</sup> polluted, and the frute thereof, euen his meat is not to be regarded.

13 Ye said also, Beholde, it is a <sup>o</sup> wearines, and ye haue snuffed at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was torne & the lame and the sicke: thus ye offered an offering: shulde I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiuer, which hathe in his flocke <sup>p</sup> a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto y Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

<sup>u</sup>ice of God, which shulde be vnder the Gospel, when an en<sup>i</sup> shulde be made to all these legal ceremonies by Christs onely sacrifice. <sup>n</sup> Bothe y Priests and y people were infected w this error, y they passed not what was offered: for they thought y God was as wel content w the leane as with the fat: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, & so committed bothe impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God & countousnes. <sup>o</sup> The Priests & people were bothe weary with seruing God, & passed not what manner of sacrifice & seruice they gaue to God, for that was least profitable, was thought good ynough for the Lord. <sup>p</sup> That is, hathe habilitie to serue the Lord according to his worde, and yet wil serue him according to his countous minde.

CHAP. II.

Threatenings against the Priests being seducers of the people.

ANd now, O ye Priests, this commandement is for you.

1 If

<sup>b</sup> Which declareth their great ingratitude that did not acknowledge ge this loue, which was so euident, in that he chose Abraham from out of all y worlde, and next chose Iakob the younger brother of whome they came, and left Esau the elder.

<sup>c</sup> For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared euen when he was made a seruant vnto his yonger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterward in y he was put fro his birthright, yet euen now before your eyes the signes hereof are euident, in that y his countrey lieth waste, & he shal neuer returne to inhabit it, where as ye my people whome y enemy hated more then the are by my grace and loue towards you delivered, read Rom 9, 13.

<sup>d</sup> Besides the rest of the people he condemneth y Priests chiefly because they shulde haue reproveth others for their hypocrisie, & obtrunacie against God, & not haue hardened them by their example to greater euils. <sup>e</sup> He noteth their grosse hypocrisie, w wolde not se their fautes, but mooste impudently couered them, & so were blinde guides. <sup>f</sup> Ye receaue all manner offerings for your owne greedines, and do not examine whether they be according to my Law or no. <sup>g</sup> Not that they said thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse. <sup>h</sup> You make it no fauter: whereby he condemneth the, y thinke it sufficient to serue God partly, as he hathe commanded, & partly after mas fantasie, and so come not to that purenes of religion, which he requireth, & therefore in reproche he sheweth the y a mortal man wolde not be content to be so serued.

<sup>i</sup> He desireth y Priests who bare y people in had, y they praised for the, & sheweth y they were the occasion, that these euils came vpon the people.

<sup>k</sup> Wil God consider your office and state, seeing you are so countous, & wicked?

<sup>l</sup> Because the Leuites who kept y dores, did not trye whether y sacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God w sheweth, that the wolde rather shut the dores then to receiue such as were not perfect.

<sup>m</sup> God sheweth, y their ingratitude, and neglect of his true seruice shalbe y cause of the calling of the Gentiles: & here y Prophet that was vnder the Law framed his wordes to the capacite of y people, and by the altar, and sacrifice he meaneth the spiritual seruice.

<sup>n</sup> Bothe y Priests and y people were infected w this error, y they passed not what was offered: for they thought y God was as wel content w the leane as with the fat: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God, which he required, & so committed bothe impietie, and also shewed their contempt of God & countousnes. <sup>o</sup> The Priests & people were bothe weary with seruing God, & passed not what manner of sacrifice & seruice they gaue to God, for that was least profitable, was thought good ynough for the Lord. <sup>p</sup> That is, hathe habilitie to serue the Lord according to his worde, and yet wil serue him according to his countous minde.

b To ſerue me according to my worſhip. c That is, the abundance of Gods benedictions. d Your ſeed ſhall come to no proſperitie. e You boalt of your holines, ſacrifices and feaſts, but they ſhall turne to your ſhame, and be as vile as dung.

f The Priests obiect a- gainſt the Prophet that he coulde not re- proue the, but he muſt ſpeake againſt the Priests bode, and the office eſtabliſhed of God by promes, but he ſheweth, that the office is nothing ſclā- dered, when theſe vilenes, & dongue are called by their own names.

g He ſheweth what were the two condicions of the couenāt made with the tribe of Leui, on Gods parte, that he wolde giue the long life & felicitie, and on their parte, y they ſhulde faithfully ſerue him according to his worde.

h I preſcribed Leui a certaine Law to ſerue me. i He ſerued me & ſet forth the my glorie with all humilitie and ſubmiſſion.

k He ſheweth that the Priests ought to haue knowledge to inſtruct other in the worde of the Lord.

l He is as the treaſure houſe of Gods worde, and ought to giue ſo cuerie one according to their neede, ſiſe, and not to reſerue it for him ſelf.

m ſhewing, that whoſoe- uer doeth not declare Gods wil, is not his meſſenger, and Priests.

n The Prophet accuſeth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for ſeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holle people, they ought neither to offend God nor their brethren.

o Whereby they had bounde them ſelues to God to be an holie people. p They haue ioyned them ſelues in marriage with them that are of another religion. q That is, the Priests.

r Ye cauſe the people to lament, becauſe that God doeth not regarde their ſacrifices, ſo that they ſeme to ſacrifice in vaine. ſ This is another fault, whereof he accuſeth them, that is, that they brake the lawes of marriage.

2 If ye wil not heare it, nor conſider it in your heart to giue glorie vnto my Name, ſaith y Lord of hoſtes, I wil euē ſend a curſe vpon you, and wil curſe your bleſſings: yea, I haue curſed them already becauſe ye do not conſider it in your heart.

3 Beholde, I wil corrupt d your ſeed, & caſt dōgue vpon your faces, euen the e dongue of your ſolemne feaſts, and you ſhal be like vnto it.

4 And ye ſhal knowe, that I haue f ſent this commandement vnto you, that my couenant, which I made with Leui, might ſtād, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

5 My g couenant was with him of life and peace, and I h gaue him feare, & he feared me, and was aſtraide before i my Name.

6 The law of k trueth was in his mouth, & there was no iniquitie ſōūde in his lippes: he walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne manie away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests l lippes ſhulde preſerue knowledge, and they ſhulde ſeke the lawe at his mouth: for he is the m meſſenger of the Lord of hoſtes.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye haue cauſed manie to fall by the Law: ye haue brokē the couenāt of Leui, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

9 Therefore haue I alſo made you to be deſpiſed, and vile before all the people, becauſe ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene parcial in the Law.

10 Haue we not all n one father? haſte not one God made vs? why do we tranſgreſſe euerie one againſt his brother, and breake the couenant of o our fathers?

11 Iudāh haſte tranſgreſſed, and an abomination is committed in Iſraēl and in Ieruſalem: for Iudāh haſte deſiled the holines of the Lord, which he loued, and haſte married the p daughter of a ſtrange god.

12 The Lord wil cut of the man that doeth this: bothe the maſter and the ſeruāt out of the tabernacle of Iaakōb, and him that q offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hoſtes.

13 And this haue ye done againe, and r couered the altar of y Lord with teares, with weping and with mourning: becauſe the offering is no more regarded, nether receiued acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet ye ſay, ſ Wherein? Becauſe the Lord haſte bene witneſ betweene thee and thy wife of thy youth, againſt whome thou haſt tranſgreſſed: yet is ſhe thy t cōpanion, and the wife of thy u couenant.

15 And did not x he make one? yet had he y abundance of ſpirit: and wherefore one? becauſe he ſought a godlie z ſeed: therefore kepe your ſelues in your a ſpirit, and let none treſpaſſe againſt the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hateſt her, b put her away, ſaith the Lord God of Iſraēl, yet he couereth c the iniurie vnder his garment, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes: therefore kepe your ſelues in your ſpirit, and tranſgreſſe not.

17 Ye haue wearied the d Lord with your wordes: yet ye ſay, Wherein haue we wearied him? Whē ye ſay, Euerie one y doeth euil, is good in the ſight of the Lord, and he deliteth in them. Or where is the God of f iudgement?

boundes, and be ſober in minde, and bridle your affections. b Not that he doeth allowe diuorcement, but of the two fautes he ſheweth, which is the leſſe. c He thinketh it ſufficient to kepe his wife ſtil, albeit he take others, and ſo as it were couereth his fault. d Ye murmured againſt God, becauſe he heard not you aſſone as you called. e In thinking that God fauored the wicked, and haſte no reſpect to them that ſerue him, f Thus they blaſphemed God in condemning his power and iuſtice, becauſe he iudged not according to their fantaſies.

CHAP. III.

1 Of the meſſenger of the Lord, Iohn Baptiſt, and of Chrſts office.

1 Beholde, I wil ſend my a meſſenger, & he ſhal prepare the way before me: & the b Lord whome ye ſeke, ſhal ſpedely come to his Temple: euen the c meſſenger of the couenant whome ye deſire: beholde, he ſhal come, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

2 But who d may abide the day of his coming? and who ſhal endure, when he appeareth? for he is like a purging fyre, and like fullers ſope.

3 And he ſhal ſit downe to trye and fine the ſiluer: he ſhal euen fine the ſonnes of e Leui, and purifie them as gold & ſiluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteouſnes.

4 Then ſhal the offerings of Iudāh and Ieruſalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in olde time and in the yeres afore.

5 And I wil come nere to you to iudgemēt, and I wil be a ſwifte witneſ againſt the ſothſayers, and againſt the adulterers, and againſt falſe ſwearers, and againſt thoſe that wrongfully kepe backe the hirelings wages, and vexe the widdowe, and the fatherles, and oppreſſe the ſtranger, & feare not me, ſaith the Lord of hoſtes.

6 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye ſonnes of Iaakōb f are not conſumed.

7 From the daies of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: & returne vnto me, and I therefore he accuſeth them of ingratitude, and ſheweth that in that they are not daily conſumed, it is a token, that he doeth ſtil defend them: and ſo his mercie toward them neuer changeth. g Read Zechar. 13.

THE ARGUMENT.

THese booke that follow in order after the Prophetes vnto the Newe testament, are called Apocrypha, that is booke, which were not receiued by a comūne consent to be red and expounded publicly in the Church, nether yet serued to proue any point of Christian religion, saue in asmuche as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonical to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as booke proceeding from godlie men, were receiued to be red for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, & for the instruction of godlie maners: which booke declare that at all times God had an especial care of his Church and lest them not utterly destitute of teachers and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesse that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had bothe so threatened by his Prophetes, and so broght it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the tryal of his children.

1 Iosias appointeth Priests, and kepeth the Passeouer, 7 Offring, for the Priests and the people. 11 The order of the Leuites 23 The upright life of Iosias. 25 His death and the occasion thereof, and the lamentation for him. 34 Ioachaz appointed King. 35 The destruction of Ierusalem.

*2 King 23, 27
24, 25, 26.*

And Iosias kept the Passeouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passeouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

And appointed y Priests in order according to their dailie courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

And he spake to the Leuites the holy ministers of Israel, that they shulde sanctifie them selues to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the House, which Salomon the sonne of King Dauid had buylt,

And said, Ye shal no more beare the Arke vpon your shulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes,

After the writing of Dauid King of Israel, and according to the maiestie of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the ordre of the dignitie of your fathers the Leuites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

Offer in ordre the Passeouer, and make readie the sacrifices for your brethré, and kepe the Passeouer after the Lords commandement giuen to Moyses.

And Iosias gaue to the people that was present, thirtie thousand lambes and kiddes with thre thousand calues.

These were giuen of the Kings possessions according to the promes, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Leuites. Then gaue Helkias and Zacharias and Syelus the gouernours of the Temple, to the Priests for the Passeouer two thousand shepe, and thre hundreth calues.

Or, Iehiel.

Furthermore, Iechonias, and Samaias, and Nathanael his brother, and Sabias, and Chielus, and Ioram captaines gaue to the Leuites for the Passeouer five thousand shepe and seuen hundreth calues.

*Or, Hefabla.
Or, Iehiel.
Or, Chirabé.*

And when these things were done, the Priests and the Leuites stode in ordre, hauing vnleauened bread according to y tribes,

And after the ordre of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offere to the Lord, as it is written in the booke of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

And they roasted the Passeouer with fyre as appertained, & they sod their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pottes,

Exod. 12, 8.

And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for them selues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

For the Priests offered the fatte vnto the euening, and the Leuites did make ready for them selues, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

And the holy singers, the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, accordig to the appointed ordinances of Dauid, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and Eddimus, which was of the Kings appointment.

Or, Iedabba.

And the porters were at euery gate, so that it was not lawfull, y anie shulde passe his ordinarie watch: for their brethré the Leuites made readie for them.

And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passeouer,

18 And offre sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of King Iosias.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passeouer and the feast of vnleauened bread seuen daies.

20 And there was not suche a Passeouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the Kings of Israel did not offre suche a Passeouer, as did Iosias, and the Priestes, and the Leuites, and the Iewes, and all Israel, which were founde to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yere of the reigne of Iosias was this Passeouer kept.

23 The workes of Iosias were vpright before his Lord with a heart ful of godlines.

24 And concerning y things which came to passe in his time, they are written before, <sup>10</sup> wit, of those that sinned & did wickedly against the Lord aboue euerie nacion and kingdome, and grieved him with<sup>9</sup> sensible things, so that the wordes of the Lord stode vp against Israel.

<sup>10</sup>Or, by worshipping false gods & creatures.

2.Chro.35,20.

25 ¶ Now after all these actes of Iosias it came to passe that when Pharaos King of Egypt came to moue warre at Carchamis vpon Euphrates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But y King of Egypt sent to him, saying, What haue I to do with thee, o King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Euphrates, and now the Lord is with me, and the Lord hasteneth me forward: departe from me, and be not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias wolde not turne backe his chariot fro him, but prepared him self to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But he set him self in battel aray against him in the field of Megeddo, & the princes came downe to King Iosias.

30 And the King said to his seruants, Conuaye me out of the battel, for I am very weake. And by and by his seruants broght him out of the battel.

31 So he gate vp on his seconde chariot, and being come againe to Ierusalem he changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in all Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: & this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the boke of the stories of the Kings of Iudea, and euerie one of the actes y Iosias did, & his glorie, and his knowledgē in the lawe of the Lord, and the things which he did before, and the things now reherfed are registred in the boke of the Kings of Israel and Iudea.

34 Then they of the nacion toke* Ioachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him King in steade of his father Iosias, when he was thre and twentie yere olde. <sup>2.King.23,31</sup> <sup>2.Chro.36,1.</sup>

35 And he reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem thre moneths: for the King of Egypt deposd him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 He taxed also the people of an hundred talents of siluer, & one talent of gold.

37 And the King of Egypt made Ioachim his brother King of Iudea & Ierusalem.

38 And he bounde Ioachaz and his gouernours: but when he had taken Zaraces his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twentie and fiue yere olde was Ioachim, when he reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and he did euil in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, who whē he had boude him with a chaine of brasie, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor toke of the holie vessels of the Lord, & caryed the away, and set them in his temple at Babylon.

42 But all his actes, and his prophanation, and his reproche are written in the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 And Ioachim his sonne reigned for him: and when he was made King, he was eighrene yere olde.

44 And he reigned thre moneths and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and he did euil in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yere after Nabuchodonosor sent and broght him to Babylon with the holie vessels of the Lord.

46 And he made Sedecias King of Iudea and Ierusalem when he was one and twentie yere olde, & he reigned eleuen yeres.

47 And he did euil in y sight of the Lord, nether did he feare the wordes spoken* by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord. <sup>1er.31,24</sup>

48 For after that he was sworne to King Nabuchodonosor, he forswore him self by the Name of the Lord and fel away, and hardened his necke and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouerners of the people, and the Priestes comitted many things against the lawes and passed all the pollucions of all nacions, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Neuertheles the God of their Fathers sent sent his messenger to call them backe, because he spared them and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But thei derided his messengers, and in the day, that the Lord spake unto them, thei mocked his Prophetes.

52 So that he, being moued to angre against his people for their great wickednes, commanded the Kings of the Chaldeas to invade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sworde, rōde about their holie Temple, nether did they spare yong man, nor maiden, nether olde man, nor childe among them.

54 But he deliuered the all into their hāds, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, bothe great & smale with the vessels of the Arke of God: and they toke, & caryed away the Kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And thei set fyre in the House of y Lord and brake downe the walles of Ierusalem and burnt their towres with fyre.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, & broght them to nought, and those that were left by the sworde, he caryed away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, & to his children til the Persians reigned, to fulfil the worde of the Lord by the mouth of *Jeremias, Jerem. 27, 11.

Or 29, 10.

58 And that the lād might enioye her Sabbath all the time, that it was desolate, til seuentie yeres were accomplished.

CHAP. II.

1 Cyrus gaue leave to the Iewes to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their aduersaries did let their buylding, and the Kings letters for the same.

1 Chron. 36, 22
Or 4, 11.

IN the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus King of the Persians, to fulfil the worde of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremias,

2 The Lord raised vp the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, and he made proclamation through out all his kingdome, euen by expresse lettres,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus King of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, euen the moste high Lord, hath made me King ouer the whole worlde,

4 And he hath commanded me to buylde him an House in Ierusalem, which is in Iudea.

5 If there be anie therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, euē his Lord be with him, & let him go vp to Ierusalem, which is in Iudea & buylde the House of y Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Ierusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places rounde about, those, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with golde and siluer,

7 With giftes, with horses and cattel, and other things, which shalbe broght, according to the vowes into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Ierusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chief of the families of Iudea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests & Leuites, & all whose minde the Lord had moued to go vp, and buylde an House to the Lord in Ierusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with siluer and golde, horses, and cattel, and with diuers vowes of many whose mindes were stirred vp.

10 Also King Cyrus broght out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caryed out of Ierusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his idoles.

11 Now when Cyrus King of the Persians had broght them out, he deliuered the to Mithridates his treasurer, 12 By whome they were giuen to Abassar the gouernour of Iudea.

Or, Shaphar
Hazar, or Sanabaf far.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cuppes, and a thousand siluer cuppes, basens of siluer for the sacrifices, nine and twentie vials, of golde thirtie, and of siluer two thousand, foure hundred and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and siluer, which thei caried away, were fue thousand, foure hundred, thre score and nine.

15 They were broght by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Ierusalem.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerxes King of the Persians Belemus, & Mithridates, and Tabellius, and Rathumus, and Beeltethmus, & Semellius the secretarie, & others which were ioyned to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this epistle here following against the, that dwelt in Iudea & Ierusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD, Ezra. 4, 6.

Or, Bisclemus.
Or, Shimshi.

17 Thy seruants, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of their counsel, & the iudges which are in Coelosyria and Phenice.

18 Be it now therefore knowen to our lord the King, that the Iewes which came vp from you, are come to vs into Ierusalem, that rebellious and wicked citie, & buylde the marked places, and make vp the walles thereof, and laye the fundacions of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this citie be buylt, and the walles be finished, they wil not onely not indure to paye tribute, but wil also resist Kings.

20 And because the things, pertaining to the Temple, go forward, we thought it not mete to passe ouer suche a thing,

21 But to declare it to our lord the King, that if it be thy pleasure, it may be fought out in the booke of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt knowe that this citie did alwaies rebel, & did trouble bothe Kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwaies warres therein: for the which cause also this citie was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the King, we declare it, that if this citie be buylt and the walles thereof repared, you shal haue no more passage into Coelosyria, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the King wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Beeltethmus, and to Samellius the secretarie, and to the rest of those that were ioyned with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria and Phenice, these things that followe.

26 I haue red the epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it shulde be fought out, and it was founde, that this citie hath alwaies practised against Kings, 27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and warres, and how that mightie Kings and fierce haue reigned in Ierusalem, which toke tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to buylde vp the citie, and that it be taken hede that no more be done, 29 And that those wicked things, w<sup>ch</sup> shulde molest the King, go not forward.

30 Then when Rathumus, & Semellius the secretarie and the rest, which were ioyned with them, had red the things, which King Artaxerxes had writen, they moued their tents with speede to Ierusalem with horses and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which buylt, so that the buylding of the Temple in Ierusalem ceased vnto the seconde yere of the reigne of Darius King of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

1 The feast of Darius. 16 The thre wise sentences.

1 NOW when Darius reigned, he made a great feast to all his subiects & to all those of his owne house, and to all the princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernours & captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundreth and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, & were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slept, til he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time thre yong men of the garde, keepers of the Kings bodie, said one to another.

5 Let euerie one of vs speake a sentence, & he that shal ouercome, and whose sentence shal appeare wiser then the others, Darius the King shal giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victorie,

6 As to weare purple & to drinke in golde, and to slepe in golde, and a chariot with bridles of golde, an head tyre of fine line, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he shal sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shalbe called Darius counsellor.

8 Then euerie man wrote his sentence and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillowe of King Darius, 9 And said, when the King rose, thei wolde giue him the writing, and whose sentence the King and the thre princes of Persia shulde iudge to be wisest, to him shulde the victorie be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The King is strongest.

12 The other wrote, women are strongest, but trueth ouercometh all things.

13 ¶ And when the King rose, they toke the writings and gaue them to him, and he red them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours & the captaines, and lieutenants, and the consuls,

15 And sate him downe in the counsel, and the writing was red before them.

16 Then he said, Call the yong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And said on this maner, O ye men, how strong is wine! it deceiueh all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the King and of the fatherles bothe one, of the bonde man and of the fre man, of the poore man and of the riche man.

20 It turneth also euerie thought into ioye and gladnes, so that one remembreth no maner of sorow, nor det.

21 It maketh euerie heart riche, so that one remembreth nether King nor gouernour, & causeth to speake all things by talents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue ether friends or brethren, and a litle after they drawe out swordes.

23 But when they are from the wine, they do not remember what they haue done.

24 O ye men, is not wine strongest, which Coppelleth pellet to do suche things! & he helde his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. III.

Of the strength of a King. 13 Of the strength of women.

34 Of the strength of trueth, which sentence is approued.

47 And his petition granted.

Then the seconde which had spokē of the strēgth of the King, began to say,

1 O ye men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

2 But the King is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, & is lord of them, so that they do all things which he commadeth them.

3 If he bid the make warre one against another, they do it: if he send them out against the enemies, they go and breake downe mountaines and walles and towres.

4 They kil & are killed, & do not passe the comandement of the King: if they ouercome, they bring all to the King, as wel the spoyle as all other things,

5 And those also which go not to warre & battel, but til the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, & bring it to the King, and copell one another to paye tribute to the King.

6 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kil, they kil: if he sai, Spare, they spare.

7 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if he bid the, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Buylde, they buylde.

8 If he bid, Cut of, they cut of: if he bid, Plante, they plante.

9 So all his people & all his armies obey one mā: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh and slepeth.

10 For these kepe him rounde about: nether can any one go & do his owne busines, nether are they disobedient vnto him.

11 O ye men, how shulde not the King be strongest, seing he is thus obeied! So he helde his tongue.

12 ¶ Then the thirde which had spoken of women & of the trueth (this was Zorobabel) began to speake, 13 O ye men, nether the mightie King, nor many men nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them or hath dominion ouer the? are they not women?

14 Women haue borne the King & all the people which beare rule by sea & by land.

15 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them, which planted the vines, of which the wine is made.

16 They also make mens garments & make men honorable, nether can men be without women.

17 And if thei haue gathered together gold & siluer, or any goodlie thing, do they not loue a faire and beautiful woman?

18 Do they not leaue all those things & giue the selues wholly vnto her, & gaze, and gaze vpon her, & all men desire her more then gold, or siluer, or any precious thing!

19 A man leaueth his owne father which ha the nourished him, & his owne countrei, and is ioyned with his wife.

20 And for y woman he ieopardeth his life, and nether remembreth father nor mother nor countrey.

21 Therefore by this ye may knowe that y women beare rule ouer you: do ye not labour and trauail, and giue and bring all to the women?

22 Yea, a man taketh his sworde and goeth forth to kil & to steale, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 23 And he seeth a lion & goeth in darkenes, & when he hath stolen, rauished & spoiled, he bringeth it to his loue.

24 Wherefore a man loueth his owne wife more then father or mother.

25 Yea, many haue runne mad for women, and haue bene seruants for them.

26 Many also haue perished & haue erred and sinned for women.

27 Now therefore do you not beleue me: is not the King great in his power? do not all regions feare to touche him?

28 Yet I sawe him & Apame, the Kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Barchus, sitting on the right hand of the King.

29 And she toke the crowne of the Kings head, & put it vpon her owne, and stroke the King with her left hand.

30 Yet in the meane season the King gaped and gazed on her: & if she laughed at him, he laughed: & if she were angrie with him, he did flatter her that he might be reconciled with her.

31 How then, o ye men, are not women more strong, seing they do thus?

32 ¶ Then the King and the princes looked one vpon another, and he began to speake of the trueth.

33 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, & the heauen is hie, and the sonne is swift in his course: for he turneth rounde about heauē in one day, & runneth againe into his owne place.

34 Is not he great that maketh these things? therefore the trueth is greater and stronger then all.

35 All the earth calleth for trueth, and the heauen blesteth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, nether is there any vniust thing with it.

36 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, & all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked workes are suche, and there is no trueth in the, and they perish in their iniquitie.

37 But trueth doeth abide, and is strong for euer, and liueth and reigneth for euer and euer.

- 39 With her there is no receiuing of persons nor difference: but she doeth y<sup>e</sup> things which are iuste, & absteineeth from vniust & wicked things, and all men fauour her workes.
- 40 Nether is there any vniust thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdome and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of trueth.
- 41 So he ceased to speake, and then all the people cryed & said then, Trueth is great and strongest.
- 42 The King said vnto him, Aske what thou wilt besides y<sup>e</sup> which is appointed, & we wil giue it thee, because thou art founder the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by me, and shalt be called my cousin.
- 43 ¶ Then he said to the King, Remembre the vowe that thou hast vowed to buylde Ierusalem, in the day that thou tokest the kingdome,
- 44 And to send againe all the vessels y<sup>e</sup> were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set a parte when he made a vowe to cut of Babylon, & vowed to send them thither.
- 45 Thou also hast vowed to buylde the Temple, which the Idumeans burnt whē Iudea was destroyed by the Chaldeans.
- 46 And now, o Lord the King, this is that which I desire & require of thee, & this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I require therefore that thou woldest accomplish the vowe which thou hast vowed with thine owne mouth to do to the King of heauen.
- 47 Then King Darius rising vp, kissed him, & wrote him letters to all the stewar-des and lieutenants, and captaines, and gouernours, that thei shulde bring on y<sup>e</sup> waye bothe him, & all that were with him, which went vp to buylde Ierusalem.
- 48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelosyria and Phenice, & to the that were in Libanus, that they shulde bring cedre wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and buylde the citie wih him.
- 49 And he wrote for all y<sup>e</sup> Iewes, which wē vp out of his kingdome vnto Iudea, concerning their libertie, that no price, nor lieutenant, nor gouernour, nor steward shulde enter into their dores,
- 50 And that all the region which they kept, shulde paye no tribute, and that the Idumeans shulde let go the villages of the Iewes which they helde,
- 51 And that euerie yere there shulde be giuen for the buylding of the Temple twentie talents vntil it were buylt,
- 52 And to mainteine y<sup>e</sup> burnt offerings vpon the altar euerie day (as they had a commandement to offer seuentene) other ten talents euerie yere.
- 53 And that all they which went from Babylon to buylde y<sup>e</sup> citie, shulde haue libertie, aswel they as their posteritie, and all the Priests that went away.
- 54 He wrote also touching the charges and the Priests garment, wherein they shulde minister.
- 55 And he wrote that they shulde giue the Leuites their charges vntil the House were finished, and Ierusalem buylt.
- 56 Also he wrote that they shulde giue pensions & wages to them that kept the citie.
- 57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had set aparte out of Babylon, and whatsoeuer Cyrus had commanded to do, he also commanded to do it, and to send to Ierusalem.
- 58 And when the yong man was gone forth, he lift vp his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen,
- 59 Saying, Of thee is the victorie, & of thee is wisdom, & of thee is glorie, and I am thy seruant.
- 60 Blessed be thou which hast giue me wisdom: for vnto thee I acknowledge it, o Lord of our fathers.
- 61 ¶ So he toke y<sup>e</sup> letters & went out & came to Babylon & telled all his brethren.
- 62 And thei blessed y<sup>e</sup> God of their fathers, because he had giue thei freedom & libertie
- 63 To go vp & to buylde Ierusalem, & the Temple, where his Name is renoumed, & they reioyced with instruments of musick and ioye, seuen daies.

42 Their seruants and handmaides were seuen thousand, thre hundreth, fortie and seuen: the singing men and women, two hundreth, fortie and fise:

43 Camelles, foure hundreth, thirtie and fise: and horses, seuen hundreth, thirtie and fix: mules, two hundreth, fortie and fise: "beastes that bare y yocke, fise thousand, fise hundreth, twentie and fise.

44 And there were of the gouernours after their families, which when they were come to the Temple in Ierusalem, vowed to buyld the House in his owne place according to their power,

107, of gold twelue thousand pounde, & of siluer fise, & c.

45 And to giue to the treasure of the workes, "a thousand pound in golde, and fise thousand pound in siluer, and an hundreth priestlie garments.

46 And the Priests and the Leuites and the people dwelt in Ierusalem and in the countrei, & the holie singers & the porters and all Israel in their "villages.

47 ¶ But * when the seuenth moneth was nere, and when the children of Israel were euerie one at home, they were all gathered together with one accorde into the open place of the first gate, which is towarde the East.

48 Then Iesus the sonne of Iosedec and his brethren the Priests with Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel & his brethre, rising vp, made ready y altar of the God of Israel, 49 To offre burnt offrings vpon it according as it is written in the boke of Moyfes the man of God.

50 Whither also there were gathered agais̄t them of all nacions of the land: but they dressed the altar in his owne place, although all the nacions of the land were their enemies and vexed them, and they offred sacrifices according to the season, and burnt offrings to the Lord, morning & euening.

Leui. 23. 34.

51 They kept also the feast of tabernacles, as it is *ordeined in the Law, & offred sacrifices euerie day, as was requisite, 52 And afterwarde, the continual oblations and offrings of the Sabbaths & of the new moneths & of all holy feasts.

Exa. 3. 3.

53 ¶ And all * thei which had made any vowe to God, began to offre sacrifice vnto God in the first day of y seueth moneth, although the Temple of God was not yet buylt.

54 They gaue also money to the masons & to the workemen, and meat and drinke with gladnes, 55 And charrets to the Sidonians and to those of Tyrus to bring cedar wood out of Libanus, which shulde be brought by flots to the hauen of Ioppe, according to the commandement giuen vnto them by Cyrus King of Persia.

56 And in the second yere and second moneth came into the Temple of God in Ierusalem, Zorobabel the sonne of Salathiel, and Iesus the sonne of Iosedec, and their brethre, and the Priests & Leuites, and all they that came out of captiuitie into Ierusalem, Eccle. 49. 12.

57 And * layed the fundacion of the House of God in the first day of the second moneth of the second yere after their returne into Iudea and Ierusalem.

58 And they appointed y Leuites frō twētie yere olde ouer the workes of the Lord, and Iesus & his sonne, & his brethre, & his brother Cadmiel, & the sonnes of Madiabon with the sonnes of Ioda, the sonne of Heliadun, with their sonnes, & brethren, even all the Leuites with one accorde did followe after the worke, calling vpo the workes in the House of God: thus the workemen buylt the Temple of the Lord.

59 And the Priests stode clothed with their long garments with musical instruments & trumpets, and the Leuites the sonnes of Asaph with cymbales, 60 Singing & blessing y Lord, according to the ordinace of Dauid King of Israel.

61 And they sung with loud voice songs to the praise of the Lord, because his mercie and glorie is for euer in all Israel.

62 Then all the people blewe trumpets, and cryed with loud voice, praising y Lord for the raising vp of the House of the Lord.

63 Also some of the Priests & Leuites, and chief men, to wit, the Ancients, which had sene the former House,

64 Came to se the buyldig of this with weping and great crying, & manie with trumpets and ioye cryed with loude voice, 65 So that the people colde not heare the trumpets, because of the weping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets so that thei were heard far of.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iuda & Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was,

67 And they knewe that they of the captiuitie buylt the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

68 Wherefore they coming to Zorobabel, & Iesus, and the chief of the families, said vnto unto them, Let vs buyld also with you.

Asarabacca.

70 Then Zorobabel, and Iesus, & the chief of the families of Israel said to them, It doeth not appertaine to vs, and to you to buyld an House to the Lord our God.

БЛРД.4.4.

73 Howbeit the people of the land made them sluggish that were in Iudea, and letted them to buyld the worke, and by their ambushments and seditions & conspiracies hindred the finishing of the buyldig,

In that time Sifinnes the gouernour of Syria, and Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes with his companions came vnto them,

4 And said vnto them, By whose commandement buyld you this House & this buyld-ing, and enterprife all these other things?
and who are the buylders that enterprife suche things?

5 But the Ancients of the Iewes had grace of the Lord after that he had visited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted to buyld, vntil it was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

¶ The copie of the epistle, which he did write and send to Darius, s i s i n n e s go uernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathrabouzanes, and their companiōs, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius.

It may please the King our master plainly to vnderstand, that when we came to the countrey of Iudea, and entred into the citie of Ierusalem, we found in the citie of Ierusalem the Ancients of the Lawes that were of the captiuitie, 9 Building an House to the Lord, great & newe, of hewen stones, and of great price, and the timber all ready laid vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great spede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it wil be finished with all glorie & diligence.

ii Then we asked their Ancients, saying,
By whose commandment buyld you this House & lay y<sup>e</sup> fundacion of these workes?

12 We asked them these things to the intēt to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therefore we demāded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, We are the servants of the Lord, which hath created the heaven and the earth.

14 And* this Houſe was buylt vp manie ye- 1. King. 6. 2.
res ago by a King of Iſrael great & ſtrōg, and was finiſhed.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, *which is in heauē,** he deliuered them into 2. King. 24.1
the hands of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon of the Chaldeans,

16 Who brake downe the House & burnt it, & caryed the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this House shulde be buylt vp.

18 And y<sup>e</sup> holie vessels of golde & of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caryed out of the House at Ierusalem, & had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the King took out of the Tēple at Babylon, & they were giuen to Zorobabel, and to S<sup>n</sup>abassar<sup>us</sup> ruler.

9 And a cōmandement was giuē vnto him, y he shulde cary away those vessells, & put the in y Tēple at Ierusalē, & that this Tēple of y Lord shulde be buylt in this place.

20 The same Sanabassar, being come hether, layed the foundations of the House of the Lord at Ierusalem, and since that time til now, it is in buylding, & is not finished.

Now therefore if it please the King, let it be sought vp in the Kings libraries concerning Cyrus.

12 And if it be found that the buylding of y<sup>e</sup> House of the Lord at Ierusalem hath bene done by the cōsent of King Cyrus, & if it seme good to the lord our King, let him make vs answer cōcerning these things.

Then King Darius commanded to searche in the Kings libraries, that were in Babylon, and there was founde in Ecbatane, which is a towre in the region of Media, a place where suche things were layed vp for memorie.

I. Esdras.

- 24 In the first yere of the reigne of Cyrus, King Cyrus commāded the House of the Lord at Ierusalem to be buylded, where thei did sacrifice with the continual fyre.
- 25 Of the w<sup>ch</sup> the height shulde be of thre-score cubites, the breadth of thre-score cubites with thre rowes of hewen stones, & one rowe of newe wood of that countrey, and that the costs shulde be payed out of the house of King Cyrus.
- 26 And that the holie vessels of the House of the Lord, aswel those of golde as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had caryed out of the house in Ierusalem, and broght into Babylon, shulde be restored to the House, which is in Ierusalem, & set in the place where they were afore.
- 27 Also he commanded that Sisinnes, gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathabouzan, and their companions, and those which were constitute captaines in Syria and Phenice, shulde take hede to refraine from that place, and to suffer Zorobabel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Iudea, and the Elders of the Iewes to buyld that House of the Lord in that place.
- 28 And I also haue commanded to buyld it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Iewes, til the House of the Lord be finished,
- 29 And that some parte of the tribute of Coelosyria and Phenice shulde be diligently giuen to these men for sacrifice vn to the Lord, and to Zorobabel the gouernour, for bulles, rams and lambes:
- 30 Also corne, & salte, and wine, and oile continually euerie yere without faile, as the Priests, which are in Ierusalem shal testifie to be spent euerie day,
- 31 That offrings may be made to the high God for the King, and his children, & that they may pray for their liues.
- 32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoever shulde transgresse anie thing afore spoken or writen, or derogate anie thing thereof, that a tre shulde be taken out of his possession, and he be hanged thereon, and that his goods shulde be the Kings.
- 33 And therefore let the Lord whose Name is there called vpon, destroye euerie King and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or do euil to that House of the Lord which is in Ierusalem.
- 34 *I Darius the King haue ordeined that it shulde be diligētly executed according to these things.
- 1 Then Sisinnes the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathabouzan, & their companiōs, obeying King Darius commandements,
- 2 Assisted diligently the holie workes, working with the Ancients and gouernours of the Sanctuarie.
- 3 And the holie workes prospered by Ageus and Zacharias the Prophetes which prophecied.
- 4 So they finished all things by the commādemēt of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes Kings of the Persians.
- 5 Thus the holie House was finished in the thre and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the sixt yere of Darius King of the Persians.
- 6 ¶ And the childre of Israel, and y<sup>e</sup> Priests and the Leuites, and the rest, which were of the captiuitie, & had anie charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moses.
- 7 And they offred for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundreth bulles, two hundreth rams, foure hundreth lambes,
- 8 And twelue goates for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the chief of the tribes of Israel.
- 9 And the Priests, and the Leuites stode according to their kinreds clothed with long robes in the workes of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moses, and also the porters in euerie gate.
- 10 And the children of Israel offred the Passeouer together with them of the captiuitie, in the fourtēth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Leuites were sanctified.
- 11 But all the children of the captiuitie were not sanctified together, but all the Leuites were sanctified together.
- 12 And they offred the Passeouer, for all the children of the captiuitie, and for their brethren the Priests, and for them selues.
- 13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captiuitie did eat, euen all they that had separated them selues from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.
- 14 And they kept the feast of vnleauened bread seuen dayes, reioycing before the Lord,
- 15 Because he had turned the counsel of the King of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the workes of the Lord God of Israel.

1 Esdras cometh from Babylon to Ierusalem. 10 The copie of the commission giuen by Artaxerxes. 29 Esdras giueth thanks to the Lord. 32 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confession.

1 And

- 1 ANd after these things when Artax-Erxes King of the Persians reigned, 16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Esdras the sonne of " Saraïas, the sonne of Ezerias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Salum,
 2 The sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of " Ezias, the sonne of " Memeroth, the sonne of " Zariaas, the sonne of " Sauias, the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abisum, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron was the hie Priest.
 3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, & was a scribe wel taught in the Law of Moyfes, given by the Lord God of Israel.
 4 Also the King gaue him great honour, & he founde grace in his sight in all his re-questes.
 5 With him also there departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Leuites, and of the holy singers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple vnto Ierusalem,
 6 In the seuēth yere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, & in the fift moneth: this was the se-uēth yere of the King (for thei went out of Babylō in the first day of the first moneth, 7 And came to Ierusalem according as the Lord gaue them speed in their iournay)
 8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that he wolde let nothig passe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the cōmandements, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and iudgements.
 9 So the commissiō written by King Artaxerxes was giuen Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.
 10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, & reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutaciō.
 11 Forasmuche as I consider things with pitie, I haue commanded that they that wil and desire of the naciō of the Iewes, and of the Priests and Leuites, which are in our kingdome, shulde go with thee vnto Israel.
 12 Therefore as many as be willing, let them departe together, as it hath sēd good to me and my seuen friends the counsellers,
 13 That they may visite the things that are in Iudea and Ierusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord, 14 And cary the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Ierusalem, which I and my friends haue vowed: also all the golde and siluer, which shal be founde in the countrey of Babylon appertēning to the Lord in Ieru-salem,
 15 With that which is giuen of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Ierusalem, af-wel siluer as golde, for bulles, and rams, & lambes, and things thereunto pertainēg, 16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord vpon the altar of the Lord their God, which is in Ierusalem.
 17 And whatsoeuer thou and thy brethren wil do with the golde or siluer, accōplish it according to the wil of thy God.
 18 And the holy vessels of the Lord, which are giuen thee for the vse of the Temple of thy God, which is in Ierusalem, thou shalt set before thy God in Ierusalem.
 19 And what other things soeuer thou shalt remember for the vse of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt giue it out of y Kings treasure.
 20 And I also King Artaxerxes haue commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoeuer Esdras, the Priest & reader of the Law of the hiest God, shal send for, they shulde giue it him with all speede, euen to the some of an hundreth talents of siluer, 21 And likewise vnto an hundreth cores of corne, and an hundreth pieces of wine and other things in abundance.
 22 Let all things be done to the hiest God according to the Law of God with diligence, that wrath come not vpo the kingdome of the King and of his sonnes.
 23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of y Priests or Leuites, or holy singers, or porters or ministers of the Temple, or of the workemen of this Temple, no tribute nor taxe be taken, nor that any haue power to taxe them in any thing.
 24 Thou also, Esdras, according to the wis-dome of God, ordeine iudges and gouer-nours, that they may iudge in all Syria & Phenice all those which are wel instructed in the Law of thy God, and teache those, which are not instructed.
 25 And let all those which shal transgresse the Law of God & the King, be diligently punished, ether with death, or other punishment, ether with penaltie of money, or banishment.
 26 ¶ The Esdras the scribe said, Blessed be the onelie Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the King to glorifie his House which is in Ierusalem, 27 And hath honoured me before y King, and the counsellors, and all his friends and gouernours.
 28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to go vp with me.
 29 These are the guides after their families and order of dignities, which came vp with me out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the King.
 30 Of the sonnes of Phinees, Gersom, of the sonnes of Ichamar, Gamael, of the son-nes of Dauid " Lettus.

I. Esdras.

- 31 Of y<sup>e</sup> sonnes of Sechenias, of the sonnes of Phares, Zacharias, and with him were counted an hundreth and fiftie men.
- 32 Of the sonnes of "Salomō, Abeliacnias the sonne of Zacharias, and with him two hundreth men.
- 33 Of the sonnes of Zathoe, Sechenias the sonne of Iezolus, & with him thre hundreth men: of the sonnes of Adin, "Obeth sonne of Ionathas, and with him two hundreth and fiftie men.
- 34 Of the sonnes of Elam "Iefias, sonne of Gotholias, and with him seuentie men.
- 35 Of the sonnes of Saphatias, Zarias sonne of "Machael, and with him seuentie men.
- 36 Of the sonnes of Ioab "Badias sonne of Iezelus, and with him two hundreth and twelue men.
- 37 Of the sonnes of "Banid, Assalimoth sonne of Iosaphias, and with him an hundreth and threscore men.
- 38 Of the sonnes of Babi, Zacharias sonne of Bebai, and wth him twentie & eight mē.
- 39 Of the sonnes of "Astath, Iohannes sonne of Acatan, & with him an hundreth & tē.
- 40 Of the sonnes of Adonicam the last: & these are the names of them, Eliphalat, "Ieouel and "Maias, and with them seuentie men: of the sonnes of "Bagouthi sonne of Isacourus, & with him seuentie men.
- 41 ¶ And I gathered them together to the flood called *Theras, & pitched our tents there thre daies, and nombred them.
- 42 But when I had founde there none of the Priests nor Leuites,
- 43 I sent to Eleazar, and beholde, there came "Maasman, and Alnathan, & Samaian, and "Ioribon, & Nathan, Ennatan, Zacharian, & Mosollamon the chief, & best learned.
- 44 And I bad them to go to Daddeus the captaine, which was in the place of the treasurie,
- 45 With charge to bidde Daddeus and his brethren, & the treasurers that were there, to send to vs them, which shulde offer sacrifice in the House of our Lord.
- 46 And they broght vnto vs by the mightie hand of our Lord learned men of the sonnes of Moli, the sonne of Leui, the sonne of Israel, to wit, "Cisebebran & his sonnes, and his brethren being eightene.
- 47 And Asebia, and "Annon, & Osaian his brethrē of the sonnes of "Canaineus with their sonnes, twentie persones.
- 48 And of the ministers of the Temple, wth Dauid gaue, & those which were rulers ouer the worke of the Leuites, to wit, ministers of the Temple, two hundreth & twētie, of whome all the names were registred.
- 49 ¶ And *there I proclaimed a fast for the yong men before the Lord to aske of him a good iourney bothe for vs, and for them that were with vs, for our children, & for our cattel.
- 50 For I was ashamed to aske the King footmen, or horsemen, or condict for sauēgarde against our enemies,
- 51 Because we had said to the King, that the power of our Lord shulde be with thē that fought him to direct them in all thigs.
- 52 Wherefore we praied our Lord againe, according to these things, whome we founde fauorable.
- 53 Then I chose from among the chief of y<sup>e</sup> tribes & of the Priests, twelue men, to wit, "Esebias and Assanias, and with them ten of their brethren.
- 54 And I weighed them the siluer and the golde, & the holy vessels of the House of our Lord, which the King and his counsellors, & his princes, & all Israel had giue.
- 55 And I weighed thē, six hundreth & fifty talents of siluer, & siluer vessels of an hundreth talēts, & an hundreth talēts of golde,
- 56 And twentie golden basens, & twelue vessels of brasse, of fine brasse shining like golde.
- 57 And I said to them, You are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the golde, and the siluer is a vowe to the Lord of our fathers.
- 58 Watch and kepe them, til that you giue thē to the heads of the families of the Priests, and Leuites, and captaines of the families of Israel in Ierusalem in the chambers of the House of our God.
- 59 So the Priests & Leuites toke the siluer and the golde, & the vessels, & caryed thē to Ierusalem to the Temple of the Lord.
- 60 And we departed frō the flood Thera, in the twelue day of the first moneth, & came to Ierusalem, according to y<sup>e</sup> mightie power of our Lord with vs: and the Lord deliuered vs from the beginning of our iourney from all enemies. So we came to Ierusalem.
- 61 And thre daies being past there, in the fourth day the siluer that was weighed, & the golde was deliuered in the House of our Lord to "Marmoth the Priest the sonne of Iouri,
- 62 And with him to Eleazar y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Phinees: & there were with them, Iosabad the sonne of Iesus, & "Moeth sonne of Sabbanus, Leuites: all was deliuered them by number and weight.
- 63 And all the weight of them was written that same houre.
- 64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captiuitie, offred sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, euen twelue bulles for all Israel, rams foure score and sixtene,
- 65 Lābs thre score & twelue, twelue goates for saluacion, all in sacrifice to the Lord.
- 66 And they presented the commandemēts of the King to the Kings stewards, & to y<sup>e</sup> gouernours gouernours of Coelosyria & Phenice who honored the people, and the Temple of God.

67 ¶ When these things were done, the gouernours came to me, saying, The people of Israel, the princes and the Priests, & the Leuites haue not separated from them the strange people of the land, 68 Nor the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit, of the Cananites, and Chetites, and Pherefites, and Iebusites, and Moabites, and Egyptians, and Idumeans.

69 For they haue dwelt with their daughters, bothe they and their sonnes, and the holie sede is mixed with the strange people of the lād, & the gouernours & rulers haue bene partakers of this wickednes frō the beginning of the thing.

70 And aslone as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holie garment, & I pulled the heere of mine head, and of my bearde, and sate me downe sorowful, and verie sad.

71 Thē also all they that were moued with the worde of the Lord God of Israel, came to me: whiles I wepte for the iniquitie, but I sate verie sad til the euening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fast with my clothes torne, and the holie garment, and bowed my knees and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord, 73 And said, *O Lord, I am ashamed, & cōfounded before thy face.

74 For our sinnes are increased aboue our heades, & our ignorances are lifted vp to heauen.

77 And now how great hath thy mercie bene, O Lord, that there shulde be left vs a roote, and name in the place of thine holines!

78 And that thou shuldest reueale to vs a light in the House of the Lord our God, and giue vs meat in the time of our seruitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gaue vs fauour before the Kings of the Persians, that they shulde giue vs meat, 80 And that they shulde honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise vp Sion that is desolate, and giue vs assurance in Iudea & Ierusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shal we say, hauiug these things? for we haue transgressed thy commandements, which thou hast giuen by the hands of thy seruants the Prophetes, saying,

82 * Because the land, which ye go to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which haue filled it with their filthines,

83 Therefore now ye shal not ioine their daughters with your sonnes, nether giue your daughters to their sonnes, 84 Nether shal you desire to haue peace with them for euer, that ye may be made strong, and eat the good things of the lād, and leaue it for an inheritance to your children for euer.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked workes, and for our great sinnes: yet, Lord, thou hast forborne our sinnes, 86 And hast giuen vs suche a roote: but we againe haue turned backe to transgresse thy Law, & to mixe vs with the vncleannes of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angrie with vs to destroye vs, so that thou shuldest nether leaue vs roote nor sede nor name?

88 But, O Lord of Israel, thou art true: for there is a roote left, euen vnto this day.

89 Beholde, we are now before thee with our iniquities, nether can we indure before thee for these things.

90 ¶ And * as Esdras prayed and confessed and wept, and laye vpon the ground before the Temple, a verie great multitude was gathered vnto him out of Ierusalem of men and women, and yong children: for there was great lamentation among the multitude.

91 Then Iechonias y sonne of Ieel of the sōnes of Israel, crying out said, O Esdras, we haue sinned against the Lord God: we haue taken in mariage strange women of the nations of the land.

92 And now all Israel is douteful: therefore let vs make an othe concerning this to the Lord to put away all our wiues, which are strangers, with their children.

93 If it seme good to thee, and to all them that obey the Law of the Lord, rise vp and put it in execution.

94 For to thee doeth it apperteine, & we are with thee to make thee strong.

95 Then Esdras arose, & made all the chief of the families of the Priests and Leuites of all Israel to sweare, that they wolde do thus: and they sware.

CHAP. IX.

¶ After Esdras had red the law for the strange wiues, they promise to put them away.

1 Then * Esdras rose from the court of the Temple, & went to the chamber of Ioannan the sonne of Eliafib,

2 And being lodged there, he did eat no bread nor dranke water, but mourned for the great iniquities of the multitude.

3 And there was a proclamation in all Iudea and Ierusalem to all them, that were of the captiuitie, that they shulde be gathered to Ierusalem,

4 And that all they which shulde not mete there within two or thre dayes, according to the ordinace of the Elders, which baie rule, shulde haue their cattel confiscated to the Temple, and he cast out from among them of the captiuitie.

5 Then all they which were of the tribe of Iuda and Benjamin, came together within thre dayes into Ierusalem: this was the ninth moneth and twentieth day of the moneth.

6 And all the multitude sate in the broad place of the Temple shaking, because of the extreme winter.

7 Then Esdras arose and said to them, Ye haue sinned: for ye haue married strange wiues, so that ye haue augmented the sinnes of Israel.

8 Now therefore confesse and glorifie the Lord God of our fathers, 9 And do his wil, and separate your selues from the people of the land, and from the strange wiues.

10 Then all the multitude cryed out and said with a loude voyce, We wil do so as thou hast said.

11 But because the multitude is great, and the time is winter, so that we can not stand without, and the worke is not of one day nor of two, seing that manie of vs haue sinned in this matter,

12 Let the chief men of the multitude and all they which haue strange wiues of our families, tarie:

13 And let the Priests and iudges come out of all places at the day appointed, til they haue appeased the wrath of y Lord against vs for this matter.

or, Labaxias. or, Thecan.

14 Then Ionathas Afaels sonne, and Ezecias sonne of Thecan were appointed conderning these things, and Mosollam and Sabateus did helpe them.

15 And they which were of the captiuitie, did after all these things.

16 Esdras the Priest also chose him certeine men, chief of their families, all by name: & they sate together in the first day of the tenth moneth to examine this matter.

17 And they made an end of the things pertaining to them that had married strange wiues in the first day of y first moneth.

18 And there were founde of the Priests, which had married strange wiues, or, Maspar.

or, Iedaiab.

19 Of the sonnes of Iesus, the sonne of Iosedec, & of his brethren Mathelas, & Eleazar, and Ioribus, and Ionadan.

20 Who also gaue their hands to cast out their wiues, and offered a ram for their reconciliation in their purgation.

21 And of the sonnes of Emmer Ananias, or, Anani, & Zabiah. and Zabdeus, and Canes, and Sameius, and Hiereel, and Azarias.

22 And of the sonnes of Phaisu, Ellionas, or, Phaspar, Elihuai Maspar, Iosaphat, & Iosaphat, & Iosaphat, & Iosaphat. Massias, Esmaelus, and Nathanael, and Ocidelus, and Talsas.

23 And of the Leuites Iorabadus, and Semis, and Colius, who was called Calitas, or, Iosaphat, & Iosaphat, & Iosaphat, & Iosaphat. and Patheus, and Ooudas, and Ionas.

24 Of the holie singers, Eliazurus, Bachurus, or, Eliado, & Bachur.

25 Of the porters, Sallumus, & Tolbanes, or, Sallum.

26 Of them of Israel, of the sonnes of Phorus, Hiermas, and Eddias, & Melchias, & Maelus, & Eleazar, & Afibias, & Banaias, or, Remia, & Banaia.

27 Of the sonnes of Ela, Matthanias, Zacharias, and Hierielas, and Hieremoth, and Aedias, or, Elam, & Iehiel, & Ieremias, & Helian.

28 And of the sonnes of Zamoth, Eliadas, Elisimus, Orthonias, Iarimoth, and Sabatus, and Sardeus, or, Zacharias, & Iosaphat, & Iosaphat, & Iosaphat.

29 Of the sonnes of Bēbai, Ioannes, and Ananias, and Iosaphat, and Ematheas, or, Erbe, & Iosaphat, & Emah.

30 Of the sonnes of Mani, Olamus, Mamuchus, Iēdaia, Iasubus, Iasael, and Ieremoth, or, Mani, Olam, & Maluch, & Iasael, & Iasael.

31 And of the sonnes of Addi, Naathus, Moofias, Laccunus, and Naidus, and Matthanias, and Sefchel, and Balnuus, and Manasseas, or, Addi, Naathus, Laccun, & Banaia, & Banaia, & Banaia, & Banaia.

32 And of the sonnes of Annas, Elionas, & Aseas, and Melchias, and Sabbeus, and Simon a Chosamite.

33 And of the sonnes of Afom, Altaneus, & Matthias, and Bannaias, Eliphalar, & Manasseas, and Semei, or, Afom, & Matthias, & Matthias, & Matthias.

34 And of the sonnes of Maani, Ieremias, Momdis, Omairus, Inel, Mamai, and Pacchias, and Amos, Carabasion and Euasibus, and Mamnimatanaius, Elisiasis, Vamus, Elialj, Samis, Selemias, Nathanas, & of the sonnes of Ozoras, Sefis, Efril, Azailus, Samatas, Sambis, Iosiphus, or, Maani, Ieremias, Momdis, Omairus, Inel, Mamai, & Pacchias, & Amos, & Carabasion, & Euasibus, & Mamnimatanaius, & Elisiasis, & Vamus, & Elialj, & Samis, & Selemias, & Nathanas, & Ozoras, & Sefis, & Efril, & Azailus, & Samatas, & Sambis, & Iosiphus.

35 And of the sonnes of Ethna, Mazitias, Zabadias, Ethes, Inel, Banaias, or, Ethna, & Mazitias, & Zabadias, & Ethes, & Inel, & Banaias.

36 All these married strange wiues, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Priests & the Leuites dwelt in Ierusalem, & in the countrey, the first day of the seuenth moneth, and the childre of Israel in their owne houses.

38 ¶ Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East, or, Iosaphat, & Iosaphat, & Iosaphat, & Iosaphat.

39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that he shulde bring the Law of Moses, which had bene giue by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then broght Esdras the chief Priest the Law to all the multitude, bothe man and woman, woman, and to all the Priests, that they might heare the Law the first day of the seuenth moneth.

41 And he red in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to y<sup>e</sup> Law.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law, stode vpo a pulpet of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stode by him "Matgathias, Samus, Ananias, Azarias, Ourias, Ezecias, Balasamus at his right hand, 44 And at his left hand "Phaldaius, and Sail, Melchias, Aothasaphus, Nabarias.

45 Then Esdras toke y<sup>e</sup> boke of the Law before the multitude (for he sate honorably before them all)

46 And they all stode vpright when he expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the moste hie God, the moste mightie God of hostes.

47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.

48 Then Iesus and Anus, and Sarabias, and Adimus, & Iacobus, Sabaraias, Autanias, Maianias and Calitas, Azarias, & Ioazabdus, and Ananias, & Biatas the Leuites lift vp their hands, and fell downe on the grounde, and worshiped the Lord, 49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and stode also earnestly vpon the reading.

50 Then said "Aththarates to Esdras the chief Priest and reader, & to the Leuites, that taught the multitude in all things, This day is holie vnto the Lord, and all haue wept in hearing of the Law.

51 Go therefore and eat the fat meates, & drinke the swete drinks, and send presents to them that haue not.

52 For this day is holie to the Lord, and be not sorie: for the Lord God wil glorifie you.

53 So the Leuites commanded all these things to the people, saying, This day is holie to the Lord: be not sad.

54 Then they departed all to eat, and drinke, and to reioyce, and to giue presents to the that had not, and to make good chere.

55 For they were yet filled with the wordes wherewith they were instructed, whē they were assembled together.

II. Esdras.

CHAP. I.

1 The people is reprovēd for their unfaithfulness.
2 God wil haue another people, if these wil not be reformed.

He second boke of the Prophet *Esdras, the sonne of Saraias, y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sadanias, the sonne of Sadoc, the sonne of Achitob,

3 The sonne of Achias, y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Heli, the sonne of Amerias, the sonne of Asie, the sonne of Marimoth, the sonne of Arua, the sonne of Ozias, the sonne of Borith, the sonne of Abisei, the sonne of Phinees, the sonne of Eleazar,
3 The sonne of Aaron (of the tribe of Leui) which Esdras was prisoner in the lād of Medes, in the reigne of Artaxerxes King of Persia.

4 * And the worde of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

5 Go, and shewe my people their sinnes, & their children their wickednes, which they haue comitted against me, that they may tel their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they haue forgotten me, and haue offred vnto strange gods.

7 Haue not I broght them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage? but they haue prouoked me vnto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Pull thou of then the heere of thine head, and cast all euil vpon them: for they haue not bene obedient vnto my Law, but they are a rebellious people.

9 How long shal I forbear the, vnto whome I haue done somuche good?

10 *Many Kings haue I destroyed for their sakes: Pharaos with his seruants and all his armie haue I smitten downe.

11 All the nacions haue I destroyed before them: * I haue destroyed the East, the people of the two countreis Tyrus and Sidō, and haue slaine all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therefore vnto the, saying, Thus saith the Lord, 13 *I haue led you thorow the Sea, and haue giuen you a sure way, since the beginning: *I gaue you Moyse for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

14 *I gaue you light in a pillar of fyre, and great wonders haue I done amōg you: yet haue ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith y<sup>e</sup> Almighty Lord, The quailles were a tokē vnto you: I gaue you tentes for sauegarde, wherein ye murmured:

16 And ye triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmure stil.

17 Where are the benefites, that I haue done for you? when ye were hungrie in the wilderness, *did ye not cry vnto me?

18 Saying, Why hast thou broght vs into this wildernes to kill vs: It had bene better for vs to haue serued the Egyptians, then to dye in this wildernes.

Wis. 16. 20. 19 I had pitie vpon your mournings, and gaue you Manna to eat: * so ye did eat Angels fode.

Nom. 20. 11. Wis. 11. 4. 20 * When ye were thirstie, did not I cleaue the stone, & waters did flowe out to satisfie you: from the heat I couered you with the leaues of the trees,

Isa. 5. 4. 21 And I gaue you fat countreis: I cast out the Cananites, & Pherefites, & Philistims before you: * what shal I do more for you, saith the Lord?

Exod. 15. 25. 22 Thus saith the almightie Lord, * When ye were in the wildernes at the bitter waters, being a thirst, and blaspheming my Name, 23 I gaue you not fyre for the blasphemies, but cast a tie into the water, and made the riuer swete.

Exod. 32. 8. 24 What shal I do vnto thee, o Iacob: thou * Iuda woldest not obey: I wil turne me to other nations, and vnto those wil I giue my Name, that they may kepe my lawes.

25 Seing ye haue forsaken me, I wil also forsake you: when ye aske mercie of me, I wil not haue pitie vpon you.

Isa. 1. 15. 26 * When ye call vpon me, I wil not heare you: for ye haue defiled your hands with blood, and your fete are swift to commit murther, 27 Althogh ye haue not forsaken me, but your owne selues, saith the Lord.

28 Thus saith the almightie Lord; Haue I not prayed you, as a father his sonnes, and as a mother her daughters, and as a nurse her yong babes, 29 That ye wolde be my people, as I am your God, and that ye wolde be my children, as I am your father?

Mat. 23. 37. 30 * I gathered you together as an henne gathereth her chickens vnder her wings: but now what shal I do vnto you? I wil cast you out from my sight.

Isa. 5. 13. 31 * When ye bring gifts vnto me, I wil turne my face from you for your solene feast dayes: your new moones, & your circumcisions haue I forsaken.

32 I sent vnto you my seruants the Prophetes, whome ye haue taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I wil reuenge, saith the Lord.

33 Thus saith the almightie Lord, Your house shalbe desolate: I wil cast you out as the winde doeth the stubble.

34 Your children shal not haue generaciō: for thei haue despised my commandemēt, & done the thing that I hate before me.

35 Your houses wil I giue vnto a people to come, who shal beleue me thogh they heare me not, and they, vnto whome I neuer shewed miracle, shal do the things that I command them.

36 Thogh they se no Prophetes, yet shal they hate their iniquities.

37 ¶ I wil declare the grace that I wil do for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnes, and thogh they haue not seene me with bodelie eyes, yet in heart they beleue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, beholde what great glorie, and se the people that come from the East.

39 Vnto whome I wil giue for leaders Abraham, Isahac, Iacob, Oseas, Amos, Micheas, Ioel, Abdias, Ionas, 40 Naum, Habacuc, Sophonias, Aggeus, Zacharias, and Malachias (which is called also the * messenger of the Lord) Malach. 3. 1.

CHAP. II.

The Synagogue findeth faute with her owne children. 15 The Gentiles are called.

1 Thus saith the Lord, I broght this people out of bondage: I gaue them also my commandements by my seruants the Prophetes, whome they wolde not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, saith vnto them, Go you away, o children: for I am a widdowe and forsaken.

3 I broght you vp with gladnes, but with sorowe and heauines haue I lost you: for ye haue sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shal I now do vnto you? I am a widdowe and forsaken: go ye, o my children, and aske mercie of the Lord.

5 And thee, o father, I call for a witnes for the mother of these children, which wolde not kepe my couenant,

6 That thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a spoile, that their kinred be not continued.

7 Let their names be scatred among the heathen: let them be put out of the earth, for they haue despised my couenant.

8 Wo vnto thee, Assur: for thou hidest the vnrighteous in thee: o wicked people, remember * what I did vnto Sodom and Gomorrha, Gen. 19. 24.

9 Whose lād is mixt with cloudes of pitch and heapes of ashes: so wil I do vnto the, that heare me not, saith the almightie Lord.

10 ¶ Thus saith the Lord vnto Esdras, Tel my people, that I wil giue them the kingdome of Ierusalem, which I wolde haue giuen vnto Israel.

11 And I wil get me glorie by them, and giue the the euerlasting tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shal haue at wil the tre of life, smelling of ointement: they shal nether labour nor be weary.

13 Go ye, & ye shal receaue it: pray that the time, time, which is long, may be shortened: the kingdome is already prepared for you: watche.

14 Take heauen and earth to witnes: for I haue abolished the euil, and created the good: for I liue, saith the Lord.

15 Mother, embrace thy children, and bring them vp with gladnes: make their fete as fast as a pillar: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead, wil I raise vp from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I haue knowen my Name in Israel.

17 Feare not, thou mother of the children: for I haue chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I wil send thee my seruants Esaie and Ieremie to helpe thee, by whose counfel I haue sanctified & prepared for thee twelue trees laden with diuers frutes, 19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seuen mightie mountaines, whereupon there growe roses and lilies, whereby I wil fil thy children with ioye.

20 Execute iustice for the widdowe: iudge the cause of the fatherles: giue to the poore: defende the fatherles: clothe the naked.

21 Heale the wounded, and sicke: laugh not a lame man to scorne: defend the crepel, and let the blinde come into the light of my clerences.

22 Kepe the olde & the yong that are within thy walles.

23 *Wherefoeuer thou findest the dead, take them and burye them, and I wil giue thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Abide stil, o my people, and rest: for thy quietnes shal come.

25 Nourish thy childre, o thou good nurse: stablish their fete.

26 None of the seruants that I haue giuen thee, shal perish: for I wil seke them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and heauines commeth, other shal wepe and be soroweful, but thou shalt be merry and haue abundance.

28 The heathen shal enuie thee, and shal do nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Mine hands shal couer thee, so that thy children shal not fe hell.

30 Be ioyful, o thou mother, with thy children: for I wil deliuer thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that slepe: for I wil bring the out of the sides of the earth, and wil shewe mercie vnto them: for I am merciful, saith the Lord almightie.

32 Embrace thy children, vntil I come and shewe mercie vnto the: for my fountaines runne ouer, and my grace shal not faile.

33 I Esdras receiued a charge of the Lord

vpon the mount Horeb, that I shulde go vnto them of Israel, but when I came to them, thei cast me of, and despised the commandement of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say vnto you, o ye heathen, that heare and vnderstand, Wait for your shepherd, who shal giue you euerlasting rest: for he is nere at hand, that shal come in the end of the worlde.

35 Be ready to the rewarde of the kingdome: for the euerlasting light shal shine vpo you for euermore.

36 Fle the shadowe of this worlde: receiue y ioye of your glorie: I testifie my Sauour openly.

37 Receiue the gift that is giuen you, and be glad, giuing thanks vnto him, that hath called you to the heauenlie kingdome.

38 Arise, and stand vp, and beholde the number of those that are sealed for the feast of the Lord, 39 Which are departed from the shadowe of the worlde, and haue receiued glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, o Sion, and shut vp them that are clothed in white, which haue fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whome thou longest for, is fulfilled: beseeche y power of the Lord, that thy people which haue bene called fro the begining, may be sanctified.

42 *I Esdras sawe vpo mount Sion a great people whome I colde not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs. Reuel. 7, 9.

43 And in the middes of them there was a yong man hier in stature then them all, & vpo euerie one of their heads he set crownes, and was hier then the others, which I muche marueiled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and said, Who are these, my lord?

45 Who answered, and said vnto me, These be they, that haue put of the mortal clothing, and haue put on the immortal, and haue confessed the Name of God: now are they crowned, and receiue the palmes.

46 Then said I vnto y Angel, What yong man is it, that setteth crownes on them, & giueth them the palmes in their hands.

47 And he answered, & said vnto me, It is the sonne of God, whome they haue confessed in the worlde. Then began I greatly to commende them, that had stand so strongly for the Name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel said vnto me, Go thy way, and tel my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast sene.

CHAP. III.

4 The wonderous workes, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Esdras marueileth that God suffereth the Babylonians to haue rule ouer his people, which yet are synners also.

Eete. iiii.

II. Esdras.

- IN the thirtieth yere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled vpon my bed, and my thoughts came vp to mine heart,
- Because I sawe the desolacion of Sion, & the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.
- So my spirit was fore moued, so that I beganne to speake fearful wordes to the most High, and said,
- O Lord, Lord, thou spakest at the beginning when thou alone plantedst the earth, and gauest comandement vnto the people,
- *And a bodie vnto Adam, without soule, who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast breathed in him the breth of life, so that he liued before thee,
- And leddest him into Paradise, which thy right hand had planted, or euer the earth brought forth.
- Euen then thou gauest him commandement to loue thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediatly thou appointedst death to him and his generacion, of whome came nacions, tribes, people and kinreds out of number.
- *And euerie people walked after their owne wil, and did wonderful things before thee, and despised thy commandements.
- *But at y time appointed thou broughtest the flood vpon those y dwelt in the worlde and destroyedst them,
- So that by the flood, that came to euerie one of them, which came by death vnto Adam,
- Yet thou leftest one, euen *Noe, with his housholde, of whome came all righteous men.
- And when they that dwelt vpon y earth, began to multiplie, and the number of the children, people and many nacions were increased, they began to be more vngodlie then the first.
- Now when they liued wickedly before thee, *thou didest chose thee a man from among them, whose name was *Abraham.
- Whome thou louedst, and vnto whome onely thou shewedst thy wil,
- And madest an euerlasting couenāt with him, promising him that thou woldest neuer forsake his sede.
- *And vnto him thou gauest Isahac, *vnto Isahac also thou gauest Iacob and Esau, *and didest chose Iacob, and cast of Esau, and so Iacob became a great multitude.
- And whē thou leddest his sede out of Egypt, *y broughtest the vp to mount Sina,
- And enclinedst the heauens and bowedst downe the earth, and didest moue the grounde, and cause the depths to shake, and didest astonish the worlde.
- And thy glorie went thorowe foure gates of fyre, with earthquakes, winde and colde, that thou mightest giue the Lawe vnto the sede of Iacob, and that which the generacion of Israel shulde diligently obserue.
- Yet tokest thou not away from them the wicked heart, that thy Law might bring forth the frute in them.
- For *Adam first hauing a wicked heart, Gen. 3.6. was overcome and vainquished, & all they that are borne of him.
- Thus remained weakenes ioyned with the lawe in the hearts of the people, with the wickednes of the roote: so that the good departed away, & the euil abode stil.
- So the times passed away, and the yeres were brought to an end, *til thou didest raise thee vp a seruant called Dauid, 1 Sam. 16.13.
- *Whome thou commandedst to buyld a citie vnto thy Name, to call vpon thee therein with incense and sacrifice. 2 Sam. 5.1.
- Whē this was done many yeres, the inhabitants forsoke thee,
- Following the waies of Adam and all his generacion: for they also had a wicked heart.
- Therefore thou gauest thy citie ouer into the hands of thine enemies.
- But do they that dwell at Babylon, any better, that they shulde haue the dominio of Sion?
- For when I came thether, and sawe their wicked dedes without number (for this is the thirtieth yere that I se many trespassing) I was discouraged.
- For I sawe, how thou sufferedst them that sinne, and sparedst the wicked doers, where as thou hast destroyed thine owne people, and preferred thine enemies; and thou hast not shewed it.
- I can not perceiue how this commeth to passe. Are the dedes of Babylon better then they of Sion?
- Or is there any other people y knoweth thee besides Israel? or what generacion hathe so beleued thy Testimonies, as Iacob?
- And yet their rewarde appeareth not, and their labour hathe no frute: for I haue gone here & there thorow out the heathē, and I se them flourish, and thinke not vpon thy commandements.
- Weigh y therefore our wickednes now in the balance, and theirs also that dwell in the worlde, and no mention of thee shal be founde but in Israel.
- Or when is it that they that dwell on the earth, haue not sinned in thy sight? or what people hathe so kept thy commandements?
- Thou shalt surely finde that Israel by name hathe kept thy precepts, but not the heathen.

CHAP. IIII.

The Angel reproveth Eſtrus, becauſe he ſeemed to entre into the profounde iudgements of God.

1 And the Angel that was ſent vnto me, whoſe name was Vriel, answered,

2 And ſaid, Thine heart hath taken to muche vpon it in this worlde, and thou thinkeſt to comprehend the waies of the Hieſt.

3 The ſaid I, Yea, my lord. And he answered me, and ſaid, I am ſent to ſhewe thee thre waies, and to ſet forth the thre ſimilitudes before thee,

4 Whereof if thou canſt declare me one, I wil ſhewe thee alſo the way, that thou deſireſt to ſe, and I wil ſhewe thee from whence the wicked heart cometh.

5 And I ſaid, Tell on, my lord. Then ſaid he vnto me, Go thy way: weigh me the weight of the fyre, or meaſure me y<sup>e</sup> blaſt of the winde, or call me againe the daye that is paſt.

6 Then answered I, and ſaid, What man is borne, that can do that, which thou requireſt me, concerning theſe things?

7 And he ſaid vnto me, If I ſhulde aſke thee how depe dwellings are in the middes of the ſea, or how great ſprings are in the beginning of the depth, or how great ſprings are in the ſtretching out of the heauen, or which are the borders of Paradiſe,

8 Peradventure thou woldeſt ſay vnto me, I neuer went downe to the depe, nor yet to the hell, nether did I euer clime vp to heauen.

9 But now haue I aſked thee but of fyre & winde, and of the day, whereby thou haſt paſſed, and from the which things thou canſt not be ſeparated, and yet canſt thou giue me none answer of them.

10 He ſaid moreover vnto me, Thine owne things, and ſuche as are growen vp with thee, canſt thou not knowe:

11 How ſhulde thy veſſel then be able to comprehend the wayes of the Hieſt, and now outwardly in the corrupt worlde, to vnderſtand the corruption, that is euident in my ſight?

12 Then ſaid I vnto him, It were better that we were not at all, the that we ſhulde liue in wickednes, and to ſuffer, and not to knowe wherefore.

13 And he answered me, & ſaid, I came to a foreſt in the plaine where the trees helde a counſel,

14 And ſaid, Come, let vs go fight againſt the ſea, that it may giue place to vs, and that we may make vs more woods.

15 Likewise the floods of the ſea toke counſel and ſaid, Come, let vs go vp and fight againſt the trees of the wood, that we may get another countrey for vs.

16 But the purpoſe of the wood was vaine: for the fyre came and conſumed it.

17 Likewise alſo the purpoſe of the floods of the ſea: for the ſand ſtode vp and ſtopped them.

18 If thou were iudge betwene theſe two, whome woldeſt thou iuſtifie, or whome woldeſt thou condemne?

19 I answered and ſaid, Verely it is a fooliſh purpoſe, that thei bothe haue deuifed: for the grounde is appointed for y<sup>e</sup> wood, and the ſea hath his place to beare his floods.

20 Then answered he me, and ſaid, Thou haſt giuen a right iudgement: but why iudgeſt thou not thy ſelf alſo?

21 For like as the grounde is appointed for the wood, and the ſea for his floods, ſo they that dwell vpon earth, can vnderſtand nothing, but that which is vpon earth: & they that are in the heauens, the things that are aboue the height of the heauens.

*1ſa. 55. 9.
Iohn 3. 32.
1 Cor. 2. 13.*

22 Then answered I, & ſaid, I beſeeche thee, O Lord, let vnderſtanding be giuen me.

23 For I did not purpoſe to inquire of thine hie things, but of ſuche as we daiely meddle with all, namely wherefore Iſrael is made a reproche to the heathen, and for what cauſe the people, whome thou haſt loued, is giuen ouer to wicked nations, and why the Law of our fathers is aboliſhed, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect, 24 Why we are toſſed to and fro through the worlde as the greſhoppers, and our life is a very feare, and we are not thought worthy to obtaine mercie.

25 But what wil he do to his Name, which is called vpon ouer vs? Of theſe things haue I aſked the queſtion.

26 Then answered he me, and ſaid, The more thou ſearcheſt, the more thou ſhalt maruel: for the worlde haſteth faſt to paſſe away, 27 And can not cōprehend the things, that are promiſed to the righteous in time to come: for this worlde is full of vnrighteouſnes and weakenes.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou aſkeſt, the euil is ſowen, but the deſtruction thereof is not yet come.

29 If the euil now that is ſowen, be not turned vp ſide downe, and if the place where the euil is ſowen, paſſe not away, then can not the thing come, that is ſowen wth good.

30 For the corne of euil ſede hath bene ſowen in the heart of Adam from the beginning, & how muche vngodlines hath he brought vp vnto this time? & how much ſhal he bring forth vntil the harueſt come?

31 Pondere with thy ſelf, how muche frute

II. Esdras.

- of wickednes the corne of euil seide bringeth forth,
- 32 And when the stalkes shalbe cut downe, which are without number, how great an haruest must be prepared.
- 33 Then I answered, and said, How, & when shal these things come to passe? wherefore are our yerres fewe and euil?
- 34 And he answered me, saying, Hastenot to be aboue y<sup>e</sup> moste High: for thou labourst in vaine to be aboue him, thogh thou indeuer neuer so muche.
- 35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, How long shal I thus hope? & when cometh the frute of my barne and our wages?
- 36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and said, When the number of y<sup>e</sup> sedes is filled in you: for he hath weighed the worlde in the balance.
- 37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shal not be moued or shaken, til the measure thereof be fulfilled.
- 38 Then answered I, & said, O lord, lord, we are all euen full of sinne,
- 39 And for our sake peraduenture the haruest of y<sup>e</sup> righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.
- 40 So he answered me, and said, Go, & aske a woman with childe, when she hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her wombe may kepe the birth anie longer within her.
- 41 Then said I, No, lord, she cannot. And he said vnto me, In the graue the places of soules are like the wombe.
- 42 For as she that is with childe, hasteneth to escape the necessitie of the trauail, so do these places hasten to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.
- 43 That which thou desirest to se, shalbe shewed thee from the beginning.
- 44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue founde grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be mete therefore,
- 45 Shewe me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.
- 46 What is past, I knowe, but what is to come, I knowe not.
- 47 And he said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I wil expounde thee this by example.
- 48 So I stode, and beholde, a whote burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, & beholde, the smoke had the vpper hand.
- 49 After this there passed before me a waterie cloude, and sent downe muche raine with a storme: and when the stormie raine was past, the droppes came after.
- 50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thyself, as the raine is more the droppes, and as fyre exceedeth the smoke, so the porcion that is past, hath the vpper hand, & the droppes and the smoke were muche.
- 51 Then I praied, & said, Maie I liue, thinkest thou vntil that time? or what shal come to passe in those daies?
- 52 He answered me, and said, Of the tokens whereof thou askest me, I can tell thee a parte: but I am not sent to shewe thee of thy life: for I do not knowe it.

CHAP. V.

In the latter times truth shalbe hid: & vnrightheousnes & all wickednes shal reigne in the worlde. 23 Israel is reiecte, and God deliuereth the. 35 God doeth all thing in season.

NEuertheles concerning the tokens, beholde, the times shal come, that thei which dwell vpon earth, shalbe taken in a great nōber, & the way of the truth shalbe hid & y<sup>e</sup> land shalbe barren fro faith,

2 And iniquitie shalbe increased more then thou hast sene now, or hast heard in time past. Matt. 24. 11

3 And it shal come to passe, that one shal set in fote, and thou shalt se the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God grāte thee to liue, thou shalt se after the third trumpet, that the sunne shal suddenly shine againe in the night, & the moone thre times a day.

5 Blood shal drop out of the wood, and the stone shal giue his voyce, and the people shalbe moued.

6 And he shal rule, of whome they hope not that dwell vpon earth, and the foules shal change place.

7 And the sea of Sodom shal cast out fish, and make a noyse in the night, which many shal not knowe, but they shal all heare the voyce ther of.

8 There shalbe a confusion in many places, and the fyre shal oft breake forth, & the wilde beasts shal change their places, and menstruous women shal beare monstres,

9 And salt waters shalbe founde in the sweete, & all friends shal fight one against another: then shal wit hide it self, and vnderstanding departe into his secret chamber.

10 It shalbe sought of many, and yet not be founde: then shal vnrightheousnes and voluptuousnes haue y<sup>e</sup> vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shal aske another, & say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? And it shal say, No.

12 At the same time shal men hope, but not obtaine: they shal labour, but their enterprises shal not prosper.

13 To shewe thee suche tokēs I haue leaue, and if thou wilt praie againe and wepe as now, and fast seuen daies, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnes went thorow thorow all my bodie, and my minde was feble and fainted.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, helde me, comforted me, and set me vp vpon my fete.

16 And in the seconde night, Salathiel the captaine of the people came vnto me, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heauie?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed vnto thee in the land of their captiuitie?

18 Vp then and eat, & forsake vs not, as the shepherd that leaueth his flocke in y<sup>e</sup> hands of the cruel wolues.

19 Then said I vnto him, Go thy waies fro me, and come not nere me: and when he heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen daies, mourning and weping, as Vriel the Angel had commanded me.

21 And after seuen daies the thoghts of mine heart were very grievous vnto me againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I beganne to talke with the moste High againe, 23 And said, O Lord, Lord: of euerie forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyarde.

24 And of all lands of the worlde thou hast chosen thee one pit, & of all the flours of the grounde thou hast chosen thee one lillie.

25 And of all y<sup>e</sup> depths of the sea thou hast filled thee one riuer, and of all buylded cities thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy self.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one doue, and of all the cattel that are made, thou hast appointed thee one shepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people thou hast gotten thee one people, and vnto this people whome thou louedst, thou gauest a Law, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one roote thou hast set others, & hast scattered thine onelie people among many.

29 They treade them downe, which haue withstod thy promises, and beleue not thy testimonies.

30 And if thou didst somuche hate thy people, they shulde haue bene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ Now when I had spoken these wordes, y<sup>e</sup> Angel that came to me the night afore, was sent vnto me, 32 And said vnto me, Heare me, and I wil teache thee, & hearkē that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I said, Speake on, my lord. Then said he vnto me, Thou art fore vexed and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou the better, then he doeth that made them?

34 And I said, No, lord: but of very sorow haue I spokē: for my raines paine me euerie houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the moste High, & to sike out parte of his iudgement.

35 And he said vnto me, Thou canst not. And I said, Wherefore, lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my mothers wombe then my graue? so had I not sene the trouble of Iacob, and the grief of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he said vnto me, Number vnto me the things that are not yet come, or gather me the droppes, that are scattered, or make me the withered floures grene againe.

37 Open me the places that are closed, and bring me forth the windes, that are shut vp therein: shewe me the image of a voyce, and then wil I declare thee the thing, that thou askest and laborest to knowe.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can knowe these things, but he that hathe not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things, whereof thou askest me?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst do none of these things, that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I said, Beholde, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shal they do that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shal come after vs?

42 And he said vnto me, I wil compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no slacknes of the last, so is there no swiftnes of the first.

43 Then I answered, and said, Coldest thou not make at once those y<sup>e</sup> haue bene, those that are now, & those that shal come, that thou mightest shewe thy iudgement the soner?

44 The answered he me, The creature, said he, can not preuent the Creator, neither can the worlde holde them at once, that shal be created therein.

45 And I said, As thou hast raught thy seruant, that thou, which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it now also containe all men at once.

46 And he said vnto me, Aske the wombe of a woman, and say vnto her, Why must thou haue time before thou bringest forth: require her to bring forth the ten at once.

Ffff. ij.

II. Esdras.

47 And I said, Surely she can not, but by distance of time.

48 Then said he vnto me, So haue I deuised the number of the earth by times when seede is sown vpon it.

49 For as a yong child begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordeined the time which I haue created.

50 ¶ I asked againe, and said, Seing thou hast now shewed me thy way, I wil procede to speake before thee: for our mother, whome thou hast tolde me is yong, draweth she nere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Aske a woman that traueileth, and she wil tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they (whome thou hast now broght forth) like those that were before thee, but lesse of stature?

53 And she shal answer thee, Some were borne in thy floure of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe failed.

54 Consider now thy self, how that ye are lesse of stature, then those that were before you, 55 And so are they that come after you, lesse than ye, as the creatures which now beginne to be olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then said I, Lord, I beseeche thee, if I haue founde fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whome doest thou gouerne thy workmanship?

CHAP. VI.

*God hath foreseene all things in his secret counsel, and is autor therof, and hath created them for his childre.
25 The felicitie of the age to come.*

1 And he said vnto me, In the beginning when the rounde worlde was made, and before the borders of the worlde were set, and before the windes blew one against another:

2 Before the noyce of thundres sounded, before the bright lightening did shine forth, before the fundacions of Paradise were laide:

3 Before the faire floures did appeare, before the moueable powers were stablished, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the aire were lifted vp, before thy measures of the heavens were named, before the chimneis in Sion were hote:

5 Before the present yeres were sought out, and before the afflictions of them that now sinne, were turned away, and they that haue laid vp the treasure of faith, were sealed,

6 Then did I purpose these things, & they were made by me alone, and by none other: by me also they shalbe ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shalbe the diuision of times? or when shalbe the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And he said vnto me, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Iacob and Esau were borne of him, * Iacobs hand helde first the Gen. 27. 28. heale of Esau.

9 For Esau is the end of this worlde, and Iacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heale and the hand. Other thing, Esdras, aske thou not.

11 ¶ I answered the, & said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue founde fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseeche thee, make an end to shewe thy seruant thy tokens, whereof thou shewedst me parte the last night.

13 So he answered me, and said, Stand vp vpon thy fete, and heare a mightie sounding voyce.

14 There shal come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest, shal not be moued.

15 And therefore when he speaketh, be not afraied: for of the end shal be the worde, & of the fundacion of the earth shal it be vnderstand.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of the, it trembleth and is moued: for it knoweth, that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stode vp vpon my fete, and hearkened, and beholde, there was a voyce that spake, and the sounde of it was like the sounde of many waters:

18 And it said, Beholde, the daies come, that I wil come & inquire of them that dwell vpon the earth,

19 And when I beginne to inquire of them, who by their vnrighteousnes haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shal be fulfilled,

20 And the worlde, that shal vanish away, shalbe sealed, the wil I shewe these signes: the bokes shalbe opened before the heauen, and they shal se all it together.

21 And the children of a yere olde shal speake with their voyces: the womē with-child shal bring forth the vntimelie childre of thre or foure moneths olde, and they shal liue that are raised vp.

22 Then suddēly shal the sowne places appeare as the vnsowne, & the full store houses shal suddenly be founde emptye.

23 And the trumpet shal sounde, and all they that heare it, shalbe suddenly afraied.

24 At that time shal friends fight with friends, as with enemies, and the earth shal feare with them: the springs of the welles shal stand stil, & in thre houres they shal not renne.

25 ¶ Whosoever remaineth from all these things things that I haue tolde thee, shal be salued & se my saluacion, & the end of your worlde.

36 And the men that are receiued, shal se it: they that haue not tasted death from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shal be changed, and turned to another meaning.

37 For euil shal be put out, and disceate shal be quenched, 38 But faith shal flourish: corruption shal be ouercome, and the trueth which hath bene so long without frute, shal come forth.

39 And when he talked with me, beholde, I loked a litle vpon him before whome I stode.

40 And these wordes said he vnto me, I am come to shewe thee the time of the night to come.

41 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seuen daies more, I wil tel thee more things, & greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

42 For thy voyce is heard before y<sup>e</sup> Highest: surely y<sup>e</sup> mightie hath seene thy righteous dealing: he hath seene also thy chastitie, which thou hast kept since thy youth.

43 Therefore hath he sent me to shewe thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not,

44 And haste not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haste to the latter times.

45 And after this I wepte againe and fasted seuen daies in like maner, that I might fulfil the thre weekes, which he had appointed me.

46 And in the eight night was mine heart vexed within me againe, and I began to speake before the moste High.

47 For my spirit was greatly set on fyre, & my soule was in distresse, 48 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (euen the first day) and commandedst that the heauen and the earth shoulde be made, and the worke followed thy worde.

49 And then was there the spirit, and the darknes was on euerie side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

50 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might give light to thy worke.

51 Vpon the second day thou createdst the heauenly ayre, and commandedst it, that, going betwene, it shoulde make a diuision betwene the waters, that the one parte might remaine aboue, and the other beneath.

52 Vpon the third day thou commandedst, that y<sup>e</sup> waters shoulde be gathered together in the seuenth parte of y<sup>e</sup> earth: six partes didest thou drye, & kept them to the intent that of these there shoulde be that shoulde serue thee, being sown of God and tilled.

43 Allone as thy worde went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediatly great and innumerable frute did spring vp, and manie diuerse pleasures for the taste, and floures of vncchangeable colour, and odours of a molte wonderful smel & these things were created the third day.

45 Vpon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the sunne, and of the moone, and the order of the starres, 46 And gauest them a charge, to do seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saidest vnto the seuenth parte where the waters were gathered, that it shoulde bring forth the beasts, as foules and fishes: and it was so.

48 For the dome waters, and without life broght forth the liuing things at the commandement of God that the nations might praise thy wonderous workes.

49 Then didst thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, & the other thou calledst Leuiathan, 50 And didst separate the one from the other: for the seuenth parte, where the water was gathered, coulde not holde them.

51 Vnto Behemoth thou gauest one parte, which was dried vp the third day, that he shoulde dwell in the same parte, wherein are a thousand hilles:

52 But vnto Leuiathan thou gauest y<sup>e</sup> seuenth parte, that is wett, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Vpon the sixt day thou gauest commandement vnto the earth, that before thee it shoulde bring forth the beasts, catel and creeping things.

54 And besides this Adam, whome thou madest lord ouer all the workes which y<sup>e</sup> hast created, of him come we all, and the people also, whome thou hast chosn.

55 All this haue I spokē before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the worlde for our sakes.

56 As for the other people, which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessel.

57 And now, O Lord, beholde these heathen which haue bene reputed as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And we thy people (whome thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy seruent louers) are giuen into their hands.

59 If the worlde then be created for our akes, why haue we not the inheritace thereof in possession: or how long shal we suffer these things?

CHAP. VII.

Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 22 God aduertiseth all in time. 23 The coming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement. 43 As for the which all corruption shal cease. 44 All fell in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodnes of God.

AND when I had made an end of these wordes, there was sent vnto me an Angel, which had bene sent downe to me the nights afore.

And he said vnto me, Vp, Esdras, and heare the wordes that I am come to tell thee.

And I said, Speake on, my God. Then said he vnto me, The sea is fer in a wyde place, that it might be deepe and great,

But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the riuers,

Who colde go into the sea to loke vpon it, and to rule it? If he went not thorow the narrowe, how colde he come into the broadere?

There is also another thing: a citie is buylded and set vpon a broad field, and is ful of all good things:

The entrance thereof is narrowe and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fyre at the right hand, and a deepe water at the lefte,

And there is but one path betwixt them, - euē betwene the fyre and the water; so that there colde but one man go there.

If this citie were giuen vnto a man for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorow the peril before it, how colde he receaue his inheritance?

And I said, It is so, Lord. Then said he, So is the portion of Israel.

Surely for their sakes haue I made the worlde: and when Adam transgressed my statutes, then came this thing to passe.

Then were the entrances of the worlde made narrowe, full of sorowe and trauail: they are but fewe and euil, and full of perils, and very paineful.

For the entrances of the fore worlde were wyde and sure, and brought immortal frutes.

If then they that are liuing, labour not to enter by these strait and brittle things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.

Why then disquietest thou thy self, seing thou art corruptible? and why art thou moued, seing thou art mortall?

And why hast thou not considered in thy minde the things to come, rather then them that are present?

Then said I, O Lord, Lord, seing thou hast ordeined in thy Law, that the righteous shulde inherite these things, and that the vngodlie shulde perish, Shulde the righteous suffer straitnes in hoping for large things? yet thei that haue liued vngodly and suffered straitnes, shal not se the large things.

Then he said vnto me, There is no iudge more iuste then God, and there is none more wise then the moste High.

For manie perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

For God hathe diligently admonished suche as came, so oft as they came, what they shulde do to haue life, and what they shulde obserue, to auoid punishment.

Neuertheles, they were not obedient vnto him, but spake against him, and imagined vaine things,

And deceiued them selues by their wicked dedes, & denied the power of the moste High, and regarded not his waies.

But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they haue vnfaithfully broken his ordinances, and haue not performed his workes.

And therefore, Esdras, vnto the emptie are emptie things, & to the ful ful things.

Beholde, the time shal come, that these tokens which I haue tolde thee, shal come to passe, and the bride shal appeare, and she shal come forth, and be seene that now is vnder the earth.

And whosoever shal escape these euils, he shal see my wonders.

For my sonne Iesus shal appeare with those that be with him, and they that remaine, shal reioyce within foure hundred yeres.

After these same yeres shal my sonne Christ dye, and all men that haue life.

And the worlde shal be turned into the olde silence for seuen dayes, as in the fore iudgements, so that no man shal remaine.

But after seuen dayes, the worlde that is yet a slepe, shal be raised vp: and that shal dye, that is corrupt.

Then the earth shal restore those that haue slept in her, and so shal the dust restore that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shal deliuer the soules that were committed vnto them.

And the most High shal appeare vpon the seate of iudgement, and miseries shal vanish away, and long suffering shal haue an end.

Iustice onely shal continue: the truth shal remaine, and faith shal be strong.

The worke shal followe, and the reward shal be shewed: the good dedes shal be of force, and vnrighteousnes shal beare no more rule.

41 Euen so now, seing vice is increased, & wickednes aboundeth, and the righteous haue prayed for the vngodlie, wherefore shal not the same effect followe also now?

42 Then he answered me, & said, This present life is not the end: oft times honour is retained in it: therefore haue they prayed for the weake.

43 But the day of iudgement shal be the end of this worlde, and the beginning of the immortalitie to come, wherein all corruption shal cease.

44 Intemperancie shal passe away: infidelitie shalbe cut of: righteousnes shal growe vp, and the veritie shal spring vp.

45 The shal nomā be able to saue him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victorie.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to haue giuen the earth vnto Adā, or when it was giuen him, to haue kept him that he shulde not haue sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in heauines, and after death to feare punishment?

Rom. 8. 18.

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? * for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also redundeth vnto vs that come of thee.

49 For what profit is it vnto vs, if there be promised an immortal life, when we do the workes that bring death?

50 And that an euerlasting hope shulde be promised vs, seing that we bitide our selues to deadlie vanitie?

51 And that there shulde be appointed vs dwellings of health and safetie, if we haue liued wickedly?

52 And that the glorie of the moste High shulde be kept to defende the which haue led a pacient life, if we haue walked in the wicked wayes?

53 And that an eternal Paradise shulde be shewed, whose frute remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safetie and health, if we wil not enter into it?

54 (For we haue bene conuersant in vnpleasant places)

55 And that the faces of them, which haue abstained, shulde shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then darckenes?

56 For while we liued, we did not remeber whe we did vnrighteously, that we shulde suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the maner of the battel, which man, that is borne in the earth, shal fight, 58 That if he be overcome, he shulde suffer as thou hast said: but if he get the victorie, he shulde receaue the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life, whereof Moyses spake vnto the people, while he liued, saying, * Chuse thee life that thou maist liue.

Deu. 30. 19.

60 Neuertheles, they beleued him not, nether the Prophetes after him, nor me also which haue said vnto them, 61 That heauines shulde not so be to their destruction, as ioye shulde come vnto the, to whome saluacion is perswaded.

62 I answered then and said, I know, Lord, that the moste High is called merciful, in that he hath the mercie vpo them, which are not yet come to that worlde,

63 And y he hath the pitie on those that walke in his Law, 64 And that * he is pacient: for he long suf Rom. 2. 4.

65 And that he is liberall: for he wil giue as muche as nedeth,

66 And that he is of great mercie: for he ouercometh in mercie those that are present, and that are past, and them which are to come.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the worlde colde not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also: for if he gaue not of his goodnes that they, which haue done euil, might be relieued from their wickednes, the ten thousand parte of men shulde not remaine aliue.

69 And if he, being iudge, forgave not those that be healed with his worde, and toke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There shulde peraduenture be verie fewe left in an vnnumerable multitude.

1 And he answered me, saying, The most High made this worlde for manie, but the worlde to come for fewe.

2 I wil tel thee a similitude, o Esdras. As whe thou askest the earth, it shal say vnto thee, that it giueth muche earthlie matter to make pottes, but litle dust that golde cometh of, so is it with the worke of this worlde.

II. Esdras.

Mat. 20, 16.

3 * There be manie created, but fewe shalbe saved.

4 Then answered I, and said, The swalowe vp the wit, o my soule, and deuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophetic: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may intreat thee, that thou maist giue sede vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come frute of it, whereby euerie one which is corrupt, may liue, who ca set him self for mā.

7 For thou art alone, and we all are one workemanship of thine hands, as thou hast said.

8 For when the bodie is facioned now in the wombe, & thou hast giue it members, thy creature is preserued by fyre & water, and the worke, created by thee, doeth suffer nine moneths the creature, which is facioned in it.

9 But the thing that containeth, and that which is cōteined, shal bothe be preserued, and when time is come, the wombe, being preserued, deliuereth y things that grewe in it.

10 For thou hast commāded the members, euē the breasts, to giue milke vnto y frute appointed to the breasts, 11 That the thing, which is created, may be nourished for a time, til thou disposest it to thy mercie.

12 Thou bringest it vp with thy righteousness, nurturest it in thy Law, & reformat it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou slayest it as thy creature, & giuest it life as thy worke.

14 Seing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labours is facioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy cōmādemēt, that the thing also which is made, might be preserued.

15 Now therefore, o Lord, I wil speake (as touching men in general thou shalt rather provide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am sorie, 16 And for thine inheritāce for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whome I am woful, and for Iacob, for whose sake I am grieved.

17 For them wil I pray before thee, as wel for my self, as for them: for I se our faures that dwelt in the land.

18 ¶ But I haue heard the sudden comming of the iudge, which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, and vnderstand my wordes, which I wil speake before thee. The beginning of y wordes of Esdras, before he was taken vp.

20 O Lord, that liuest for euer, which beholdest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whose throne is inestimable, & his glorie incomprehensible, before whome the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in wnde and fyre, whose worde is true, and sayings stedfast, whose commandement is strong, and gouernment terrible, 23 Whose loke dryeth vp the depths, and wrath maketh y mountaines to melt away as the thing beareth wiues.

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receiue into thine eares the p. tition of thy creature.

25 For while I liue, I wil speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I wil answer.

26 Loke not vpon the sinnes of thy people, rather then thy faithful seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked dedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy wil.

29 Let it not be thy wil to destroye them, which haue liued like beasts, but loke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beasts, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousness and glorie.

31 For we and our fathers haue all the same sicknes: but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called merciful.

32 If therefore thou wilt haue mercie vpon vs, thou shalt be called merciful towards vs which haue no workes of righteousness.

33 For the righteous, which haue laid vp manie good workes, let them receiue the rewarde of their owne dedes.

34 But what is man, that thou shuldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortal generacion, that thou shuldest be so grieved towards it?

35 * For verely there is no man among them that be borne, but he hath done wickedly, nor anie that doeth confesse thee, which hath not done amisse.

36 For in this, o Lord, thy righteousness and thy goodnes shalbe praised, if thou be merciful vnto them, which haue not the substance of good workes.

37 ¶ Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according vnto thy wordes it shalbe.

38 For I wil not verely consider the workes of them, before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But * I wil reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and I wil remember the pilgrimage, the saluation and the rewarde that they shal haue.

Gen. 4. 10

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shal it come to passe.

41 For as the housbād man soweth muche fede vpon the grounde, & planteth many trees, & yet alway the thing that is sown, cometh not vp in time, nether yet doeth all that is plāted, take roote: so nether shal thei all that are broght into the worlde, be sauēd.

42 I answered then & said, If I haue founde grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the housband mans fede perisheth, if it come not vp, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with to muche raine,

44 So perisheth man, which is created with thine hands, & thou art called his patern, because he is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and lickened him vnto the housbandmans fede.

45 Be not wroth with vs, o Lord, but spare thy people & haue mercie vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be merciful vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered he me, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for suche as be to come.

47 For thou art farre of that thou shuldest loue my creature aboute me: but I haue oft times drawen nere vnto thee and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also thou art maruelous before the Higheſt, 49 In that thou hast humbled thy self, as it becometh thee, and hast not iudged thy self worthie to boast thy self greatly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them that shal liue in the latter time, because thei shal walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy self, and seke out the glorie for suche as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is paradise opened: the tre of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plenteousnes made ready: the citie is buylded, and rest is prepared, perfite goodnes and absolute wisdom.

53 The roote of euil is sealed vp from you: the weakenes and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell fleeth corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed y treasure of immortalitie.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish.

56 For when thei had libertie, thei despised the most High: they contemned his Law & forsoke his wayes.

57 Moreouer, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 *Saying in their heart, that there was no

God, thogh they knewe that they shulde dye.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made readie for you: so is thirt and peine prepared for them: for God wolde not that man shulde perish:

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the Name of him that made them, & are vnthankful vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hād.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a fewe like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Beholde now, o Lord: thou hast shewed me the many wonders, which thou art determined to do in y last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed me.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this worlde haue a beginning and an end. 10 Torments for the wicked after this life. 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good. 29 The lawes ingratitude: 36 Therefore they perish. 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

1 HE answered me then, & said, Measure the time with it self, & when thou feelt that one parte of the tokens come to passe, which I haue tolde thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the time wherein the moste High wil begin to visite the worlde which he made.

3 Therefore whē there shalbe sene an<sup>e</sup> earthquake in the worlde, and an uproare of the people,

4 The shalt thou vnderſtād that the moste High spake of those things, frō the daies that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the worlde, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest,

6 So the times also of the most High haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signes, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euerie one that shal escape safe, & shalbe deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue beleued,

8 Shalbe preserued from the said perils and shal se my saluacion in my land, and within my borders: for I haue kept me holy frō the worlde.

9 Then shal they haue pitie of them selues, which now haue abused my waies: & thei that haue cast them out dispitifully, shal dwell in peines.

10 For suche as in their life haue receiued benefites, and haue not knowen me,

11 But haue abhorred my Law, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet leasure of amendement, and wolde not vnderstand but despised it, 12 They must be taught it after death by peine.

I I. Esdras.

13 And therefore be thou no more careful, to knowe how the vngodlie shalbe punished, but inquire how the righteous shalbe saued, and whose the worlde is, and for whome it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now & wil speake it hereafter, that there be many mo of them which perish, then of the that shalbe saued, 16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the sede: as the floures be, so are the colours also: suche as the workemā is, suche is the worke: and as the housbādman is, so is his housbādrie: for it was the time of the worlde.

18 Surely whē I prepared the worlde, which was not yet made for the to dwell in that now liue, no man spake against me.

19 For then euerie one obeyed, but now the miners of them that are created in this worlde, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetual sede, & by a Law, whereout they cannot rid them selues.

20 So I considered the worlde, & beholde, there was peril, because of the deuises, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Yet when I sawe it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore y multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape be kept, and my plant, which I haue dressed with great labour.

23 Neuertheles, if thou wilt cease seuen daies mo( but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt go into a faire field, where no house is buylded, & shalt eat onely of the floures of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine, but the floures onely,

25 And pray vnto y moste High continually) then wil I come, and talke with thee.

26 So I went my waye, as he had commanded me, into the field, which is called Ardath, & there I sate among the floures, & did eat of the herbes of the field, and the meat of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seuen dayes, as I sate vpo the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within me, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the moste High, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou woldest shewe thy self vnto vs, * thou declaredst thy self vnto our fathers in the wildernes, in a place where no man dwelleth, in a baren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And expressly spakest vnto the, saying, Heare me, o Israel, and marke my wordes, thou sede of Iacob.

31 For beholde, I sawe my Law in you, that it may bring forth the frute in you, and that ye may be honored by it for euer.

32 But our fathers, which receiued the Law, kept it not, nether obserued thine ordinances, nether did the frute of the Law appeare, nether colde it, for it was thine.

33 * For they that receiued it, perished because they kept not the thing y was sown in them. Exod. 32, 34.

34 And lo, it is a custome when the ground receiue the sede, or the sea a ship, or a vessel meat and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sown, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sown, or is put therein, and the things that are receiued, must perish: so the things that are receiued, do not remaine with vs: but in vs it cometh not so to passe.

36 For we that haue receiued the Law, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it.

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 ¶ And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about me, & vpon the right side * I sawe a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a loude voyce, and was griued in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head. Chap. 10, 44.

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her, 40 And said vnto her, wherefore wepest thou? why art thou so sory in minde?

41 And she said vnto me, Syr, let me alone, that I may bewaile my self, and increase sorowe: for I am sore vexed in my minde, and brought verie lowe.

42 Then I said vnto her, What aileth thee? tel me.

43 And she said vnto me, I thy seruant haue bene baren, & haue had no childe, hauing an housband thirtie yeres.

44 And euery houre, & euery day these thirtie yeres I pray to the moste High day & night.

45 And after thirtie yeres God heard me thine handmaid, & looked vpo my miserie, considered my trouble, & gaue me a sonne, & I was glad of him: so was mine housbād also, and all they of my countrey, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almightye.

46 And I nourished him with great trauail.

47 So when he grewe vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

Esdras and the woman that appeareth vnto him, commune together.

1 BVt when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe, and dyed.

2 Then we all ouerthrewe the lights, & all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntil the seconde day at night.

night, & fled, and am come into this field as thou seest,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and nether to eat nor drinke, but continually to mourne & fast, vntil I dye.

5 Then left I my purpose wherein I was, and spake to her angerly, and said, 6 Thou foolish womā aboute all other, seest thou not our heauines, and what cometh vnto vs?

7 For Sion our mother is all woful and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seing we be all now in heauines, and make our mone (for we be all sorowful) art thou sorie for one sonne?

9 Demande the earth, and she shal tell thee that it is she which ought to mourne for the fall of so manie that growe vpon her.

10 For frō the beginning all men are borne of her, and other shal come, and beholde, they walke almoste all into destruction, & the multitude of them shalbe destroyed.

11 Who shulde then rather mourne, she that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art sorie but for one?

12 But if thou woldest say vnto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I haue lost the frute of my wōbe, which I broght forth with heauines, & bare with sorowes, 13 But the earth is according to the maner of the earth, and the present multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I vnto thee, As thou hast borne with trauail, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her frute vnto man, euen to him that labored her.

15 Now therefore withholde thy sorow in thy self, and beare constantly that which cometh vnto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and receiuest his counsel in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Go thy way then into the citie to thine housband.

18 ¶ Then she said vnto me, I wil not, I wil not go into the citie, but here wil I dye.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said, 20 Do not so, but be couſeled: for how manie fallēs hathē Sion? Be of good comfort because of the sorowe of Ierusalem.

21 For thou seest y<sup>e</sup> our Sanctuarie is layed waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed.

22 Our psalterion fainteth, and the song ceaseth, and our mirth is vanished away,

23 and the light of our candelsticke is quenched, and the Arke of our couenant is takē

24 away, and our holie things are defiled, and the Name that is called vpon vs, is al-

25 moste dishonored, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, & our Leuites are caryed into captiuitie, and our virgines are defiled, and our wiues rauished, and our righteous men spoyled, & our children destroyed, and our yong men are brought in bondage, and our strong mē are become weake, 23 And, which is the greatest of all, Sion the scale hathē lost her worship: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake of thy great heauines, and put away the multitude of sorowes, that the Almighty may be merciful vnto thee, and that the moste High may giue thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was a-frayed of her & mused what it might be.

26 And beholde, immediatly she cast out a great voyce, very fearful, so y<sup>e</sup> the earth shoke at the noyce of the woman.

27 And I loked, and beholde, the woman appeared vnto me nomore: but there was a citie buylded, and a place was shewed frō the grounde and fundacion. Then was I a-frayed, and cryed with a loude voyce, and said, 28 Where is Vriel the Angel * which came Chap. 4. 1. to me at the first: for he hathē caused me to come into manie and depe consideraciōs, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these wordes, beholde, he came vnto me, and loked vpon me.

30 And lo, I laye as one dead, and mine vnderstanding was altered, and he toke me by the right hand and comforted me, and set me vpon my feete, and said vnto me, 31 What aileth thee? and why is thine vnderstanding vexed? and the vnderstanding of thine heart? & wherefore art thou sorie?

32 And I said, Because thou hast forsaken me, and I haue done * according vnto thy Chap. 5. 10. wordes: I went into the field, and there haue I sene things, & se that I am not able to expresse.

33 Then said he vnto me, Stand vp manly, and I wil giue thee exhortacion.

34 Then said I, Speake vnto me, my lord, and forsake me not, lest I dye through rashnes.

35 For I haue sene that I knewe not, and heare that I do not knowe.

36 Or is mine vnderstanding disceiued, or doeth my minde, being hautie, erre?

37 Now therefore I beseeche thee that thou wilt shewe thy seruant of this wondre.

38 Thē he answered me, and said, Heare me, and I wil informe thee, & tel thee wherefore thou art afrayed: for the moste High hath reueiled manie secret things vnto thee.

39 He hath sene thy good purpose, that thou art sorie continually for thy people, and makest great lamentacion for Sion.

40 This therefore is the vnderstanding of the visio, which appeared vnto thee a litle while ago.

41 Thou sawest a womā mourning, & thou beganest to comfort her:

42 But now seest thou the likenes of the woman no more, but there appeared vnto thee a citie buylded.

43 And where as she tolde thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution,

44 This woman, which thou sawest, she is Sion: and where as she tolde thee (euen she which thou seest now as a citie buylded)

45 And as touching that she said vnto thee, that she was baren thirtie yeres, this was concerning that, there was euen thirtie yeres wherein there was no offring offred in her.

46 But after thirtie yeres, Salomon buylt the citie, and offred offrings: then bare the baren a sonne.

47 And where as she tolde thee, that she nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

48 But where as she tolde thee that her sonne, as his chance was, dyed when she came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, thou beganest to comfort her: of these things which haue cha-ced these are to be opened vnto thee.

50 For now the moste High seeth, that thou art sorie in thy mind, & because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, he shewed thee the clerenes of her glorie, and the fai-renes of her beautie.

51 And therefore I bad thee remaine in the field where no house was buylt.

52 For I knewe that the moste High wolde shewe these things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commaunded thee to go into the field, where no fundacio nor buylding is.

54 For the worke of mans buylding can not stand in that place where the citie of the moste High shulde be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, nether let thine heart be afrayed, but go in, and se the beau-tie & greatnes of the buylding as muche as thou art able to se with thine eyes.

56 And after this shalt thou heare, as muche as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed aboute manie, & art called with the moste High among the few.

58 But to morow at night thou shalt remaine here,

59 And the moste High shal shewe thee visions of high things, which the moste High wil do vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night & another, as he had commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

The vision of an egle coming forth of the sea, and of her feathers. 37. Of a lyon coming out of the forest.

1 Then saw I a dreame, & beholde, there came vp from the sea an egle, which had twelue feathered wings & thre heads.

2 And I sawe and beholde, she spread her wings ouer all the earth, & all the windes of the ayre blew on her, and gathered them selues.

3 And I behelde, & out of her feathers grew out other contrarie feathers, and they became litle feathers and smale.

4 But her heads remained stil, & the head in the middes was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreouer, I sawe that the egle flew with his feathers and reigned vpon earth & ouer them that dwelt therein.

6 And I sawe that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, no not one creature vpon earth.

7 I sawe also that the egle stode vp vpon her clawes, & spake to her feathers, saying,

8 Watch not all together: slepe euerie one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preserved for the last.

10 Neuertheles, I sawe that the voice went not out of her heads, but from the middes of her bodie.

11 Then I nombred her contrarie feathers, and beholde, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and beholde vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the end of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stode vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the end of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voyce vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long: this I say vnto thee, before thou be-ginnest to appeare no more,

17 There shal none after thee atteine vnto thy time, nether to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euerie one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and beholde in proceffe of time the feathers that followed, stode vp on the right side, that they might rule also, & some of the ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

- 21 For some of the were set vp, but ruled not.
 22 After this I looked & beholde, y<sup>e</sup> twelue feathers appeared nomore, nor y<sup>e</sup> two wings.
 23 And there was no more vpon the egles bodie, but two heads that rested and six wings.
 24 Then sawe I also that two wings deuidded them selues from the six, and remained vnder the head, that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.
 25 So I looked, & beholde, the vnderwings thought to set vp them selues, and to haue the rule.
 26 Then was there one set vp, but shortly it appeared no more.
 27 And the second were s<sup>o</sup>ner gone then the first.
 28 The I behelde, & lo, the two that remained, thought also in them selues to reigne.
 29 And wh<sup>e</sup>n they so thought, beholde, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the middes: for that was greater then the two.
 30 And then I sawe, that the two heads were ioyned therewith.
 31 And beholde, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eat vp the two vnderwings that wolde haue reigned.
 32 But this head put the whole earth in feare and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth with much labour, & it had the gouernace of the worlde, more the all the wings that had bene.
 33 After this I looked, and beholde, the head that was in the middes, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.
 34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.
 35 And I behelde, and lo the head vpon the right side deuoured that was vpon the left side.
 36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which said vnto me, Loke before thee, and consider y<sup>e</sup> thing that thou seest.
 37 So I sawe, and beholde as it were a lyon that roareth, renning hastely out of the wood: and I sawe that he sent out a mans voyce vnto the egle, and spake, and said, 38 Heare thou, I wil talke with thee, & the moste High shal say vnto thee, 39 Art not thou that that of the foure beasts remainest, whome I made to reigne in my worlde, that by them the end of times might come,
 40 And the fourth is come, and hath ouercome all the beasts that were past, & hath power ouer the worlde with great fearfulness, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with moste wicked oppression, and that dwellerh so long time in all y<sup>e</sup> worlde with disceite.
 41 For y<sup>e</sup> hast not iudged the earth wth trueth.
- 42 Seing thou hast troubled the meke, thou hast hurte the peaceable, and thou hast loued lyers, and destroyed the dwellings of them that broght forth the frute, & hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme, 43 Therefore is thy wrongful dealing come vp vnto the moste High, and thy pride vnto the Mightie.
 44 The moste High also hath looked vpon the proude times, & beholde, they are ended, and their abominacions are fulfilled.
 45 Therefore appeare no more, thou egle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious heads, and thy wicked clawes, nor all thy vaine bodie, 46 That all the earth may be refreshed, & come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence, & that she may hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former visions.

- 1 ANd when the lion spake these wordes to the egle, I sawe,
 2 And beholde, the head that had the vpper hand, appeared no more, nether did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp them selues to reigne, whose kingdome was smale and ful of vproares.
 3 And I sawe, and beholde, they appeared no more, and the whole bodie of the egle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. Then I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and fro the great feare, and said vnto my spirit, 4 Lo, this hast thou done vnto me in that thou searchest out the waies of the moste High.
 5 Lo, yet am I wearie in my minde, and verie weake in my spirit, and litle strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.
 6 Therefore now I wil beseeche the moste High that he wil comfort me vnto the end.
 7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue founde grace before thy sight, & if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my praier in dede be come vp before thy face,
 8 Comfort me, and shewe me thy seruant the interpretacion and difference of this horrible sight, that thou maist perfectly comforte my soule,
 9 Seing thou hast iudged me worthie to shewe me the last times.
 10 ¶ Then he said vnto me, This is the interpretacion of this vision, 11 The egle, whome thou sawest come vp from the sea, is the kingdome which was sene in the vision of thy brother Daniel. Dan. 7. 7.
 12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.
 13 Beholde, the daies come, that there shal

II. Esdras.

- rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shalbe feared aboue all kingdomes that were before it.
- 14 In it shal twelue Kings reigne one after another,
- 15 Whereof the seconde shal beginne to reigne and shal haue more time then the twelue.
- 16 And this do the twelue wings signifie, which thou sawest.
- 17 As for the voice that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not go out from the heads, but from the middes of the bodie thereof, this is the interpretacion,
- 18 That after the time of that kingdome there shal arise great strife, & it shalbe in danger to fall, but it shal not then fall, but shalbe restored againe to his beginning.
- 19 Concerning the eight vnderwings, which thou sawest hang vnto her wings, this is the interpretacion,
- 20 In him shal arise eight Kings, whose time shal be but smale, and their yeres swift, and two of them shal perish.
- 21 But when the midde time cometh, there shalbe foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it maye be ended, but two shalbe kept vnto the end.
- 22 And where as thou sawest thre heads resting, this is the interpretacion,
- 23 In his last dayes shal y<sup>e</sup> moste High raise vp thre kingdomes, and shal call againe manie things into the, and they shal haue the dominion of the earth,
- 24 And of those that dwell therein, with muche grief aboue all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the egle.
- 25 For they shal accomplish his wickednes, and shal finish his last end.
- 26 And where as thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shal dye vpon his bed, and yet with peine.
- 27 For the two that remaine, the sworde shal deuoure them.
- 28 For the sworde of the one shal deuoure the other: but at the last, shal he fall by the sworde him self.
- 29 And where as y<sup>e</sup> sawest two vnderwings, that went of towarde the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretaciō,
- 30 These are thei whome y<sup>e</sup> moste High hathe preferred for their end, whose kingdome is litle, and ful of trouble as thou sawest.
- 31 And the lyon whome thou sawest rising vp out of the wood and roaring, and speaking vnto the egle, and rebuking her for her vnrighteousnes with all the wordes that thou hast heard,
- 32 This is the winde which the moste High hathe kept for them, and for their wickednes vnto the end, & he shal reprove them,
- and cast before them their spoiles.
- 33 For he shal set them aliue in the iudgement, and shal rebuke them and correct them.
- 34 For he wil deliuer the residue of my people by affliction, which are preferred vpon my borders, and he shal make them ioyful, vntil the comming of the day of iudgement, whereof I haue spoken vnto thee from the beginning.
- 35 This is the dreame that thou sawest, and these are the interpretacions.
- 36 Thou onely hast bene mete to know this secret of the moste High.
- 37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast sene, in a booke and hide them,
- 38 And teache them the wise of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and kepe these secrets.
- 39 But waite thou here yet seuen daies mo, that it may be shewed thee whatsoeuer it please the moste High to declare vnto thee: and with that he went his way.
- 40 And when all the people perceiued, that the seuen daies were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered them all together, from the least vnto the moste, and came vnto me, and spake vnto me, saying,
- 41 What haue we offended thee? or what euil haue we done against thee, that thou forsakest vs, and fittest in this place?
- 42 For of all the people thou onely art left vs as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a darke place, & as an haven or shippe preferred from the tempest.
- 43 Are not the euils which are come vnto vs, sufficient?
- 44 If thou then forsake vs, how muche better had it bene for vs, that we had bene burnt also as Sion was burnt?
- 45 For we are no better then they that dyed there: and they wept with a loude voyce. Then answered I them, and said,
- 46 Be of good comfort, o Israel, and be not heauie, thou house of Iacob.
- 47 For the moste High hathe you in remembrance, & the Almighty hathe not forgotten you in temptation.
- 48 As for me I haue not forsake you, nether am I departed from you, but am come into this place to praye for the desolation of Sion, that I might seke mercie for the low estate of your Sanctuarie.
- 49 And now go your way home euerie mā, and after these daies wil I come vnto you.
- 50 So the people went their way into the citie, as I commanded them:
- 51 But I remained stil in the field seuen daies, as he had commanded me, and did eat onely of the floures of the field, & had my meat of the herbes in those daies.

CHAP. XIII.

The vision of a winde coming forth of the sea, 3 Which became a man. 5 His propertie & power against his enemies. 21 The declaration of this vision.

1 ANd after the seven daies I dreamed a dreame by night.
2 And beholde, there arose a winde fro the sea, and it moued all the waues thereof.
3 And I looked, & beholde, there was a mightie man with the thousands of heauen: and when he turned his countenance to loke, all the things trembled that were sene vnder him.
4 And whē the voyce wēt out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth faileth when it feeleth the fyre.
5 After these things I sawe, and beholde, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of nōber, fro the foure windes of the heauē, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.
6 And I looked, and beholde, he graued him self a great mountaine, and flewe vp vp-on it.
7 But I wolde haue sene the countrei or place whereout the hil was grauen, and I colde not.
8 I sawe after these things, and beholde, all they which came to fight against him, were sore afraied, and yet they durst fight.
9 Neuertheles, when he sawe the fiercenes of the multitude that came, he lifted not vp his hand: for he helde no sworde nor any instrument of warre,
10 But onely, as I sawe, he sent out of his mouth, as it had bene a blaste of fyre, and out of his lippes the winde of the flame, and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and stormes.
11 And they were all mixt together, euen this blast of fyre, the winde of the flame, and the great storme, and fell with violence vpon the multitude, which was prepared to fight, and burnt them vp all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing sene, but onely dust, and smel of smoke. When I sawe this, I was afraied.
12 ¶ Afterwarde sawe I the same man come downe from the mountaine, and calling vnto him another peaceable multitude.
13 And there came many vnto him, some with ioyful countenance, & some with sad: some of the were bound, and some brought of them that were offred: and I was sicke thorow great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy seruāt these wonders from the beginning, and hast coupled me worthie to receiue my praier.
15 Shewe me now therefore the interpretation of this dreame.
16 For thus I consider in mine vnderstanding, wo vnto them y shalbe left in those daies, and muche more wo vnto them that are not left behinde.

17 For they that were not left, were in heauines.

18 Now vnderstand I the things that are laid vp in the latter daies, which shal come bothe vnto them, and to those that are left behinde.

19 Therefore are they come into great perils and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Yet is it easier, that he that is in danger, shulde fall into these, & forese the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloude out of the worlde.

21 ¶ Then answered he me, & said, The interpretation of the vision wil I shewe thee, and I wil open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Where as thou hast spoken of them that are left behinde, this is the interpretation, 23 He that shal beare the danger in that time, he shal kepe him self. They that be fallen into danger, are suche as haue workes and faith toward the moste Mightie.

24 Knowe therefore, that they which be left behinde, are more blessed the thei that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, Where as thou sawest a man comming vp from the middes of the sea, 26 The same is he whome the moste High hath kept a great season, who by his owne self shal deliuer his creature, & he shal order them that are left behinde.

27 ¶ And where as thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blast with fyre and storme,

28 And y he nether helde sworde nor weapon, but that by his fiercenes he destroyed the whole multitude, that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation,

29 Beholde, the daies come that the moste High wil beginne to deliuer the that are vpon the earth:

30 And he shal astonish the hearts of them that dwell vpon the earth:

31 And one shal prepare to fight against another, citie against citie, & place against place, *and nation against nation, & realme against realme. Mat. 24, 7.

32 When this commeth to passe, then shal the tokens come, that I shewed thee before, & then shal my Sonne be reueiled, whome thou sawest go vp as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voyce, euerie mā shal in their owne land leaue the battel that they haue one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shalbe gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him.

Gggg. iiii.

II. Esdras.

- 35 But he shal stand vpon the toppe of mount Sion.
- 36 And Sion shal come, and shalbe shewed to all, being prepared and buylded, as thou sawest the hil grauen forthe without any hands.
- 37 And this my Sonne shal rebuke the wicked inuentions of those nacions, which for their wicked life are fallen into the tempest,
- 38 And into torments like to flame, whereby they shalbe tormented: and without any labour wil he destroy them, euen by the Law, which is compared vnto the fyre.
- 39 And where as thou sawest that he gathered another peaceable people vnto him,
- 40 Those are the ten tribes which were caryed away captiues out of their owne lād, * in the time of Oseas the King, whome Salmansar the King of the Assyrians toke captiue, and caryed them beyonde the riuer: so were they brought into another land.
- 41 But they toke this counsel to the selues, that they wolde leaue the multitude of the heathen, and go forthe into a further countrey, where neuer mankinde dwelt,
- 42 That they might there kepe their statutes, which they neuer kept in their owne land.
- 43 And they entred in at the narowe passages of the riuer Euphrates.
- 44 For the moste High then shewed the signes, * and stayed the springs of the flood til they were passed ouer.
- 45 For thorow y country there was a great journey, euen of a yere and an halfe, and the same region is called 'Arsareth.
- 46 Then dwelt they there vntil the latter time: and when they come forthe againe,
- 47 The moste High shal holde stil the springs of the riuer againe, that they may go thorow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.
- 48 But thei that be left behinde of thy people, are those that be founde within my borders.
- 49 Now when he destroyeth the multitude of the nacions that are gathered together, he shal defende the people that remaine,
- 50 And then shal he shewe great wonders vnto them.
- 51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shewe me this, wherefore haue I sene the man coming vp from the middes of the sea?
- 52 And he said vnto me, As thou canst neither seke out, nor knowe these things, that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man vpon earth se my Sonne, or those that be with him, but in the time of that day.
- 53 This is the interpretation of the dreame which thou sawest, and whereby thou onely art lightened.
- 54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Law, and applied thy diligence vnto mine, and sought it.
- 55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, & hast called vnderstanding thy mother.
- 56 Therefore haue I shewed thee y rewardes with the moste High: and after three other daies I wil speake other things vnto thee, and wil declare the great and wonderful things.
- 57 Then went I forthe vnto the field, glorifying and praising the moste High for the wonders which he did in time,
- 58 Which he gouerneth, and suche things as come in their seasons: and there I sate thre dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

3 How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The latter times worse then the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 There-surrection and iudgement.

- 1 Vpon the thirde day I sate vnder an oke, and beholde, there came forthe a voyce vnto me out of the bush, & said, Esdras, Esdras?
- 2 And I said, Here am I, Lord, & stood vpon my fete.
- 3 Then said he vnto me, * In the bush I re- Exo. 3. 1.
ueiled my self, and spake vnto Moyses, when my people serued in Egypt:
- 4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him vpon the mount Sinai, & I helde him with me a long season,
- 5 And I tolde him many wōders, & shewed him the secrets of the times and the end, and commanded him, saying,
- 6 These wordes shalt thou declare, & these shalt thou hide.
- 7 And now I say vnto thee, that thou lay vp in thine heart the signes that I haue shewed, and the dreames that thou hast sene, & the interpretacions which thou hast heard.
- 8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine hence forthe with my counsel, & with suche as be like thee, vntil the times be ended.
- 9 For the worlde hath lost his youth, & the times beginne to waxe olde.
- 10 For the worlde is deuided into twelue partes, & ten partes of it are gone already and halfe of the tenth parte.
- 11 And there remaineth that which is after the halfe of the tenth parte.
- 12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comfort suche of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.
- 13 Let go from thee mortal thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, & put of now the weake nature,
- 14 And set aside thy moste grievous thoughts, and haste thee to departe from these times.
- 15 For

King. 17. 3.

*Exod. 14. 21.
Isa. 3. 15.*

\ Or, Andraih.*

- 15 For greater euils then those, which thou hast sene now, shal thei commit.
 16 For the weaker that the worlde is by reason of age, the more shal the euils be increased vpon them that dwell therein.
 17 For the trueth is fled farre away, & lies are at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast sene.
 18 ¶ Then answered I, and said before thee, 19 Beholde, O Lord, I wil go as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shal be borne afterwarde, who shal admonish the?
 20 Thus the worlde is set in darkenes, and they that dwell therein, are without light.
 21 For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that shalbe done.
 22 But if I haue founde grace before thee, send the holie Gost into me, & I wil write all that hath bene done in the worlde since the beginning, which was writen in thy Law, that men may finde the path, & that thei which wil liue in the latter daies, may liue.
 23 And he answered me, saying, Go, and gather the people, and say vnto them, that thei seke thee not for fortie daies, 24 But prepare thee many boxe tables, and take with thee these fise, Sarea, Dabria, Selemia, Ecanus, and Asiel, which are readie to write swiftly,
 25 And come hether, & I wil light a candle of vnderstanding in thine heart, which shal not be put out til the things be performed which thou shalt beginne to write.
 26 And the shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfite men, and some things shalt thou shewe secretly vnto the wise: to morowe this houre shalt thou beginne to write.
 27 Then went I forthe, as he commanded me, and gathered all the people together, and said,
 28 Heare these wordes, O Israel,
 29 *Our fathers at y beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were delivered,
 30 And receiued the Law of life, * which they kept not, which ye also haue trasgressed after them.
 31 Then was the land, euen the lād of Sion parted amōg you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done vnrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the moste
 High commanded you.
 32 And for so muche as he is a righteous Iudge, he toke from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.
 33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.
 34 Therefore if so be that ye wil subdue your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shalbe kept aliue, and after death shal ye obtaine mercie.
 35 For after death shal the iudgemēt come, when we shal liue againe: & then shal the names of the righteous be manifest, and the workes of the vngodlie shalbe declared.
 36 Let no man therefore come now vnto me, nor seke me these fortie daies.
 37 So I toke the fise men, as he commanded me, and we went into the field, and remained there.
 38 The next daye beholde, a voyce called me, saying, Esdras, * open thy mouth, and drinke that I giue thee to drinke. Esdras. 3. 2.
 39 Then opened I my mouth, and beholde, he reached me a full cuppe, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fyre.
 40 And I toke it and dranke, and when I had dronke it, mine heart had vnderstanding and wisdom grewe in my brest: for my spirit was strenghtened in memorie.
 41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.
 42 The moste High gaue vnderstanding vnto the fise men, that they wrote the hie things of the night, which they vndersto-de not.
 43 But in the night they did eat bread, but I spake by day, & helde not my tongue by night.
 44 In fortie daies, they wrote two hundret and foure bokes.
 45 And when the fortie dayes were fulfilled, the moste High spake, saying, The first that thou hast writen, publish openly,
 y the worthie and vnworthie may read it.
 46 But kepe the sequentie last, that thou maiest giue them to the wise among thy people.
 47 For in them is the veine of vnderstanding, and the fountaine of wisdom, and the riuer of knowledge: and I did so.

1 The prophecie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The euils that shal come on the worlde. 9 The Lord wil aduenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shal lament. 16 Sedition, 20 And punishment vpon the Kings of the earth.
 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 29 Troubles & warres vpon the whole earth. 33 God is the reuanger of his

B Eholde, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophecie, which I wil put in thy mouth, saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to be writen in a lettre:
 for they are faithful and true.

3 Feare not the imaginacions against thee:
 let not the vnfaithfulnes of the speakers trouble thee, that spake against thee.

4 For euery vnfaithful shal dye in his vn-faithfulnes.

gues vpon all the worlde, the sworde, famine, death and destruction:

6 Because that iniquitie hath fully polluted all the earth, and their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I wil holde my tongue no more for their wickednes, (they do vngodlie) nether wil I suffer the in the things, that they do wickedly.

*Reuel. 6, 10.
19, 2.*

8 Beholde, * the innocent and righteous blood cryeth vnto me, and the soules of the iust crye continually.

9 I wil surely auenge them, saith the Lord, and receiue vnto me all y innocent blood from among them.

10 Beholde, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I wil not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt, 11 But I wil bring them out with a mightie hand, and a stretched out arme, & smite it with plagues as afore, & wil destroie all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shal mourne, and the fundacions thereof shalbe smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shal bring vpon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shal mourne: for their sedes shal faile thorowe the blasting and haile, and by an horrible starre.

14 Wo to the worlde, & to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sworde and their destruction draweth nere, and one people shal stand vp to fight against another with swordes in their hands.

16 For there shalbe sedicion among men, & one shal inuade another: they shal not regarde their King, & the princes shal measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shal desire to go into a citie, and shal not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shalbe troubled, the houses shalbe afraied, & men shal feare.

19 A man shal haue no pitie vpon his neighbour, but shal destroye their houses with the sworde, & their goods shalbe spoyled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Beholde, saith God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to reuerence me, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne vpon the, & to repay the things, that they haue done to them.

21 As they do yet this day vnto my chosen, so wil I do also, and recompense them in their bosome: thus saith the Lord God, 22 My right had shal not spare the sinners, nether shal the sworde cease from them, that shed innocent blood vpon earth.

23 The fyre is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the fundacions of the earth, and the sinners like the strawe, that is kindled.

24 Wo to them that sinne, and kepe not my commandements, saith the Lord.

25 I wil not spare them: departe, o childe, from the power: defile not my Sanctuarie.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth he them vnto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the worlde, and ye shal remaine in them: for God wil not deliuer you, because ye haue sinned against him.

28 Beholde, an horrible vision cometh from the East,

29 Where generacions of dragons of Arabia shal come out with manie charers, and the multitude of them shalbe caryed as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble.

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath, shal go forth as the bores of the forest, and shal come with great power, and stand against them in battel, and shal destroye a porcion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shal the dragons haue the vpper hand, and remember their nature, and shal turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shalbe troubled, and kepe silence by their power, and shal flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shal the enemy besiege them, and consume some of them, and in their hoste shalbe feare & dread, and strife among their Kings.

34 Beholde cloudes from the East, & from the North vnto the South, and they are verie horrible to loke vpon, ful of wrath and storme.

35 They shal smite one vpon another: and they shal smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth, euen their owne starre, & the blood shalbe from the sworde vnto the bellie, 36 And the dongue of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shalbe great fearefulnes, and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shalbe afraied, and a trembling shal come vpon them.

38 And then there shal come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and parte from the West.

39 And from the East shal windes arise and shal open it with the cloude, which he raised vp in wrath, & y starre, raised to feare the East & West wnde, shalbe destroyed.

40 And the great, and mightie cloudes shal be liue vp, ful of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraied, and them

- them that dwell therein, & that they may powre out ouer euerie hie place, and lifted vp, an horrible constellation,
- 41 As fyre and hayle, and flying swordes, & many waters, that all fields may be full, & all riuers wth the abundāce of great waters.
- 42 And they shal breake downe the cities and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the medowes, and their corne.
- 43 And they shal go with a streight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraid.
- 44 They shal come to her, and besiege her, and shal powre forthe the constellation, & all the wrath against her: then shal the dust and smoke go vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shal bewaile her.
- 45 And thei that remaine vnder her, shal do seruice vnto them, y<sup>e</sup> haue put her in feare.
- 46 ¶ And thou Asia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glorie of her persone,
- 47 Wo vnto thee, o wretch, because thou hast made thy self like vnto her, and hast dect thy daughters in whoredome, y<sup>e</sup> they might please & glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to cōmit whoredome with thee.
- 48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes, and in her inuencions: therefore saith God,
- 49 I wil send plagues vpō thee, wedowed, pouertie, and famine, & the sword, and pestilēce, to waste thine houses with destruction and death.
- 50 And y<sup>e</sup> glorie of thy power shalbe dried vp, as a floure when the heat riseth, that is sent vpon thee.
- 51 Thou shalt be sicke as a poore wise y<sup>e</sup> is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mightie and the louers shal not be able to receiue thee.
- 52 Wolde I thus hate thee, saith y<sup>e</sup> Lord,
- 53 If thou hadest not alway slaine my chosen, exalting the stroke of thine hands, and said ouer their death, when y<sup>e</sup> wast drōken,
- 54 Set forthe y<sup>e</sup> beautie of thy countenance?
- 55 The rewarde of thy whoredome shalbe in thy bosome: therefore shalt thou receiue a rewarde.
- 56 As thou hast done vnto my chosen, saith the Lord, so wil God do vnto thee, & wil deliuer thee vnto the plague.
- 57 And thy children shal dye of hunger, & thou shalt fall by the sword, & thy cities shalbe broken downe, and all thy men shal fall by the sword in the field.
- 58 And they that be in the mountaines shal dye of hunger, and eat their owne flesh, & drinke their owne blood for wāt of bread and thirst of water.
- 59 And thou, as vnhappy, shalt come thorowe the sea, and receiue plagues againe.
- 60 In the passage they shal cast downe the slaine citie, and shal roote out one parte of thy land, & consume y<sup>e</sup> porcion of thy glorie, & shal returne to her y<sup>e</sup> was destroyed.
- 61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shalbe to thee as fyre.
- 62 And they shal destroy thee, & thy cities, thy land, & thy mountaines: all thy woods and all thy fruteful trees shal they burne with fyre.
- 63 Thy childrē shal they carye away captiue, and shal spoile thy substance, & marre the beautie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

Against Babylon, Asia, & Egypt and Syria. 18, 38 Of the euils that shal come vpon the worlde, with admonition how to gouerne them selues in afflictions. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, & to cōmit them selues to the Lord. 55 Whose mightie prouidence and iustice is to be reuerenced.

WO to thee, Babylon & Asia: wo to thee, Egypt and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with sacke & heereclothe, and mourne your children, & be sorie: for your destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, and who wil turne it backe? a fyre is sent among you, & who wil quenche it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 May any mā driue away an hungrie lion in the wood? or quenche the fyre in stubble whē it hath once begonne to burne? may one turne againe the arrowe, that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mightie Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fyre is gone forthe in his wrath, and who can quenche it?

7 He shal cast lightnings, & who shal not feare? he shal thunder, and who shal not be afraid?

8 The Lord shal threaten, & who shal not vterly be broken in pieces at his presence? the earth quaketh & the fundaciō thereof: the sea riseth vp with waues frō the depe, & the waues thereof are troubled, & the fishes thereof, before the Lord and the glorie of his power.

9 For strōg is his right hand, y<sup>e</sup> bendeth the bowe: his arrowes y<sup>e</sup> he shooteth, are sharpe, & shal not misse, when they beginne to be shot into the ends of the worlde.

10 Beholde, the plagues are sent, & shal not turne againe, til they come vpon earth.

11 The fyre is kindled, & shal not be put out, til it cōsume the fundacions of the earth.

12 As an arrow w<sup>ch</sup> is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backward, so y<sup>e</sup> plagues that shalbe sēt vpō earth, shal not turne againe.

13 Wo is me, wo is me: who wil deliuer me in those daies?

- mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of warres, and the powers shal feare: the beginning of euils, and all shal tremble. What shal I do in these things, when the plagues come?
- 15 Beholde, famine and plague, and trouble, and anguish are sent as scourges for amendment.
- 16 But for all these things they wil not turne fro their wickednes, nor be alway mindful of the scourges.
- 17 Beholde, vitayles shalbe so good cheape vpon earth, that they shal thinke them selues to be in good case: but then shal the euils bud for the vpon earth, euen the sworde, the famine and great confusion.
- 18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shal perish with famine, and the other that escape y<sup>e</sup> famine, shal the sworde destroy.
- 19 And the dead shalbe cast out as dongue, and there shalbe no man to comforte the: for the earth shalbe wasted, and the cities shalbe cast downe.
- 20 There shalbe no mā left to till the earth, and to sowe it: the trees shal giue frute, but who shal gather them?
- 21 The grapes shalbe ripe, but who shal treade them? for all places shalbe desolate, so that one mā shal desire to se another, or to heare his voyce.
- 22 For of one citie there shalbe ten left, and two of the field, which shal hide them selues in the thicke woods, and in the cleftes of rockes.
- 23 As when there remainethre or foure oliues in the place where oliues growe, or among other trees,
- 24 Or as whē a vineyarde is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently soght thorowe the vineyarde:
- 25 So in those daies there shalbe thre or foure left by them that seache their houses wth the sworde.
- 26 And the earth shalbe left waste, and the fields thereof shal waxe olde, & her waies and all her paths shal growe full of thornes, because no man shal traual there-through.
- 27 The virgines shal mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shal make lamentacion, hauing no housbands: their daughters shal mourne hauing no helpers.
- 28 In the warres shal their bridegromes be destroyed, and their housbands shal perish with famine.
- 29 But, ye seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and markethem.
- 30 Beholde the worde of the Lord, receaue it: beleue not the gods of whome y<sup>e</sup> Lord speaketh: beholde the plagues drawe nere, and are not slacke.
- 31 As a traouailing womā which in the ninth moneth bringeth forthe her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or thre houres afore the peines come vpon her bodie, and when the childe cometh to the birth, they tarie not a whit,
- 32 So shal not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, & the worlde shal mourne, & sorowes shal come vpon it on euerie side.
- 33 O my people, heare my worde: make you ready to the battel, and in the troubles be euen as strangers vpon earth.
- 34 He that selleth, let him be as he y<sup>e</sup> fleeth his way: & he that byerh, as one y<sup>e</sup> wil lose.
- 35 Who so occupieth marchādise, as he that winneth not: and he that buyldeth, as he that shal not dwell therein:
- 36 He y<sup>e</sup> soweth, as one that shal not reape: he that cutteth the vine, as he that shal not gather the grapes:
- 37 They that mary, as they that shal get no children: and they that mary not, so as the widdowes.
- 38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.
- 39 For strangers shal reape their frutes, and spoile their goods, and ouerthrowe their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie & famine shal they get their children.
- 40 And they that occupie their marchādise with couetousnes, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persones,
- 41 So muche more wil I be angrie against them for their sinnes, saith the Lord.
- 42 As a whore enuieth an honest and vertuous woman,
- 43 So shal righteousnes hate iniquitie, whē she decketh her self, & shal accuse her openly, when he shal come that shal bridle the autor of all sinne vpon earth.
- 44 And therefore be ye not like thereunto, nor to the workes thereof: for or euer it be long, iniquitie shalbe taken away out of the earth, and righteousnes shal reigne among you.
- 45 Let not the sinner say, that he hath not sinned: for coles of fyre shal burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glorie.
- 46 Beholde, the Lord* knoweth all the workes of men, their imaginaciōs, their thoghtes and their hearts. Luk. 16. 17.
- 47 *For as sone as he said, Let the earth be made, it was made: let the heauen be made, and it was created. Gen. 1. 5.
- 48 By his worde were the starres established, and he * knoweth the number of them. Psal. 147. 4.
- 49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.
- 50 He hath shut the sea in the middes of the waters, and with his worde hath he hanged

- hanged the earth vpon the waters.
- 51 He spreadeth out the heauē like a vawte: vpon the waters hath he founde it.
- 52 In the desert hath he made springs of water, and poles vpon the toppe of the mountaines, to powre out floods from the hie rockes to water the earth.
- 53 He made man, and put his heart in the middes of the bodie, and gaue him breth, life and vnderstanding.
- 54 And the Spirit of the almightie God, which made all things, & hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of y<sup>e</sup> earth,
- 55 He knoweth your inuencions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sinne & wolde hide your sinnes.
- 56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and soght out all your workes, and wil put you all to shame.
- 57 And when your sinnes are broght forthe before men, ye shalbe confounded, and your owne sinnes shal stand as your accusers in that day.
- 58 What wil ye do, or how wil ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?
- 59 Beholde, God him selfe is the iudge: feare him: cease from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and medle no more from hence forthe with them: so shal God lead you forthe, and deliuer you from all trouble.
- 60 For beholde, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shal take away certeine of you, and shal slaye you for meat to the idoles.
- 61 And they that consent vnto them, shalbe had in derision and in reproche, and troden vnder foote.
- 62 For in euerie place and cities that are nere, there shalbe great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.
- 63 They shalbe like mad men: they shal spare none: they shal spoyle, & waste suche as yet feare the Lord.
- 64 For they then shal waste and spoile their goods, and cast them out of their houses.
- 65 The shal the tryal of my chosen appeare, as the golde is tryed by the fyre.
- 66 Heare, o ye my beloued, saith the Lord: beholde, the daies of trouble are at hand, but I wil deliuer you from them: be not ye afraied: doute not, for God is your captaine.
- 67 Who so kepeth my commādements and precepts, saith y<sup>e</sup> Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift them selues vp.
- 68 Wo vnto the that are bounde with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, and the path thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauail: it is shut vp, and is appointed to be deuoured with fyre.

TOBIT.

CHAP. I.

Tobits parentage. 3 His godlines. 6 His equitie. 8 His charitie and prosperitie. 23 He fleeth, and his goods are confiscate, 25 And after, restored.

Tobias, being captiue amongst the Assyrians, did not leaue the way of truth.

THIS booke of the wordes of Tobit sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananuel, the sonne of Gabael, of the seed of Asael & of the tribe of Nephthalim,

Mr. Salmons. 1. King. 17. 3.

- 2 Who in the time of Enemessar King of the Assyriās was ledde away captiue out of Thisbe, which is at the right hand of that citie, w<sup>ch</sup> is called properly Nephthalim, in Galilee about Aser.
- 3 I Tobit haue walked all my liue long in the way of trueth and iustice, and I did manie things liberally to the brethren, w<sup>ch</sup> were of my nation, and came with me to Ninieue into the land of the Assyrians.
- 4 And when I was in mine owne countrei in the land of Israel, being but yong, all the tribe of Nephthalim my father fell from the house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes shulde sacrifice there, where the Tēple of the tabernacle of the moste High was consecrated, and buylt vp for all ages.

- 5 *Now all the tribes, which fell from God, yea, and my father Nephthalims house offered to the heifar called Baal.

1. King. 12. 30

- 6 But I (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an euerlasting decre) went alone often to Ierusalem, *bringing the first frutes, and the tenth of beasts, with that which was first shorne, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

He fledde fro idoles. Exod. 22. 39. deu. 12. 6.

- 7 The first tenth parte I gaue to y<sup>e</sup> Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministred in Ierusalem: the other tēth parte I solde, & came & bestowed it euerie yere at Ierusalem.

- 8 The thirde tenth parte I gaue vnto them to whome it was mete, as Debora my fathers mother had commanded me: for my father left me as a pupil.

- 9 ¶ Furthermore when I was come to the age of a mā, I married Anna of mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

He marryeth to wife Anna, & beareth him Tobias. Nomb. 36. 7.

- 10 ¶ But whē I was ledde captiue to Ninieue, all my brethren, & those w<sup>ch</sup> were of my kinred did eate of the bread of y<sup>e</sup> Gētiles.

Gen. 43. 32.

Hhh.iii.

11 But I kept my self from eating,

12 Because I remembred God with all mine heart.

He found grace in the sight of Salmanassar

13 Therefore the most High gaue me grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his puruoyer.

Or, sonne.
Or, in Rages a time of Media.

14 ¶ And I went into Media, and I deliuered tentalers of siluer to Gabael the brother of Gabrias in the land of Media.

Or, Salmanassar
The charitie of Tobias.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I colde not go into Media.

16 ¶ But in the time of Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungrie, 17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I sawe any of my kinred dead, or cast about the walles of Nineue, I buryed him.

2. mac. 7, 41.
2. mac. 8, 19.

18 And if the King Sennacherib had slaine any, when he* was come and fled from Iudea, I buryed the priuely (for in his wrath he killed many) but the bodies were not foude whe they were sought for of y King.

Tobit fleeth from the face of Sennacherib.

19 Therefore whe a certeine Nineuite had accused me to the King, because I did bury them, I hid my self: and because I knewe that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrewe my self for feare.

2. King. 19, 37
2. chr. 32, 21.

20 Then all my goods were spoyled, nether was there any thing left me besides my wife Anna and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheles* within fise and fistic daies two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled into the mountaines of Arrarath, & Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accôptes and ouer all his domestical affaires Achiacharus my brother Anazels sonne.

Tobit returneth.

22 And when Achiacharus had made a request for me, I came againe to Nineue: now Achiacharus was cupbearer & keper of y signet, & steward, & ouersawe the accomptes: so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, & he was my brothers sonne.

CHAP. II.

¶ Tobit calleth the faithful to his table. 3 He leaueth the feast to bury the dead. 10 How he became blinde. 13 His wife laboreth for her liuing. 16 She reprocheth him bitterly.

¶ Now when I was come home againe, & my wife Anna was restored vnto me with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecoste, which is the holy feast of the seuen weekes, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe to eat.

Tobit doeth bid to diner those which feare God.

2 And when I sawe abundâce of meat, I said to my sonne, Go, & bring what poore man soeuer y shalt finde of our brethre which doth remeber God, & lo I wil tary for thee.

Tobit, leaning his gesses, taketh vp the dead bodie into his house to burye it.

3 But he came againe, and said, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the market place.

4 The before I had tasted anie meat, I start vp, and broght him into mine house vntil the going downe of the sunne.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meat in heauines,

6 Remembring that prophecie of* Amos, whad said, your solene feasts shalbe turned into mourning, & your ioyes into wailing.

Amos 8, 10.
1. mac. 1, 41.

7 Therefore I wept, & after y going downe of y sunne I wet & made a graue & buried hi.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and said, Doeth he not feare, to dye for this cause, who* fled away, and yet, lo, he buryeth the dead againe.

Tobit is rebuked of his neighbours.
Chap. 1, 22.

9 The same night also when I returned fro the buryal, & slept at y wall of mine house because I was polluted, & hauing my face vncouered,

10 And I knewe not y sparowes were in the wall, & as mine eyes were open, the sparowes cast downe warme dogue into mine eyes, & a whitenes came in mine eyes, & I went to the phisiciâs who helped me not. Moreouer Achiacharus did nourish me, vntil I went into Elimais.

He is made blinde for an example of patience to us posteritie.

11 And my wife Anna did take womens workes to do.

The wife of Tobit laboreth for her liuing.

12 And whe she had sent them home to the owners, thei paid the wages, & gaue a kid.

13 Which whe it was at mine house, and began to bleat, I said vnto her, From whence is this kid? is it not stollen? render it to the owners: * for it is not lawful to eat anie thing that is stollen.

The innocencie of Tobit.
Deu. 22, 1.

14 But she said, It was giue for a gifte more the y wages: but I did not beleue, & bade her to render it to y owners, & I did blush, because of her. Furthermore she said, * Whe re are thine almes, & thy righteousness? behold, they all now appeare in thee.

Job 2, 9.

CHAP. III.

¶ The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter, & the things that came vnto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 19 The Angel Raphael sent.

¶ THE I, being sorowful, did wepe, & in my sorowe prayed, saying,

2 O Lord, thou art iuste, & all thy workes, & all thy wayes are mercie & trueth, and thou iudgeth truely & iustely for euer.

3 Remeber me & loke on me, nether punish me accordig to my sins or mine ignorâces or my fathers, w haue sinned before thee.

4 For thei haue not obeyed thy comâdemets: wherefore y hast deliuered vs* for a spoile, & vnto captiuitie, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproche to all them among whome we are disperfed, and now thou hast manie and iuste causes,

Deu. 32, 19.

5 To do w me accordig to my sinnes, & my fathers, because we haue not kept thy comâdemets, nether haue walked in trueth before thee.

* Or, thy iniquities are made us and now.

6 Now therefore deale with me as semeth best vnto thee, & comâde my spirit to be takē frō me, y I may be dissolued, & become earth: for it is better for me to dy the to liue, because I haue heard false reproches, & am verie sorrowful: comande therefore that I may be dissolued out of this distresse, and go into the euerlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 ¶ It came to passe the same day that in Ecbatane a citie of Media Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maides,

8 Because she had bene maryed to seuen housbands, whome Asmodeus the euil spirit had killed, before that they had lien with her. Doest thou not knowe, said they, that thou hast strangled thine housbands: thou hast had now seuen housbads, nether wast thou named after anie of them.

9 Wherefore doest thou "beat vs for them? if they be dead, go thy wayes hence to the, that we may neuer se of thee ether sonne or daughter.

10 When she heard these things, she was verie sorrowful, so that she thought to haue strangled her self. And she said, I am the onely daughter of my father, & if I do this I shal sclander him, and shal bring his age to the graue with sorowe.

11 Then she prayed towarde the windowe & said, Blessed art thou, o Lord my God, and thine holie & glorious Name is blessed, and honorable for euer: let all thy workes praise thee for euer.

12 And now, o Lord, I set mine eyes, & my face toward thee, 13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more anie reproche.

14 Thou knowest, o Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I haue neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captiuitie: I am the onely daughter of my father, nether hathe he anie ma child to be his heire, nether anie nere kinsman or childe borne of him, to whome I may kepe my self for a wife: my seuen housbands are now dead, & why shulde I liue? But if it please not thee that I shulde dye, comande to loke on me, and to pitie me that I do no more heare reproche.

16 So the prayers of them bothe were heard before the maiestie of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them bothe, that is, to take away y whitenes of Tobits eyes, & to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel for a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, & to binde Asmodeus y euil spirit because she belonged to Tobias by right. The self same time came Tobit home, and entered into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came downe fro her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

1 ¶ In that day Tobit remebred y siluer, which he had deliuered to Gabael in Ragel a citie of Media,

2 And said with him self, I haue wished for death: wherefore do I not call for my sonne Tobias that I may admonish him before I dye?

3 And when he had called him, he said, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury me, & despise not thy mother, but honour her all the dayes of thy life, & do that which shal please her, and anger her not.

4 Remeber, my sonne, how manie dangers she susteined when thou wast in her wōbe, and whē she dyeth, burye her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, set our Lord God alwayes before thine eyes, & let not thy wil be set to sinne or to transgresse the comandements of God. Do vprightly all thy life long, and followe not the wayes of vnrightheousnes: for if y deale truly, thy doings shal prosperously succede to thee, & to all the which liue iustely.

7 Giue almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, nether turne thy face fro anie poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 * Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a litle, be not afraide to giue a litle almes.

9 For thou laiest vp a good store for thy self against the day of necessitie, 10 * Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, & suffreth not to come into darknes.

11 For almes is a good gift before the moste High to all them which vse it.

12 Beware of all whoredome, my sonne, & chiefly take a wife of y sede of thy fathers, & take not a strange womā to wife which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the childre of the Prophetes. Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember my sonne that they maryed wiues of their owne kinred, and were blessed in their children and their sede shal inherite the land.

13 Now therefore, my sonne, loue thy brethren, & despise not in thine heart y sonnes & daughters of thy people in not taking a wife of the: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, & in fiercenes is scarcetie, & great pouertie: for fiercenes is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the wages of anie man, w hathe wrought for thee,arie with thee, but giue him it out of had: for if thou serue God, he wil also paye thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and bewel instructed in all thy conuersation.

15 * Do that to no mā w thou hatest: drinke not wine to make thee drunken, nether let drunkennes go with thee in thy iourney.

16 * Giue of thy bread to y hungry, & of thy garments to the y are naked, & of all thine abundance giue almes, & let not thine eye be enuious, when thou giuest almes.

CHAP. V.

Tobias sent to Rages. 1 He meeteth with the Angel Raphael, which did conduct him.
1 Tobias then answered & said, Father, I wil do all things which thou hast commanded me.
2 But how can I receiue the siluer, seing I knowe him not?
3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, and said vnto him, Seke thee a man, which may go with thee, whiles I yet liue, and I wil giue him wages, and go and receiue the money.
4 Therefore when he was gone to seke a man, he founde Raphael the Angel.
5 But he knewe not, & said vnto him, May I go with thee into the land of Media: and knowest thou those places wel?
6 To whome the Angel said, I wil go with thee: for I haue remained with our brother Gabael.
7 Then Tobias said to him, Tarie for me, til I tell my father.
8 Then he said vnto him, Go, and tary not: so he went in & said to his father, Beholde, I haue founde one, which wil go with me. Then he said, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether he be faithful to go with thee.
9 So he called him, and he came in, & they saluted one another.
10 The Tobit said vnto hi, Brother, shewe me of what tribe and familie thou art.
11 To whome he said, Doe st y<sup>e</sup> seke a stocke or familie, or an hired man to go with thy sonne? Then Tobit said vnto him, I wolde knowe thy kinred and thy name.
12 Then he said, I am of the kinred of Azarias & Ananias y<sup>e</sup> great, & of thy brethre.
13 Then Tobit said, Thou art welcome: be not now angrie with me, because I haue enquired to knowe thy kinred, and thy familie: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I knewe Ananias and Ionathas, sonnes of that great Samaias: for we went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first borne, & the teths of the frutes, and they were not deceiued with y<sup>e</sup> errour of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tel me, what wages shal I giue thee: wilt thou a grote a day & things necessarie, as to mine owne sonne?
15 Yea, moreouer if ye returne safe, I wil adde some thing to the wages.
16 So thei agreed. Then said he to Tobias, Prepare thy self for the iourney, and go you on Gods Name. And whe his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father said, Go thou with this man, & God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God kepe you companie. So they went forthe bothe and departed, and the dogge of the yong man with them.
17 But Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobit, Why hast thou sent away our sonne: is he not the staffe of our hand to minister vnto vs?
18 Wolde to God we had not laid money vpo money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.
19 For that which God hathe giuen vnto liue with, doeth suffice vs.
20 Then said Tobit, Be not careful, my sister: he shal returne in safetie, & thine eyes shal se him.
21 For the good Angel doeth kepe him companie, and his iourney shal be prosperous, and he shal returne safe.
22 Then she made an end of weping.
CHAP. VI.
1 Tobias deliuered from the fish. 2 Raphael sheweth him certene medecines. 10 He conducteth him toward Sarra.
1 And as they went on their iourney, they came at night to the flood Tygris, and there abode.
2 And when the yong man went to wash him self, a fish leaped out of the riuer, and wolde haue deuoured him.
3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish. And the yong man toke the fish, and drew it to land.
4 To whome the Angel said, Cut the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them vp surely.
5 So the yong man did as the Angel commanded him: & when they had rosted the fish, they ate it: then they bothe went on their way, til they came to Ecbarane.
6 ¶ Then the yong man said to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?
7 And he said vnto him, Touching y<sup>e</sup> heart and the liuer, if a deuil or an euil spirit trouble trouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and he shall be no more vexed.

8 As for the gail, anoint a man that hath whitenes in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

9 ¶ And when they were come nere to Raguel,

10 The Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge wth Raguel, who is thy cousin: he also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I wil speake for her that she may be giuen thee for a wife.

11 For to thee doeth the right of her pertene, seeing thou alone art remnant of his kinred, 12 And the maid is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, and I wil speake to her father, that we may make the mariage when we are returned from Rages: for I knowe that Raguel can not marie her to another according to the Law of Moyses: els he shulde deserue death, because the right doeth rather appertene to thee then to anie other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maid hath bene giuen to seuen men, who all dyed in the mariage chamber:

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraied, lest I go into her, and dye as the other: for a wicked spirit loueth her, which hurteth no bodie, but those which come into her: wherefore I also feare lest I dye, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of me to the graue with sorrowe: for they haue no other sonne to burye them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Doeſt thou not remeber the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shuldest marie a wife of thine owne kinred? wherefore heare me, o my brother: for she shall be thy wife, nether be y<sup>e</sup> careful of the euil spirit: for this same night shall she be giuen thee in mariage.

16 And when thou shalt go into thy bed, thou shalt take of the hore coles for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish, 17 Which if the spirit do smell, he wil flee away, and neuer come againe anie more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp bothe of you, and praye to God which is merciful, who wil haue pitie on you, and saue you: feare not, for she is appointed vnto thee from the beginning, & thou shalt kepe her, & she shall go with thee: moreover I suppose that she shall beare thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, he loued her, and his heart was effectually ioyned to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marryeth Sarra Raguels daughter

1 And when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel: and Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she broght them into the house.

Raphael & Tobias come to Raguel.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this yong man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, Whence are you, my brether? To whome they said, that they were of the tribe of Nephtholim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 The he said to them, Do ye knowe Tobit our kinsman? And they said, We knowe him. Then said he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, He is bothe aliue, and in good health: and Tobias said, He is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, and kissed him, and wept,

7 And blessed him, & said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of a good and honest man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, he was sorrowful and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Moreouer they receiued them with a readie minde, and after that they had killed a ram of the flocke, they set muche meat on the table. The he said Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the waye, that this busines may be dispatched.

Tobias asketh Raguels daughter to wife

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat, and drinke and make merry.

10 For it is mete that thou shuldest marie my daughter: neuertheles, I wil declare vnto thee the trueth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in mariage to seuen men, who dyed that night which they came in vnto her: neuertheles, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I wil eat nothing here, vntil ye bring her hether, and betrothe her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Marie her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine. God which is merciful, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, & she came to her father, and he toke her by the hand, & gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Beholde, take her after the * Law of Moyses, and lead her away to thy father: and he blessed them, Raguel giueth his daughter Sarra to Tobias.

Nomb. 36. d.

14 And called his wife Edna, and he toke a booke and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chaber, and bring her in thether.

17 Which when she had done, as he had bidden her, she brought her thether: then Sarra wept and her mother wiped away her daughters teares, 18 And said vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen & earth giue thee ioye for this thy sorrow: be of good comfort, my daughter.

CHAP. VIII.

Tobias driueth away the euil spirit. 4 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a graue for his sonne in law. 16 Raguel blesteth the Lord.

1 And when they had supped, they brought Tobias in vnto her.

2 And as he went, he remembered the wordes of Raphael, & toke coles for perfumes, and put the heart and liuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smel when the euil spirit had smelled, he fled into the vtmost partes of Egypt, whome the Angel bounde.

4 And after that they were bothe shut in, Tobias rose out of the bed, and said, Sister, arise and let vs pray, that God wolde haue pitie on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, o God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holie and glorious Name for euer: let the heauens blese thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him Eua his wife for an helpe, and stay: of them came mankinde: thou hast said, It is not good, that a man shulde be alone: let vs make vnto him an aide like vnto him self.

7 And now, o Lord, I take not this my sifter for fornicacion, but vprightly: therefore grante me mercie, that we may become aged together.

8 And she said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept bothe that night, and Raguel arose, and went and made a graue, saying, Is not he dead also?

10 But when Raguel was come into his house,

11 He said to his wife Edna, Send one of the maides, and let them se whether he be aliue: if not, that I may burye him, & none knowe it.

12 So the maid opened the dore, and went in, and founde them bothe a slepe, 13 And came forth, and tolde them that he was a liue.

14 The Raguel praised God, & said, O God, thou art worthie to be praised with all pure, & holie praise: therefore let thy Saintes praise thee with all thy creatures, and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for euer.

15 Thou art to be praised, o Lord: for thou hast made me ioyful, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercie.

17 Thou art to be praised because thou hast had mercie of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grante them mercie, o Lord, & finish their life in health with ioye and mercie.

18 Then Raguel bade his seruants to fil the graue.

19 And he kept the wedding feast fourtene daies.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an othe, that he shulde not departe before that the fourtene daies of the mariage were expired, 21 And then he shulde take the halfe of his goods and returne in safetie to his father, and shulde haue the rest, when he and his wife were dead.

Raguel giueth halfe of his goods toward the mariage of his daughter to Tobias.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias mariage.

1 Then Tobias called Raphael, & said vnto him,

2 Brother Azarias, take with thee a seruant and two camels, and go to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring me the money and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworne that I shal not departe.

4 But my father counteth the daies: and if it ary long, he wyl be verie sory.

Tobias care for his sonne.

5 So Raphael went out and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth the bagges which were sealed vp, and gaue them to him.

The Angel goeth on Tobias message.

6 And in the morning they went forth, bothe together, and came to the wedding. And Tobias begate his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

Tobit and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

1 Now Tobit his father counted euery day, & when the daies of the iournay were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobit said, Are they not mocked? or is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

The father & mother are in heauines for Tobias taryng

3 Therefore he was verie sory.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seing he tarieth: and she began to bewaile him, and said,

5 Now I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

Chap. 10.

6 To whome Tobit said, Holde thy peace: be not careful, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Holde thy peace, and deceiue me not: my sonne is dead: and she went out euerie day by the waye, which they went, nether did she eat meat on the daye time, & did consume whole nights in bewailing her sonne Tobias vntil the fourtene rene daies of the wedding were expired, w Raguel had sworne, that he shulde tarie there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me go: for my father and my mother loke no more to se me.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tarie with me, and I wil send to thy father, and they shal declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let me go to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and cattel, and money, 11 And he blessed them, & sent them away, saying, The God of heauen make you, my children, to prosper before I dye.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father, & thy mother in law which are now thy parents, that I may heare good reporte of thee: and he kissed them. Edna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee, my dere brother, and grante that I may se thy children of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Beholde now, I committe to thee my daughter as a pledge: do not intreat her euil.

CHAP. XI.

1 The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How he was received. 10 His father hath his sight restored and praiseth the Lord.

1 After these things Tobias went his way, praising God that he had giuen him a prosperous iournay, and blessed Raguel and Edna his wife, and went on his way til he drewe nere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael said to Tobias, Thou knowest, brother, how thou didest leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haste be fore thy wife, and prepare the house,

4 And take in thine had the gall of the fish. So they went their way, & the dogge followed them.

5 Now Anna sate in the way loking for her sonne,

6 Whome when she sawe coming, she said to his father, beholde, thy sonne cometh, & the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I knowe, Tobias, that thy father shal receiue his sight.

8 Therefore anoint his eyes with the gall, and being pricked therewith, he shal rubbe and make the whitenes to fall away, and shal se thee.

9 ¶ Then Anna rane forthe, and fel on the necke of her sonne, and said vnto him, Seeing I haue sene thee, my sonne, from hence forthe I am content to dye, and they wepte bothe.

10 Tobit also went forthe towards the dore, and stombled, but his sonne ranne vnto him, 11 And toke holde of his father & sprinkled of the gall on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pricke, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenes pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he sawe his sonne, he fel vpon his necke, 14 And he wept and said, Blessed art thou, o Lord, & blessed be thy Name for euer, and blessed be all thine holie Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged me, and hast had pitie on me: for beholde, I se my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad went in, & tolde his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobit went out to mete his daughter in law, reioycing and praising God to the gate of Nineue: and they which sawe him go, marueiled, because he had receiued his sight.

17 But Tobit testified before them all that God had had pitie on him. And when he came nere to Sarra his daughter in law, he blessed her, saying, Thou art welcome, daughter: God be blessed, which hath brought thee vnto vs, & blessed be thy father: and there was great ioye among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achiacharus & Nabas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias mariage was kept seuen dayes with great ioye.

CHAP. XII.

2 Tobias declareth to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him, 5 The which he wolde recompense. 11. 15. Raphael declareth that he is an Angel sent of God.

1 Then Tobit called his sonne Tobias, and said vnto him, Prouide, my sonne, wages for the man, which wet with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And he said vnto him, O father, it shal not grieue me to giue him halfe of those thigs which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought me againe to thee, in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, & hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man said, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, & said vnto him, Take halfe of all that ye haue brought, and go away in safetie.

6 But he toke them bothe a parte, and said vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glorie, and praise him for the things which he hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalte his Name, and to shewe forthe his euident workes with honour: therefore be not wearie to confesse him.

Raguel giueth Tobias, & his wife leaue to departe.

Sarra is instructed by her parents.

- 7 It is good to kepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honorable to reueile the workes of God: do that which is good, & no euil shal touche you.
- 8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes, & righteousness. A litle with righteousness is better then much with vnrighteousnes: it is better to giue almes then to laye vp golde.

- 2 *For he doeth scourge, and hath the pitie: he leadeth to hel, and bringeth vp, nether is there anie that can auoide his hand.
- 3 Confesse him before the Gētiles, ye children of Israel: for he hath scattered you among them.
- 4 There declare his greatnes, and extoll him before all the liuing: for he is our Lord and our God & our father for euer.
- 5 He hath scourged vs for our iniquities, and wil haue mercie againe, & wil gather vs out of all naciōs, among whome we are scattered.
- 6 If you turne to him with your whole heart, and with your whole minde, and deale vp rightly before him, then wil he turne vnto you, and wil not hide his face fro you, but ye shal se what he wil do with you: therefore confesse him with your whole mouth, and praise the Lord of righteousness, and extoll the euerlasting King. I wil confesse him in the land of my captiuitie, and wil declare his power, & greatnes to a sinful naciō. O ye sinners, turne & do iustice before him: who can tel if he wil receiue you to mercie, and haue pitie on you?
- 7 I wil extoll my God, and my soule shal praise the King of heauen, and shal reioyce in his greatnes.
- 8 Let all men speake, and let all praise him for his righteousness.
- 9 O Ierusalem the holie citie, he wil scourge thee for thy childrens workes, but he wil haue pitie againe on the sōnes of righteous men.
- 10 Giue praise to the Lord duely, & praise the euerlasting King, that his tabernacle may be buylded in thee againe with ioye: and let him make ioyful there in thee those that are captiues, and loue in thee for euer those that be miserable.
- 11 Manie naciōs shal come fro farre to the Name of the Lord God, with giftes in their hands, euē giftes to the King of heauen: all generaciōs shal praise thee, & giue signes of ioye.
- 12 Cursed are all they, which hate thee: but blessed are they for euer which loue thee.
- 13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iuste: for thei shalbe gathered, and shal blesse the Lord of the iuste.
- 14 Blessed are they which loue thee: for thei shal reioyce in thy peace. Blessed are they which haue bene sorrowful for all thy scourges: for they shal reioyce for thee, when they shal se all thy glorie, and shal reioyce for euer.
- 15 Let my soule blesse God the great King.
- 16 For Ierusalem shalbe buylt vp with sapphires, and emerodes, and thy walles with pretious stones, and thy towres, and thy bulwarkes with pure golde.
- 17 And the streetes of Ierusalem shalbe paved with beral, and carbuncle, and stones of Ophir.
- 18 And all her streetes shal say, "Halleluiah, and

CHAP. XIII.

4 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 5 He prophesieth the destruction of Nineue. 7 And the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife. 16 Tobias age and death.

1 SO Tobit made an end of praising God.

2 And he was eight and fiftie yere olde, when he lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yere, and he gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to praise him.

3 And when he was verie aged, he called his sonne, and six of his sonnes sonnes, and said to him, My sonne, take thy children (for beholde, I am aged, and am ready to departe out of this life)

4 Go into Media, my sonne: for I beleue that those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shal be destroyed, & for a time peace shal rather be in Media, and that our brethren shal be scattred in the earth from that good land, & Ierusalem shal be desolate, and the House of God in it shal be burned, and shal be desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God wil haue pitie on them and bring them againe into the lād where they shal buylde a Temple, but not like to the first, vntil the times of that age be fulfilled, & being finished, they shal returne fro euerie place out of captiuitie, & buylde vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the House of God shal be buylt in it for euer with a glorious buylding, as the Prophetes haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shal turne, and feare the Lord God truly, & shal burye their idoles.

7 So shal all nations praise the Lord, & his people shal confesse God, and the Lord shal exalte his people, and all those which loue the Lord in trueth and iustice, shal reioyce, & those also which shewe mercie to our brethren.

8 And now, my sonne, departe out of Nineue, because that those things which the Prophet Ionas spake, shal surely come to passe.

9 But kepe thou the Law, & the commandements, & shewe thy self merciful & iust that it may go wel with thee.

10 And burye me honestly, and thy mother with me: but tarie no longer at Nineue. Remember, my sonne, how a man handled Achiacharus that broght him vp, how out of light he broght him into darkenes, and how he rewarded him againe: yet Achiacharus was saued, but the other had his rewarde: for he went downe into darkenes. Manasses gaue almes, & escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Wherefore now, my sonne, consider what almes doeth, and how righteousnes doeth deliuer. When he had said these things, he gaue vp the gost in the bed, being an hundredth and eight and fiftie yere olde, and he buried him honorably.

12 And when Anna was dead, he buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Raguel his father in lawe.

13 Where he became olde with honour, and he buried his father and mother in lawe honorably, & he inherited their substance and Tobits his father.

14 And he dyed at Ecbatane in Media, being an hundredth and seuē & twentie yere olde.

15 But before he dyed, he heard of the destruction of Nineue, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Assuerus, and before his death, he reioyced for Nineue.

Or, his soule failed him in the bed.

IV D E T H.

CHAP. I.

1 The buylding of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made warre against Arphaxad and ouercame him. 12 He threateneth them that wolde not helpe him.

1 IN the twelfth yere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Nineue the great citie (in the daies of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And buylt in Ecbatane the walles rounde about, of hewen stone, thre cubites broad, and six cubites long, and made the height of the wall seuētie cubites, & the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it of an hundredth cubites, & the breadth thereof in the fundaciō thre score cubites,

4 And made the gates thereof, euen gates that were lifted vp on hie, seuētie cubites, & the breadth of them fortie cubites, for y going forthe of his mightie armies, and for the setting in aray of his fotemen)

5 Euen in those daies, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, & all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris and Hydaspes, & the countrey of Arioch the King of the Elymeans, and verie manie nations assembled them selues to the battel of the sonnes of Cheled.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, & to all that dwelt in the West, & to those that dwelt in Cilicia, and Damascus, and Libanus and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the sea coast,

8 And to the people, that are in Carmel, & Galaad, and the hier Galile, and the great field of Esdrelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, & the cities thereof, & beyonde Iorden vnto Ierusalē, & Betane, & Chellus, & Cades, & the riuer of Egypt, and Taphnes, and Rameffe and all the land of Gesem, 10 Vnto one come to Tanis, & Memphis, & to all the inhabitants of Egypt, & to one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this countrey did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, nether wolde they come with him to the battel: for they did not feare him: yea, he was before them as one mā: therefore they sent away his ambassadours from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angrie with all this countrey, and sware by his throne and kingdome that he wolde surely be auenged vpon all those coastes of Cilicia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he wolde slay with the sworde all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and all Iudea, and all that were in Egypt, til one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battel aray with his power against King Arphaxad in the sequententh yere, and he preuailed in his battel: for he ouerthrewe all the power of Arphaxad, and all his horse men, and all his chariots.

14 And he wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and toke the towres, and spoiled the stretes thereof, and turned the beautie thereof into shame.

15 He toke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, & smote him through with his dartes and destroyed him vtterly that daye.

16 So he returned afterwarde to Nineue, bothe he and all his companie with a verie great multitude of men of warre, and there he passed the time, and banketed, bothe he, and his armie an hundreth and twentie dayes.

CHAP. II.

1 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people should be brought in subiection, 6 And to destroy those that disobeyed him. 15 The preparation of Olophernes armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

1 AND in the eighteenth yere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians, that he shulde aduenge him selfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So he called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with the his secret counsel, and set before them with his owne mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroe all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when he had ended his counsel, Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chief captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Beholde, thou shalt go forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footemen, an hundreth and twentie thousand, & the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt go against all the West countrey, because they desobeied my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare vnto them, that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I wil go forth in my wrath against them, and wil couer the whole face of the earth with the fete of mine armie, and I wil giue them as a spoyle vnto them,

8 So that their wounded shal fil their valleys, & their riuers, & the flood shal ouerflowe, being filled with their dead.

9 And I wil bring their captiuitie to the vtmost partes of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt departe hence, and take vp for me all their countrey: and if they yelde vnto thee, thou shalt reserue the for me vntil the day that I rebuke the.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare the, but put the to death, & spoyle them wherefoeuer thou goest.

12 For as I liue, and the power of my kingdome, whatfoeuer I haue spoken, that wil I do by mine hand.

13 And take thou hede that thou transgresse not any of the comandements of thy Lord, but accomplishe them fully, as I haue commanded thee, and differ not to do them.

14 ¶ Then Olofernes went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the gouernours, and captaines, and officers of the armie of Assur,

15 And he mustred the chosen men for the battel, as his lord had commanded him, vnto an hundreth & twentie thousand, and twelue thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And he set them in aray according to the maner of setting a great armie in aray.

17 And he toke camels & asses for their burdens, dens, a very great number, and shepe, and oxen, & goates without number for their prouision, 18 And vitaille for euerie man of the armie, and very muche golde & siluer out of the Kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to go before in the viage of King Nabuchodonosor, & to couer all the face of the earth Westwarde, with their charrets, and horsemen, and chosen foremen.

20 A great multitude also of sundrie sortes came with them like grasshoppers, and like the grauel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineue three daies iornay towarde the countrey of Beethleth, and pitched from Beethleth nere the mountaine which is at the left hand of the vpper Cilicia.

22 Then he toke all his armie, his foremen and horsemen, and charrets, and went from thence into the mountaines, 23 And he destroyed Phud and Lud, and spoyled all the children of Rassas, and the children of Ismael, which were towarde the wildernes at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went ouer Euphrates, and went through Mesopotamia, & destroyed all the hie cities that were vpon the riuer of Arbounai, vntill one come to the sea.

25 And he toke the borders of Cilicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Iapheth, which were towarde the South and ouer against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Madian, and burnt vp their tabernacles, and spoyled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the countrey of Damascus, in the time of wheat haruest and burnt vp all their fields, and destroyed their flockes and the herds: he robbed their cities, and spoyled their countrey, and smote all their yong men with the edge of the sworde.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fel vpon all the inhabitants of the sea coast, which were in Sidon and Tyrus, and them that dwelt in Sur & Ocina, & all that dwelt in Iemnaan: & they that dwelt in Azotus, & Ascalon feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subiect to Olofernes. & He destroyed their gods that Nabuchodonosor might onely be worshipped.

1 SO they sent ambassadours to him with smellasses of peace, saying,

2 Beholde, we are the seruantes of Nabuchodonosor the great King: we lie downe before thee: vse vs as shalbe good in thy fight.

3 Beholde, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheat, and our floc-kes, and our herdes, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: vse them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Beholde, euen our cities and the inhabitants thereof are thy seruants: come, and take them, as semeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Olofernes, and declared vnto them after this maner.

6 Then came he downe towarde the sea coast, bothe he and his armie, and set garisons in the hie cities, and toke out of the chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the countrey rounde about receiued the, with crownes, with dances, and with timbrels.

8 Yet he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods: for it was iniointed him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nacions shulde worshippe Nabuchodonosor onely, and that all tongues and tribes shulde call vpon him as God.

9 Also he came against Esdraclon, nere vnto Iudea, ouer against the great strait of Iudea, 10 And he pitched betwene Geba, and a citie of the Scythians, and there he taried a moneth, that he might assemble all his baggage of his armie.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraied and defended their countrey. 6 Ioachim the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they shulde fortifie them selues. 9 They cryed to the Lord, and humbled them selues before him.

NOW the childre of Israel that dwelt in Iudea, heard all that Olofernes the chief captaine of Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians had done to the nacions, and how he had spoyled all their temples, and broght them to noght.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Ierusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captiuitie, and of late all the people was assembled in Iudea, and the vessels and the altar of the House had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Bethoro, and Belmen, and Iericho, and to Choba, and Esora, and to the valley of Salem,

5 And toke all the toppes of the hie mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitailles for the prouision of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Also Ioachim the hie Priest which was in those daies in Ierusalem, wrote to the that dwelt in Bethulia & Betomestham, which is ouer against Esdraclon towarde the open countrey nere to Dothaim,

Iudeth.

- 7 Exhorting them to kepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entrie into Iudea, & it was easie to let the that wolde come vp, because the passage was streit for two men at the moste.
- 8 And the children of Israel did as Ioacim the hie Priest had commanded them with the Ancients of all the people of Israel, which dwelt at Ierusalem.
- 9 Then cryed euerie man of Israel to God with great seruencie, and their soules with great affection.
- 10 Bothe they, and their wiues, & their children, and their cattel, and euerie stranger, and hireling, and their bought seruants put sackcloth vpon their loynes.
- 11 Thus euerie man & woman, and the children, and the inhabitants of Ierusalem fell before the Temple, & sprinkled ashes vpon their heades, and spred out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar,
- 12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent moste earnestly, that he wolde not giue their children for a pray, and their wiues for a spoyle, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, & the Sanctuarie to pollution and reproche, and vnto derision to the heathen.
- 13 So God heard their prayers, and looked vpon their affliction: for the people fasted many daies in all Iudea and Ierusalem before the Sanctuarie of the Lord almightie.
- 14 And Ioacim the hie Priest, and all the Priests that stode before the Lord, & ministred vnto y Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offred the continual burnt offering, with prayers and the fre giftes of the people,
- 15 And had ashes on their mytres, & cryed vnto y Lord with all their power for grace, and that he wolde loke vpo all the house of Israel.
- CHAP. V.
- Achior the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Israelites.*
- 1 Then was it declared to Olofernes the chief captaine of the armie of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, and had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the topes of the hie hilles, and had laied impediments in the champion countrey.
- 2 Wherewith he was very angrie, and called all the princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the sea coast.
- 3 And he said vnto the, Shewe me, o ye sonnes of Chanaa, who is this people y dwelleth in the mountaines? and what are the cities that they inhabite? and what is the multitude of their armie? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what King or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?
- 4 And why haue they determined not to come to mete me, more then all the inhabitants of the West?
- 5 ¶ Then* said Achior the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the worde of the mouth of his seruant, and I wil declare vnto thee the trueth concerning this people, that dwell in these mountaines, nere where thou remainest: & there shal no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant. Chap. 11, 7.
- 6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.
- 7 And* they dwelt before in Mesopotamia, Gen. 11, 3. because they wolde not follow the gods of their fathers, which were in the land of Chaldea.
- 8 But they went out of the way of their ancestres and worshipped the God of heauē, the God whome they knewe: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fled into Mesopotamia, & sojourned there many daies.
- 9 Then* their God comanded them to departe fro the place where they sojourned, and to go into the land of Chanaan, where they dwelt, and were increased with golde and siluer, and with very much cattel. Gen. 12, 6.
- 10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there til they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one coulde not number their linage.
- 11 ¶ Therefore the King of Egypt rose vp against them, and vsed deceit against them, and broght them lowe with laboring in bricke, and made them sclauers. Exo. 1, 3.
- 12 Then they cryed vnto their God, and he smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the Egyptians cast them out of their sight. Exo. 12, 3.
- 13 And* God dried the red Sea in their presence, Exo. 14, 21. and they passed.
- 14 And* broght them into mount Sina and Cades barne, and cast forthe all that dwelt in the wilderness. Exo. 15, 1.
- 15 So they dwelt in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Eschbon, and passing ouer Iordan, they inherited all the mountaines.
- 16 And they* cast forthe before them the Chanaanites & the Phereites, and the Iebusites, and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwelt in that countrey many daies. Ios. 12, 21.
- 17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie, was with them.
- 18 But* when they departed from the way which he appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderful sorte, Iudg. 2, 12.

King 22.1. sorte,* & were led captiues into a lād that was not theirs: & the Tēple of their God was cast to the ground & their cities were taken by the enemies.

Ez. 11. 19 But * now they are turned to their God, & are come vp frō the scattering wherein thei were scattered, and haue possessed Ierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my lord & gouernour, if there be anie faute in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shalbe their ruine, and let vs go vp, and we shal ouercome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my lord passe by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproche before all the worlde.

22 ¶ And when Achior had finished these sayings, all the people, standing rounde about the tent, murmured: & the chief men of Olofernes, and all that dwelt by the sea side and in Moab, spake that he shulde kill him.

23 For, say they, we feare not to mete y children of Israel: for lo, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mightie armie.

24 Let vs therefore go vp, o lord Olofernes, and they shal be meat for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

*Olofernes blasphemeth God whome Achior confessed.
14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia. 18 The Bethulians crye vnto the Lord.*

1 AND when the tumulte of the men that were about the counsel, was ceased, Olofernes, the chief captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achior before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Moab, & of them that were hired of Ephraim,

2 Because thou hast prophecied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Ierusalem is able to fight, * because their God wil defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

3 He wil send his power, and wil destroye them from the face of the earth, and their God shal not deliuer them: but we his seruants wil destroye them as one man: for they are not able to susteine the power of our horses.

4 For we wil tread them vnder fete with them, and their mountaines shalbe drunken with their blood, and their fields shal be filled with their dead bodies, and their fote-steppes shal not be able to stand before vs: but they shal vtterly perish.

5 The King Nabuchodonosor, lord of all the earth, hathe said, euen he hathe said,

None of my wordes shalbe in vaine.

6 And thou Achior an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these wordes in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day vntil I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shal the yron of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue me, passe through thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their slayne, when I shal put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shal cary thee into the mountaines, and they shal leaue thee at one of the hie cities: but thou shalt not perish, til thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou persuade thy self in thy minde, that they shal not be taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my wordes shalbe in vaine.

10 Then commanded Olofernes them concerning Achior, that they shulde bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants toke him, and broght him out of the campe into the plaine: and thei went out from the middes of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the citie sawe the from the toppe of the mountaine, they toke their armour, and went forthe of the citie vnto the toppe of the mountaine, euen all the throwers with slings, and kept them from comming vp, by casting stones against them.

13 But they went priuely vnder the hill, & bounde Achior, and left him lying at the fore of the hill, & returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their citie, and stode about him, and losed him & broght him into Bethulia, & presented him to the gouernours of their citie, 15 Which were in those daies, Ozias the sonne of Micha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the sonne of Gorthoniel, & Charmis the sonne of Melchiel.

16 And they called together all the Ancients of the citie, and all their youth ranne together, and their women to the assemble: and they set Achior in the middes of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered & declared vnto them the wordes of the counsel of Olofernes, and all the wordes that he had spoken in the middes of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Olofernes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fel downe and worshipped God, and cryed vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, beholde their pride, and haue mercie on the basenes of our people, and beholde this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achior, & praised him greatly.

21 And Ozias toke out of the assemblie into his house, & made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Olofernes doeth bessege Bethulia. 2 The counsel of the Idumeans and other against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmure against their gouernours for lacke of water.

1 THe next day, Olofernes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his parte, that thei shulde remoue their campes against Bethulia, and that they shulde take all the streites of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remoued their camps in that daye, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundreth thousand and seuentie fotemen, & twelue thousand horsēmē, beside the baggage & other men that were afote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine nere vnto Bethulia, by the fountaine, and thei spred abroad toward Dothaim vnto Belbaim, & and in length from Bethulia vnto Ciamō, which is ouer against Esdraelom.

4 Now the children of Israel, when they sawe y multitude, were greatly troubled, & said euerie one to his neighbour, Now wil they shut vp all the whole earth: for nether the hie mountaines nor the valleis, nor y hilles are able to abide their burden.

5 Then euerie one toke his weapōs of warre, and burning fyres in their towres, they remained and watched all that night.

6 But in the secōde day, Olofernes broght forth the all his horsemen in the sight of the childre of Israel, which were in Bethulia,

7 And vewed the passages vp to their citie, and came to the fountains of their waters, & toke thē & set garisons of men of warre ouer thē, and remoued toward his people.

8 Then came vnto him all the chief of the children of Esau, and all the gouernours of the people of Moab, & all the captaines of the sea coast, and said, 9 Let our captaine now heare a worde, lest an inconuenience come in thine armie.

10 For this people of the children of Israel do not trust in their speares, but in the height of the mountaines, wherein they dwell, because it is not easy to come vp to the toppes of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore, my lord, fight not against them in battel aray, and there shal not so muche as one man of thy people perish.

12 Remaine in thy campe, and kepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men kepe stil the water of the countrey; that cometh forth at the fote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Bethulia haue their water thereof: so shal thirst kill thē, and they shal giue vp their citie: and we and our people wil go vp to the toppes of the mountaines that are nere, & wil campe vpon them, & watche that none go out of the citie.

14 So thei & their wiues, & their children shalbe consumed with famine, & before the sworde come against thē, thei shalbe ouerthrowen in y stretes where thei dwell.

15 Thus shalt thou réder them an euil reward, because thei rebelled & obeyed not thy persone peaceably.

16 And these wordes pleased Olofernes & all his soldiers, and he appointed to do as they had spoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, & with them fise thousand of the Assyrians, and they pitched in the valley, & toke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the childre of Israel.

18 Then the children of Esau went vp with the children of Ammon, & camped in the mountaines ouer against Dothaim, & thei sent some of thē selues toward the South, and toward the East, ouer against Rebel, which is nere vnto Chusi, that is vpon the riuer Mochmur: and the rest of the armie of the Assyrians camped in the field, and couered the whole land: for their tents & their baggage were pitched in a wonderful great place.

19 Then the children of Israel cryed vnto the Lord their God, because their heart failed: for all their enemies had cōpassed them about, and there was no way to escape out from among them.

20 Thus all the companie of Assur remained about them, bothe their fotemen, chariots and horsemen, foure and thirtie dayes: so that euē all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Bethulia.

21 And the cisternes were emptie, and they had not water ynough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by measure.

22 Therefore their children swoned, and their wiues & yong men failed for thirst, and fel downe in the stretes of the citie, & by the passages of the gates, and there was no strength in them.

23 Then all the people assembled to Ozias, and to the chief of the citie, bothe yong men and women, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, and said before all the Elders,

24 The Lord iudge betwene vs & you: for you haue done vs great iniurie, in that ye haue haue not required peace of the children of Assur.

25 For now we haue no helper: but God haue the folde vs into their hands, that we shulde be throwen downe before them with thirst and great destruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, & deliuer the whole citie for a spoile to y<sup>e</sup> people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a spoile vnto the, then to dye for thirst: for we wil be his seruants that we may liue, & not se y<sup>e</sup> death of our infants before our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to dye.

28 We take to witnes against you the heaue and the earth, & our God and Lord of our fathers, which punisheth vs, according to our sinnes & the sinnes of our fathers, that he lay not these things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crye of all w<sup>h</sup> one cōsent in y<sup>e</sup> middes of the assemblie, & thei cryed vnto y<sup>e</sup> Lord God w<sup>h</sup> a loude voyce.

30 Then said Ozias to the, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet fīue daies, in the which space the Lord our God may turne his mercie toward vs: for he wil not forsake vs in the end.

31 And if these daies passe, and there come not helpe vnto vs, I wil do according to your worde.

32 So he separated the people, euerie one vnto their charge, & thei wēt vnto the walles and towres of their citie, & sent their wiues & their children into their houses, and they were very lowe brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life & conuersation of Iudeth. 11 She rebuketh the faintenes of the gouernours. 12 She sheweth that they shulde not tempt God, but wait vpon him for succour. 33 Her enterprise against the enemies.

1 NOW at that time, Iudeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari the sonne of Ox, the sonne of Ioseph, the sonne of Oziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Gedeō, the sonne of Raphaim, the sonne of Acito, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nathanael, the sonne of Samael, y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Salafadai, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Manasses was her housband, of her stocke and kinred, who dyed in the barely haruest.

3 For as he was diligēt ouer the that boūde sheaues in y<sup>e</sup> field, the heat came vpon his head, & he fel vpon his bed, & dyed in the citie of Bethulia, & thei buryed him with his fathers in the field betwene Dothaim and Balamo.

4 So Iudeth was in her house a widowe threyeres and foure moneths.

5 And she made her a tente vpon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparel.

6 And she fasted all y<sup>e</sup> daies of her widow-hode, saue the day before the Sabbath and the Sabbaths, and the day before the newe moones, & in the feastes & solemne daies of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodlie countenance & very beautiful to beholde: & her housband Manasses had left her golde & siluer, and men seruants, and maide seruants, and cattel, and possessions, where she remained.

8 And there was none y<sup>e</sup> colde bring an euil reporte of her: for she feared God greatly.

9 Now when she heard y<sup>e</sup> euil wordes of the people against the gouernour, because thei fainted for lacke of waters (for Iudeth had heard all the wordes y<sup>e</sup> Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that he had * sworne vnto the to deliuer the citie vnto the Assyrians within fīue daies)

Chap 7.23.

10 Then she sent her maide y<sup>e</sup> had the gouernement of all things that she had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the Ancients of the Citie.

11 And they came vnto her, and she said vnto them, Heare me, o ye gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes y<sup>e</sup> haue spokē before the people this day, are not right, touching this othe which ye made & pronounced betwene God & you, & haue promised to deliuer y<sup>e</sup> citie to the enemies, vnles within these daies the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, & set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now you sike the Lord almightie, but you shal neuer knowe any thing.

14 For you can not finde out y<sup>e</sup> depth of the heart of mā, nether cā ye perceiue y<sup>e</sup> things y<sup>e</sup> he thinketh: the how can you search out God, that hathe made all these things, and knowe his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if he wil not helpe vs within these fīue daies, he hathe power to defend vs when he wil, euen euerie day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Do not you therefore binde y<sup>e</sup> counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that he may be threatned, nether as y<sup>e</sup> sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs waite for saluacion of him & call vpon him to helpe vs, & he wil heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, nether is there any now in these daies, nether tribe, nor familie, nor people, nor citie among vs, which worship y<sup>e</sup> gods made with hands, as hathe bene afore time.

19 For y<sup>e</sup> which cause our fathers were giuē to the sworde, & for a spoile, & had a great fall before our enemies.

Iud. 2.11. & 4.1. & 6.1.

20 But we knowe none other God: therefore we trust that he wil not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Nether when we shalbe taken, shal Iudea be so famous: for our Sanctuarie shalbe spoiled, and he wil require the prophanacion thereof at our mouth,

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the countrey, & the desolatiō of our inheritance wil he turne vpon our heads amōg the Gentiles, wherefoeter we shalbe in bondage, & we shalbe an offence & a reproche to all thē that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shal not be directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shal turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, o brethren, let vs shewe an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend vpon vs, & the Sanctuarie, & the House, and the altar rest vpon vs.

25 Moreouer, let vs giue thākes to the Lord our God, which tryeth vs euen as he did our fathers.

Gen. 22, 1.

Gen. 28, 7.

26 Remember what things he did to Abraham, and how he tryed Isaac, and all that he did to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when he kept the shepe of Laban his mothers brother.

27 For he hathe not tryed vs as he did them to the examination of their hearts, nether doeth he take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that comen nere to him.

28 ¶ Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is knowen, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowen thy wisdom: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirstie, and compelled vs to do vnto them, as we haue spoken, & haue brought vs to an othe which we may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy womā, that the Lord may send vs rayne to fill our cisternes, and that we may faint no more.

32 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me, and I wil do a thing, which shalbe declared in all generations, to the children of our nacion.

33 You shal stand this night in the gate, and I wil go forth with mine handmaid: and within the daies that ye haue promised to deliuer the citie to our enemies, the Lord wil visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But inquire not you of mine acte: for I wil not declare it vnto you, til the things be finished that I do.

35 Then said Ozias & the princes vnto her, Go in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wardes.

CHAP. IX.

1 Iudeth humbleth her self before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliuerance of her people. 7 Against the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

1 Then Iudeth fel vpon her face, and put ashes vpon her head, and put of the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of that euening was offred in Ierusalē in the House of the Lord, Iudeth cryed with a loude voyce, and said, geance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maide, and defiled her, and discouered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproche (for thou hadest commanded that it shulde not so be,

3 Yet thei did things for the which thou gauest their princes to the slaughter, for they were deceiued & washed their beds with blood) and hast striken the seruants with the gouernours, and the gouernours vpon their thrones,

4 And hast giuen their wiues for a pray and their daughters to be captiues, & all their spoiles for a bootie to y children that thou louedst: which were moued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, & called vpon thee for aide, o God, o my God, heare me also a widdowe.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, & these, and the things that shalbe after, and thou cōsiderest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which y doest purpose, are present, & say, Beholde, we are here: for all thy waies are ready, & thy iudgements are foreknownen.

7 Beholde, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they haue exalted thē selues with horses & horsemen: they glorie in the strength of their fotemen: they trust in shield, speare and bowe, and sling, and do not knowe that thou art y Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Breake thou their strength by thy power, and breake their force by thy wrath: for they haue purposed to defile thy Sanctuarie, & to pollute the tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the hornes of the altar.

9 Beholde their pride, and send thy wrath vpon their heads: giue into mine hād which am a widow, y strength y I haue cōceiued.

o Lord, art the helpe of the humble and litle ones, the defender of the weake, & the protector of them that are forsaken, & the Sauour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely thou art the God of my father, & the God of thy inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the King of all creatures: heare thou my prayer, 13 And grant me wordes & craft, & a wounde, and a stroke against the that entreprife cruel things against thy couenant, and against thine holy House, & against the toppe of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shewe euidently among all thy people, & all the tribes, that they may knowe that thou art the God of all power & strength, & that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel, but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudeth decketh her self & goeth forth of the citie. 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians and brought to Olofernes.

1 NOW after she had ceased to crye vnto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these wordes,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maide, & went downe into the house, in the which she abode in the Sabbath daies and in the feast daies,

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith she was clad, & putting of the garments of her widowhode, she washed her body with water, & anoited it with muche ointement, & dressed the heere of her head, and put attire vpon it, and put on her garments of gladnes, wherewith she was clad during the life of Manasses her housbād.

4 And she put slippers on her fete, & put on bracelets, & sleues, and rings, & earings, & all her ornaments, and she decked her selfe brauely to allure the eyes of all men that shulde se her.

5 Then she gaue her maide a bottel of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrippe with floure, & with drye figges, & with fine bread: so she lapped vp all these things together and laid them vpon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the gate of the citie of Bethulia, and found standing there Ozias, and the ancients of the citie, Charbis and Charmis.

7 And whē they sawe her that her face was changed, & that her garment was chāged, they marueiled greatly at her wonderful beaurie, and said vnto her,

8 The God, thy God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterprises to the glorie of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Ierusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she said vnto them, Cōmande the gates of the citie to be opened vnto me, that I may go forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to me. So they cōmanded the yong men to open vnto her, as she had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth wēt out, she and her maide with her, and the men of the citie loked after her, vntil she was gone downe the mountaine, and til she had passed the valley, and colde se her no more.

11 Thus they went streight forth in the valley, and the first watche of the Assyriās met her,

12 And toke her, & asked her, Of what people art thou, and whēce comest thou? and whether goest thou? And she said, I am a womā of the Hebrewes, and am fled from them: for they shalbe giuen you to be consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes, the chief captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I wil shewe before him the way wherby he shal go and winne all the mountaines, without losing the bodie or life of anie of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her wordes, & behelde her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beaurie, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saued thy life, in that thou hast hasted to come downe to the presence of our lord: now therefore come to his tente, and some of vs shal cōduct thee vntil thei haue deliured thee into his hāds.

16 And when thou standest before him, be not afraid in thine heart, but shewe vnto him according as thou hast to say, and he wil intreat thee wel.

17 Then they chose out of the an hundreth men, and prepared a charet for her and her maide, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro, throughout the campe: for her comming was bruted among the tentes: & thei came and stode rounde about her: for she stode without the tent of Olofernes vntil they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marueiled at her beaurie, and wondered at the children of Israel because of her, & euerie one said vnto his neighbour, Who wolde despise this people, that haue among the suche women? surely it is not good that one mā of them be left: for if thei shulde remaine, they might deceiue the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes garde went out, and all his seruantes, and they brought her into the tente.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was wouen with purple and golde and emeraudes, and precious stones.

Iudeth.

22 So they shewed him of her, and he came forth vnto the entrie of his tent, and they caried lampes of siluer before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marueiled at the beautie of her countenance, and she fel downe vpon her face, & did reuerence vnto him, & his seruants toke her vp.

CHAP. XI.

1 Olofernes comforteth Iudeth. 3 And asketh the cause of her comming. 5 She deceiueth him by her faire wordes.

1 THEN said Olofernes vnto her, Womā, be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for I neuer hurt any that wolde serue Nabuchodonosor y King of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwel- leth in the mountaines, had not despised me, I wolde not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to them selues.

3 But now tel me wherefore thou art fled from them, and art come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegard: be of good confort, thou shalt liue fro this night, & hereafter.

4 For none shal hurt thee, but intreat thee wel, as they do the seruants of King Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth said vnto him, Receiue the wordes of thy seruāt, & suffer thine handmaide to speake in thy presence, and I wil declare no lie to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the wordes of thine handmaide, God wil bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, & my lord shal not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor King of all y earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hathe sent thee to reforme all persones, not onely men shal be made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fields, & the cattel, & the foules of the heauen shal liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor & all his house.

8 For we haue heard of thy wisdom and of thy prudēt spirit, & it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderful knowledge, and in feates of warre marueilous.

Chap. xi.

9 Now as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy counsel, we haue heard his wordes: for the men of Bethulia did take him, & he declared vnto them all that he had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, o lord & gouernour, reiect not his worde, but set it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, nether can the sworde preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore lest my lord shulde be frustrate, and voide of his purpose, & that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to angre, which is so oft times as they do that which is not be- seming,

12 (For because their vittailles faile, and all their water is wasted, thei haue determined to take their cattel, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eat by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first frutes of the wheat, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oile which they had reserued and sanctified for the Priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things it is not lawful for anie of the people to touche w their hāds.

14 Moreouer they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwel there, haue done the like, suche as shulde bring them licence from the Senate)

15 Now when they shal bring them worde, they wil do it, and they shalbe giuen thee to be destroyed the same day.

16 Wherefore I thine handmaid, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hathe sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shal wonder, & whosoeuer shal heare it.

17 For thy seruāt feareth God, and worshipeth the God of heaue day and night, and now let me remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy seruāt go out in the night into the valley, and I wil pray vnto God, that he may reueile vnto me when they shal commit their sinns,

18 And I wil come and shewe it vnto thee: then thou shalt go forth with all thine armie, & there shalbe none of them that shal resist thee.

19 And I wil lead thee through the middes of Iudea, vntil thou come before Ierusalem, and I wil set thy throne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt driue them as shepe that haue no shepherd, and a dogge shal not barcke with his mouthe against thee: for these things haue bene spokē vnto me, & declared vnto me accordig to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shewe thee.

20 ¶ Then her wordes pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they marueiled at her wisdom, and said, 21 There is not suche a womā in all the worlde, bothe for beautie of face, and wisdom of wordes.

22 Likewise Olofernes said vnto her, God hathe done this, to send thee before y peo*ple, that strēgth might be in our hāds, and destruction vpo the that despise my lord.*

23 And now thou art bothe beautiful in thy couēnāce, & wittie in thy wordes: surely if thou do as y hast spoken, thy God shalbe my my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, & shalt be renowned throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

1 Iudeth wolde not pollute her self with the meat of the Gentiles. 5 She maketh her request that she might go out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes causeth her to come to the banquet.

Then he commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layed, and bade that they shulde prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she shulde drinke of his owne wine.

But Iudeth said, I may not eat of them, lest there shulde be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

Then Olofernes said vnto her, If the things that thou hast, shulde faile, how shulde we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

Then said Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaide shal not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that he hath determined.

Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and she slept vntil midnight, and rose at the morning watche,

And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord commande that thine hadmaide may go forthe vnto prayer.

Then Olofernes commanded his garde that thei shuld not stay her: thus she abode in the campe thre dayes, and went out in the night into the valley of Bethulia, and washed her self in a fountaine, euen in the water by the campe.

And when she came out, she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that he wolde direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

So she returned, & remained pure in the tent, vntil she ate her meat at euening.

And in the fourthe day, Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the baket, that had the affaires in hand.

The said he to Bagoas the eunuche who had charge ouer all that he had, Go and persuaue this Hebrew woman, which is with thee, that she come vnto vs and eat, & drinke with vs.

For it were a shame for vs, if we shulde let suche a womā alone, & not talke w her, & if we do not allure her, she wil mocke vs

Then wēt Bagoas frō the presence of Olofernes, & came to her, & said, Let not this faire maide make difficultie to go into my lord, & to be honored in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, & to be intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

Then said Iudeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I shulde gaine say my lord? Surely whatsoeuer pleaseth him, I wil do speedely, and it shalbe my ioye vnto the day of my death.

So she arose & trimmed her w garments, and with all y ornaments of women, & her maide wēt, & spred for her skinnies on the groude ouer against Olofernes, which she had receiued of Bagoas for her daily vse, that she might sit and eat vpon them.

Now when Iudeth came & sate downe, Olofernes heart was rauished with her, and his spirit was moued, and he desired greatly her companie: for he had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that he had sene her.

Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now, and be mery with vs.

So Iudeth said, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was borne.

The she toke, & ate & drake before him the things, that her maide had prepared.

And Olofernes reioyced because of her & drake muche more wine the he had druke at anie time in one day since he was borne.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iudeth praieth for strenght. 8 She smiteth of Olofernes necke. 10 She returneth to Bethulia & reioyceth her people.

Now whē the euening was come, his seruants made haste to departe, and Bagoas shut his tent without, & dimissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, & they went to their beddes: for they were all wearie, because the feast had bene long.

And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, & Olofernes was stretched along vpon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

Now Iudeth had cōmanded her maide to stād without her chāber, & to waite for her cōming forthe as she did daily: for she said, she wolde go forthe to her prayers, & she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

So all went forthe of her presence, & none was left in the chāber, nether litle nor great: the Iudeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine hands for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

For now is y time to helpe thine inheritance, & to execute mine enterprises, to y destructiō of y enemies w are risen agāst vs.

Then she came to the post of y bed which was at Olofernes head, & toke downe his fauchin from thence,

And approched to the bed, & toke holde of the heere of his head, and said, Strengthen me, o Lord God of Israel this day.

And she smote twise vpon his necke with all her might, and she toke away his head from him,

9 And roled his bodie downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopie from the pillers, and anone after she went forth, & gaue Olofernes head to her maid,

10 And she put it in her scrippe of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and preising through the tentes, went about by that valley, and went vp the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 ¶ The said Iudeth asafre of to the watchemen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs to shewe his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now whē the men of her citie heard her voyce, thei made haste to go downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And thei ranne all together bothe smale and great: for it was about their expectation, that she shulde come. So they opened the gate & receiued her, & made a fyre for a light, & stode rounde about the twaine.

14 Then she said to the with a loude voyce, Praise God, praise God: for he hath not taken away his mercie from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So she toke the head out of the scrippe & shewed it, and said vnto them, Beholde the head of Olofernes, the chief captaine of y<sup>e</sup> armie of Assur, and beholde the canopie, wherein he did lie in his drunkenes, & the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord liueth, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, & he hath not committed sinne with me by anie pollution or vilenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed them selues, and worshiped God, and said with one accorde, Blessed be thou, o our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then said Ozias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the moste hie God aboue all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God, which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting of of the head of the chief of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shal neuer departe out of the heartes of men: for they shal remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetual praise, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared thy life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a streight way before our God. And all the people said, So be it, so be it.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang vp the head of Olofernes.

10 Achior ioyneth him selfe to the people of God.

11 The Israelites go out against the Assyrians.

1 Then said Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also, my brethren, and * take this <sup>2. Mac. 15. 21</sup> head, and hang it vpon the hiest place of your walles.

2 And so sone as the morning shal appeare and the sonne shal come forth vpon the earth, take you euerie one his weapons, and go forth euerie valiant man out of the citie, and set you a captaine ouer them, as thogh you wolde go downe into the field, towarde the watche of the Assyrians, but go not downe.

3 Then they shal take their armour, & shal go into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the armie of Assur, and they shal runne to the tent of Olofernes, but shal not finde him: then feare shal fall vpon the, and they shal flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coastes of Israel, shal pursue them, & ouerthrowe them as they go.

5 But before you do these things, call me Achior the Ammonite, that he may se, and knowe him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Ozias, and when he was come and sawe the head of Olofernes in a certeine mans hand in the assemblie of the people, he fel downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, he fel at Iudeths fete, & reuerenced her, and said, Blessed art thou in all the tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which, hearing thy name, shal be astonished.

8 Now therefore tel me all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. The Iudeth declared vnto him in the middes of the people all that she had done from the day that she went forth, vntil that houre she spake vnto them.

9 And whē she had left of speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyce of gladnes through their citie.

10 And Achior, seing all things that God had done for Israel, beleued in God vnfainedly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was ioyned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 ¶ As sone as the morning arose, thei hanged the head of Olofernes out at the wall, & euerie man roke his weapons, and they went forth by bandes vnto the straites of the mountaine.

12 But when the Assyrians sawe them, they sent sent to their captaines, which went to the gouernours and chief captaines, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent and said to him y had the charge of all his things, Wakē our lord: for the sclaues haue bene bolde to come downe against vs to battel, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, & knocked at the dore of the tent: for he thought that he had slept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, he opened it, and went into the chamber, and founde him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cryed with a loude voyce, with weping and mourning, & a mightie crye, and rent his garments.

17 After, he went into the tent of Iudeth where she vsed to remaine, and founde her not: then he leaped out to the people and cryed, 18 These sclaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Hebrewes hathe broght shame vpon the house of King Nabuchodonosor: for beholde, Olofernes lieth vpon the grounde without an head.

19 When the captaines of the Assyrians armie heard these wordes, they rent their coates, and their heart was wonderfully troubled, and there was a crye and a verie great noyce throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Assyrians are afraied and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioachim the hie Priest cometh to Bethulia to se Iudeth and to praise God for her.

1 AND whē thei that were in the tents, heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fel vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amased, thei fled by euerie way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines rounde about Bethulia, were put to flight: thē the children of Israel, euery one that was a warriour among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Ozias to Bethomasthem, and to Bebai, and Chobai, and Chola and to all the coastes of Israel, suche as shulde declare vnto them the things that were done, and that all shulde rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Choba: likewise also thei that came from Ierusalem & from all the mountaines: for men had tolde thē what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were in Galaad and in Galile chased them with a great slaughter vntil they came to Damascus and to the coastes thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fel vpon the campe of Assur and spoiled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter, had the rest: & the villages & the cities that were in the mountaines & in the plaine, had a great bootie: for the abundance was verie great.

8 Then Ioachim the hie Priest, and the Ancients of the children of Israel that dwelt in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefites that God had shewed to Israel, and to se Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, thei blessed her with one accorde, & said vnto her, Thou art the exaltacion of Ierusalem: thou art the great glorie of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nacion.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done muche good to Israel, & God is pleased therewith: blessed be thou of the almightie Lord for euermore: and all the people said, So be it.

11 And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirtie daies, and thei gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer & beddes, and basins, and all his stuffe, & she toke it and laied it on her mules, & made readie her charets, & laied them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to se her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and she toke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues, and her that was with her, and she went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour, with crownes and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth praise h God with a song. 19 She offereth to the Lord Olofernes suffice. 23 Her continence, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

1 THEN Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loude voyce.

2 And Iudeth said, Beginne vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbales: tune vnto him a psalme: exalt his praise, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and pitched his campe in the middes of the people, & deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Assur came from the mountaines forthe of the North: he came with thousands in his armie, * whose multitude hathe shut vp the riuers and their horsemen haue co-

- 5 He said that he wolde burne vp my borders & kill my yong men with the sworde, and dash the sucking children against the ground, & make mine infants as a pray, and my virgines a spoile.
- 6 But the almightie Lord hathe broght them to naught by the hand of a woman.
- 7 For the mightie did not fall by the yong men, nether did the sonnes of Titan smite him, nor the hie gyants inuade him, but Iudeth the daughter of Merari did discomfite him by the beautie of her countenance.
- 8 For she put of the garment of her widowhode, for the exaltacion of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bounde vp her heere in a coife, and toke a linen garment to deceiue him.
- 9 Her slippers rauished his eyes: her beautie toke his minde prisoner, and the fauchin passed through his necke.
- 10 The Persians were astonished at her boldenes, and the Medes were troubled with her hardines.
- 11 But mine afflicted reioyced, & my feble ones showed: then they feared, they lifted vp their voyce and turned backe.
- 12 The children of maides perced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battel of the Lord.
- 13 I wil sing vnto the Lord a song and praise, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, marvelous and inuincible in power.
- 14 Let all thy creatures serue thee: * for thou hast spoken and they were made: thou hast sent thy Spirit, and he made them vp: & there is none that can resist thy voyce.
- 15 For the mountaines leape vp from their fundacions with the waters: the rockes melt at thy presence like waxe: yet thou art merciful to them that feare thee.
- 16 For all sacrifice is to litle for a swete sa-
- uour, and all the fat is to litle for thy burne offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.
- 17 Wo to the nations that rise vp against my kinred: the Lord almightie wil take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in sending fyre and wormes vpon their flesh, and they shal fele them & wepe for euer.
- 18 After, when they went vnto Ierusalem, they worshipped the Lord, and as sone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their fre offerings, and their giftes.
- 19 Iudeth also offered all the stuffe of Olofernes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which she had taken of his bed, for an oblacion to the Lord.
- 20 So the people reioyced in Ierusalem by the Sanctuarie, for the space of thre moneths, and Iudeth remained with them.
- 21 After this time, euerie one returned to his owne inheritance, and Iudeth went to Bethulia, and remained in her owne possession, and was for her time honorable in all the countrey.
- 22 And manie desired her, but none had her companie all the dayes of her life after that Manasses her housband was dead, & was gathered to his people.
- 23 But she increased more and more in honour, and waxed olde in her housbands house, being an hundreth and fife yere olde, & made her maid fre: so she dyed in Bethulia, and they buryed her in the graue of her housband Manasses.
- 24 And the house of Israel lamented her Gen. 50. 10. seuen daies, & before she dyed, she did distribute her goods to all them that were nerest of kinred to Manasses her housband, and to them that were the nerest of her kinred.
- 25 And there was none that made the children of Israel anie more afraied in the daies of Iudeth, nor a long time after her death.

THEN Mardocheus said, God hathe done these things.
For I remember a dreame, which I sawe concerning these matters, and there was nothing thereof omitted.

6 A litle fountaine which became a flood, and was a light, and as the sunne, & as mu-che water, this flood was Esther whome the King married, and made Quene.

7 And the two dragons are I and Aman.

8 And the people are they that are assembled to destroye the name of the Iewes.

9 And my people is Israel, which cryed to God, and are saued: for the Lord hathe saued his people, and the Lord hathe deliue-red vs from all these euils, and God hathe wrought signes, and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hathe he made two lottes, one for the people of God, and another for all the Gentiles.

11 And these two lottes came before God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembred his owne people, & iustified his inheritance.

13 Therefore those dayes shalbe vnto the

2 In the second yere of the reigne of great Artaxerxes in the first day of the moneth Nisan Mardocheus the sonne of Iarus, the sonne of Semei the sonne of Cis of the tribe of Benjamin had a dreame,

3 A Iewe dwelling in the cite of Susis, a noble man, that bare office in y<sup>e</sup> Kings court.

4 He was also one of the captiuitie which Nabuchodonosor the King of Babylon brought from Ierusalem with Iechonias.

5 And this was his dreame, Beholde a noice of a tempest with thunders, and earth quakes, and vproare in the land.

6 Beholde two great dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their crye was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was ful of darkenes & obscuritie, & trouble, & anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great afflictio was vpon y<sup>e</sup> earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing their afflictions, were amased, and being ready to 11 The light & the sunne rose vp, & y<sup>e</sup> lowdreame, he awoke and rose vp and thoght in his heart vntil y<sup>e</sup> night, what God wolde had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the King caused to be put in the 5 So the King comāded that Mardocheus shulde remaine in the court, and for the

Esther.

- 2 When I was made lord ouer manie people, & had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I wolde not exalte my self by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gētelines to gouerne my subiects, and wholly to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto trāquilite, that mē might safely go thorow on euerie side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.
- 3 Now when I asked my counselors how these things might be broght to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisdom, and constant in good wil, and shewed him self to be of sure fidelitie, which had the seconde place in the kingdome, euen Aman,
- 4 Declared vnto vs, that in all naciōs there was scattered abroade a rebellious people, that had Lawes contrarie to all people, and haue alway dispised the commandments of Kings, and so that this general empire, that we haue begonne, can not be gouerned without offence.
- 5 Seing now we perceiue, that this people alone are altogether contrarie vnto euerie man, vsing strange and other maner of lawes, and hauing an euil opinion of our doings, and go about to stablishe wicked matters, that our kingdome shulde not come to good estate,
- 6 Therefore haue we commanded, that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, & is as our seconde father) shal all with their wiues and childrē be destroyed and rooted out with the sworde of their enemies without all mercie, and that none be spared the fortieth day of the twelfth moneth Adar of this yere,
- 7 That they which of olde, and now also haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thruste downe into the hell, to the intente that after this time our affaires may be without troubles, and wel gouerned in all pointes.
- 8 Then Mardocheus thought vpon all the workes and of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him,
- 9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the King almightie (for all things are in thy power) and if thou hast appointed to saue Israel, there is no man that can withstande thee.
- 10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wonderous things vnder the heauen.
- 11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.
- 12 Thou knowest all things, & thou knowest, Lord, that it was nether of malice, nor presumption, nor for anie desire of glorie, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proude Aman.
- 13 For I wolde haue bene cōtent with good wil for the saluation of Israel, to haue kist the sole of his fete.
- 14 But I did it, because I wolde not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glorie of God, and wolde not worship anie but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of pride.
- 15 And therefore, o Lord God and King, haue mercie vpon thy people: for they imagine how thei may bring vs to naught, yea, they wolde destroye the inheritance, that hath bene thine frō the beginning.
- 16 Dispise not the porcion, which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne self.
- 17 Heare my prayer, and be merciful vnto thy portion: turne our sorowe into ioye, that we may liue, o Lord, and praise thy Name: shut not the mouthes of them that praise thee.
- 18 All Israel in like maner cryed moste earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliuerance of her, and her people.

- 1 Q Vene Esther also, being in danger of death, resorted vnto the Lord,
- 2 And laid away her glorious apparel, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the stead of precious ointement, she scattered ashes, and dongue vpon her head: and she humbled her bodie greatly with fasting, and all the places of her ioye filled she with the heere that she plucked of.
- 3 And she prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou onely art our King: helpe me desolate womā, which haue no helper but thee.
- 4 For my danger is at hand.
- 5 Frō my youth vp I haue heard in the kindred of my father, that thou, o Lord, tokest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their predeceßours for a perpetual inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou didest promise them.
- 6 Now Lord, we haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the hāds of our enemies.
- 7 Because we worshipped their gods, o Lord, thou art righteous.
- 8 Neuertheles, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie, but they haue stricken hands with their idoles,
- 9 That thei wil abolishe the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordeined, & destroye thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouthes of them that praise thee, and to quence the glorie of thy tēple, and of thine altar,
- 10 And

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the idoles, and to magnifie a fleshlie King for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them that be nothing, lest thei laugh vs to scorn in our miserie: but turne their deuise vpon them selues, and make him an example, that hath begonne the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shewe thy self vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent speache in my mouth before the Lion: turne his heart to hate our enemy, to destroye him, and all suche as consent vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe me that am solitarie, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lord: thou knowest, that I hate the glorie of the vnrighteous, & that I abhorre the bed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessitie: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shewe my self, & that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, & that I weare it not when I am alone by my self,

17 And that I thine hand maide haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the Kings feast, nor drunke the wine of the drinke offrings, 18 And that I thine hand maide haue no ioye sence the day that I was broght hether, vntil this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God aboute all, heare the voyce of them, that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mardocheus moueth Esther to go in to the King and make intercession for her people. 2 And she performeth his request.

1 Mardocheus also bade Esther to go in vnto the King, and pray for her people, and for her countrey.

2 Remember, saith he, the daies of thy lowe estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the King, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, and speake for vs vnto the King, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the thirde day when she had ended her prayer, she laid away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparel,

5 And deckt her self goodly, after that she had called vpon God, which is the beholder and sauour of all things, & toke two handmaidens with her.

6 Vpon the one she leant her self, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her vesture.

8 The shine of her beautie made her face rose coloured: and her face was chearful & amiable, but her heart was sorowful for great feare.

9 Then she went in thorow all the dores, and stode before the King, and the King sate vpon his royal throne, & was clothed in his goodlie araye, all glittering with golde and precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then he lift vp his face, that shone with maiestie, and looked fiercely vpon her: therefore the Quene fel downe, and was pale and faint and leant her self vpon the head of the maide, that went with her.

11 Neuertheles, God turned the Kings minde y he was gentle, who being careful, leaped out of his throne, and toke her in his armes, til she came to her self againe: and comforted her with louing wordes, and said,

12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheare, 13 Thou shalt not dye: for our commandement toucheth the commons, and not thee. Come nere.

14 And so he helde vp his golden sceptre, & laid it vpon her necke, 15 And kissed her, and said, Talke with me.

16 Then said she, I sawe thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, & mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderful art thou, O lord, and thy face is ful of grace.

18 And as she was thus speaking vnto him, she fel downe againe for faintnes.

19 Then the King was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

- 10 For Aman, a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being in dede a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodnes, was receiued of vs,
- 11 And hath proued the friendship that we beare toward all nations, so that he was called our father, and was honored of euerie man, as the next persone vnto the King.
- 12 But he colde not vse him self soberly in this great dignitie, but wēt about to depriue vs of the kingdome, & of our life.
- 13 With manifolde disceite also hath he desired to destroye Mardocheus our preseruer, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent Esther the partaker of our kingdome, with all her nation.
- 14 For his minde was (when he had taken them out of the way) to lay waite for vs, and by this meanes to translate the kingdome of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.
- 15 But we finde that the Iewes (which were accused of this moste wicked mā that they might be destroyed) are no euil doers, but vse moste iust Lawes,
- 16 And that they be y<sup>e</sup> children of the moste high and almightie and euer liuing God, by whome the kingdome hath bene preserued vnto vs, and our progenitours in verie good ordre.
- 17 Wherefore ye shal do wel, if ye do not put in execution those letters, that Aman the sonne of Amadathus did write vnto you.
- 18 For he that inuented them, hāgeth at Susis before the gates with all his familie, & God (which hath all things in his power) hath spedely rewarded him after his deservuing.
- 19 Therefore ye shal publishe the copie of this letter in all places, that the Iewes may frely liue after their owne Lawes.
- 20 And ye shal aide them, that vpon the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth Adar they may be aduenged of them, which in the time of their trouble wolde haue oppressed them.
- 21 For almightie God hath turned to ioye the day, wherein the chosen people shulde haue perished.
- 22 Moreouer, among other solemne daies ye shal kepe this day with all gladnes,
- 23 That bothe now & in time to come this day may be a remembrance of deliuerance for vs and all suche as loue the prosperitie of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be sedicious vnto vs.
- 24 Therefore all cities and countreies that do not this, shal horribly be destroyed with sworde and fyre, and shal not onely not be inhabited of men, but be abhorred also of the wilde beastes and foules for euer.

THE WISDOME of Salomon.

CHAP. I.

How we ought to searche and enquire after God. 2 Who be those that finde him. 3 The holy Ghost. 4 We ought to flee from backbiting and murmuring. 5 Whereof death cometh. 6 Righteousnes & vnrightheousnes.

*1. King. 3. 3.
2. 4. 36. 1.*

*Deu. 4. 29.
2. 2. 15. 4.*

Loue * rightheousnes, ye that be Iudges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, & seke him in simplicitie of heart. * For he wil be founde of them that tempte him not, & appeareth vnto suche as be not vnfaithful vnto him.

3 For wicked thoughts seperate from God: and his power when it is tryed, reproveth the vnwise,

4 Because wisdom can not enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subiect vnto sinne.

5 For the holy * Spirit of discipline fleeth from disceit, & withdraweth him self from the thoughts y<sup>e</sup> are without vnderstanding, and is rebuked when wickednes cometh.

6 For the Spirit of wisdom * is louing, and

1. 4. 22.

Gal. 5. 22.

wil not absolue him, y<sup>e</sup> blasphemeth with his lippes: for God is a witnes of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and an hearer of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord filleth all the worlde: and the same that mainteineth all things, hath the knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore he that speaketh vnrighteous things, can not be hid: nether shal the iudgement of reproche let him escape.

9 For inquisition shalbe made for the thoghtes of the vngodlie, and the sounde of his wordes shal come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For y<sup>e</sup> care of ielousie heareth all things, and the noyce of the grudgings shal not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which profiteth nothing, & refraine your tongue from slander: for there is no worde so secret, that shal go for noight, & the mouth that speaketh lies, slaieth the soule.

12 Seke not death in the error of your life: *destroye not your selues thorow the workes of your owne hands.

13 *For God hath not made death, nether hath he pleasure in the destruction of the liuing.

14 For he created all things, that thei might haue their being: and the generacions of the worlde are preserued, and there is no poyson of destruction in them, & the kingdom of hell is not vpon earth.

15 For righteousness is immortal, but vnrighteousnes bringeth death.

16 And the vngodlie call it vnto them both with hands and wordes: and while they thinke to haue a friend of it, they come to naught: for they are confederate with it: therefore are they worthie to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imaginacions and desires of the wicked, & their counsel against the faithfull.

1 FOR the vngodlie say, as they falsly imagine with them selues, *Our life is shorte and tedious: and in the death of a man there is no recouerie, nether was any knowen that hath returned from the graue.

2 For we are borne at all aduenture, and we shalbe hereafter as thogh we had neuer bene: for the breth is a smoke in our nostrils, and the wordes as a sparke raised out of our heart.

3 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the spirit vanisheth as the soft aire.

4 Our life shal passe away as the trace of a cloude, & come to naught as the mist that is druen away with y<sup>e</sup> beaumes of the sunne, and cast downe with the heat thereof. Our name also shalbe forgotten in time, and no man shal haue our workes in remembrance.

5 *For our time is as a shadowe that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man cometh againe.

6 *Come therefore, and let vs enioye the pleasures, that are present, & let vs cherefully vse the creatures as in youth.

7 Let vs fill our selues with costlie wine and ointements, and let not the floure of life passe by vs.

8 Let vs crowne our selues with rose budes afore they be withered.

9 Let vs all be partakers of our wantonnes: let vs leaue some token of our pleasure in euerie place: for that is our porciō, and this is our lotte.

10 Let vs oppresse the poore, that is righteous: let vs not spare the widdowe, nor reuerence the white heeres of the aged, that haue liued many yeres.

11 Let our strength be the lawe of vnrighteousnes: for the thing that is feble, is reproued as vnprofitable.

12 Therefore let vs defraude the righteous: for he is not for our profite, & he is contrary to our doings: he checketh vs for offending against the Lawe, and blameth vs as transgressours of discipline.

13 He maketh his boaste to haue the knowledge of God: and he calleth him self the sonne of the Lord.

14 He is made *to reprove our thoghts.

15 It griueth vs also to loke *vpon him: for his life is not like other mens: his waies are of another facion.

16 He counteth vs as bastardes, and he withdraweth him self from our waies as from filthines: he commendeth greatly the latter end of the iust, and boasteth that God is his father.

17 Let vs se then if his wordes be true: let vs proue what end he shal haue.

18 For if the righteous mā be the *sonne of God, he wil helpe him; & deliuer him from the hands of his enemies.

19 Let vs *examine him with rebukes and tormēts, that we may knowe his mekenes, and proue his pacience.

20 Let vs condemne him vnto a shameful death: for he shal be preserued as he him self saith.

21 Suche things do they imagine, and go astraye: for their owne wickednes hath blinded them.

22 And they do not vnderstand the mysteries of God, nether hope for the rewade of righteousness, nor can discern the honour of the soules that are fauteles.

23 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the *image of his owne likenes.

CHAP. III.

1 The conuersacion and assurance of the righteous. 7 The rewards of the faithful. 11 Who are miserable.

Dent. 33.3.

1 BVt the *soules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shal touche them.

Chap. 3.4.

2 *In the sight of the vnwise thei appeared to dye, and their end was thought grieuous, 3 And their departing from vs, destruction, but they are in peace.

Rom. 8.24.

4 And thogh they suffer paine before men, yet is their hope ful of immortalitie.

2 cor. 5.1.

5 They are punished, but in fewe things, yet in many things shal they be wel rewarded: *for God proueth them, & findeth them mete for him self.

dent. 8.2.

6 He tryeth them as the golde in the forna ce, and receiueth them as a perfect frute offering.

Mat. 13.43.

7 *And in the time of their vision they shal shine, and runne through as the sparkes among the stubble.

Mat. 19.28.

2. cor. 6.2.

8 They *shal iudge the nacions, and haue dominion ouer the people, and their Lord shal reigne for euer.

9 They that trust in him, shal vnderstand the trueth, and the faithful shal remaine with him in loue: for grace and mercie is among his Saintes, and he regardeth his elect.

Mat. 25.41.

10 *But the vngodlie shalbe punished according to their imaginacions: for they haue despised the righteous, and forsaken the Lord.

11 Who so despiseth wisdom and discipline, is miserable, and their hope is vaine, & their labours are foolish, and their workes vnprofitable.

12 Their wiues are vndiscrete, & their children wicked: their offering is cursed.

13 Therefore the barren is blessed which is vndefiled, and knoweth not the sinful bed: *she shal haue frute in the visitation of the soules,

14 And the eunuche, which with his hands hathe not wrought iniquitie, nor imagined wicked things against God: for vnto him shal be giuen the special gift of faith, and an acceptable porcion in the Temple of the Lord.

15 For glorious is y frute of good labours, and the roote of wisdom shal neuer fade away.

16 But the children of adulterers shal not be partakers of the holy things, and the seed of the wicked bed shalbe rooted out.

17 And thogh they liue long, yet shal they be nothing regarded, and their last age shalbe without honour.

18 If they dye hastily, they haue no hope,

CHAP. II.

Of vertue and the commoditie thereof. 10 The death of the righteous, and the condemnation of the vnfaithful.

1 Better is barrennes with vertue: for the memorial thereof is immortal: for it is knowen with God and with men.

2 When it is present, me take example thereat, and if it go away, yet they desire it: it is alway crowned and triumpheth, and winneth the battel and the vndefiled rewarde.

3 But the multitude of the vngodlie which abunde in children, is vnprofitable: & the bastard plates shal take no depe roote, nor laye any fast fundacion.

4 For thogh they budde forth in the branches for a time, * yet they shal be shaken with the winde: for they stand not fast, and thorowe the vehemencie of the winde they shalbe rooted out. Mat. 7.19.

5 For the vnperfect branches shalbe broke, & their frute shalbe vnprofitable & sower to eat, and mete for nothing.

6 For all the children that are borne of the wicked bed, shalbe witnes of the wickednes against their parents when they be asked.

7 But thogh the righteous be preuented with death, yet shal he be in rest.

8 For the honorable age is not that which is of long time, nether that which is measured by the number of yeres.

9 But wisdom is the graye heere, and an vndefiled life is the olde age.

10 *He pleased God, & was beloued of him, Gen. 22.1. so that where as he liued amog sinners, he translated him.

11 He was take away, lest wickednes shulde alter his vnderstanding, or deceit beguile his minde.

12 For wickednes by bewitching obscureth the things that are good, & the vnstedfastnes of concupiscence peruertereth the simple minde.

13 Thogh he was sone dead, yet fulfilled he muche time.

14 For his soule pleased God: therefore hastened he to take him away from wickednes.

15 Yet the people se & vnderstand it not, & consider no suche things in their hearts, how that grace and mercie is vpon his Saintes, and his prouidence ouer the elect.

16 Thus the righteous that is dead, cōdemneth the vngodlie which are liuing: & the youth that is sone brought to an end, the long life of the vnrighteous.

17 For they se the end of the wise, but they vnderstand not what God hathe deuised for him, and wherefore the Lord hathe preferred serued him in safetie.

18 They se him and despise him, but the Lord wil laugh them to scorne, 19 So that they shal fall hereafter without honour, and shal haue a shame among the dead for euermore: for without anie voyce shal he burst them and cast them downe, and shake them from the fundacions, so that they shalbe vtterly wasted, and they shalbe in sorowe, and their memorial shal perish.

20 So they being afraied, shal remember their sinnes, & their owne wickednes shal come before them to conuince them.

CHAP. V.

The constancies of the righteous before their persecuters.

14 The hope of the vnfaithful is vaine. 15 The blessednes of the saintes and godlie.

1 Then shal the righteous stand in great boldenes before the face of suche as haue tormented him, and taken away his labours.

2 When thei se him, thei shalbe vexed with horrible feare, and shalbe amased for his wonderful deliuerance,

3 And shal change their mindes, and sigh for grief of minde, and say within them selues, This is he whome we sometime had in derision, and in a parable of reproche.

4 *We fooles thoght his life madnes, and his end without honour.

5 How is he counted among the children of God, and his porcion is among the Saintes!

6 Therefore we haue erred from the waye of trueth, and the light of righteousness hath not shined vnto vs, and the sunne of vnderstanding rose not vpon vs.

7 We haue wearied our selues in the waye of wickednes and destruction, and we haue gone through dagerous waies: but we haue not knowen the way of the Lord.

8 What hath the pride profited vs? or what profite hath the pompe of riches brought vs?

chap. 3. 1.*

9 All those things are *passed away like a shadow, and as a poste that passeth by:

10 As a shippe that passeth ouer the waues of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof can not be founde, nether the path of it in the floods:

Pro. 30. 19.

11 Or as * a birde that fleeth thorowe in the aire, and no man can se anie token of her passage, but onely heare the noise of her wings, beating the light winde, parting the air: thorow the vehemencie of her going, & fleeth on shaking her wings, where as afterwarde no token of her way can be founde:

12 Or as when an arrowe is shot at a marke, it parteth the aire, which immediatly cometh together againe, so that a man can not knowe where it went thorowe.

13 Euen so we, as sone as we were borne, we beganne to drawe to our end, and haue shewed no token of vertue, but are consumed in our owne wickednes.

14 For* the hope of the vngodlie is like the dust that is blowne away with the winde, Iob. 3. 9. psal. 1. 4. & 143. 4. and like a thinne some that is scattered abroad with the storme, and as the smoke, pro. 10. 25. ier. 1. 10. which is disperfed with the winde, and as the remembrance of him passeth, that tarieth but for a day.

15 But the righteous shal liue for euer: their rewarde also is with the Lord, & y<sup>e</sup> moste High hath care of them.

16 Therefore shal they receiue a glorious kingdome, and a beautiful crowne of the Lords hand: for with his right hand shal he couer them, and with his arme shal he defende them.

17 He shal take his ielousie for armour, & shal arme the creatures to be reuenged of the enemies.

18 He shal put on righteousness for a breastplate, and take true iudgement in stead of an helmer.

19 He wil take holines for an inuincible shield.

20 He wil sharpe his fierce wrath for a sworde, and the worlde shal fight with him against the vnwise.

21 Then shal the thunder boltes go streight out of the lightnings, and shal flee to the marke as out of the bent bowe of y<sup>e</sup> clouds, and out of his angre that throweth stones, shal thicke haile be cast, and the water of the sea shalbe wrothe against them, & the floods shal mightely ouerflowe.

22 And a mightie winde shal stand vp against them, and like a storme shal scatter them abroad. Thus iniquitie shal bring all the earth to a wildernes, and wickednes shal ouerthrowe the thrones of the mightie.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, princes and iudges, which are also exhorted to seache wisdom.

1 Hear therefore, o ye Kings, and vnderstand: learne, ye that be iudges of the ends of the earth.

2 Giue eare, ye that rule the multitudes & glorie in the multitude of people.

3 For the rule * is giuen you of the Lord, Rom. 13. 2. and power by the moste High, which wil trye your workes, and seache out your imaginations.

4 Because that ye being officers of his kingdome haue not iudged aright, nor kept the Law, nor walked after the wil of God,

5 Horribly and sodenly wil he appeare vnto you: for an hard iudgement shal they haue that beare rule.

6 For he that is moste lowe, is worthie mer-

- 7 For he that is Lord ouer all, wil spare no * persone, nether shal he feare anie great-nes: for he hathe made the small and great,
and careth for all a like,
- 8 But for the mightie abideth y<sup>r</sup> forer tryal.
- 9 Vnto you therefore, o tyrants, do I speake, that ye may learne wisdom, and not go amisse.
- 10 For they that kepe holines holily, shalbe holie, and they that are learned there, shal finde a defence.
- 11 Wherefore set your delite vpon my wor-des & desire them, & ye shalbe instructed.
- 12 Wisdom shineth & neuer fadeth away, and is easely sene of them that loue her, & founde of suche as seke her,
- 13 She preuenteth them that desire her, that she may first shewe her self vnto them.
- 14 Whoso awaketh vnto her betimes, shal haue no great trauail: for he shal finde her sitting at his dores.
- 15 To thinke vpon her then is perfite vnderstanding: and who so watcheth for her, shalbe sone without care.
- 16 For she goeth about, seeking suche as are mete for her, and sheweth her self cherefully vnto them in the wayes, and meteth them in euery thoght.
- 17 For the moste true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is loue:
- 18 And loue is the keeping of her lawes: and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortalitie:
- 19 And immortalitie maketh vs nere vnto
God.
- 20 Therefore the desire of wisdom lea-deth to the kingdome.
- 21 If your delite be then in thrones, & scepters, o Kings of the people, honour wisdome, that ye may reigne for euer.
- 22 Now I wil tell you what wisdom is, & whence it cometh, & wil not hide the mysteries from you, but wil seke her out from the beginning of her natiuitie, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and wil not kepe backe the trueth.
- 23 Nether wil I haue to do with consuming enuie: for suche a man shal not be parta-ker of wisdom.
- 24 But the multitude of the wise is the preseruation of the worlde, and a wise King is the staye of the people.
- 25 Be therefore instructed by my wordes, & ye shal haue profite.
- CHAP. VII.
- Wisdom ought to be preferred aboue all things.*
- 1 My self am also mortal and a man like all other, and am come of him that was first made of the earth.
- 2 And in my mothers wombe was I facioned to be flesh in ten moneths: I was * brought together into blood of the seede of man, and by the pleasure that cometh with sleepe.
- 3 And when I was borne, I receiued the domune aire, and fel vpon the earth, which is of like nature, crying & weping at the first as all other do.
- 4 I was nourished in swadling clothes, and with cares.
- 5 For there is no King that had anie other beginning of birth.
- 6 All men then haue one entrance vnto life, and a like going out.
- 7 Wherefore I praied, and vnderstanding was giuen me: I called & the Spirit of wis-dome came vnto me.
- 8 I preferred her to scepters and thrones, & counted riches nothing in comparison of her.
- 9 * Nether did I compare precious stones
vnto her: for all golde is but a litle grauel in respect of her, and siluer shalbe counted but clay before her.
- 10 I loued her about health and beautie, & purposed to take her for my light: for her light can not be quenched.
- 11 All * good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches thorow her hands.
- 12 So I was glad in all: for wisdom was the autor thereof, & I knewe not that she was the mother of these things.
- 13 And I learned vnfaignedly, & communicated without enuie, and I do not hide her riches.
- 14 For she is an infinite treasure vnto men, which whoso vse, become partakers of the loue of God, & are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.
- 15 God hathe granted me to speake according to my minde, and to iudge worthely of the things, that are giuen me: for he is the leader vnto wisdom, and the direc-ter of the wise.
- 16 For in his hand are bothe we and our wordes, and all wisdom, & the knowledge of the workes.
- 17 For he hathe giuen me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I knowe how the worlde was made, and the powers of the elements,
- 18 The beginning and the end, & the mid-des of the times: how the times alter, and the change of the seasons,
- 19 The course of the yere, the situation of the starres,
- 20 The nature of liuing things, and the furiousnes of beasts, the power of y<sup>e</sup> windes, and the imaginacions of men, the diuersities of plants, and the vertues of rootes.
- 21 And all things bothe secret and knowen do I knowe: for wisdom the worker of all all things, hathe taught me it.

- 22 For in her is the spirit of vnderstanding, which is holie, the onely begotten, manifolde, subtil, moueable, cleare, vndefiled, euident, not hurtful, louing the good, sharpe, which can not be letted, doing good,
- 23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, hauing all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all, intellectual, pure and subtil spirits.
- 24 For wisdom is nimbler then all nimble things: she goeth thorow and atteineth to all things, because of her purenes.
- 25 For she is y<sup>e</sup> breth of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glorie of the Almightye: therefore can no defiled thing come vnto her.
- 26 For * she is the brightnes of the eueralasting light, the vndefiled mirroure of the maiestie of God, and the image of his goodnes.
- 27 And being one, she can do all things, and remaining in her self, renueth all, and according to the ages she entreth into the holie soules, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophetes.
- 28 For God loueth none, if he dwell not with wisdom.
- 29 For she is more beautiful then the sunne, and is aboue all the order of the starres, and the light is not to be compared vnto her.
- 30 For night cometh vpo it, but wickednes can not ouercome wisdom.

CHAP. VIII.

The effects of wisdom.

- 1 She also reacheth from one end to another mightely, and comely doeth she order all things.
- 2 I haue loued her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marye her, suche loue had I vnto her beautie.
- 3 In that she is conuersant with God, it commendeth her nobilitie: yea, the Lord of all things loueth her.
- 4 For she is the scholemastres of the knowledge of God, and the choiser out of his workes.
- 5 If riches be a possession to be desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, that worketh all things?
- 6 For if prudence worketh, what is it among all things, that worketh better then she?
- 7 If a man loue righteousness, her labours are vertuous: for she teacheth sobernes & prudence, righteousness and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.
- 8 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, and discern things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of wordes, and the solutions of darke sentences: she foreseeeth the signes and wonders, or euer they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

- 9 Therefore I purposed to take her vnto my companie, knowing that she wolde counsel me good things, and comfort me in cares and griefs.
- 10 For her sake shal I haue glorie among the multitude and honour among the Elders thogh I be yong.
- 11 I shal be founde of sharpe iudgement, so that I shal be marueilous in the sight of great men.
- 12 When I holde my tongue, they shal abide my leasure: when I speake, they shal heare diligently, & if I talke muche, they shal laye their hands vpon their mouth.
- 13 Moreover, by her I shal obtaine immortalitye, and leaue an eueralasting memorial among them that come after me.
- 14 I shal gouerne the people, and the nations shalbe subdued vnto me.
- 15 Horrible tyrants shalbe afraied when they heare me: among the multitude I shalbe counted good, and mightie in battel.

- 20 Yea, rather being good, I came to an vndefiled bodie.
- 21 Neuertheles, when I perceiued that I colde not enioye her, except God gaue her (and that was a pointe of wisdom also, to knowe whose gifte it was) I went vnto the Lord, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

- The deliuerance of the righteous and destruction of the enemies cometh thorow wifdome.*

- 7 Of whose wickednes the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare frute that neuer cometh to ripenes: and for a remembrance of the vnfaithful soule, there standeth a pillar of salte.
- 8 For all suche as regarded not wifdome, had not onely this hurt, that they knewe not the things which were good, but also left behinde them vnto men a memorial of their foolishnes, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they can not lie hid.
- 9 But wifdome deliuered them, that serued her.
- 10 *When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, shewed him the kingdome of God, gaue him knowledge of holie things, made him riche in his labours, and made his peines profitable. Gen. 28. 5.
- 11 Against the couetousnes of suche as defrauded him, she stode by him and made him riche.
- 12 She saued him from the enemies, and defended him from them, that lay in waite, and she gaue him the price in a mightie battel, that he might knowe that the feare of God is stronger then all things.
- 13 *When the righteous was solde, she forsoke him not, but deliuered him from sinne: she went downe with him into the dongeon, Gen. 37. 21. & 39. 7. act. 7. 10.

1 SHe prospered their workes in the hāds of thine holy Prophet.

2 *They went through the wildernes that was not inhabited, and pitched their tentes in places where there lay no way.

Exod. 17. 10.

Nom. 20. 11.
4 *When they were thirsty, they called vpo thee, and water was giuen them out of the hie rocke, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

5 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their nede.

6 For in steade of a fountaine of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandement of the killing of the childre, but thou gauest vnto thine owne abundance of water vnloked for,

Exod. 7. 10.
7 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time * how thou hadest punished thine aduersaries.

8 For when they were tryed and chastised with mercie, they knewe how the vngodlie were iudged and punished in wrath.

9 For these hast thou exhorted as a father, and proued them: but thou hast condemned y other as a righteous King, whē thou didest examine them.

10 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their grief was double with mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

11 For when they perceiued that through their torments good came vnto them, they felt the Lord.

12 And seing the things that came to passe, at the last they wondered at him, whome afore they had cast out, denied and derided: for they had another thirst then the iuste.

Psalm. 123.
13 Because of the foolish deuises of their wickednes wherewith they were deceiued, and worshiped serpents, that had not the

Isa. 3. 22.
14 *For vnto thine almightie hand, y made the worlde of naught, it was not vnpossible to send among them a multitude of beares, or fierce lyons, 15 Or furious beastes newly created, and vnknown, which shulde breathe out blastes of fyre, and cast out smoke as a tempest, or shoote horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

16 Which might not onely destroye them with hurting, but also to kill them with their horrible sight.

17 Yea, without these might they haue bene cast downe with one winde, being persecuted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad thorow the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number & weight.

18 For thou hast euer had great strength & might, and who can withstand the power of thine arme!

19 For as the small thing that the balance weigheth, so is the worlde before thee, & as a droppe of the morning dewe, that falleth downe vpon the earth.

20 But thou hast mercie vpon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as thogh thou sawest not the sinnes of men, because they shulde amende.

21 For thou louest all the things that are, & hatest none of them whome thou hast made: for thou woldest haue created nothing that thou hadest hated.

22 And how might anie thing endure, if it were not thy wil? or how colde anie thing be preserued, except it were called of thee?

23 But thou sparest all: for they are thine, o Lord, which art the louer of soules.

6 And the fathers were the chief murderers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whome thou woldest destroy by the hands of our fathers,

7 That the land which thou louest aboue all other, might be a mete dwelling for the children of God.

Exod. 33, 2.
Leuit. 24, 12.
8 *Neuertheles, thou sparedst them also, as men, and sendedst the forerunners of thine hoste, euen hornettes to destroye them by litle and litle,

9 Not that thou wast vnable to subdue the vngodlie vnto the righteous in battel, or with cruel beastes, or with one rough worde to destroye them together.

10 But in punishing them by litle and litle, thou gauest the space to repent, knowing wel, that it was an vnrighteous nacion & wicked of nature, & that their thought coulde neuer be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seede from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou feared any man.

Rom. 9, 22.
12 For who dare say, *What hast thou done? or who dare stand against thy iudgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whome thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to reuenge the wicked men?

1. Pet. 1, 7.
13 For there is none other God but thou, *that carest for all things, that y<sup>e</sup> maist declare how y<sup>e</sup> thy iudgement is not vnright.

14 There dare nether King nor tyrant in thy sight require accountes of them whome thou hast punished.

Iob. 10, 3.
15 For so muche then as thou art righteous thy self, thou ordrest all things righteously, *thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserued to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteousness, and because thou art Lord of all things, it causeth thee to spare all things.

17 When men thinke thee not to be of a perfite power, thou declarest thy power, and reproveest the boldenes of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgeth with equitie, & gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou maist shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By suche workes now hast thou taught thy people, that a man shulde be iust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For if thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserued death with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time & place that they might change from their wickednes,

21 With how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne childre, vnto whose fathers thou hast sworne and made covenants of good promises?

22 So when thou doest chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when we iudge, we shulde diligently consider thy goodnes, and when we are iudged, we shulde hope for mercie.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

Chap. 11, 18.
Rom. 1, 23.
24 *For they went astray verie farre in the waies of errour, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the maner of childre, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment that they shulde be in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that wil not be reformed by those scorneful rebukes, shal fele the worthe punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffred, they disdeined: but in these whome they counted godlie when they sawe the selues punished by them, they all acknowledged y<sup>e</sup> true God whome afore they had denied to knowe: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

10. Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

Rom. 1, 19.
1 Svrely all men are vaine by nature, and are ignorant of God, *and coulde not knowe him that is, by the good things that are sene, nether consider by the workes the worke master.

Deu. 4, 19.
Ex. 17, 3.
2 *But thei thought the fyre, or the winde or the swift aire, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lights of heauen to be gouernours of the worlde, and gods.

3 Thogh they had suche pleasure in their beautie that they thought them gods, yet shulde they haue knowen, how muche more excellent he is that made them: for the first autor of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marueiled at the power, and operation of them, yet shulde they haue perceiued thereby, how muche he that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnes of their beautie, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seke God and wolde finde him, & yet per-adventure do erre.

Rom. 1, 20.
7 For *they go about by his workes to seke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautiful that are sene.

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can knowe so muche, that they can can discern the worlde, why do they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods which are the workes of mens hands, golde, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beasts, or anie vaine stone that hath bene made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 *Or as when a carpenter cutteth downe a tre mete for the worke, and pareth of all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the vse of life.

12 And the things that are cut of from his worke, he bestoweth to dresse his meat to fil him self,

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a croked piece of wood and ful of knobbes) he carueth it diligently at his leasure, and according as he is expert in cunning, he giueth it a proporcion, and facioneth it after the similitude of a man, 14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with red, and painteth it, and couereth euerie spotte that is in it.

15 And when he hath made a conuenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall, and maketh it fast with yron, 16 Prouiding so for it, lest it fall: for he knoweth y it can not helpe it self, because it is an image, w<sup>ch</sup> hath nede of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his mariage and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it, that hath no life.

18 He calleth on him that is weake for health: he prayeth vnto him that is dead for life: he requireth him of helpe that hath no experience at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to go, and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires he requireth furtheraunce of him, that hath no maner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

* The detestacion and abomination of images, & A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatrie proceeded. 23 What euils come of idolatrie.

1 A Gaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe thorowe the raging waues, calleth vpon a stocke more rotten then the shippe that carieth him.

14.10.1.

2 For as for it, couetousnes of money hath founde it out, and the craftesman made it by cunning.

14.14.23.

3 But thy prouidence, o father, gouerneth it: * for thou hast made away, euen in the sea, and a sure path among the waues,

4 Declaring thereby, that thou hast power to helpe in all things, yea, thogh a man wet to the sea without meanes.

5 Neuertheles thou woldest not, that the workes of thy wisdome shulde be vaine, and therefore do men commit their liues to a smale piece of wood, and passe ouer the stormie sea in a shippe, and are saued.

6 *For in the olde time also whē the proude gyants perished, the hope of the worlde went into a shippe which was gouerned by thine hand, and so left sede of generacion vnto the worlde.

Gen. 6. 4.
& 7. 16.

7 For blessed is the tre whereby righteoufnes commeth.

8 But that is cursed that is made with hāds, *bothe it, & he that made it: he because he made it, and it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

Psal. 7. 5.

9 *For the vngodlie, and his vngodlines are bothe like hated of God: so truely the worke & he that made it, shalbe punished together.

10 Therefore shal there be a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, * and stumbling blockes vnto the soules of men, & a snare for the fete of the vnwise.

Iere. 10. 8.
habak. 2. 18.

11 For the inuenting of idoles was the beginning of whoredome, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, nether shal they continue for euer.

13 The vaine glorie of men broght them into the worlde: therefore shal they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grieuously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, he made an image for him y was once dead, whome now he worshipeth as a god, & ordeined to his seruants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by proces of time this wicked custome preuailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshiped by the commandement of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so frare of that men, might not worship them presently, they did conterfet the visage that was farre of, and made a gorgeous image of a King, whome they wolde honour, that they might by all meanes flatter him that was absent, as thogh he had bene present.

17 Againe the ambition of the craftesman thrust forward the ignorāt to increase the superstition.

18 For he peraduenture willing to please a noble man, labored with all his cunning to make the image of the best facion.

19 And so thorowe the beautie of the worke the multitude was allured, and so toke him now for a god, which a litle afore was but honored as a man.

21 Moreouer, this was not ynough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but where as they liued in great warres of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

*Deu. 18. 10.

22 For ether they slewe their owne childre in sacrifice, or vsed secret ceremonies, or raging dissolutenes by strange rites, 23 And so kept nether life nor mariage cleane: but ether one slewe another by treason, or els vexed him by adulterie.

24 So were all mixt together, blood and slaughter, theste & deceit, corruption, vnfaithfulness, tumultes, perurie, 25 Disquieting of good men, vnthankfulness, defiling of soules, changing of birth, disordre in mariage, adulterie & vnclenes.

26 For the worshiping of idoles that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause and the end of all euil.

27 For either they be mad when they be merie, or prophecie lies, or liue vngodlie, or els lightly forswear them selues.

28 For in so much as their trust is in the idoles, which haue no life, though they sweare falsely, yet they thinke to haue no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shal they iustly be punished, because they haue an euil opinion of God, addicting them selues vnto idoles, and because they sweare vniuistly to deceiue, and despise holines.

30 For it is not the power of them by whome they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodlie.

CHAP. XV.

The voyce of the faithful, praising the mercie of God by whose grace they serue not idoles.

1 BVt thou, o our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and gouernest all things by mercie.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we knowe thy power: but we sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to knowe thee, is perfite righteousness, and to knowe thy power is the roote of immortallitie.

4 For nether hathe the wicked inuention of men disceined vs, nor the vnprofitable labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with diuers colours.

5 Whose sight stirreth vp the desire of the ignorant: so that he coueteth the forme that hathe no life, of a dead image.

6 They that loue suche wicked things, are worthie to haue suche things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

Rom. 9. 20.

7 The potter also tempereth soft earth, & facioneth euerie vessel with labour to our vse: but of the same clay he maketh bothe the vessels, that serue to cleane vses, and the contrarie likewise: but whereto euerie vessel serueth, the potter is the iudge.

8 So by his wicked labour he maketh a vaine god of the same claye: euen he, which a litle afore was made of earth him self, and within a litle while after goeth thither againe whence he was taken, when he shal make accounte for the lone of his life.

Luk. 12. 20.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour he taketh, nor that his life is short, but he striueth with the goldefsmithes, and siluersmithes, and counterfaiteth the copersmithes, and taketh it for an honour to make deceivable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more vile then earth, and his life is lesse worthie of honour then claye.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power & breathed in him the breth of life.

12 But they counte our life to be but a pastime, and our conuersacion as a market, where there is gaine: for they say we ought to be getting on euerie side, thogh it be by euil meanes.

13 Now he that of earth maketh fraile vessels and images, knoweth him self to offend aboute all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that holde them in subiection, are mozte vnwise, & more miserable then the verie fooles.

15 For they iudge all the idoles of the nation to be gods, which nether haue eye sight to se, nor noses to smel, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to grope, & their fete are slowe to go.

16 For man made them, and he that hathe but a borrowed spirit, facioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto him self.

17 For seing he is but mortal him self, it is but mortal that he maketh with vnrighteous hands: he him self is better the thei whome he worshipping: for he liued, but they neuer liued.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their mozte enemies, & which are the worst, if thei be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Nether haue they anie beaurie to be desired in respect of other beasts: for they are destitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

CHAP. XVI.

The punishment of idolaters. 20 The benefites done vnto the faithful.

1 Therefore by suche things they are worthely punished & tormented by the multitude of beasts.

*Chap. 12. 20.

2 In steade of the which punishment thou hast bene fauorable to thy people, & to satislie their appetite, hast prepared a meat of a strange taste, euen quailles,

3 To the intent that thei that desired meat, by the things which were shewed and sent among them, might turne away their necessarie desire, & that thei, which had suffered penurie for a space, shulde also fele a newe taste.

4 For it was requisite, that they which vsed tyrannie, shulde fall into extreme povertie, and that to these onelie it shulde be shewed, how their enemies were tormeted.

5 * For when the cruel fiercenes of y beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruel serpents,

6 Thy wrath endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a litle season, that they might be reformed, hauing a signe of saluacion, to remember the commandment of thy Law.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not healed by the thing that he sawe, but by thee, o Sauour of all.

8 So in this thou shewedst our enemies, that it is thou, which deliuerest from all euil.

9 * For the biting of greshopers and flies killed them, and there was no remedie founde for their life: for they were worthie to be punished by suche.

10 But the teeth of the venemous dragons colde not overcome thy children: for thy mercie came to helpe them, & healed the.

11 For they were pricked, because thei shulde remember thy wordes, and were speedely healed, lest they shulde fall into so depe forgetfulnes, that thei colde not be called backe by thy benefite.

12 For nether herbe nor plaster healed them, but thy worde, o Lord, which healeth all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life & death, * and ledest downe vnto the gates of hel, and bringest vp againe.

14 A man in dede by his wickednes may slaie another: but when the Spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, nether can he call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 * For the vngodlie that wolde not knowe thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with haile, and were pursued with tempest, that they colde not auoide, & were consumed with fyre.

17 For it was a wonderous thing that fyre might do more then water, which quen- cheth all things: but the worlde is the ad- uenger of the righteous.

18 For some time was the fyre so tame, that the beasts, which were sent against the vn- godlie, burnt not: and that, because they shulde se and knowe, that they were per- secuted with the punishment of God..

19 And some time burnt the fyre in y mid- des of the water about the power of fy- re, that it might destroye the generacion of the vniust land.

20 * In the stead whereof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels fode, and sent them bread readie from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it & was mete for all tastes.

21 For thy sustinance declared thy swernes vnto thy children, which serued to the ap- petite of him, that toke it, & was mete to that that euerie man wolde.

22 Moreouer the * snowe and yce abode the fyre & melted not, that thei might knowe, that the fyre burning in the hayle, & spar- keling in the raine, destroyed the frute of the enemies.

23 Againe it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished.

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierce in punishing the vnrighteous: but it is easie to do good vnto suche as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time vnto all facions to serue thy grace, which nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had nede thereof, 26 That thy children whome thou louest, o Lord, might knowe, * that it is not the in- crease of frutes that fedeth men, but that it is thy worde, which preserueth the that trust in thee.

27 For that which colde not be destroyed with the fyre, being onely warmed a litle with the sunne beames, melted, 28 That it might be knowen that we ought to preuente the sunne rising to giue than- kes vnto thee, and to salute thee before the daye spring.

29 For the hope of the vnthankful shal melt as the winter yce, and flowe away as vnprofitable waters.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

1 For thy iudgements are great, and cannot be expressed: therefore men do erre, that wil not be reformed.

2 For when the vnrighteous thoght to haue thine holie people in subiection, thei were bounde with the bands of darkenes, and long night, and being shut vp vnder the rose, did lie there to escape the euer- lasting prouidence.

3 And while they thoght to be hid in their darke sinnes, thei were scattered abroad in the darke couering of forgetfulnes, fearig horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denne that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the soundes that were about them, troubled them, and terrible visions and sorrowful sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fyre might giue light, nether might the clere flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sudden fyre, verie dredful: so that being afraied of this vision, which they colde not se, they thoght the things, which they sawe, to be worse.

That is, the mightie vido.

Exod. 7, 12. & 8, 7.

7 * And y<sup>e</sup> illusions of the magical artes were broght downe, and it was a moste shamesful reproche for the boasting of their knowledge.

8 For they that promised to driue away feare and trouble from the sicke persone, were sicke for feare, & worthie to be laughed at.

9 And thogh no feareful thing did feare them, yet were they afraied at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hyssing of the serpents: so that thei dyed for feare, and said they sawe not the ayre, which by no meanes can be auoided.

10 For it is a feareful thing, when malice is condemned by her owne testimonie: and a conscience that is touched, doeth euer forecast cruel things.

11 For feare is nothing els, but a betraying of the succours, which reason offreth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth he esteeme the ignorance of the thing, that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night that was intollerable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same slepe, 14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they sowned, as thogh their owne soule shulde betray them: for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon them.

15 And thus, whosoeuer fel downe, he was kept and shut in prison, but without chaines.

16 For whether he was an housband man, or a shepherd, or one that was set to worke alone, if he were taken, he must suffer this necessitie, that he colde not auoide:

17 (For with one chaine of darkenes were they all boude) whether it were an hyssing winde, or a swete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hastie running water, 18 Or a great noyce of the falling downe of stones, or the running of skipping beastes, that colde not be sene, or the noyce of cruel beastes that roared, or the sounde that answereth againe in the holow mountaines: the se feareful things made them to swone.

Or, Eccl.

19 For all the worlde shined with clere light, and no man was hindred in his labour.

20 Onely vpon them there fel an heauie night, an image of that darkenes that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto them selues more grieuous then darkenes.

3 The fyrie pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt. 8 The deliuerance of the faithfull. 10 The Lord smote the Egyptians. 20 The sinne of the people in the wilderness. 21 Aaron stode betwene the liuing and the dead with his censure.

1 BVt thy Saits had a very great * light, whose voyce because they heard, and sawe not the figure of them, they thoght them blessed, because thei also had not suffered the like.

Exod. 10, 23. & 14, 24. & 15, 26.

2 And because they did not hurt the, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enimitie.

3 * Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fyre to lead them in the vknown way, & made st the sunne that it hurted not them in their honorable iourney.

Exod. 13, 21. & 14, 24. & 15, 26.

4 But they were worthie to be depriued of the light, and to be kept in darkenes, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whome the vncorrupt light of the Law shulde be giuen to the worlde.

5 * Where as they thoght to slay the babes of the Saintes, by one childe that was cast out, and preserued to reprove them, thou hast taken awaye the multitude of their children and destroyed them all together in the mightie water.

Exod. 1, 16.

6 Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that they knowing vnto what othes they had giuen credit, might be of good chere.

7 Thus thy * people receiued the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

Exod. 14, 24.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified vs whome thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good men offred secretly, and made a law of righteousness by one consent, that y<sup>e</sup> Saints shulde receiue good and euil in like manner, and that the fathers shulde first sing praises.

10 But a disagreeing price was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noice for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the * master and the seruant were punished with like punishment, & the comune people suffered alike with the King.

Exod. 12, 27.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that dyed with one kinde of death: nether were the liuing sufficient to burye them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So they that colde beleue nothing, because of the enchantments, confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first borne

14 For

- 14 For while all things were in quiet silence, & the night was in the middes of her swift course,
- 15 Thine almightie worde leapt downe from heauen out of thy royal throne, as a fierce man of warre in the middes of the land that was destroyed,
- 16 And brought thine vnfaigned commandment as a sharpe sworde, and stode vp, and filled all things with death, & being come downe to the earth, it reached vnto the heauens.
- 17 Then the sight of the feareful dreames vexed them suddenly, and fearefulness came vpon them vnawares.
- 18 Then laye there one here, another there halfe dead, & shewed y<sup>e</sup> cause of his death.
- 19 For the visions that vexed them, shewed them these things afore: so that they were not ignorant, wherefore they perished.
- 20 Now tentacion of death touched the righteous also, and *among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the wrath indured not long.
- 21 For the blameles man made haste, & defended them, and toke the weapons of his ministracion, euen prayer, & the reconciliacion by the perfume, & set him self against the wrath, and so brought the miserie to an end, declaring that he was thy seruant.
- 22 For he ouercame not the multitude with bodelie power, nor with force of weapons, but with the worde he subdued him that punished, alledging the othes and counaile made vnto the fathers.
- 23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one vpon another, he stode in the middes, and cut of the wrath, and parted it from comming to the liuing.
- 24 *For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the foure rowes of the storics was the glorie of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.
- 25 Vnto these the destroyer gaue place, and was afraid of them: for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the wrath.
- CHAP. XLIX.
- 1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great ioye of the Hebrewes. 11 The meat that was giuen at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements serue to the wil of God.
- 1 As for the vngodlie, the wrath came vpon them without mercie vnto the end: for he knewe what shulde come vnto them,
- 2 That they (when they had consented to let them go, and had sent them out with diligence) wolde repent, and pursue them.
- 3 For while yet sorow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, thei deuised another foolishenes, so y<sup>e</sup> they persecuted the in their fleing, whom they had cast out afore with prayer.
- 4 For the destinie, whereof they were worthe, brought them to this end, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained by torments,
- 5 Bothe y<sup>e</sup> thy people might trye a marueilous passage, and that these might finde a strange death.
- 6 For euerie creature in his kinde was facioned of newe, and serued in their owne offices inioyned the, that thy children might be kept without hurt.
- 7 For the cloude ouershadowed their tentes, and the drye earth appeared, where afore was water: so that in the red Sea there was a way without impediment, and the great depe became a grene field.
- 8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thine hand, seing thy wonderous marueiles.
- 9 For they neyed like horses, and leaped like lambes, praising thee, o Lord, which hadest deliuered them.
- 10 For thei were yet mindeful of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the grounde brought forth the flies in steade of cattel, & how the riuer scrawled with the multitude of frogges in steade of fishes.
- 11 *But at the last they sawe a new generation of birdes, when thei were intised with lust, and desired delicate meates.
- 12 *For the quailles came forth of the sea vnto them for comfort, but punishments came vpon the sinners not without signes that were giuen by great thundrings: for they suffred worthely according to their wickednes, because they shewed a cruel hatred toward strangers.
- 13 For the one sorte wolde not receiue the when thei were present, because they knewe them not: the other sorte brought the strangers into bondage y<sup>e</sup> had done the good.
- 14 Beside all these things some wolde not suffer, that anie regarde shulde be had of them: for thei handeled the strangers dispitefully.
- 15 Others that had receiued the with great banketing, and admitted them to be partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.
- 16 Therefore thei were strikē with blindness, as in olde time certeine were at the dores of the *righteous, so that euerie one being compassed with darknes, sought the entrance of his dore.
- 17 Thus the elements agreed among them selues in this change, as when one tune is changed vpon an instrument of musike, and the melodie stil remaineth, which may easely be perceiued by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

 18 For the things of the earth were chāged into things of the water, & the thing that did swimme, went vpon the grounde.
 19 The fyre had power in the water, contra-rie vnto his owne vertue, & the water for-gare his owne kinde to quench.

of the corruptible beasts that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be yce, and was of a nature that wolde melt, and yet was an immortal meat.

21 For in all things, o Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assise them in euery time and place.

THE WISDOME OF

Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

This argument was founde in a certaine Greke copie.

THis Iesus was the sonne of Sirach, and Sirachs father was also called Iesus, and he liued in the latter times, after the people had bene led away captiue, and broght home againe, and almoste after all the Prophetes. Now his grandfather, as he him self witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and wisdom among the Hebrewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wise men, that had bene before him, but he him self also spake manie ful of great knowledge and wisdom. So this first Iesus dyed, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterwarde left it to Iesus his sonne, who toke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it WIS- DOM E, intitling it bothe by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisdom to allure the reader to read this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, euen of men that were approued of God, and certaine prayers, and songs of the autor him self: moreouer, what benefites the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse famous in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was in dede.

The prologue of the Wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

WHere as manie, and great things haue bene giuen vs by the Law, and the Prophetes, and by others that haue followed them, (for the which things Israel ought to be comended by the reason of doctrine and wisdom, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned them selues, but also may be able by the diligent studie thereof to be profitable vnto strangers bothe by speaking & writing) after that my grandfather Iesus had giuen him self to the reading of the Law, and the Prophetes, & other booke of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write some thing pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne, & wolde giue them selues to these things, might profite mu-che more in liuing according to the Law.
 Wherefore, I exhorte you to receiue it louingly, and to read it with diligence, and to take it in good worthe, though we seme to some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of suche wordes as are hard to be expressed: for the things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in them selues then whē they are translated into another tongue, and not one-ly these things, but other things also, as the Law it self, & the Prophetes, & other booke haue no smale difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth yere, when I came into Egypt vnder King Euergetes, and continued there, I founde a copie ful of great learning, and I thought it necessarie, to bestowe my diligence, and trauaile to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and studie I gaue my self to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in bani-shement, and are desirous to learne, might applie them selues vnto good maners, and liue according to the Law.

CHAP. I.

1 Wisdom cometh of God. 11 A praise of the feare of God. 29 The meanes to come by wisdom.

ALL wisdom cometh of the Lord, [and hath bene euer with him] and is with him for euer.
 Who can nōber the sand of the sea, and the droppes of the raine, and the dayes of the worlde? [who can measure] earth, and the depth.

3 Who can finde the wisdom [of God which hathe bene afore all things?]

4 Wisdom hathe bene created before all things, and the vnderstanding of prudence from euerslaking.

5 [The worde of God moste high is the fountaine of wisdom, and the euerslaking commandements are the entrance vnto her]

6 * Vnto whome hathe the roote of wisdom bene declared? or who hathe knowe her wise counsels?

7 [Vnto whome hathe the doctrine of wisdom bene discovered & shewed? and who hathe vnderstand the manifolde entrance vnto her?]

8 There is one wise, [euen the moste high Creator of all things, the almightie, the King of power] and verie terrible, which sitteth vpon his throne.

9 He is the Lord, that hathe created her [thorow y holie Gost:] he hathe sene her, nombred her, [and measured her.]

10 He hathe powred her out vpon all his workes, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glorie, & gladnes, and reioycing, and a ioyful crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a mery heart, and giueth gladnes, and ioye and long life.

13 Whoso feareth the Lord, it shal go wel with him at the last, and he shal finde fauour in the day of his death.

14 [The loue of God is honorable wisdom, and vnto whome it appeareth in a vision, they loue it for the vision, and for the knowledge of the great workes thereof]

15 * The feare of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and was made with the faithful in the wobe: [she goeth with the chosen women, and is knowen with the righteous and faithful.]

16 The feare of the Lord is an holie knowledge.

17 Holines shal preferue, & iustifie y heart, and giueth mirth and gladnes.

18 Who so feareth the Lord, shal prosper, & in the day of his end, he shal be blessed]

19 She hathe buylt her euerslaking foundations with men, and is giuen to be with their sede.

20 To feare God is the fulnes of wisdom, and filleth men with her frutes.

21 She filleth their whole house with [all] things desireable, and the garners with the things, that she bringeth forth, and both the twaine are giftes of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisdom, & giueth peace & perfite health: he hathe sene her and nombred her.

23 * She raineth downe knowledge, and vnderstanding of wisdom, and hathe broght vnto honour, them that possessed her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the roote of wisdom, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisdom is vnderstanding, and holie knowledge, but wisdom is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sinne: and when she is present, she driueth away anger.

27 ¶ For wicked angre can not be iustified: for his rashnes in his angre shalbe his destruction.

28 A patient man wil suffer for a time, and then shal he haue the rewarde of ioye.

29 He wil hide his wordes for a time, and manie mens lippes shal speake of his wisdom.

30 In the treasures of wisdom are the secrets of knowledge, but y sinner abhorreth the worship of God.

31 If thou desire wisdom, kepe the comanements, and the Lord shal giue her vnto thee, [and wil fil her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdom and discipline: he hathe pleasure in faith and mekenes.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 ¶ Be not an hypocrite that men shulde speake of thee, but take hede what thou speakest.

35 Exalte not thy self, lest thou fall & bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discover thy secretes, & cast thee downe in the middes of the cōgregacion, because thou woldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is ful of disceite.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousness, loue, vnderstanding, and patience, 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are sainte hearted and impatient.

1 MY sonne, if thou wilt come into the seruice of God, [stand fast in righteousness and feare, and] prepare thy soule to tentacion.

2 Settle thine heart, and be patient: [bow downe thine eare, and receiue the wordes of vnderstanding] and shrinke not awaie, whe thou art assailed, [but waite vpo God patiently.]

3 Ioyne thy self vnto him, and departe not away, that thou maist be increased at thy last end.

4 Whatsoeuer cometh vnto thee, receiue it patiently, and be patient in the change of thine affliction.

5 * For as golde [& siluer are] tryed in the fyre, euen so are men acceptable in the fornae of aduersitie.

Ecclesiasticus.

6 Beleeue in God and he wil helpe thee: order thy waye aright, & trust in him: [holde fast his feare, and growe olde therein.]

7 Ye that feare the Lord, waite for his mercie: shrinke not awaye from him that ye fall not.

8 Ye that feare the Lord, beleue him and your rewarde shal not faile.

9 O ye that feare the Lord, trust in good things, & in the euerlasting ioy & mercie.

10 [Ye that feare y Lord, loue him, & your hearts shalbe lightened.]

Psal. 33, 21.

11 Consider the olde generacions [of men, ye children,] and marke them wel: * was there euer anie confounded, that put his trust in the Lord? or who hath continued in his feare, and was forsaken? or whome did he euer dispise, that called vpon him?

12 For God is gracious and merciful, and forgiueth sinnes and saueth in the time of trouble, [& is a defender for all the that seke him in the trueth.]

Or, double.

13 Wo vnto them, that haue a feareful heart, [and to the wicked, lippes] and to the faint hands, and to the sinner that goeth two * maner of wayes.

1. King. 18, 21.

14 Wo vnto him that is faint hearted, for he beleueth not: therefore shal he not be defended.

15 Wo vnto you that haue lost pacience, [& haue forsaken the right wayes, and are turned backe into frowarde wayes:] for what wil ye do when the Lord shal visit you?

Joh. 14, 24.

16 They that feare the Lord, wil not disobey his worde: and they that * loue him, wil kepe his wayes.

17 They that feare the Lord, wil seke out the things that are pleasant vnto him: and they that loue him, shalbe fulfilled with his Law.

18 They that feare the Lord, wil prepare their hearts, and humble their soules in his sight.

19 [Thei that feare the Lord, kepe his commandements, and wil be pacient til he se them, 20 Saying, If we do not repent] we shal fall into the hads of the Lord, and not into the hands of men.

21 Yet as his greatnes is, so is his mercie.

CHAP. III.

2 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honor 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 22 No man ought ouer curiously to searche out the secrets of God.

1 T [He children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, & their offspring is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, o childre, and do thereafter, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord wil haue the father honored of he children, and hath confirmed the autoritie of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoreth his father, his sinnes shalbe forgiuen him, [and he shal abstaine from them, & shal haue his daily desires.]

5 And he that honoreth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoreth his father, shal haue ioye of his owne children, & when he maketh his prayer, he shalbe heard.

7 He that honoreth his father, shal haue a long life, and he that is obedient vnto the Lord, shal comfort his mother.

8 He that feareth the Lord, honoreth his parents, and doeth seruice vnto his parents, as vnto lords.

9 * Honour thy father and mother in dede Exod. 20, 12. and in worde [ & in all paciēce, ] that thou maist haue Gods blessing, [ & that his blessing may abide with thee in the end. ] deut. 5, 16. mat. 15, 4. ephes. 6, 2.

10 For y blessing of the father establiseth the houses of the children, & the mothers curse rotteth out the fundacions.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seing that mas glorie cometh by his fathers honour, & the reproche of y mother is dishonour to the children, 13 My sonne, helpe thy father in his age, and graue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue pacience with him, & despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good intreatie of thy father shal not be forgottē, but it shalbe a fortres for thee against sinnes, [ and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shalbe founded for thee in righteousness. ]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy sinnes also shal melt away as the yce in the faire wether.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shal come to shame, and he that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 My sonne, performe thy doings with mekenes, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are approued.

19 The * greater thou art, the more humble thy self [ in all things, ] & thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord. Philip. 2, 3.

20 Many are excellent & of renoume: but the secrets are reueiled vnto the meke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, & he is honored of the lowlie.

22 * Seke not out the things that are to hard for thee, nether searche the things rashly which are to mightie for thee. Prou. 25, 27. rom. 12, 3.

23 [ But ] what [ God ] hath commanded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [ and be not curious in many of his workes: ] for it is not is not nedeful for thee to se with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacite of men.

25 The medling with suche hathe beguiled many, and an euil opinion hathe deceiued their iudgement.

26 Thou canst not se without eyes: professe not the knowledge therefore that thou hast not.

27 A stubberne heart shal fare euil at the last: and he that loueth danger, shal perish therein.

28 An heart that goeth two waies, shal not prosper: and he that is frowarde of heart, shal stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shalbe ladē with sorowes: and the wicked man shal heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The persuation of the proude is without remedie, & his steppes shalbe plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hathe taken roote in him, [and he shal not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hathe vnderstanding, shal perceiue secret things, and an attentiuē care is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise & vnderstanding, wil abstaine from sinne, and shal prosper in the workes of righteousness.]

33 Water quencheth burning fyre, *and almes taketh away sinnes.

34 And he that rewardeth good dedes, wil remēber it afterward, & in the time of the fall, he shal finde a staye.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Almes must be done with gentlenes. 22 The studie of wisdom and her frute. 30 An exhortation to eschewe euil, and to do good.

1 MY sonne, defraude not the poore of his liuing, and make not the nedie eyes to waite long.

2 Make not an hungrie soule sorowful, nether vex a man in his necessitie.

3 Trouble not the heart that is griued, & differre not the gift of the nedie.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: turne not away thy face from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes a side [in angre] from the poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euil of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soule, his prayer shalbe heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the cōpanie [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder,] and bowe downe thine head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not greue thee to bowe downe thine eare vnto the poore, [but pay thy dette,] and giue him a friendlie answer.

9 Deliuē him that suffreth wrong, from the hand of the oppressour, & be not faint hearted "when thou iudgest.

Or, 12 defende him.

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherles, and as an housband vnto their mother: so shalt thou be as the forme of the moste High: and he shal loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wisdome exalteth her children, and receiue them that seke her, [ & wil go before them in the way of righteousness.]

12 He that loueth her, loueth life, and they that seke life in the morning, shal haue great ioye.

13 He that kepeth her, shal inherit glorie: for vnto whome she entreat, him the Lord wil blesse.

14 They that honour her, shalbe the seruants of the holic one, and them that loue her, the Lord doeth loue.

15 Who so giueth eare vnto her, shal iudge the nacions, and he that goeth vnto her, shal dwell safely.

16 He that is faithful vnto her, shal haue her in possession, and his generacion shal possesse her.

17 For first she wil walke with him by croked waies, and bring him vnto feare, and drede, and torment him with her discipline vntil she haue tryed his soule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then wil she returne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of knowledge, and vnderstanding of righteousness.]

19 But if he go wrong, she wil forsake him, and giue him ouer into the hands of his destruction.

20 [My sonne,] *Make much of time, Rom. 12, 11 and eschewe the thing that is euil, 21 And be not ashamed [to say the trueth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sinne, and a shame that bringeth worship and fauour.

22 Accept no persone against thine owne conscience, that thou be not confounded to thine owne decaye, [and forbear not thy neighbour in his faute.]

23 And kepe not backe counsel when it may do good, nether hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdom knowen, and learning by the wordes of the tongue, [ & counsel, wisdom and learning by the talking of the wise, & stedfastnes in the workes of righteousness.]

25 In no wise speake against the worde of trueth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy sinnes, & resist not the course of the riuē.

27 Submit not thy self vnto a foolish man, nether accept the persone of the mightie.

Nnnn. iiii.

Ecclesiasticus.

28 Striue for the trueth vnto death, [ and defend iustice for thy life, ] and the Lord God shal fight for thee [ against thine enemies. ]

29 Be not hastie in thy tongue, nether slacke and negligent in thy workes.

30 Be not as a lion in thine owne house, nether beat thy seruants for thy fantasie, [ nor oppresse them that are vnder thee. ]

31 * Let not thine hand be stretched out to receiue, and shut when thou shuldest giue.

CHAP. V.

1 In riches may we not put any confidence. 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

1 TRUST not vnto thy riches, and say not, I haue ynough for my life: [ for it shal not helpe in y<sup>e</sup> time of vengeance and indignation. ]

2 Followe not thine owne minde and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Nether say y<sup>e</sup>, [ How haue I had strength? ] or who wil bring me vnder for my workes: for God the aduenger wil reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euil hath come vnto me: for the Almighty is a pacient rewarder, but he wil not leaue thee vnpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiuen, be not without feare, to heape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercie of God is great: he wil forgiue my manifold sinnes: for mercie & wrath come from him, & his indignacion cometh downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no tarying to turne vnto the Lord, and put not of from day to day: for suddenly shal the wrath of the Lord breake forth, & in thy securitie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shal not helpe thee in the day of punishment [ and vengeance. ]

9 Be not caryed about with euerie winde, and go not into euerie way: for so doeth the sinner that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy sure vnderstanding [ & in the way and knowledge of the Lord ] & haue but one maner of worde, [ & followe the worde of peace and righteousness. ]

11 Be humble to heare the worde of God, that thou maist vnderstand it, and make a true answer with wisdom.

12 Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, & giue a pacient answer.

13 If thou hast vnderstanding, answer thy neighbour: if not, laye thine hand vpon thy mouth, [ lest thou be trapped in an vndiscrete worde, and so be blamed. ]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, & the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a talebearer, & lie not in waite with thy tongue: for shame [ and repentance ] followe the thief, and an euil condemnation is ouer him that is double tōgued: [ but he that is a backebiter, shal be hated, enuied and confounded. ]

16 Do not rashly, nether in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the propertie of a sinner to be euil tongued. 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

1 BE not of a friend [ thy neighbours ] anemie: for suche shal haue an euil name, shame and reproche, and he shal be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Be not proude in the deuice of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a bull, 3 And eat vp thy leaues, and destroie thy frute, and so thou be lefte as a drye tree [ in the wildernes. ]

4 For a wicked soule destroiet him that hath it, and maketh him to be laughed to scorn of his enemies, [ and bringeth him to the porcion of the vngodlie. ]

5 A swete talke multiplieth the friends [ & pacifieth them that be at variance, ] and a swete tōgue increaseth muche good talke.

6 Holde friendship with manie, neuertheless haue but one counseler of a thousand.

7 If thou gettest a friend, proue him first, & be not hastie to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and wil not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enimitie, and taketh parte against thee, & in contention he wil declare thy shame.

10 Againe some friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction he continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperitie he wil be as thou thy self, and wil vse libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be brought low, he wil be against thee, and wil hide him self from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and beware of thy friends.

14 A faithful friend is a strong defence, and he that findeth suche one, findeth a treasure.

15 A faithful friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight [ of golde & siluer ] is not to be compared to the goodness [ of his faith. ]

16 A faithful friend is the medicine of life [ and immortalitie, ] & thei that feare the Lord, shal finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shal direct his friendship a right, and as his owne self, so shal his friend be.

- 18 ¶ My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth vp: so shalt thou finde wisdom [which shal indure] til thine olde age.
- 19 Go to her as one that ploweth, and soweth, and waite for her good frutes: for thou shalt haue but litle labour in her worke: but y<sup>e</sup> shalt eat of her frutes right sone.
- 20 How exceeding sharpe is she to the vnlearned: he that is without iudgement, wil not remaine with her.
- 21 Vnto suche one she is as a fine touchestone, and he casteth her from him without delay.
- 22 For thei haue the name of wisdom, but there be but fewe that haue the knowledge of her.
- 23 [For with them that knowe her, she abideth vnto the appearing of God.]
- 24 Giue eare, my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsel,
- 25 And put thy fete into her linkes, and thy necke into her chaine.
- 26 Bowe downe thy shulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not wearie of her bands.
- 27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, & kepe her waies with all thy power.
- 28 Seke after her, and searche her, & she shal be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsake her not.
- 29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shal be turned to thy ioye.
- 30 Then shal her setters be a strong defence for thee, [and a sure fundacion] & her chaines a glorious raiment.
- 31 For there is a golden ornament in her, & her bands are the laces of purple colour.
- 32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, & shalt put her vpon thee, as a crowne of ioye.
- 33 My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt be taught, and if thou wilt applie thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.
- 34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delite in hearing, thou shalt be wise.
- 35 Stand with the multitude of the Elders, which are wise, and ioyne with him that is wise.
- 36 * Desire to heare all godlie talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.
- 37 And if thou seeest a man of vnderstanding, get thee sone vnto him, and let thy foote weare the steppes of his dores.
- 38 Let thy minde be vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be continually occupied in his cōmandements: so shal he stablish thine hearr, and giue thee wisdom at thine owne desire.
- CHAP. VII.
- 1 We must forsake euil, and yet not iustifie our selues.
- 2 The behauiour of the wise towards his wife, his friend, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.
- 1 D O no euil: so shal no harme come vnto thee.
- 2 Departe from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shal turne away from thee.
- 3 My sonne, sowe not vpon the furrowes of vnrighteousnes, lest that thou reape them seven-folde.
- 4 Alke not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the King the seate of honour.
- 5 * Iustifie not thy self before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] & boast not thy wisdom in the presence of the King. Iob. 9. 1. psal. 143. 2. ecel. 7. 17. luk. 18. 11.
- 6 Seke not to be made a iudge, lest thou be not able to take away iniquitie, and lest thou, fearing the persone of the mightie, shuldest commit an offence against thine vprightnes.
- 7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy self among the people.
- 8 * Binde not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be unpunished. Chap. 13. 5.
- 9 Say not, God wil loke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the moste high God, he wil accept it.
- 10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy praier, nether slacke in giuing of almes.
- 11 Laugh no mā to scorne in the heauines of his soule: for [God, which seeth all things] is he * that can bring downe, & set vp againe. 1 Sam. 2. 7.
- 12 Sow not a lie against thy brother, nether do the same against thy friend.
- 13 Vse not to make anie maner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.
- 14 Make not manie wordes when thou art among the Elders, nether repeate a thing in thy prayer.
- 15 Hate not laborious worke, nether the housbandrie, which the moste High hath created.
- 16 Number not thy self in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance wil not slacke.
- 17 Humble thy minde greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fyre and wormes.
- 18 Giue not ouer thy friend for anie good, nor thy true brother for y<sup>e</sup> golde of Ophir.
- 19 Departe not from a wise and good woman, [that is fallen vnto thee for thy porciō in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is aboue golde.
- 20 ¶ Where as thy seruāt worketh truely, intreate him not euil, nor y<sup>e</sup> hireling that bestoweth him self wholie for thee. Leui. 19. 13. chap. 33. 36. & 34. 7.
- 21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and defraude him not of libertie, [nether leaue him a poore man.]
- 22 * If thou haue cattel, loke wel to them, and if thei be for thy profite, kepe them with thee. Deut. 25. 4.

Ecclesiasticus.

- 23 If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and holde their necke from their youth.
- 24 If thou haue daughters, kepe their bodie, and shewe not thy face chereful towards them.
- 25 Marie thy daughter, & so shalt thou performe a weightie matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.
- 26 If thou haue a wife after thy minde, forsake her not, but commit not thy self to the hateful.
- 27 *Honour thy father fro thy whole heart, & forget not the sorowes of thy mother.
- 28 Remember that thou wast borne of the, and how canst thou recompense them the things that they haue done for thee?
- 29 *Feare the Lord with all thy soule, and honor his ministers.
- 30 Loue him that made thee, with all thy strength, *and forsake not his seruants.
- 31 Feare the Lord with all thy soule, and honor the Priests, *and giue them their porcion, as it is commanded thee, the first frutes, [and purifications] and sacrifices for sinne, & the offrings of the shoulders, and the sacrifices of sanctification, and the first frutes of the holie things.
- 32 Stretche thine hand vnto the poore that thy blessing, [and reconciliacion] may be accomplished.
- 33 Liberalitie pleaseth all men liuing, and *from the dead restraine it not.
- 34 *Let not them that wepe, be without [comfort:] but mourne wth suche as mourne.
- 35 *Be not slowe to visit the sicke: for that shal make thee to be beloued.
- 36 Whatsoeuer thou takest in hand, remember the end, & thou shalt neuer do amisse.
- CHAP. VIII.
- We must take hede with whom we haue to do.*
- 1 Strive not with a mightie mā, lest thou fall into his hands.
- 2 *Make not variance with a riche mā, lest he on y<sup>o</sup>ther side weigh downe thy weight:
- 3 *for golde [and siluer] hath destroyed manie & hath subuerted y<sup>e</sup> hearts of Kings.
- 4 Strive not with a man that is ful of wordes, and laie no stickes vpon his fyre.
- 5 Playe not with a man that is vntaught, lest thy kinned be dishonored.
- 6 *Despise not a man that turneth him self away from sinne, nor cast him not in the teeth with all, but remeber that we are all worthie blame.
- 7 *Dishonour not a man in his olde age: for they were as we which are not olde.
- 8 Be not glad of the death of thine enemy, but remember that we must dye all, [and so enter into ioy.]
- 9 *Despise not the exhortacion of the [Elders] y<sup>e</sup> be wise, but acquaint thy self with their wise sentences: for of the thou shalt learne wisdom, [and the doctrine of vnderstanding.] and how to serue great men [without complaint.]
- 10 Go not from the doctrine of the Elders: for they haue learned it of their fathers, & of them thou shalt learne vnderstanding, and to make answer in the time of nede.
- 11 Kindle not the coles of sinners, [when thou rebukest them,] lest thou be burnt in the fyrie flames [of their sinnes.]
- 12 Rise not vp against him that doeth wrōg, y<sup>e</sup> he lay not waite as a spie for thy mouth.
- 13 *Lend not vnto him that is mightier then thy self: for if thou lendest him, couēt it but lost.
- 14 Be not suretie aboute thy power: for if thou be suretie, thinke to paie it.
- 15 Go not to law with y<sup>e</sup> iudge: for thei wil giue sentēce accordig to his owne honour.
- 16 *Trauaile not by the way with him that is rash, lest he do thee iniurie: for he followeth his owne wilfulnes, & so shalt thou perish thorowe his folie.
- 17 *Strive not with him that is angrie, & go not with him into the wildernes: for blood is as nothing in his sight, and where there is no helpe, he wil ouerthrowe thee.
- 18 Take no counsel at a foole: for he can not kepe a thing close.
- 19 Do no secret thing before a stranger: for thou canst not tell what he goeth about.
- 20 Open not thine heart vnto euerie man, lest he be vnthankful to thee, [and put thee to reprove.]
- CHAP. IX.
- Of ielousie. 12 An olde friend is to be preferred before a newe. 18 Righteous men shoulde be bidden to thy table.*
- 1 BE not ielous ouer thy wife of thy bosome, nether teache her by thy meanes an euil lesson.
- 2 Giue not thy life vnto a woman, lest she ouercome thy strength, [and so thou be confounded.]
- 3 Mete not an harlot, lest thou fall into her snares.
- 4 Vse not the companie of a woman that is a finger, [& a dancr, nether heare her,] lest thou be taken by her craftines.
- 5 Gaze not on a *maide, that thou fall not by that that is precious in her.
- 6 *Cast not thy minde vpon harlots [in a nie maner of thing,] lest thou destroye [bothe thy self and] thine heritage.
- 7 Go not about gazig in the streates of the citie, nether wander thou in the secret places thereof.
- 8 *Turne away thine eye from a beautiful woman, and loke not vpon others beautie: for manie *haue perished by the beautie of women: for thorow it loue is kindled as a fyre.
- 9 [Euerie woman that is an harlot, shalbe trodden vnder fote as dōgue, of euerie one that goeth by the waye.]

CHAP. X.

1 Of Kings and iudges. 7 Pride and couetousnes are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praised.

1 A Wise iudge wil instruct his people with discretion: the gouernance of a prudent man is wel ordered.

2 As the iudge of the people is him self, so are his officers, and what maner of man the ruler of the citie is, suche are all they that dwell therein.

1 King. 12. 1.

3 *An vnwise King destroieth his people, but where they that be in autoritie, are men of vnderstāding, there the citie prospereth.

4 The gouernement of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquitie of the nacions is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he wil set vp a profitable ruler ouer it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperitie of man, and vpon the scribes wil he laye his honour.

6 *Be not angrie for any wrong, with thy neighbour, and do nothing by iniurious practises.

7 Pride is hateful before God and man, & by bothe doeth one commit iniquitie.

8 *Because of vnrighteous dealing and wrongs and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdome is translated from one people to another. Jer. 27. 6. dan. 4. 14.

9 There is nothing worse then a couetous man: [why art thou proude, o earth and ashes? there is not a more wicked thing, then to loue money:] for suche one wolde euen sel his soule, & for his life euerie one is compelled to pul out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyrannie is of smale indurance, and the disease that is hard to heale, is grievous to the physicion.]

11 The physicio cutteth of y<sup>e</sup> fore disease, & he that is to day a King, to morow is dead.

12 Why is earth & ashes proude, seing that when a man dyeth, he is the heire of serpents, beastes and wormes?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, & to turne away his heart from his maker.

14 For pride is the original of sinne, and he that hath it, shal powre out abominacion, til at last he be ouerthrowen: therefore the Lord bringeth the persuasious [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroieth them in the end.

15 The Lord hath cast downe the thrones of the [proude] princes, & set vp the meke in their steade.

16 The Lord plucketh vp the rootes of the [proude] nacions, and planteth the lowlie with glorie among them.

17 The Lord ouerthroweth the lands of the heathen, and destroieth the vnto y<sup>e</sup> foundations of y<sup>e</sup> earth: he causeth the to wither away, & destroieth them, and maketh their memorial to cease out of the earth.

18 [God destroieth the memorial of the proude, & leaueth the remembrance of the humble.]

19 Pride was not created in mē, nether wrath in the generacion of women.

20 There is a fede of mā, which is an honorable fede: the honorable fede are they y<sup>e</sup> feare y<sup>e</sup> Lord: there is a fede of mā, which is without honour: y<sup>e</sup> fede without honour, are they that trasgresse the cōmandemēt of the Lord: it is a fede that remaineth wth feareth the Lord, & a faire plant, that loue him: but they are a fede without honour, that despise the Law, & a deceiueable fede that breake the commandements.

22 The feare of the Lord causeth that the kingdome faileth not, but the kingdome is lost by crueltie and pride.

23 The feare of the Lord is y<sup>e</sup> glorie aswel of the riche & the noble, as of the poore.

24 It is not mete to despise the poore man that hath vnderstanding, nether is it conuenient to magnifie the riche that is a wicked man.

3. Sam. 12. 13.*

26 *Vnto the seruant that is wise, shal they that are free, do seruice: *he y hathe knowledge, wil not grudge whē he is reformed, [& the ignorant shal not come to honor.]

27 Sekē not excuses when thou shuldest do thy worke, nether be ashamed thereof through pride in the time of aduersitie.

Prou. 12. 9.

28 *Better is he that laboreth & hath plentifulnes of all things, then he that is gorgeous, and wanteth bread.

29 My sonne, get thy self praise by mekenes, and esteeme thy self as thou deseruest.

30 Who wil counte him iust that sinneth against him self, or honour him, that dishonoreth his owne soule?

31 The poore is honored for his knowledge [and his feare,] but the riche is had in reputacion because of his goods.

32 He that is honorable in pouertie, how muche more shal he be when he is riche? & he that is vn honest beig riche, how muche more wil he be so when he is in pouertie?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie. 2 After the outward appearance ought we not to iudge. 7 Of rash iudgement. 14 All things come of God. 29 All men are not to be brought into thine house.

*Gen. 41. 40.
dan. 6. 3.*

1 Wisdomē listeth vp y head of him that is lowe, and maketh him to sit among great men.

2 Commend not a man for his beautie, nether despise a man in his viter appearance.

3 The bee is but smal among the foules, yet doeth her frute passe in sweetenes.

4 Be not proude of clothing & raimēt, * & exalte not thy self in the day of honour: for the workes of the Lord are wōderful, [and glorious,] secret, [and vnknown] are his workes among men.

5 Many tyrāts haue sit downe vpon y earth, * & the vnlikelie hath worne the crowne.

*2 Sam. 15. 28.
esther. 6. 10.*

6 Many mightie men haue bene brought to dishonour, & the honorable haue bene deliuered into other mens hands.

*Deu. 13. 14.
iust. 7. 22.*

7 *Blame [no mā] before thou haue inquired the matter: vnderstand first, and then reforme [righteously,]

Prou. 18. 13.

8 *Giue no sentence, before thou hast heard the cause, nether interrupt men in the middes of their tales.

9 Striue not for a matter that thou hast not to do with, and sit not in the iudgement of sinners.

*Mat. 19. 23.
1 tim. 6. 9.*

10 My sonne, medle not with many matters: *for if thou gaine muche, thou shalt not be blameles, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, nether shalt thou escape, thogh thou flee from it.

11 *There is some man that laboreth and taketh peine, and the more he hasteth, the more he wanteth. Prou. 10. 3.

12 Againe there is some that is slouthful, & *hathe nede of helpe: for he wāteth strēgh, and hath great pouertie, yet the eye of the Lord loketh vpō him to good, and setteth him vp from his lowe estate, Iob. 42. 18.

13 And he listeth vp his head: so that manie men marueil at him, [& giue honour vnto God.]

14 *Prosperitie & aduersitie, life & death, pouertie and riches come of the Lord. *Iob. 14. 18.
Eccl. 2. 14.*

15 Wisdome & knowledge, and vnderstanding of the Lawe are of the Lord: loue & good workes come of him.

16 Errour and darckenes are appointed for sinners, and they that exalte them selues in euil, waxe olde in euil.

17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the godlie, & his good wil giueth prosperitie for euer.

18 ¶ Some man is riche by his care and nigardship, & this is y porcion of his wages, 19 In that he saith, *I haue gotten rest, and now wil I eat continually of my goods, yet he considereth not, y the time draweth nere, that he must leaue all these things vn to other men, and dye him self. Luk. 12. 33.

20 Stand thou in thy state, and exercise thy self therein, and remaine in thy worke vnto thine age.

21 Marueil not at the workes of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord suddenly to make a poore man riche.

22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the godlie, and he maketh his prosperitie sone to flourish.

23 ¶ Say not, What profite and pleasure shal I haue? and what good things shal I haue hereafter?

24 Againe say not, I haue ynough, & possesse many things, * & what euil can come to me hereafter? Chap. 11. 11.

25 In thy good state remēber aduersitie, & in aduersitie forget not prosperitie.

26 For it is an alie thing vnto the Lord in the day of death to rewarde a man according to his waies.

27 The aduersitie of an houre maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a mans end, his workes are discouered.

28 Iudge none blessed before his death: for a man shal be known by his children.

29 Bring not euerie man into thine house: for the disceitful haue many traines, [and are like stomackes that belche stinkingly.]

30 As a partriche is takē vnder a basker, [ & the hinde is taken in the snare, ] so is the heart of the proude man, which like a spie watcheth watcheth for thy fall.

- 31 For he lieth in waite & turneth good vnto euil, and in things worthie praise he wil finde some faute.
  - 32 Of one litle sparke is made a great fyre, [ & of one disceitful man is blood increased: ] for a sinful mā laieth waite for blood.
  - 33 Beware of a wicked man: for he imagineth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetual shame.
  - 34 Lodge a strāger, and he wil destroe thee with vnquietnes, & driue thee from thine owne.
- CHAP. XII.
- 1 Unto whome we ought to do good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.
- 1 WHen thou wilt do good, knowe to whome thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefites.
- 2 Do good vnto the righteous, & thou shalt finde [great] rewarde, thogh not of him, yet of the moste High.
  - 3 He can not haue good that continueth in euil, and giueth no almes: [ for the moste High hateth the sinners, and hathe mercie vpon them that repent. ]
  - 4 Giue vnto suche as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.
  - 5 Do wel vnto him that is lowlie, but giue not to ŷ vngodlie: holde backe thy bread, and giue it not vnto him, lest he ouercome thee thereby: els thou shalt receiue twise as muche euil for all the good that thou doest vnto him.
  - 6 For the moste High hateth the wicked, & wil repay vengeance vnto the vngodlie, & kepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.
  - 7 Giue vnto the good, and receiue not the sinner.
  - 8 A friend can not be knowen in prosperitie, nether can an enemy be vnknownen in aduersitie.
  - 9 When a man is in wealth, it griueth his enemies, but in heauines & trouble a mans very friend wil departe from him.
  - 10 Trust neuer thine enemy: for like as an yron rusteth, so doeth his wickednes.
  - 11 And thogh he make muche crouching & kneeling, yet aduise thy self, & beware of him, & thou shalt be to him, as he that wipeth a glasse, and thou shalt knowe that all his rust hathe not bene wel wiped away.
  - 12 Set him not by thee, lest he destroy thee, & stand in thy place.
  - 13 Nether set him at thy right hand, lest he sike thy rounge, & thou at the last remēber my wordes, & be pricked with my sayings.
  - 14 Binde not two sinnes together: for there shal not one be vnpunished.
  - 15 Who wil haue pitie of ŷ charmer, that is stinged of the serpent, or of all suche as come nere the beastes: so is it w him that kepeth companie with a wicked man, & wrap peth him self in his sinnes.

- 16 For a season wil he bide with thee: but if thou stamble, he taryeth not.
- 17 *An enemy is swete in his lippes: he can make manie good wordes, and speake manie good things: yea, he can weepe with his eyes, but in his heart he imagineth how to throwe thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he wil not be satisfied with blood.
- 18 If aduersitie come vpon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and thogh he pretēd to helpe thee, yet shal he vndermine thee: he wil shake his head, and clappe his hāds, and wil make manie wordes, and disguise his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The companies of the proude & of the riche are to be eschewed. 15 The loue of God. 17 Like do companie with their like.

- 1 HE* that toucheth pitch, shalbe defiled with it: and he that is familiar with the proude, shal be like vnto him.
- 2 Burthen not thy self about thy power, whiles thou liuest, and companie not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy self: for how agre the kettel and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shalbe broke.
  - 3 The riche dealeth vnrighteously, and threatneth with all: but the poore being oppressed must intreat: if the riche haue done wrong, he must yet be intreated: but if the poore haue done it, he shal straight waie be threatned.
  - 4 If thou be for his profite, he vseth thee: but if ŷ haue nothing, he wil forsake thee.
  - 5 If thou haue anie thing, he wil liue with thee: yea, he wil make thee a bare man, and wil not care for it.
  - 6 If he haue nede of thee, he wil defraude thee, and wil laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and giue thee all good wordes, & say, What wantest thou?
  - 7 Thus wil he shame thee in his meat, vntil he haue supt thee cleane vp twise or thrise, and at the last he wil laugh thee to scorne: afterwarde, when he seeth thee, he wil forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.
  - 8 [ Submit thy self vnto God, & waite vpon his hand. ]
  - 9 Beware that ŷ be not disceiued in thine owne conceit & broght downe by thy simples: [ be not to hūble in thy wisdom. ]
  - 10 ¶ If thou be called of a mightie man, absent thy self: so shal he call thee the more oft.
  - 11 Praise not thou vnto him, that thou be not shut out, but go not thou farre of, lest he forget thee.
  - 12 Withdrawe not thy self fro his speache, but beleue not his manie wordes: for with muche communicatiō wil he tempt thee, and laughingly wil he grope thee.

Oooo.iii.

13 He is vnmerciful, & keperth not promes: he wil not spare to do thee hurt, and to put thee in prison.

14 Beware, & take good hede: for thou walkest in peril of thing ouerthrowing: when thou hearest this, awake in thy slepe.

15 Loue the Lord all thy life, and call vpon him for thy saluacion.

16 ¶ Euerie beast loueth his like, and euerie man loueth his neighbour.

17 All flesh wil resort to their like, & euerie man wil kepe companie with suche as he is him self.

18 How can the wolfe agre with the lambe? nomore can the vngodlie with y righteous.

19 What felowship hathe hycna with a dogge? and what peace is betwene the riche and the poore?

20 As the wilde asse is the lions praye in the wildernes, so are poore men the meat of the riche.

21 As the proude hate humilitie, so do the riche abhorre the poore.

22 If a riche mā fall, his friēds set him vp againe: but whē the poore falleth, his friēds driue him away.

23 If a riche man offend, he hathe many helpers: he speaketh proude wordes, and yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man faile, they rebuke him, & though he speake wisely, yet can it haue no place.

24 Whē the riche man speaketh, euerie mā holdeth his tongue: and loke what he saith, they praise it vnto the cloudes: but if the poore mā speake, they say, What felow is this? and if he do amisse, they wil destroie him.

25 Riches are good vnto him that hathe no sinne [in his conscience,] and pouertie is euil in the mouth of the vngodlie.

26 The heart of a man chāgeth his countenance, whether it be in good or euil.

27 A chearful countenanc. is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thig to knowe the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The offence of the tongue. 17 Man is but a vaine thing.

21 Happie is he that continueth in wisdom.

Chap. 9.7.
Iam. 3.2.

1 Blessed is the man that hathe not fallen by [the worde of] his mouth, & is not tormētēd with the sorow of sinne.

2 Blessed is he that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3 Riches are comelie for a nigarde, and what shulde an enuious man do with money?

4 He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapeth together for others, that wil make good cheare with his goods.

5 He that is wicked vnto him self, to whom me wil he be good? for suche one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6 There is nothing worse, then when one ennueth him self: and this is a rewarde of his wickednes.

7 And if he do anie good, he doeth it, not knowing thereof, and against his wil, and at the last he declareth his wickednes.

8 The enuious man hathe a wicked loker:
he turneth away his face, and dispiseth men.

9 A couetous mans eye hathe neuer ynough of a porciō, and his wicked malice withereth his owne soule.

10 A wicked eye enueth the bread, & there is scarcenes vpon his table. Prov. 17.21.

11 My sonne, do good to thy self of that thou hast, and giue the Lord his due of-frings.

12 Remēber that death tarieth not, & that the couenant of the graue is not shewed vnto thee.

13 Do good vnto thy friēd before thou dye, & according to thine habilitie stretch out thine hand, and giue him. *Chap. 4.1.
Iob. 4.7.
Luk. 14.13.*

14 Defraude not thy self of the good day, and let not the porcion of the good desires ouerpasse thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy trauails vnto another, and thy labours for the deuiding of the heritage?

16 Giue and take and sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousness before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meat to finde.

17 ¶ All flesh waxeth olde, as a garment, & this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt dye the death. *Isa. 48.8.
1 pet. 1.24.
Iam. 1.10.*

18 As the grene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some growe, so is the generacion of flesh and blood: one cometh to an end, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shal faile, and the worker thereof shal go withal.

20 [Euerie excellēt worke shalbe iustified, and he that worketh it, shal haue honour thereby.]

21 Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisdom, [ & exerciseth him self in iustice,] and he that reasoneth of holie things by his vnderstanding,

22 Which cōsidereth in his heart her wayes, and vnderstandeth her secrets.

23 Go thou after her as one that seketh her out, and lie in waite in her wayes.

24 He shal loke in at her windowes, & hearken at her dores.

25 He shal abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her walles: he shal picche his tent besides her.

26 And he shal remaine in the lodging of good men, & shal set his childrē vnder her couering, and shal dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her he shalbe couered from the heat, and in her glorie shal he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodnes that followeth him which feareth God.
2 God reiecteth and casteth of the sinner. 11 God is not the author of euil.

1 HE that feareth the Lord, wil do good: and he that hathe the knowledge of the Law, wil kepe it sure.

2 As an [honorable] mother shal she mete him, and she, as his wife married of a virgine, wil receiue him.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shal she fede him, & giue him the water of [wholsome] wisdom to drinke.

4 He shal assure him self in her, and shal not be moued, and shal holde him self fast by her, and shal not be confounded.

5 She shal exalt him aboue his neighboures, and in the middes of the congregacio shal she open his mouth: [with the spirit of wisdom, and vnderstanding shal she fil him, and clothe him with the garment of glorie.]

6 She shal cause him to inherit ioye, & the crowne of gladnes, & an euerlasting name.

7 But foolish men wil not take holde vpon her: [but suche as haue vnderstanding, wil mete her:] the sinners shal not se her.

8 For she is farre fro pride [and disceite,] & men that lie, can not remember her: [but men of trueth shal haunt her, & shal prosper euen vnto the beholding of God.]

9 Praise is not semelie in the mouth of the sinner: for that is not sent of the Lord.

10 But if praise come of wisdom, [and be pléteous in a faithful mouth] the Lord wil prosper it.

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oghtest not to do the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, He hathe caused me to er-re: for he hathe no nede of the sinful man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of errour:] and they that feare God, wil loue it.

14 *He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsel, [and gaue him his commandements and precepts.]

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt obserue the com-mandements, and testifie thy good wil.

16 He hathe set water and fyre before thee:
stretche out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 *Before man is life and death, [good & euil:] what him liketh, shal be giuen him.

18 For the wisdom of the Lord is great, & he is mightie in power, and beholdeth all things [continually.]

19 *And the eyes [of the Lord] are vpon them that feare him, and he knoweth all the workes of man.

20 He hathe commanded no man to do vn-godlie, nether hathe he giuen anie man licēce to sinne: [for he desireth not a multitude of infidels, & vnprofitable childre.]

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of unhappie, and wicked children. 17 No man can hide him self from God. 24 An exhortacion to the re-ceiuing of instruction.

1 Desire not the multitude of vnprofi-table children, nether delite in vn-godlie childre: though thei be manie, reioyce not in the, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, nether rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iuste, is better then a thousand suche, and better it is to dye without children, then to leaue behinde him vn-godlie children.

4 For by one that hathe vnderstanding, shal the citie be inhabited: but the stocke of the wicked shal be wasted incontinently.

5 Manie suche things haue I sene with mine eyes, and mine eare hathe heard greater things then these.

6 *In the congregacio of the vngodlie shal Chap. 21, 18.
a fyre be kindeled, and among vnfaithful people shal the wrath be set on fyre.

7 *He spared not the olde gyants, w<sup>h</sup> were Gen. 6, 4.
rebellious, trusting to their owne strength,

8 *Nether spared he where as Lot dwelt, Gen. 19, 31.
those whome he abhorred for their pride.

9 He had no pitie vpon the people that were destroyed, & puffed vp in their sins.

10 *And so he preserved the six hundreth Nom. 14, 18.
thousand souldiers, that were gathered in the hardnes of their heart, in afflicting the & pitying them, in smiting them & healing the, with mercie, & with chastisemēt.

11 Therefore if there be one stiffe necked among the people, it is marueil if he scape vnpunished: for mercie and wrath are with him: he is mightie to forgieue, & to powre out displeasure.

12 *As his mercie is great, so is his punish- Chap. 5, 10.
ment also: he iudgeth a man according to his workes.

13 The vngodlie shal not escape with his spoile, and the pacience of the godlie shal not be delayed.

14 He wil giue place to all good dedes, & euerie one shal finde according to his wor-kes, [and after the vnderstanding of his pilgrimage.]

15 The Lord hardened Pharaos, that he shul-de not knowe him, and that his workes shulde be knownen vpon the earth vnder the heauen.

16 His mercie is knowen to all creatures:
he hathe separate his light from the darknes with an adamant.

17 Say not thou, I wil hide my self from the Lord: for who wil thiike vpon me fro aboue?

Oooo.iiii.

I shal not be known in so great an heape of people: for what is my soule among suche an infinite number of creatures?

18 Beholde, the heauen, and the *heauen of heauens, which are for God, the depth, and the earth, and all that therein is, shal be moued when he shal visite.

19 All the worlde which is created and made by his wil, the mountaines also, and the fundacions of the earth shal shake for feare, when the Lord loketh vpon them.

20 These things doeth no heart vnderstand worthely, [but he vnderstandeth euerie heart.]

21 And who vnderstandeth his wayes? and the storme that no man can see: for the moste parte of his workes are hid.

22 Who can declare y workes of his righteousness? or who can abide them? for his ordinance is farre of, and the trying out, of all things faileth.

23 He that is humble of heart, wil consider these things: but an vnwise and erroneous mā casteth his minde vpo foolish things.

24 My sonne, hearken vnto me, and learne knowledge, and marke my wordes with thine heart.

25 I wil declare thee weightie doctrine, & I wil instruct thee exactly in knowledge.

26 The Lord hathe set his workes in good order fro the beginning, & parte of them hathe he fundred from the other when he first made them.

27 He hathe garnished his workes for euer, and their beginnings so long as they shal indure, they are not hungrie nor wearied in their labours, nor cease from their offices.

28 None of them hindreth another, nether was anie of them disobedient vnto his wordes.

29 After this the Lord looked vpo the earth and filled it with his goods things.

30 With all maner of liuing beasts hathe he couered the face thereof, and they returne into it againe.

light: forsake thine vnrighteousnes, and hate greatly all abominacion.

15 [Knowe the righteousness & iudgements of God: stand in the porcion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most high God, & go in the partes of the holie worlde with suche as be liuing and confesse God.]

26 *Who can praise the moste High in the hell, as do all they that liue and confesse him?

27 [Abide not thou in the error of the vngodlie, but praise y<sup>e</sup> Lord before death]

28 Thankfulness perisheth from the dead, as thogh he were not: but the liuing, and he that is sounde of heart, praiseth the Lord, [and reioyceth in his mercie.]

29 How great is the louing kindenes of the Lord our God, and his compassion vnto suche as turne vnto him in holines!

30 For all things can not be in men, because the sonne of man is not immortal, [and they take pleasure in the vanitie of wickednes.]

31 What is more cleare then the sunne? yet shal it faile.

32 So flesh and blood that thinketh euil, [shal be reprobued.]

33 He seeth the power of the high heauen, and all men are but earth and ashes.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 The marvelous workes of God. 6. 7 The miserie & wretchednes of man. 9 Against God ought we not to complaine. 21 The performing of Vowes.

1 HE y<sup>e</sup> lueth for euer,* made all things together: y<sup>e</sup> Lord who onelie is iust, and there is none other but he, [and he remaineth a victorious King for euer.]

2 He ordereth the worlde with the power of his hand, and all things obey his wil: for he gouerneth all things by his power, and deuiceth the holie things from the prophane.

3 To whome hathe he giuen power to expresse his workes? who wil seeke out the grounde of his noble actes?

4 Who shal declare the power of his greatnes? or who wil take vp<sup>o</sup> him to tell out his mercie?

5 As for the wonderous workes of y<sup>e</sup> Lord, there may nothing be taken from them, nether can anie thing be put vnto them, nether may the grounde of them be founde out.

6 But when a man hathe done his best, he must beginne againe, and when he thinketh to come to an end, he must go againe to his labour.

7 ¶ What is man? whereto serueth he? what good or euil can he do?

8 *If the number of a mans daies be an hundred yere, it is muche: and no man hathe certeine knowledge of his death.

9 As droppes of raine are vnto the sea, and as a grauel stone is in comparison of the sand, so are a thousand yeres to the dayes everlasting.

10 Therefore is [God] pacient with them, and powreth out his mercie vpon them.

11 He sawe & perceiued, that [the arrogancie of their heart, and their ruine was euil: therefore heaped he vp his mercie vpon them, and shewed them the way of righteousness.]

12 The mercie that a man hathe, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercie of the Lord is vpon all flesh: he chasteneth, and nutureth, & teacheth, & bringeth backe, as a shepherd his flocke.

13 He hathe mercie of them that receiue discipline, and that diligently seke after his iudgements.

14 ¶ My sonne, when thou doest good, reprove not: and whatsoeuer thou giueth, vse no discomfortable wordes.

15 Shal not the dewe aswage the heat? so is a worde better then a gift.

16 Lo, is not a worde better then a good gift? but a gracious man giueth them bothe.

17 A foole wil reproche churlishly, and a gift of the enuious putteth out the eyes.

18 [Get thee righteousness before thou come to iudgement:] learne before thou speake, and vse phyfike or euer thou be sicke.

19 *Examine thy self, before y<sup>e</sup> be iudged, & in the day of the visitacion thou shalt finde mercie. 1. Cor. 11. 31.

20 Humble thy self before thou be sicke, & whiles thou maiest yet sinne, shewe thy conuersion.

21 Let nothing let thee to pay thy vowe in time, and differre not vnto death to be reformed: [for the rewarde of God endureth for euer.]

22 Before thou praie, prepare thy self, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23 Thinke vpon the *wrath, that shal be at the end, and the houre of vengeance, when he shal turne away his face. Chap. 7. 28.

24 *When thou hast ynough, remeber the time of hunger: and when thou art riche, thinke vpon pouertie and nede. Chap. 11. 17.

25 From the morning vntil the euening the time is changed, and all suche things are sone done before the Lord.

26 A wise man feareth in all things, and in the daies of transgression he kepeth him self from sinne: but the foole doeth not obserue the time.

27 ¶ Euerie wise man knoweth wisdom, & knowledge, and praiseth him that findeth her.

28 They that haue vnderstanding, deale wisely in wordes: [they vnderstand the trueth and righteousness,] and powre out with modestie graue sentēces for mā's life.

 29 The chief autoritie of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortal man hathe but a dead heart.

Rom 6.6. & 23.14.

30 ¶ Followe not thy lustes, but turne thee from thine owne appetites.

31 For if thou giuēt thy soule her desires, it shal make thine enemies that enuie thee, to laugh thee to scorne.

32 Take not thy pleasure in great voluptuousnes, and intangle not thy self with such companie.

33 Become not a begger by making bankers of that that thou hast borrowed, and so leaue nothing in thy purse: els y shuldest sclanderously lie in waite for thine owne life.

CHAP. XIX.

¶ Wine & whoredome bring men to pouertie. 6 In thy wordes vse discretion. 22 The difference of the wisdom of God and man. 27 Whereby thou maist knowe what is in man.

1 Laboring man that is giuen to drunkennes, shal not be riche: & he that cōtemneth smale things, shal fall by litle and litle.

Gen. 19.33. & 1 king. 12.1.

2 ¶ Wine and women leade wise men out of the way, [and put men of vnderstanding to reprove.]

3 And he that companieth adulterers, shal become impudent: rottennes and wormes shal haue him to heritage, and he that is to bolde, shal be taken away, and be made a publicke example.

Iosh. 22.27.

4 ¶ He that is hastie to giue credit, is light minded, and he that erreth, sinneth against his owne soule.

5 Whoso reioyceth in wickednes, shal be punished: [he that hateth to be reformed, his life shalbe shortened, and he that abhorreth babling of wordes, quencheth wickednes:] but he that resisteth pleasures, crowneth his owne soule.

6 He that refraineth his tongue, may liue with a troublesome man, and he that hateth babling, shal haue lesse euil.

7 Rehearse not to an other, that which is tolde vnto thee: so y shalt not be hindred.

8 Declare not other mens maners, nether to friend nor foe: and if the sinne apperteine not vnto thee, reueile it not.

9 For he wil hearken vnto thee, and marke thee, and when he findeth opportunitie, he wil hate thee.

Chap. 22.18. & 27.17.

10 ¶ If thou hast heard a worde [against thy neighbour,] let it dye with thee, & be sure, it wil not burst thee.

11 A foole trauaileth when he hathe heard a thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a childe.

12 As an arrowe that sticketh in ones thigh, so is a worde in a fooles heart.

Loui 19.17. mat. 18.13.

13 ¶ Reproue a friend lest he do euil, and if he haue done it, that he do it no more.

14 Reproue a friend that he may kepe his tongue: and if he haue spoken, that he say it no more.

15 Tell thy friend his faute: for oft times a sclander is raised, and giue no credence to euerie worde.

16 A man falleth with his tongue, but not with his wil: and who is he, that hathe not offended in his tongue? lam. 3.1.

17 Reproue thy neighbour before thou threaten him, & being without anger, giue place vnto the Law of the moste High.

18 The feare of the Lord is the first degree to be receiued of him, and wisdom obtienneth his loue.

19 The knowledge of the commandemēt's of the Lord is the doctrine of life, & they that obey him, shal receiue the frute of immortallitie.

20 The feare of the Lord is all wisdom, and the performing of the Law is perfite wisdom, & the knowledge of his almightie power.

21 If a seruant say vnto his master, I wil not do as it pleaseth thee, thogh afterward he do it, he shal displease him that nourisheth him.

22 The knowledge of wickednes is not wisdom, nether is there prudencie where as the counsel of sinners is: but it is euen execrable malice: and the foole is voide of wisdom.

23 He that hathe smale vnderstanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hathe muche wisdom, & transgresseth the Law of the moste High.

24 There is a certeine subtiltie that is fine, but it is vnrighteous: & there is that wrasteth the open and manifest Law: yet there is that is wise and iudgeth righteously.

25 There is some that being about wicked purposes, do bowe downe them selues, and are sad, whose inward partes burne altogether with deceit: he loketh downe with his face, and faineth him self deafe: yet before thou perceiue, he wil be vpon thee to hurt thee.

26 And thogh he be so weake that he can do thee no arme, yet when he may finde opportunitie, he wil do euil.

27 ¶ A man may be knowen by his loke, and one that hathe vnderstanding, may be perceiued by the marking of his countenance.

28 ¶ A mans garment, and his excessiue laughter, and going declare what persone he is. Chap. 31.31.

CHAP. XX.

Of correction & repentance. 6 To speake & kepe silence in time. 17 The fall of the wicked. 23 Of lying. 24 The thief & the murder. 28 Giftes blinde the eyes of the wise.

1 There is some rebuke that is not comelie: againe, some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2 It is muche better to reprove, then to beare

- beare euil wil: and he that acknowledgeth his faute, shalbe preserued from hurt.
- Chap. 30. 22.* 3 As* whe a gelded mā thorowe lust wolde defile a maide, so is he that vseth violence in iudgement.
- 4 How good a thing is it, when thou art reprobued, to shewe repentance: for so shalt thou escape wilful sinne.
- 5 Some man kepeth silence, and is founde wise, and some by muche babling becometh hateful.
- 6 Some mā holdeth his tongue, because he hathe not to answere: and some kepeth silence, waiting a conuenient time.
- Chap. 31. 4.* 7 *A wise man wil holde his tongue til he se opportunitie: but a trifier & a foole wil regarde no time.
- 8 He that vseth manie wordes, shal be abhorred, and he that taketh autoritie to him self, shalbe hated.
- 9 Some man hathe oft times prosperitie in wicked things, and some time a thing that is founde, bringeth losse.
- 10 There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose rewarde is double.
- 11 Some man humbleth him self for glories sake, and some by humblenes lifreth vp the head.
- 12 Some man byeth muche for a litle price: for the which he payeth seuen times more.
- Chap. 32. 1.* 13 *A wise man with his wordes maketh him self to be loued, but the mery tales of fooles shal be powred out.
- 14 The gift receiued of a foole, shal do thee no good, nether yet of the enuious for his importunitie: for he loketh to receiue manie things for one: he giueth litle, & he vpbraideth muche: he openeth his mouthe like a towne crier: to day he lendeth, to morowe asketh he againe, and suche one is to be hated of God and man.
- 15 The foole saith, I haue no friend: I haue no thanke for all my good dedes: and they that eat my bread, speake euil of me.
- 16 How oft, and of how manie shal he be laughed to scornē: for he comprehendeth not by right iudgement that which he hath: & it is all one as thogh he had it not.
- 17 The fall on a pauement is verie sudden: so shal y fall of the wicked come hastily.
- 18 A man without grace is as a foolish tall which is oft tolde by the mouthe of the ignorant.
- 19 A wise sentence loseth grace when it cometh out of a fooles mouthe: for he speaketh not in due season.
- 20 Some man sinneth not because of povertie, and yet is not grieved when he is alone.
- 21 Some man there is that destroyeth his owne soule, because he is ashamed, and for the regarde of persones loseth it.
- 22 Some man promisseth vnto his friend for shame, and getteth an enemie of him for naught.
- 23 *A lie is a wicked shame in a mā: yet is it oft in the mouth of the vnwise. Chap. 25. 4.
- 24 A thief is better, then a man that is accustomed to lye: but they bothe shal haue destruction to heritage.
- 25 The condicions of liers are vn honest, and their shame is euer with them.
- 26 A wise man shal bring him self to honor with his wordes, and he that hathe vnderstanding, shal please great men.
- 27 *He that tilleth his land, shal increase his heape: [he that worketh righteousness, shalbe exalted,] and he that pleaseth great mē, shal haue pardō of his iniquitie. Prov. 12. 11. & 28. 19.
- 28 *Rewardes and giftes blinde the eyes of the wise, and make them dōme, that they can not reprove fautes. Exod. 23. 2. deu. 16. 19.
- 29 Wisdome that is hid, and treasure that is horded vp, what profite is in the bothe?
- 30 Better is he that kepeth his ignorance secret, then a man that hideth his wisdom.
- 31 The necessarie pacience of him, that followeth the Lord, is better then he that gouerneth his life without the Lord.

CHAP. XXI.

Not to continue in sinne. 5 The prayer of the afflicted. 6 To hate to be reprobued. 17 The mouth of the wise man. 26 The thought of the foole.

MY sonne, hast thou sinned? do so no more, *but pray for the fore finnes [that they may be forgien thee.] Chap. 3. 9. psal. 41. 5. luk. 15. 21.

2 Flee from sinne, as from a serpent: for if thou comest to nere it, it wil bite thee: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lyon, to slaye the soules of men.

3 All iniquitie is as a two edged sworde, the woundes whereof can not be healed.

4 Strife & iniuries waste riches: so the house of the proude shalbe desolate.

5 *The prayer of the poore going out of the mouth, cometh vnto the eares of the Lord, and iustice is done him incontinently. Exod. 3. 9. and 22. 23.

6 Who so hateth to be reformed, is in the way of sinners: but he that feareth the Lord, conuerteth in heart.

7 An eloquent talker is knowen afarre of: but he that is wise, perceiueth when he falleth.

8 Who so buyldeth his house with other mē's money, is like one that gathereth stones to make his graue.

9 *The congregation of the wicked is like towne wrapped together: their end is a flame of syre to destroye them. Chap. 16. 7.

10 The waye of sinners is made plaine with stones, but at the end thereof is hel, [darkenes and paines.]

11 He that kepeth the Law of the Lord, *ruleth his owne affections thereby: and Or, keepeth the vnderstanding thereof.

Ecclesiasticus.

the increase of wisdom is the end of the feare of God.

12 He that is not wise, wil not suffer him self to be taught: but there is some wit that increaseth bitternes.

13 The knowledge of the wise shal abound like water that runneth ouer, and his counsel is like a pure fountaine of life.

Chap. 33, 1. 14 * The inner partes of a foole are like a broken vessel: he can kepe no knowledge whiles he liueth.

15 When a man of vnderstanding heareth a wise worde, he wil comend it, and increase it: but if an ignorant man heare it, he wil disallowe it, and cast it behinde his backe.

16 The talking of a foole is like a burden in the way, but there is comelines in the talke of a wise man.

17 Thei inquire at the mouthe of the wise man in the congregacion, and they shal ponder his wordes in their heart.

18 As is an house that is destroyed, so is wisdom vnto a foole, and the knowlege of the vnwise is as wordes without order.

19 Doctrin vnto fooles is as fetters on the fete, and like manicles vpon the right hand.

Chap. 19, 27. 20 * A foole listeth vp his voyce with laughter, but a wise mā doeth scarce smile secretly.

21 Learning is vnto a wise man a iewel of golde, and like a bracelet vpon his right arme.

22 A foolish mans fote is sone in [his neighbours] house: but a man of experience is ashamed to loke in.

23 A foole wil pepe in at the dore into the house: but he that is wel nurtered, wil stand without.

24 It is the point of a foolish mā to hearkē at the dore: for he that is wise, wil be grieved with suche dishonour.

25 The lippes of talkers wil be telling suche things as pertaine not vnto the, but y wordes of suche as haue vnderstanding, are weighed in the balance.

26 The heart of fooles is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.

27 When the vngodlie curseth Satan, he curseth his owne soule.

Chap. 28, 29. 28 * A backebiter defileth his owne soule, & is hated wherefoeuer he is: [but he that kepeth his tongue, and is discrete, shal come to honour.]

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the sluggard. 12 Not to speake muche to a foole.

16 A good conscience feareth not.

1 A Slothful man is like a filthie stone, which euerie man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A slothful man is to be compared to the dongue of oxē, & euerie one that taketh it vp, wil shake it out of his hand.

3 An euil nurtered sonne is the dishonour of the father: & the daughter is least to be esteemed.

4 A wise daughter is an heritage vnto her housband: but she that liueth dishonestly, is her fathers heauines.

5 She that is bolde, dishonoreth bothe her father and her housband, [and is not inferior to the vngodlie,] but they bothe shal dispise her.

6 A tale out of time is as musicke in mourning: but wisdom knoweth the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who so teacheth a foole, is as one that gleweth a potcherde together, and as he that waketh one that slepeth, from a sound slepe.

8 If children liue honestly, & haue where-with, they shal put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proude, with hautines and foolishnes they defile the nobilitie of their kinred.

10 Who so telleth a foole of wisdom, is as a man, which speaketh to one y is a slepe: whē he hath tolde his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

11 * Wepe for the dead, for he hath lost the light: so wepe for the foole, for he wanteth vnderstanding: make smale weping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the foole is worse then the death. Chap. 31, 16.

12 Seue dayes do men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentacion for the foole, & vngodlie [shulde endure] all the dayes of their life.

13 Talke not muche with a foole, & go not to him that hath no vnderstanding: * be- Chap. 13, 16. ware of him, lest it turne thee to paine, and lest thou be defiled when he shaketh him self. Depart from him, & thou shalt finde rest, and shalt not receiue sorowe by his foolishnes.

14 What is heauier then lead? and what other name shulde a foole haue?

15 * Sad and salt, and a lump of yron is easier to beare, then an vnwise, [foolish and vngodlie man.] Prou. 27, 3.

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a buylding can not be losed with shaking, so the heart that is stablished by aduised counsel, shal feare at no time.

17 The heart that is confirmed by discrete wisdom, is as a faire plaistering on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on hie, can not abide the winde, so the fearful heart with foolish imaginacion can indure no feare.

19 He that hurteth the eye, bringeth forth the teares, & he that hurteth y heart, bringeth forth the affection.

20 Who so casteth a stone at y birdes, fraierh them away: & he that vpbraiderh his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Thogh

21 Thogh thou drewest a sworde at thy friend, yet dispaire not: for there may be a returning to fauour.

22 If thou haue opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpbraiding or pride or disclosing of secrets or a traiterous woude do not let: for by these things euerie friend wil departe.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his pouvertie, that thou maist reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide stedfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou maist be heire with him in his heritage: for pouvertie is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the riche that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour, and smoke of the chimney goeth before the fyre, so euil wordes, [rebukes & threatenings] go before bloodshedding.

25 I wil not be ashamed to defende a friend: nether wil I hide my self from him, thogh he shulde do me harme: whosoever heareth it, shal beware of him.

26 Who shal set a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisdom vpon my lippes, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroye me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

A prayer of the author. 13 Of othes, blasphemie, and vnwise communication. 16 Of three kindes of finnes. 23 Manie finnes procede of adulterie. 27 Of the feare of God.

1 O Lord, father & gouernour of all my whole life, leaue me not to their counsel, and let me not fall by them.

2 Who wil correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdom in mine heart, that they may not spare me in mine ignorance, nether let their fautes passe?

3 Lest mine ignorances increase, and my finnes aboude to my destruction, and lest I fall before mine aduersarie, and mine enemies reioyce ouer me, whose hope is farre from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, father & God of my life, [leaue me not in their imaginacion] nether giue me a proude looke, but turne away from thy seruants a stoute minde.

5 Take from me vaine hope, and concupiscence, and reteine him in obedience, that desireth continually to serue thee.

6 Let not y griedines of the bellie, nor lust of the flesh holde me, and giue not me thy seruant ouer into an impudent minde.

7 Heare, O ye children, the instruction of a mouth that shal speake trueth: who so kepeth it, shal not perishe thorow his lippes, [nor be hurte by wicked workes.]

8 The sinner shalbe taken by his owne lippes: for the euil speaker and the proude do offende by them.

9 *Accustome not thy mouth to swearing: Exod. 20, 7. chap. 27, 15. mat. 5, 33. [for in it there are many falles,] nether take vp for a custome the naming of the Holy one: [for thou shalt not be vnpunished for suche things.]

10 For as a seruant which is oft punished, can not be without some skarre, so he that sweareth and nameth God continually, shal not be fauteles.

11 A man that vseth much swearing, shalbe filled with wickednes, and the plague shal neuer go from his house: when he shal offend, his faute shalbe vpo him, and if he knowedge not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if he sweare in vaine, he shal not be innocent, but his house shalbe full of plagues.

12 There is a worde which is clothed with death: God grante that it be not founde in the heritage of Iacob: but they that feare God, eschewe all suche, & are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Vse not thy mouth to "ignorant rashnes: Or, inordinat swearing. for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 ¶ Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, lest thou be forgotten in their sight, and so through thy custome become a foole, and wish that thou hadest not bene borne, and curse the day of thy natiuitie.

15 *The man that is accustomed to opprobrious wordes, wil neuer be reformed all the daies of his life. 2 Sam. 16, 7.

16 There are two sortes [of me] that aboude in sinne, and the third bringeth wrath [and destruction:] a minde hote as fyre, that can not be quenched til it be consumed: an adulterous man that giueth his bodie no rest, til he haue kindled a fyre.

17 (All bread is swete to a whoremonger: he wil not leaue of til he perish.)

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, & thinketh thus in his heart, *Who seeth me? I sa 29, 15. I am compassed about with darkenes: the walles couer me: no bodie seeth me: whome neede I to feare? the moste High wil not remember my finnes.

19 Suche a man onely feareth the eyes of men, & knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter the the sunne, beholding all the waies of me, [and the ground of the deepe,] and considereth the moste secret partes.

20 He knewe all things or euer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also he loketh vpon them all.

21 *The same man shalbe punished in the streets of the citie, [ & shalbe chafed like a yong horsefoale,] and when he thinketh not vpon it, he shalbe taken: [thus shal he be put to shame of euerie man, because he wolde not vnderstand the feare of the Lord.] Leu. 20, 16. deut. 22, 22.

Ecclesiasticus.

- 21 And thus shal it go also with euerie wife, that leaueth her housband, and getteth inheritance by another.
- Exod. 20, 14.* 23 *For first she hathe disobeid the Law of the moste High, and secondly, she hathe trespassed against her owne housband, & thirdly, she hathe plaide the whore in adulterie, and gotten her children by another man.
- 24 She shalbe broght out into the congregation, and examination shalbe made of her children.
- 25 Her children shal not take roote, and her branches shal bring forth no frute.
- 26 A shameful reporte shal she leaue, and her reproche shal not be put out.
- 27 And they that remaine, shal knowe that there is nothing better then the feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweter then to take hede vnto the commandements of the Lord.
- 28 It is great glorie to followe the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.
- CHAP. XXIIII.
- 1 A praise of wisdome proceeding forth of the mouth of God. 6 Of her workes and place where she resteth. 20 She is giuen to the children of God.
- 1 Wisdome shal praise her self, [and be honored in God,] and reioyce in the middes of her people.
- 2 In the congregation of the moste High shal she open her mouth, and triumph before his power.
- 3 [In the middes of her people shal she be exalted, and wondred at in the holy assemblie.
- 4 In the multitude of the chosen she shalbe commended, and among suche as be blessed, she shalbe praised, and shal say,]
- 5 I am come out of the mouth of the moste High, [first borne before all creatures.
- 6 I caused y light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen,] and couered the earth as a cloude.
- 7 My dwelling is aboue in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloude.
- 8 I alone haue gone round about the compassse of heauen and haue walked in the bottom of the depth.
- 9 I possessed the waues of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nacion, [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, bothe High and low.]
- 10 In all these things I sought rest, & a dwelling in some inheritance.
- 11 So the creator of all things gaue me a commandement, and he that made me, appointed me a tabernacle, and said, Let thy dwelling be in Iacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.
- Prou. 8, 23. Exod. 31, 3.* 12 *He created me fro the beginning, & before the worlde, & I shal neuer faile: * In the holie habitation haue I serued before him, and so was I stablished in Sion.
- 13 *In the welbeloued citie gaue he me rest, 7/4, 13, 8. and in Ierusalem was my power.
- 14 I toke roote in an honorable people, euē in the porcion of the Lords inheritance.
- 15 I am set vp on hie like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cipers tre vpon the mountaines of Hermon.
- 16 I am exalted like a palme tre<sup>10, 11, 12</sup> about the bankes, and as a rose plante in Iericho, as a faire oliue tre in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tre by the water.
- 17 I smelled as the cinnamom, & as a bagge of spices: I gaue a swete odour as the best myrrhe, as galbanum, and onix, and swete storax, & perfume of incense in an house.
- 18 As the terebinth, haue I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the brāches of honour and grace.
- 19 *As the vine haue I broght forth the [frute] of swete sauour, and my floures are the frute of honour and riches. Iohn. 15, 1.
- 20 I am the mother of beautiful loue, and of feare, and of knowledge, and of holy hope: I giue eternal thigs to all my children to whome God hathe commanded.
- 21 [In me is all grace of life and truethe: in me is all hope of life and vertue.]
- 22 Come vnto me all ye that be desirous of me, and fill your selues with my frutes.
- 23 *For the remembrance of me is sweter then honie, and mine enheritance [sweter] then the honie combe: [the remembrance of me endureth for euer more.] Psal. 119, 12.
- 24 They that eat me, shal haue y more hunger, and they that drinke me, shal thirst the more.
- 25 Who so hearkeneth vnto me, shal not come to confusion, & they that worke by me, shal not offende: [they that make me to be known, shal haue euerlasting life.]
- 26 All these things are the boke [of life,] & the couenant of the moste high God, [ & the knowledge of the truethe,] * & the Law that Moyses [in the precepts of righteousness] commanded for an heritage vnto the house of Iacob, [and the promises pertain vnto Israel.] Exod. 20, 1. & 24, 1. deu. 4, 1. & 28, 9.
- 27 Be not weary to behaue your selues valiantly with the Lord, that he may also confirme you: cleaue vnto him: for the Lord almightie is but one God, & besides him there is none other Sauour.
- 28 [Out of Dauid his seruante he ordeined to raise vp a moste mightie King y shulde sit in the throne of honour for euer more.]
- 29 He filleth all things with his wisdome, as *Physon, & as Tygris, in the time of the newefrutes. Gen. 2, 12.
- 30 He maketh the vnderstanding to aboude like *Euphrates, & as Iorden in the time time of the haruest.

31 He maketh the doctrine of knowledge to appeare as the light, and ouerfloweth as Geon in the time of the vintage.

32 The first man hath not knowen her perfectly: no more shal the last seke her out.

33 For her considerations are more abundant then the sea, and her counsel is profounder then the great deepe.

34 I wisdom [haue cast out floods:] I am as an arme of the riuer: I runne into Paradise as a watercondite.

35 I said, I wil watter my faire garden, and wil watter my pleasant ground: and lo, my ditche became a flood, and my flood became a sea.

36 For I make doctrine to shine as the light of the morning, and I lighten it for euer.

37 [I wil pearce thorow all the lower partes of the earth: I wil loke vpō all suche as be a slepe, & lighten all them that trust in the Lord.]

38 I wil yet powre out doctrine, as prophetic, and leaue it vnto all ages for euer.

39 *Beholde that I haue not labored for myself onely, but for all them that seke wisdom.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which he hateth. 7 Of nine things that be not to be suspect. 15 Of the malice of a woman.

1 THre things reioyce me, and by them am I beautified before God & men: the vnitie of brethren, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agre together.

2 ¶ Thre sortes of men my soule hateth, & I vterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proude: a riche man that is a liar, and an olde adulterer that doth.

3 ¶ If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 ¶ Oh, how pleasant a thing is it whē graie headed men minister iudgement, & when the elders can giue good counsell!

5 Oh, how comelie a thig is wisdom vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde mē is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glorie.

7 ¶ There be nine thigs, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happie, and the tenth wil I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while he liueth, hath ioye of his children, and seeth the fall of his enemies.

8 ¶ Wel is him that dwelleth with a wife of vnderstanding, * and that hath not fallen with his tongue, and that hath not serued suche as are vnworthie of him.

9 Wel is him that findeth prudence, and he that can not speake in the eares of them that wil heare.

10 ¶ Oh, how great is he that findeth wisdom! yet is there none aboue him, that feareth the Lord.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in clerenes.

12 [Blessed is the man, vnto whome it is granted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whome shal he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioyned vnto him.

14 [¶ The greatest heauines is the heauines of the heart, and the greatest malice is the malice of a woman.]

15 Giue me any plague, saue onely the plague of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

16 Or any assalt, saue the assalt of them that hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemy.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the head of the serpent, and there is no wrath aboue the wrath of an enemy.

18 * I had rather dwell with a lion and dragon, then to kepe house with a wicked wife.

19 The wickednes of a woman chāgeth her face, and maketh her countenance blacke as a sacke.

20 Her housband is sitting among his neighbours: because of her he sigheth sore or he beware.

21 All wickednes is but litle to the wickednes of a woman: let the porcion of the sinner fall vpon her.

22 As the climbing vp of a sandie way is to the fete of the aged, so is a wife ful of wordes to a quiet man.

23 * Stumble not at the beautie of a woman, and desire her not for thy pleasure.

24 If a woman nourish her housband, she is angrie and impudent and ful of reproche.

25 A wicked wife maketh a sorie heart, an heauie countenance, and a wounded minde, weake hands and feble knees, and can not comfort her housband in heauines.

26 Of the * woman came the beginning of sinne, and thorow her we all dye.

27 Giue the water no passage, [no not a litle,] nether giue a wicked woman libertie to go out.

28 If she walke not in thine obedience, [she shal confound thee in the sight of thine enemies.] Cut her of then from thy flesh:

* Giue her, and forsake her.

CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the feare of three things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the ielous and drunken woman. 22 Of two things that cause sorow, and of the thirde which moueth wrath.

Blessed is the man that hath a vertuous wife: for the number of his yeres shalbe double.

2 An honest womā reioyceth her housbād, and she shal fill the yeres of his life with peace.

3 A vertuous womā is a good portiō which shalbe giuen for a gift vnto suche as feare the Lord.

4 Whether a man be riche or poore, he hath a good heart toward the Lord, & they shal at all times haue a chereful countenance.

5 ¶ There be three things that mine heart feareth, & my face is afraied of the fourth: treason in a citie, the assemblie of the people, and false accusation: all these are heavier then death.

6 ¶ But the sorow and grief of the heart is a woman that is ielous ouer another: and she that communeth with all, is a scourge of the tongue.

7 An euil wife is as a yoke of oxen y drawe diuerse waies: he that hath her, is as thogh he helde a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman and suche as can not be tamed, is a great plague: for she can not couer her owne shame.

9 The whordome of a womā may be knowē in the pride of her eyes, and eyeliddes.

Chap. 42, 21. 10 ¶ If thy daughter be not shamefast, holde her straitly, lest she abuse her self thorowe ouer muche libertie.

11 Take hede of her that hath an vnshamefast eye: & marueile not if she trespace against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is thirstie, so shal she open her mouth, and drinke of euerie next water: by euerie hedge shal she sitte downe, & open her quiver against euerie arrowe.

13 The grace of a wife reioyceth her housband, and fedeth his bones with her vnderstanding.

14 A peaceable woman and of a good heart is a gift of the Lord, and there is nothing so muche worthe as a womā wel instructed.

15 A shamefast & faithful woman is a double grace, and there is no weight to be compared vnto her continent minde.

16 As the sunne when it riseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the clere light is vpon the holie candlestick, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillers are vpon the sockets of siluer: so are faire fete with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetual are the fundaciōs that be laide vpon a strong rocke: so are the cōmandements of God in the heart of an holie woman.]

20 My sonne, kepe the strength of thine age stable, and giue not thy strength to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruteful possesiō through all the fields, sowe it with thine owne sede, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shal liue after thee, shal growe, trusting in the great liberalitie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a sowe: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre against death to her housband.

24 A wicked womā is giuen as a rewarde to a wicked man: but a godlie woman is giue to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shameles woman contemneth shame: but a shamefast woman wil reuerence her housband.

26 A shameles woman is compared to a dogge: but she that is shamefast, reuerēceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoreth her housband, shalbe iudged wise of all: but she that despiseth him, shalbe blased for her pride.

28 A lowde crying woman and a babler let her be sought out to driue away y enemies: the minde of euerie man that liueth with suche, shalbe conuersant among the troubles of warre.

29 There be two things that grieue mine heart, and the thirde maketh me angrie: a mā of warre that suffreth pouertie: and mē of vnderstāding that are not set by: & whē one departeth from righteousnes vnto sinne: the Lord appointeth suche to y sword.

30 [There be two things, which me thinke to be hard and perilous.] A marchant can not lightly kepe him from wrong, and a vitailer is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

3 Of the poore that wolde be riche. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The unconstancie of a soule. 16 The secrets of friends are not to be uttered. 26 The wicked imagineth euil which turneth vpon him self.

Because of pouertie haue manie sinned: and he that seketh to be riche, turneth his eyes aside. 1 Tim 6, 9. prom 23, 4.

2 As a naile in the wall sticketh fast betwene the ioyntes of the stones, so doeth sinne sticke betwene the selling and the bying.

3 If he holde him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shal sone be overthrowen.

4 As when one listeth, the filthines remaineth in the siue, so the filth of man remaineth in his thoght.

5 The fornace proueth the potters vessel: so

- Prov. 17, 21.* *so doeth [tentacion] trye mens thoghts.
6 The frute declareth if the tre haue bene trimmed: so the worde [declareth] what man hathe in his heart.
7 Praise no man except thou haue heard his talke: for this is the tryal of men.
8 ¶ If thou followest righteousness, thou shalt get her, & put her on as a faire garment, [and shalt dwell with her, and she shall defend thee for ever: and in the daye of knowledge thou shalt finde stedfastnes.]
9 The birdes resorte vnto their like: so doeth the trueth turne vnto them, that are practised in her.
10 As the lyon waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that do euil.
11 The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a foole, he changeth as the moone.
12 If thou be among the vndiscrete, obserue the time, but haunte stil the assemblie of them that are wise.
13 The talking of fooles is grievous, and their sporte is in the plauser of sinne.
14 *The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the heere to stand vp: & to strue with suche, stoppeth the eares.
15 The strife of the proude is blood shedding, and their skouldings are grievous to heare.
16 *Who so discouereth secrets, leseth his credit, & findeth no friend after his wil.
17 Loue thy friēd, & be faithful vnto him: but if thou bewrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.
18 For as a man destroyeth his enemie, so doest thou destroye the friendship of thy neighbour.
19 As one that letteth a birde go out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friēd, thou canst not gette him againe.
20 Followe after him no more, for he is to farre off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]
21 As for woundes, they may be bounde vp againe, and an euil worde may be reconciled: but whoso bewrayeth the secrets of a friend, hathe lost all his credit.
22 *He that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euil: and he that knoweth him, wil let him alone.
23 When thou art present, he wil speake sweetely, and praise thy wordes: but at the last he wil turne his tale, and sclander thy saying.
24 Manie things haue I hated, but nothing so euil as suche one: for the Lord also hateth him.
25 Who so casteth a stone on hie, casteth it vpon his owne head: and he that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wounde.
26 Who so* diggeth a pit, shall fall therein,

- [and he that laieth a stone in his neighbours way, shall stumple thereon,] and he that laieth a snare for another, shall be takē in it him self.
27 He that worketh euil, shall be wrapped in euil, and shall not knowe from whence they come vnto him.
28 Mockerie & reproche followe the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lyon.
29 They that reioyce at the fall of y righteousness, shall be taken in the snare, & anguish shall consume them before they dye.
30 Dispite & angre are abominable things, and the sinful man is subiect to the bothe.

CHAP. XXVIII.

1 We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the offence. 13 Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

- 1* H* that seketh vengeance, shall finde vengeance of the Lord, and he wil surely kepe his sinnes.
2 ¶ Forgiue thy neighbour the hurt that he hathe done to thee, so shall thy sinnes be forgiuen thee also, when thou praieest.
3 Shulde a man beare hatred against man, and* desire forgiuenes of the Lord?
4 He wil shewe no mercie to a man, which is like him self: and wil he aske forgiuenes of his owne sinnes?
5 If he that is but flesh, nourishe hatred, [and aske pardone of God,] who wil intreate for his sinnes?
6 Remembre the end, & let enimitie passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through angre, but perseuere in the commandements.
7 Remember the commādements: so shalt thou not be rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the couenant of the moste High, and forgiue his ignorance.
8 *Beware of strife, & thou shalt make thy sinnes fewer: for an angrie man kindleth strife.
9 And the sinful man disquieteth friends, and bringeth in false accusations among them that be at peace.
10 *As the matter of the fyre is, so it burneth, and mans angre is according to his power: and according to his riches his angre increaseth, and the more vehement the angre is, the more is he inflamed.
11 An hastie brauling kindleth a fyre, and an hastie fighting shedeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witnes, bringeth death.]
12 If thou blowe the sparke, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and bothe these come out of the mouth.
13 ¶*Abhorre the sclāderer and double tongued: for suche haue destroyed many that were at peace.

manie, and driven them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, and ouerthrowen the houses of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, & bene the decaye of mightie nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out manie vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Whoso hearkeneth vnto it, shal neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rodde maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be manie that haue perished by the edge of the sworde, but not so manie as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Wel is him that is kept fro an euil tongue, and cometh not in the angre thereof, which hath not drawen in that yoke, neither hath bene bounde in the bandes thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bandes of brasse.

21 The death thereof is an euil death: hell were better then suche one.

22 It shal not haue rule ouer them that feare God, nether shal they be burnt with the flame thereof.

23 Suche as forsake the Lord, shal fall therein: and it shal burne them, and no man shalbe able to quenche it: it shal fall vpon them as a lyon, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make dores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde vp thy siluer and golde, & weigh thy wordes in a balance, and make a dore and a barre, [and a sure bridle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in waite, [and thy fall be incurable, euen vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Do lend money, and do almes. 15 Of a faithful man answering for his friend. 24 The poore mans life.

¶ Of weldeing.

HE that wil shewe mercie, ¶ lendeth to his neighbour: and he that hath power ouer him self, kepeth the commandements.

2 Lend to thy neighbour in time of his neede, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Kepeth thy worde and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt alwaye finde the thing that is necessarie for thee.

4 Manie when a thing was lent them, reckened it to be founde, & griued them that had helped them.

5 Tilt they receiue, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voyce: but when they shulde paie againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a careles answer, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And thogh he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, and rekeneth the other as a thing founde: els he deceiueth him of his money, & maketh him an enemy without a cause: he paieth him with cursing & rebuke, & giueth him euil wordes for his good dede.

7 There be manie which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to be defrauded without cause.

8 Yet haue thou pacience with him that humbleth him self, & differre not mercie from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandemets sake, and turne him not away, because of his pouertie.

10 Lese thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rust vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 *Bestowe the treasure after the commandement of the moste High, & it shal bring thee more profite then golde. Dan. 4. 24. Luk. 11. 41. Mat. 10. 4.

12 Lay vp thine almes in thy secret chambers, & it shal kepe thee from all affliction. Or, give thine almes secretly.

13 [A mans almes is as a purse with him, and shal kepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterwarde shal it arise, and paye euerie man his rewarde vpon his head.]

14 It shal fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.

15 An honest man is ¶ suretie for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him. ¶ Of suretieshippe.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath laied his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good dede of his suretie.

18 The wicked wil not become suretie: and he that is of an vnthankful minde, forsaketh him that deliuered him.

19 [Some man promiseth for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, he wil forsake him.]

20 Suretieshippe hath destroyed manie a riche man, & remoued them as the waues of the sea: mightie men hath it driven away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man, transgressing the commandements of the Lord, shal fall into suretieshippe: and he that medleth muche with other mens busines, is intangled in controuerfies.

22 ¶ Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy self fall not.

23 * The chief thing of life is water, and bread, and clothing, and lodging to couer thy shame. Chap. 39. 13.

After living. 24 ¶ The poore mans life in his owne lodge is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it litle or muche, holde thee contented, that the house speake not euil of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to go from house to house: for where thou art a stranger, thou dardest not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and fede vnthankful men, & after shalt haue bitter wordes for the same, saying, 28 Come, thou stranger, and prepare the table, and fede me of that thou hast readie.

29 Giue place, thou stranger, to an honorable man: my brother cometh to be lodged, and I haue nede of mine house.

30 These things are heauie to a mā that hath the vnderstanding, the vpbraiding of the house, and the reproche of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children. 14 Of the commoditie of health. 17 Death is better then a sorrowful life. 22 Of the ioye and sorow of the heart.

Prm. 13, 14. & 11, 12. 1 HE that loueth his sonne, * causeth him oft to fele the rodde, that he may haue ioye of him in the end.

2 He that chastiseth his sone, shal haue ioy in him, and shal reioyce of him amōg his acquaintance.

Deut. 7. 3 He that * teacheth his sonne, griueth theemie, and before his friends he shal reioyce of him.

4 Thogh his father dye, yet is he as thogh he were not dead: for he hath left one behinde him that is like him.

5 In his life he sawe him, and had ioye in him, and was not sorie in his death, [neither was he ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behinde him an aduenger against his enemies, and one that shulde shewe fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattereth his sonne, bindeth vp his woundes, and his heart is griued at euerie crye.

8 An vntamed horse wil be stubburne, and a wanton childe wil be wilful.

9 If thou bring vp thy sonne delicately, he shal make thee afraide: and if thou playe with him, he shal bring thee to heauines.

10 Laugh not with him, lest thou be sorie with him, and lest thou gnash thy teeth in the end.

Cap. 7, 25. 11 * Giue him no libertie in his youth, and winke not at his folie.

12 Bowe downe his necke while he is yong, and beat him on the sides, while he is a childe, lest he waxe stubburne, and be disobedient vnto thee, and so bring sorow to thine heart.

13 Chastise thy childe, and be diligent therein, lest his shame griue thee.

The praise of health. 14 ¶ Better is the poore, being whole and strong, then a riche man that is afflicted in his bodie.

15 Health and strength is aboue all golde, and a whole bodie aboue infinite treasure.

16 There is no riches aboue a sounde bodie, and no ioye aboue the ioye of the heart.

17 Death is better then a bitter life, [and long rest,] then continual sickenes.

18 The good things that are powred on a mouth shut vp, are as messes of meat set vpon a graue.

19 What good doeth the offering vnto an idole: for he can neither eat, nor smell: so is he that is persecuted of the Lord, [& beareth the rewarde of iniquitie.]

20 He seeth with his eyes, and groneth like * a gelded man, that lieth with a virgin Chap. 20, 3. and sigheth.

21 * Giue not ouer thy minde to heauines, Prou. 12, 21. & 15, 13. & 17, 20. and vexe not thy self in thine owne counsel.

22 The ioye of the heart is the life of mā, and a mans gladnes is the prolonging of his daies.

23 Loue thine owne soule, and comforte thine heart: driue sorow farre from thee: for sorow hath slaine many, and there is no profite therein.

24 Enuie and wrath shorten the life, and carefulesnes bringeth age before the time.

25 A noble and good heart wil haue consideration of his meat and diet.

CHAP. XXXI.

Of couetousnes. 2 Of them that take paine to gather riches. 8 The praise of a riche man without a fauour. 12 We ought to flee drunkennes and folowe sobernes.

1 W Aking ¶ after riches pineth away the bodie, and the care thereof driueth away slepe.

2 This waking care breaketh the slepe, as a great sickenes breaketh the slepe.

3 The riche hath great labour in gathering riches together, and in his rest he is filled with pleasures.

4 The pore laboreth in liuing poorely, and when he leaueth of, he is stil poore.

5 He that loueth golde, shal not be iustified, and he that followeth corruption, shal haue ynough thereof.

not thy self vp, but be among them, as one of the rest: take diligent care for the,
and so sit downe.

2 And when thou hast done all thy duetic, sit downe, that y<sup>e</sup> maist be merie with them, and receiue a crowne for thy good beha-uiour.

3 Speake thou that art the elder: for it be-cometh thee, but with sounde iudgement, and hinder not musicke.

4 Powre not out wordes, where there is no audience, *and shewe not forthe wisdome out of time. Chap. 33, 9.
Or 30, 7.

5 The consent of musicians at a banquet is as a signet of carbuncle set in golde.

6 And as the signet of an emeraude wel trimmed with golde, so is the melodie of musicke in a pleasant banquet.

7 [Giue eare, and be stil, and for thy good behaviour thou shalt be loued.]

8 Thou that art yong, speake if nede be,
and yet scarcely when thou art twise asked.

9 Comprēhende muche in fewe wordes:
[in manie things be as one that is ignorant:] be as one that vnderstādeth, and yet holde thy tongue.

10 If thou be among great men, compare not thy self vnto them: and when an elder speaketh, bable not muche.

11 Before the *thunder goeth lightning, Iob. 32, 6.
and before a shamefast man goeth fa-uour.

12 Stand vp betimes, and be not the last:
but get thee home without delay,

13 And there take thy pastime, and do what thou wilt, so that thou do none euil, or vse proude wordes.

14 But aboue all things, giue thanks vnto him that hathe made thee, and replenished thee with his goods.

15 ¶ Who so feareth the Lord, wil receiue his doctrine, and they that rise early, shal finde fauour.

16 He that seketh the Law, shal be filled therewith: but the hypocrite wil be offended thereat.

17 They that feare the Lord, shal finde that which is righteous, and shal kindle iustice as a light.

18 An vngodlie man wil not be reformed; but findeth out excuses according to his wil.

19 A man of vnderstanding dispiseth not counsel:

counsel: but a lewde and proude mā is not touched with feare, euē when he hathe done rashly.

10 [My sonne,] do nothing without aduifment: so shal it not repent thee after the dede.

11 Go not in the way where thou maist fall, nor where thou maist stumble among the stones, nether trust thou in the way that is plaine.

12 And beware of thine owne children, [and take hede of them that be thine owne housholde.]

13 In euerie good worke be of a faithfull heart: for this is the keping of the commandements.

14 Who so beleueth in the Lord, kepeth the commandements: and he that trusteth in the Lord, shal take no hurt.

CHAP. XXXIII.

1 The deliuerance of him that feareth God. 4 The answer of the wise. 13 Man is in the hand of God, as the clay is in the hand of the potter. 25 Of euil seruants.

1 THere shal no euil come vnto him that feareth the Lord: but when he is in tentation, he wil deliuer him againe.

2 A wise man hateth not the Law: but he that is an hypocrite therein, is as a shippe in a storme.

3 A man of vnderstanding walketh faithfully in the Law, and the Law is faithful vnto him.

4 As the question is made, prepare the answer, and so shalt thou be heard: be sure of the matter, and so answer.

5 The heart of the foolish is like a cartewheele: and his thoughts are like a rolling axeltre.

6 As a wilde horse neieth vnder euerie one that sitteth vpon him, so is a scorneful friend.

7 Why doeth one day excell another, seing that the light of the daies of the yere come of the sunne?

8 The knowledge of the Lord hathe parted them a sondre, and he hathe by them disposed the times and solemne feastes.

9 Some of them hathe he chosen and sanctified, & some of them hathe he put among the daies to number.

10 And all men are of the grounde, and Adam was created out of the earth: but the Lord hathe deuided them by great knowledge, and made their waies diuers.

11 Some of them hathe he blessed and exalted, and some of them hathe he sanctified, and appropriate to him self: but some of the hathe he cursed, and brought the lowe, and put them out of their estate.

12 As the claye is in the potters hand, to order it at his pleasure, so are men also in the hand of their creator, so that he may rewardethem as liketh him best.

13 Against euil is good, and against death is life: so is the godlie against the sinner, and the vngodlie against the faithfull.

14 So in all the workes of the moste High thou maist se that there are euer two, one against another.

15 ¶ I am awaked vp last of all, as one that gathereth after them in the vintage. In the blessing of the Lord I am increased, and haue filled my wine presse, like a grape gatherer.

16 Beholde, how I haue not labored onely for my self, but for all them that seke knowledge.

17 Heare me, o ye great men of the people, & hearken with your eares, ye rulers of the congregacion.

18 Giue not thy sonne and wife, thy brother and friēd, power ouer thee while thou liuest, and giue not away thy substance to another, lest it repent thee, and thou intrat for the same againe.

19 As long as thou liuest, and hast breth, giue not thy self ouer to anie persone.

20 For better it is that thy children shulde pray vnto thee, then that thou shuldest loke vp to the hands of thy children.

21 In all thy workes be excellēt, that thine honour be neuer stained.

22 At the time when thou shalt end thy dayes, and finish thy life, distribute thine inheritance.

23 ¶ The fodder, the whippe and the burden belong vnto the asse: and meate, correctiō and worke vnto thy seruant.

24 If thou set thy seruant to labour, thou shalt finde rest: but if thou let him go idle, he shal seke libertie.

25 The yoke & the whippe bow downe the hard necke: so tame thine euil seruāt with the whippes and correctiō.

26 Send him to labour, that he go not idle: for idlenes bringeth much euil.

27 Set him to worke, for that belongeth vnto him: if he be not obedient, put on more heauie fetters.

28 But be not excessiue toward anie, and without discrecion do nothing.

29 ¶ If thou haue a faithful seruant, let him be vnto thee as thine owne soule: for in blood hast thou gotten him. If thou haue a seruant, intrat him as thy brother: for thou hast nede of him, as of thy self. If thou intrat him euil, and he runne away, wilt thou seke him?

Of dreames. 13 The praise of them that feare God. 18 The offrings of the wicked. 22 The bread of the nedie. 27 God doeth not alowe the workes of an vnfaithfull man.

Ecclesiasticus.

Dreames.

THe hope of a foolish man is vaine & false, & dreames make fooles to haue wings.

2 Who so regardeth dreames, is like him that wil take holde of a shadowe, and follewe after the winde.

3 Even so is it with the appearings of dreames, as the likenes of a face is before another face.

4 Who can be clenfed by the vncleane? or what trueth can be spoken of a lier?

5 Sothsayings, witchcraft, and dreaming is but vanitie, and a minde that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that trauaileth.

6 Where as suche visōs come not of y<sup>e</sup> moste High to trye thee, set not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue disceiued many, and thei haue failed that put their trust therein.

8 The Law shalbe fulfilled without lies, & wisdom is sufficient to a faithful mouth: [what knowledge hathe he that is not tried?]

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and he that hathe good experience, can talke of wisdom.

10 He that hathe no experience, knoweth litle, and he that erreth, is ful of craft.

11 Whē I wandred to and fro, I sawe many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 ¶ The spirit of those that feare the Lord, shal liue: for their hope is in him that can helpe them.

The feare of the Lord.

14 Who so ¶ feareth the Lord, feareth no man, nether is afraied: for he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth y<sup>e</sup> Lord: in whome putteth he his trust: who is his strength?

Psal. 33, 18.

16 ¶ For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them, that loue him: he is their mighty protection, and strong grounde, a defense from the heat, and a shadowe for the noone day, a succour fro stombing, & an helpe from falling.

Psal. 91, 2.

17 He setteth vp the soule, & lightneth the eyes: he giueth health, life and blessing.

Prov. 23, 27.

21 Who so bringeth an offering of the goods of y<sup>e</sup> poore, doeth as one that sacrificeth y<sup>e</sup> sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 The bread of the nedeful is the life of the poore: he that defraudeth him thereof, is a murtherer.

25 When one prayeth and another curseth, whose voyce wil the Lord heare?

26 * He that washeth him self because of a dead bodie, and toucheth it againe, what auaieth his washing?

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himself, goeth thorowe the cloudes, and ceaseth not til it come nere, and wil not departe til the moste High haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

1 HAue mercie vpon vs, o Lord God of all things, and beholde vs, & [shewe vs the light of thy mercies,]

2 And send thy feare among the nations, which seeke not after thee, [that they may know that there is no God but thou, and y they may shewe thy wonderous workes.]

3 Lift vp thine hand vpon the strange nations, that they may see thy power.

4 As thou art sanctified in vs before them, so be thou magnified among them before vs,

5 That they may knowe thee, as we knowe thee: for there is none other God but onely thou, o Lord.

6 Renue the signes, & change the wonders: shewe the glorie of thine hand, and thy right arme, that they may shewe forth thy wonderous actes.

7 Raise vp thine indignacion, & powre out wrath: take away the aduersarie, and smite the enemy.

8 Make the time shorte: remember thine othe, that thy wonderous workes may be praised.

9 Let the wrath of the fyre consume them that escape, and let them perish that oppress the people.

11 Gather all the tribes of Iacob together, [that they may knowe that there is none other God but onely thou, and y they may shewe thy wonderous workes,] and inherit thou them as from the beginning.

12 O Lord, haue mercie vpon the people, that is called by thy Name, & vpon Israel, whom thou hast likened to a first borne sonne. Exod. 4. 22.

13 Oh, be merciful vnto Ierusalem the citie of thy Sanctuarie, the citie of thy rest.

14 Fill Sion, that it may magnifie thine oracles, and fill thy people with thy glorie.

15 Giue witnes vnto those that thou hast possessed from the beginning, and raise vp the prophecies that haue bene shewed in thy Name.

16 Rewarde them that waite for thee, that thy Prophetes may be founde faithful.

17 O Lord, heare the prayer of thy seruants according to the blessing of Aaron ouer thy people, [ & guide thou vs in the way of righteousnes ] that all they which dwell vpon the earth, may knowe that thou art the Lord the eternal God. Nomb. 6. 22.

18 ¶ The belie deuoureth all meates, yet is one meat better then another.

19 As the throte tasteth venisone, so doeth a wise minde discerne false wordes.

20 A frowarde heart bringeth grief, but a man of experience wil resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euerie man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beautie of a woman chereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenes, mekenes, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

24 He that hath gotten a [vertuous] woman, hath begone to get a possession: she is an helpe like vnto him self, and a pillar to rest vpon. The praise of a good woman.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoiled: and he that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro, mourning.

1 Euerie friend saith, I am a friend vnto him also: but there is some friend, which is onely a friend in name. Of friendship.

6 Forget not thy friend in thy minde, and thinke ypon him in thy riches.

Of whome we shulde take counsel.

7 Seke no counsel at him of whome thou art suspected, and disclose not thy counsel vnto suche as hate thee.

Chap 8. 21.
9. 21.

8 *Euerie counseler praiseth his owne counsel: but there is some that counseleth for him self.

Or, whos uer he hateth.

9 Beware of the counseler, and be aduised afore whereto thou wilt vse him: for he wil counsel for him self, lest he cast the lot vpon thee,

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, & afterwarde he stand against thee, and loke what shal become of thee.

11 [Aske no counsel for religion of him, that is without religion, nor of iustice, of him that hathe no iustice,] nor of a womā touching her of whome she is ielous, nor of a cowarde in matters of warre, nor of a marchant concerning exchange, nor of a bier for the sale, nor of an enuious man touching thankfulness, nor of the vnmerciful touching kindenes, [nor of an vn honest man of honestie,] nor of the slothful for anie labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle seruant for muche busines: hearken not vnto these in anie matter of counsel.

12 But be cōtinual with a godlie man whome thou knowest to kepe the commandements of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, & is sorie for thee whe thou stumblest.

13 Take counsel of thine owne heart: for there is no man more faithful vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to shewe more the seuē watchmen that sit aboue in an high tower.

15 And aboue all this pray to y most High, that he wil direct thy waye in trueth.

16 Let reason go before euerie enterpryse, & counsel before euerie action.

17 ¶ The [changing] of the countenance is a signe of the changing of the heart: foure things appeare good and euil, life and death, but the tongue hathe euer more the gouernement ouer them.

18 ¶ Some mā is wittie, & hathe instructed manie, and yet is vnprofitable vnto him self.

Or, wisdom.

19 Some man wil be wise in wordes, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all foode, 20 Because grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all wisdom.

21 Another is wise for him self, and the frutes of vnderstanding are faithful in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the frutes of his wisdom faile not.

23 A wise mā shalbe plēteously blessed, and all they vse him, shal thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shal obtaine credit among his people, and his name shalbe perpetual.

26 My sonne, proue thy soule in thy life, & se what is euil for it, and permit it not to do it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, nether hathe euerie soule pleasure in euerie thing.

28 Be not griedie in all delites, and be not to hastie vpon all meares.

101 mourning
102 the sufferer
16 My sonne, powre forth the teares ouer the dead, || and beginne to mourne, as if thou hadelt suffred great harme thy self, & then couer his bodie according to his appointment, and neglect not his buryal.

17 Make a grieuous lamentacion, and be earnest in mourning, & vse lamentacion as he is worthie, & that, a daye or two, lest thou be euil spoken of, and then comforte thy self for thine heauines.

Thou. 15, 13
17, 22.
18 *For of heauines cometh death, and the heauines of the heart breaketh y strength.

19 Of the affection of the heart cometh sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heauines to heart: driue it away, and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt do him no good, but hurte thy self.

22 Remember his iudgement: thine also shalbe likewise, vnto me yester daye, and vnto thee to day.

1 Sam. 12, 20.
23 *Seing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, & comforte thy self againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdom of a learned mā cometh by vsing wel his vacant time: and he that ceaseth from his owne matters and labour, may come by wisdom.

25 How can he get wisdom that holdeth the plough, and he that hath pleasure in the gode, and in driuing oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and talketh but of the brede of bullockes?

26 He giueth his minde to make sorowes, and is diligent to giue the kine fodder.

27 So is it of euerie carpenter, and workmaster that laboreth night and daye: and they that cut, and graue scales, and make sondrie diuersities, and giue them selues to contrefait imagerie, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The smith in like maner abideth by his anvil, and doeth his diligēce to labour the yron: the vapour of the fyre dryeth his flesh, and he muste fight with the heat of the fornace: the noyce of the hammer is euer in his eares, and his eyes loke stil vpon the thing that he maketh: he setteth his minde to make vp his workes: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfytely.

29 So doeth the potter sit by his worke: he turneth the whele about with his fete: he is careful alwaye at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He facioneth the claye with his arme, & with his feete he tempereth the hardnes thereof: his heart imagineth how to couer it with lead, and his diligence is to clenſe the ouen.

31 All these hope in their hands, and euerie one bestoweth his wisdom in his worke.

32 Without these can not y cities be maintained, nor inhabited, nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsel of the people, neither are thei hie in the congregacion, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they can not declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not mete for hard matters.

34 But thei mainteine the state of the worlde, and their desire is concerning their worke and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man. 16 The workes of God. 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euil, euil good things are euil.

1 HE onelie that applieth his minde to the Law of the moste High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seketh out the wisdom of all the ancient, & exerciseth him self in the prophecies.

Of true wisdom.

2 He kepeth the sayings of famous men, & entreth in also to the secrets of darke sentences.

3 He seketh out the mysterie of graue sentences, and exerciseth him self in darke parables.

4 He shal serue among great men and appeare before the prince: he shal traueil through strange countreis: for he hath tried the good and the euil among men.

5 He wil giue his heart to resorte early vnto the Lord that made him, & to praye before the moste High, and wil open his mouth in prayer, and praie for his sinnes.

6 When the great Lord wil, he shalbe filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that he may powre out wise sentences, & giue thanks vnto the Lord in his praier.

7 *He shal direct his counsel, & knowledge: **On the Lord.* so shal he meditate in his secrets.

8 He shal shewe forth his science and learning, and reioyce in the Law & couenant of the Lord.

9 Manie shal commend his vnderstanding, and his memorie shal neuer be put out, nor departe away: but his name shal continue from generacion to generacion.

10 *The congregacion shal declare his wisdom, and shewe it. Chap. 44, 14.

11 Thogh he be dead, he shal leaue a greater fame then a thousand: and if he liue stil, he shal get the same.

12 Yet wil I speake of mothings: for I am Rrrrj.

ful as the moone.

13 Harken vnto me, ye holy children, and bring forth the frute, as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the field,

107. Libanus.

14 And giue ye a swete smel as incense, and bring forth the flowres as the lillie: giue a smel and sing a song of praise: blesse the Lord in all his workes.

15 Giue honour vnto his Name, and shewe forth his praise with the songs of your lippes, and with harpes, and ye shal say after this maner,

Gen. 1. 31.

16 * All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season.

17 And none may say, What is this? wherefore is that? for at time conuenient they shal all be sought out: at his commandement the water stode as an heape, & at the worde of his mouth the waters gathered them selues.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which he wil saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 He seeth from euerlasting to euerlasting, & there is nothing wonderful vnto him.

21 A man nede not to say, What is this? wherefore is that? for he hath made all things for their owne vse.

22 His blessing shal renne ouer as the stream, and moisture the earth like a flood.

23 As he hath turned the waters into saltnes, so shal the heathen fele his wrath.

24 As his waies are plaine and right vnto the iust, so are they stumbling blockes to the wicked.

25 ¶ For the good, are good things created from the beginning, and euil things for the sinners.

Chap. 39. 29.

26 * The principal things for the whole vse of mans life is water, fyre, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, & milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and cloathing.

27 All these things are for good to y godlie: but to y sinners they are turned vnto euil.

28 There be spretes that are created for vengeance, which in their rigour laye on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shewe forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 Fyre, and haile, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance.

30 The teeth of wilde beasts, and the scorpions, and the serpents, and the sworde execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shalbe glad to do hys commandements: & when nede is, they shalbe readie vpon earth: and whē their houre is come, they shal not ouerpasse the commandement.

32 Therefore haue I taken a good courage vnto me from the beginning, and haue thoght on these things, and haue put them in writing.

33 * All the workes of the Lord are good, & he giueth euerie one in due season, & when nede is: Gen. 1. 31.

34 So that a man nede not to say, This is worse then that: for in due season they are all worthie praise.

35 And therefore praise y Lord with whole heart and mouth, and blesse the Name of the Lord.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous and prerogative of the feare of God.

1 Great ¶ trauail is created for all men, and an heauie yoke vpon the sonnes of Adam from the day that they go out of their mothers wombe, til the day that they returne to the mother of all things, The miseries of mans life.

2 Namely their thoghts, and feare of the heart, & their imaginacion of the things they waite for, and the daye of death,

3 From him that sitteth vpon the glorious throne, vnto him that is beneth in y earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blewe silke, and weareth a crowne, euen vnto him that is clothed in simple linen.

5 Wrath & enuie, trouble, and vnquietnes, and feare of death, & rigour, and strife, & in the time of rest the slepe in the night vpon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A litle or nothing is his rest, and afterwarde in sleping he is as in a watchetowre in the daye: he is troubled wth the visions of his heart, as one that renneth out of a battel.

7 And when all is safe, he awaketh, & marueileth that the feare was nothing.

8 Suche things come vnto all flesh, bothe man and beast, but seuē fold to the vngodlie:

9 Moreouer, * death & blood, and strife, & sworde, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment. Chap. 39. 31.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the * flood Gen. 7. 31. also.

11 * All things that are of the earth, shal turne to earth againe: and they that are of the * waters, shal returne into the sea. Gen. 3. 19. Chap. 41. 33. Eccles. 1. 7.

12 ¶ All bribes and vnrighteousnes shalbe put awaye: but ¶ faithfulness shal endure for euer. Faithfulness.

13 The substance of the vngodlie shalbe dried vp like a riuer, and they shal make a sounde like a great thonder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hād, he reioyceth: but but all the transgressours shal come to naught.

15 The children of the vngodlie shal not obtaine manie branches: for the vncleane rootes are as vpon the high rockes.

16 Their tender stalke by what water soeuer it be or water banke, it shalbe pulled vp before all other herbes.

17 Friendlines is as a moste plentiful gardē of pleasure, & mercie endureth for euer.

18 *To labour and to be content with that a man hathe, is a swete life: but he that findeth a treasure, is aboute them bothe.

19 Children, and the buylding of the citie maketh a perpetual name: but an honest woman is counted aboute them bothe.

20 Wine & musicke reioyce the heart: but the loue of wisdom is aboute them bothe.

21 The pipe and the psalterion make a sweetenoyce: but a pleasant tongue is aboute them bothe.

22 Thine eye desireth fauor & beautie: but a grene sedetyme, rather then them bothe.

23 A friend, and companion come together at opportunitie: but aboute them bothe is a wife with her housband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble, but almes shal deliuer more then them bothe.

25 Golde and siluer fasten the fete: but counsell is esteemed aboute them bothe.

26 Riches and strength lift vp the minde: but the feare of the Lord is aboute them bothe: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it nedeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautiful as it is.

28 ¶ My sonne, lead not a beggers life: for better it were to dye then to begge.

29 The life of him that dependeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life: for he tormēteth him self after other mens meat: but a wise man and wel nourished, wil beware thereof.

30 Begging is swete in the mouth of the vnshamefast, and in his bellie there burneth a fyre.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 A curse vpon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name & fame. 14 An exhortation to giue hede vnto wisdom. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

1 O Death, how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that liueth at rest in his possessions, vnto the man that hathe nothing to vexe him, and that hathe prosperitie in all things: yea, vnto him that yet is able to receiue meat!

2 O death, how acceptable is thy iudgement vnto the nedeful, and vnto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, & is vexed with all things, and to him that dispaireth, and hathe lost pacience!

3 Feare not the iudgement of death: remember them that haue bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord ouer all flesh.

4 And why woldest thou be against thy pleasure of the moste High? whether it be ten or an hundredth, or a thousand yeres, there is no defense for life against the graue.

5 ¶ The children of the vngodlie are abominable children, and so are they that kepe companie with the vngodlie.

6 The inheritance of vngodlie children shal perish, and their posteritie shal haue a perpetual shame.

7 The children complaine of an vngodlie father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Wo be vnto you, o ye vngodlie, which haue forsaken the Law of the moste high God: for though you increase, yet shal you perish.

9 If ye be borne, ye shalbe borne to cursing: if ye dye, the curse shalbe your porcion.

10 All that is of thy earth, shal turne to earth againe: so the vngodlie go from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their bodie, yet the wicked name of the vngodlie shalbe put out.

12 Haue regarde to thy name: for that shal continue with thee aboute a thousand treasures of golde.

13 A good life hathe the dayes nombred: but a good name endureth euer.

[A good name

14 * My children, kepe wisdom in peace: for wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not sene, what profite is in them bothe?

Chap. 30, 33.

15 A man that hideth his foolishnes, is better then a man that hideth his wisdom.

16 Therefore beare reuerence vnto my wordes: for it is not good in all things to be ashamed: nether are all things allowed as faithful in all men.

[Of shame factors.

17 Be ashamed of whordome before father and mother: be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of autoritie:

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregacion and people: of vnrighteousnes before a companio and friend, 19 And of theft before thy place where thou dwellest, & before the trueth of God & his couenant, and to leane with thine elbowed vpon the bread, or to be reproued for giuing or taking.

Or, 11th.

20 And of silence vnto them that salute thee, and to loke vpon an harlot,

21 And to turne away thy face from thy kinsman: or to take away a portiō or a gift, or to be euil minded toward another mans wife,

22 Or to sollicite anie mans maide, or to stand by her bēd, or to reproche thy friēds with wordes, 23 Or to vpbraide when thou giuest anie thing, or to reporte a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueile secret wordes.

24 Thus maiest thou wel be shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

1 The Law of God must be taught. 9 A daughter. 14 A woman. 18 God knoweth all things, yea, euen the secrets of thine heart.

In what things we ought not to be ashamed.

OF these things be not thou ashamed, neither haue regarde to offend for anie persone,

1 Of the Law of the most High & his covenant, & of iudgemēt to iustifie the godlie:

2 Of the cause of thy companion, and of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

3 To be diligent to kepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue muche or litle:

4 To sel marchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beat an euil seruant to the blood:

5 To sit a good locke where an euil wife is, and to locke where manie hands are:

6 If thou giue anie thing by number, and weight, to put all in writing, bothe that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

7 To teache the vnlearned, & the vnwise, & the aged, that contend against y<sup>e</sup> yong: thus shalt thou be wel instructed, and approued of all men liuing.

Or, is a secret watche to the father.

8 ¶ The daughter maketh the father to watche secretly, and the carefulnes that he hathe for her, taketh away his slepe in the youth, lest she shulde passe y<sup>e</sup> floure of her age: and when she hathe an housband, lest she shulde be hated:

9 In her virginitie, lest she shulde be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house; and, when she is with her housbād, lest she misbehaue her self: and when she is married, lest she continue vnfruitful.

Chap. 26, 10.

10 ¶ If thy daughter be vnshamefast, kepe her straitly, lest she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorne, and make thee a cōmune talke in the citie, and diffame thee among the people, and bring thee to publicke shame.

Chap. 25, 28.

11 ¶ Beholde not euerie bodies beautie, and companie not among women.

Gen. 3, 6.

12 For as the moth cometh out of garmēt: so doeth wickednes of the woman.

13 The wickednes of a man is better then the good intreatie of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame, and reproche.

14 ¶ I wil remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue sene: by the worde of the Lord are his workes.

15 The sunne that shineth, loketh vpon all things, and all the worke thereof is ful of the glorie of the Lord.

16 Hathe not the Lord appointed that his Saints shulde declare all his wonderous workes, which the almightie Lord hathe stablished to confirme all things by in his maiestie?

17 He seeketh out the depth, and the heart, and he knoweth their practises: for y<sup>e</sup> Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the worlde.

18 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the paths of things that are secret.

19 *No thought may escape him, neither may anie worde be hid from him. Iob 41, 4. isa. 29, 15.

20 He hathe garnished the excellent workes of his wisdom, and he is from euerlasting to euerlasting, and for euer: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can he be diminished: he hathe no nede of anie counseler.

21 Oh, how delectable are all his workes, & to be cōsidered euē vnto y<sup>e</sup> sparkes of fyre!

22 They liue all, and endure for euer: and when soeuer nede is, they are all obedient.

23 Thei are all double, one against another: he hathe made nothing y<sup>e</sup> hathe anie faute.

24 The one commendeth the goodnes of the other, & who can be satisfied with beholding Gods glorie? Or, stablisheth.

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

1 THIS high ornament, the cleare firmament, the beautie of the heauē so glorious to beholde, The wonderfull workes of God.

2 The sunne also, a marueilous instrument when it appeareth, declareth, at his going out, the worke of the moste High.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, & who may abide for the heat thereof?

4 The sunne burneth the mountaines thre times more then he that kepeth a fornace with cōtinual heat: it casteth out the fyrie vapours, & with the shining beames blindeth the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that made it, and by his commandement he causeth it to runne hastily.

6 *The moone also hathe he made to appeare according to her season, that it shulde be a declaration of the time, and a signe for the worlde. Gen. 1, 16.

7 *The feasts are appointed by the moone: the light thereof diminisheth vnto y<sup>e</sup> end. Exod. 12, 2.

8 The moneth is called after y<sup>e</sup> name thereof, & groweth wōdrously in her chāging.

9 It is a campe pitched on high, shining in the firmament of heauen: the beautie of heauē are the glorious starres, and the ornament that shineth in the high places of the Lord.

10 By the commandement of the holie one they they continue in their order, and faile not in their watche.

Gen. 1. 14.

11 ¶ *Loke vpon the raine bowe, and praise him that made it: verie beautiful is it in the brightnes thereof.

Isa. 40. 22.

12 *It compasseth the heauen about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the moste High haue bended it.

13 ¶ Thorowe his comendement he maketh the snowe to haste, and sendeth swiftly the lightning of his iudgement.

14 Therefore he openeth his treasures, and the cloudes flie forth as the fowles.

15 In his power hathe he strengthened the cloudes, and broken the haile stones.

16 The mountaines leape at the sight of him: the South winde bloweth according to his wil.

17 The sounde of his thonder beateth the earth: so doeth the storme of the North: y whirlewinde also, as birdes that flie, scattereth the snowe, and the falling downe thereof is as y grethoppers y light downe.

18 The eye marueileth at the beautie of the whitenes thereof, & the heart is astonished at the raine of it.

19 He also powreth out the frost vpon the earth like salt, and when it is frosen, it sticketh on the toppes of pales.

20 When the colde North winde bloweth, an yce is frosen of the water, it abideth vpon all the gatherings together of water, and clotheth the waters as w a brest plate.

21 It deuoureth the mountaines, & burneth the wildernesses, and destroyeth that that is grene, like fyre.

22 The remedie of all these is when a cloude cometh hastily, & when a dewe cometh vpon the heat, it refresheth it.

23 [B: his worde he stilleth the winde:] by his counsel he appeaseth the depe, and platteth ylands therein.

24 They that faile ouer the sea, tel of the perils thereof, and when we heare it with our eares, we marueile thereat.

25 For there be strange, & wonderous workes, diuers maner of beasts, and the creation of whales.

26 Thorowe him are all things directed to a good end, & are stablished by his worde.

27 And whe we haue spoken muche, we can not atteine vnto them: but this is y summe of all, that he is all.

28 What power haue we to praise him: for he is aboue all his workes?

29 The Lord is terrible, and verie great, & marueilous is his power.

30 Praise y Lord, & magnifie him as muche as ye can, yet doeth he farre excede: exalt him with all your power, & be not wearie, yet can ye not atteine vnto it.

31 ¶ *Who hathe sene him, that he might tel vs: and who can magnifie him as he is?

32 For there are hid yet greater things the these be, & we haue sene but a fewe of his workes.

33 For the Lord hathe made all things, and giuen wisdom to suche as feare God.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certain holie men, Enoch, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob.

1 Let vs now comende the famous men, and our fathers, of whome we are begotten.

2 The Lord hathe gotten great glorie by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3 Thei haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renoumed for their power, and were wise in counsel, and declared prophecies.

4 ¶ *They gouerned the people by counsel & Exod. 18. 21. by the knowledge of learning mete for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences.

5 They inuented the melodie of musicke, and expounded the verses that were written.

6 They were riche and mightie in power, and liued quietly at home.

7 All these were honorable men in their generations, & were wel reported of in their times.

8 There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shal be spoken of.

9 There are some also which haue no memorial, & are perished, as thogh they Gen. 7. 23. had neuer bene, and are become as thogh they had neuer bene borne, and their children after them.

10 But the former were merciful men, whose righteousness hathe not bene forgottē.

11 For whose posteritie a good inheritance is reserued, and their sede is contained in the couenant.

12 Their stocke is contained in the couenant, and their posteritie after them.

13 Their sede shal remaine for euer, & their praise shal neuer be taken away.

14 Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15 ¶ *The people speake of their wisdom, & Chap. 39. 14. the congregacion talke of their praise.

16 ¶ *Enoch pleased the Lord God: therefore was he translated for an example of repentance to the generations. ¶ Enoch. Gen. 5. 14. ebr. 11. 5.

17 ¶ *Noe was founde perfite, and in the time of wrath he had a rewarde: therefore was he left as a remnant vnto the earth, ¶ Noe. Gen. 6. 9. and 7. 1. ebr. 11. 7. when the flood came.

18 An euermlasting couenant was made with him, that all flesh shulde *perish no more by the flood. ¶ Gen. 9. 11. ¶ Abraham. Gen. 12. 3. ¶ 15. 5. ¶ 17. 4.

The praise of Moses, Aaron, and Phinees.

1 And || Moses, the * beloued of God & Amen, brought he forth, whose remembrance is blessed.

3 By his wordes he caused the wonders to cease, and he made him * glorious in the sight of Kings, and gaue him commandements for his people, and shewed him his glorie.

4 *He sanctified him with faithfulness, and mekenes, and chose him out of all men.

5 He caused him to heare his voyce, and brought him into the darke cloude, * and there he gaue him the commandements before his face, euen the Law of life and knowledge, that he might teache Iacob y couenant, and Israel his iudgements.

6 He exalted || Aaron an holie man like vnto him, eue his * brother of y tribe of Levi.

7 An euerlasting couenant made he with him, and gaue him the priesthode among the people, and made him blessed through his comelie ornament, & clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 He put perfite ioye vpo him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breches, and a tunicle, and an ephod.

9 He compassed him about with belles of golde, & with manie belles round about, * that when he went in, the sound might be heard, and might make a noyce in the Sanctuarie, for a remembrance to the childre of Israel his people,

10 And with an holie garment, with golde also, and blewes silke, and purple, & diuers kindes of workes, and with a brestlappe of iudgemēt, & with the signes of truth,

11 And with worke of skarlet conningly wrought, and with precious stones grauen like seales, & set in golde by golde smithes worke for a memorial with a writing grauen after the number of the tribes of Israel.

12 And with a crowne of golde vpon the mitre, bearing the forme and marke of holines, an ornamēt of honour, a noble worke garnished, and pleasant to loke vpon.

13 Before him were there no suche faire ornaments: there might no strāger put them on, but onely his children, and his childres children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were wholly consumed euerie day twise continually.

15 *Moyse filled his hands, and anointed him with holie oyle: this was appointed vnto him by an euerlasting couenant, & to his sede, for long as the heauens shulde remaine, that he shulde minister before him, & also to execute the office of the priesthode, and blesse his people in his name.

16 Before all men liuing the Lord chose him that he shulde present offrings before him, and a swete fauour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 *He gaue him also his commandements and autoritie according to the Lawes appointed, that he shulde teache Iacob the testimonies, and giue light vnto Israel by his Law.

18 *Strangers stode vp against him, & enuied him in the wildernes, euen the men that toke Dathans and Abirams parte, & the companie of Core in furie and rage.

19 This the Lord sawe, and it displeased him, and in his wrathful indignacion were they consumed: he did wonders vpon them, and consumed them with the fyrie flame.

20 *But he made Aaron more honorable, and gaue him an heritage, and parted the first frutes of the first borne vnto him: vnto him specially he appointed bread in abundance.

21 For the Priests did eat of the sacrifices of the Lord, which he gaue vnto him and to his sede.

22 *Els had he none heritage in the land of his people, nether had he any porcion among the people: for the Lord is the porcion of his inheritance.

23 The third in glorie is || Phinees the sonne of Eleazar, because he had zeale in the feare of the Lord, & stode vp with good courage of heart, when the people were turned backe, and made reconciliation for Israel.

24 Therefore was there a couenant of peace made with him, that he shulde be the chief of the Sanctuarie and of his people, and that he and his posteritie shulde haue haue the dignitie of the priesthode for euer,

- 35 And according to the couenant made with Dauid, that the inheritance of the kingdome shulde remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaro shulde be to the onelie sonne of his sonne, and to his sede. God giue vs wisdom in our heart to iudge his people in righteousness, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glorie may endure for their posteritie.

CHAP. XLVI.

The praise of Iosue, Caleb, and Samuel.

- 1 Iesus the sonne of Naue was valiant in the warres, & was the successor of Moyses in prophecies, who according vnto his name, was a great sauour of the elect of God, to take vengeance of his enemies that rose vp against them, and to set Israel in their inheritance.

- 2 What glorie gate he, when he lift vp his hand, and drew out his sworde against the cities?

- 3 Who was there before him, like to him? for he fought the battels of the Lord.

- 4 Stode not the sunne still by his meanes, & one day was as long as two?

- 5 He called vnto the moste high Gouvernour when the enemies praised vpon him on euerie side, & the mightie Lord heard him with the haile stones, and with mightie power.

- 6 He rushed in vnto the nations in battel, & in the going downe of Bethorō he destroyed the aduersaries, that they might knowe his weapons, and that he fought in the sight of the Lord: for he followed the Almighty.

- 7 In the time of Moyses also he did a good worke: he and Caleb the sonne of Iephune stode against the enemy, and withheld the people from sinne, & appeased the wicked murmuring.

- 8 And of six hundred thousand people of fote, they two were preferred to bring the into the heritage, even into the land that floweth with milke and honey.

- 9 The Lord gaue strength also vnto Caleb, which remained with him vnto his olde age, so that he went vp into the high places of the land and his sede obtained it for an heritage,

- 10 That all the children of Israel might see, that it is good to follow the Lord.

- 11 Concerning the Iudges, euerie one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Lord, their memorie be blessed.

- 12 Let their bones flourish out of their place, and their names by succession remaine to them that are moste famous of their children.

- 13 Samuel the Prophet of the Lord, beloved of his Lord, ordeined Kings, and anointed the princes ouer his people.

- 14 By the Lawe of the Lord he iudged the congregacion, and the Lord had respect vnto Iacob.

- 15 This Prophete was approued for his faithfulness, and he was knowen faithful in his wordes and visions.

- 16 He called vpon the Lord almighty, when his enemies praised vpon him on euerie side, when he offered the sucking lambe.

- 17 And the Lord thondred from heauen, & made his voyce to be heard with a great noyce.

- 18 So he discomfited the princes of Tyrians, and all the rulers of the Philistims.

- 19 And before his long slepe he made protestacion in the sight of the Lord, and his anointed, that he toke no substance of any man, no, not so muche as a shooc, and no man colde accuse him.

- 20 After his slepe also he tolde of Kings death, & from the earth lift he vp his voyce, and prophecied that the wickednes of the people shulde perish.

CHAP. XLVII.

The praise of Nathan, Dauid and Salomon.

- 1 After him rose vp Nathan to prophesie in the time of Dauid.

- 2 For as the fat is taken away from the peace offering, so was Dauid chosen out of the children of Israel.

- 3 He played with the lions, as with kiddes, and with beares, as with lambes.

- 4 Slewe he not a gyante when he was yet but yong, and toke away the rebuke from the people, when he lift vp his hand with the stone in the sling, to beat downe the pride of Goliath?

- 5 For he called vpon the moste high Lord, which gaue him strength in his right had, to slay that mightie warriour, and that he might set vp the horne of his people againe.

- 6 So he gaue him praise of ten thousand and honored him with great praises, and gaue him a crowne of glorie.

- 7 For he destroyed the enemies on euerie side, and rooted out the Philistims his aduersaries, and brake their horne in sunder vnto this day.

- 8 In all his workes he praised the Holy one, and the moste High with honorable wordes, and with his whole heart he sung songs, and loued him that made him.

- 9 He set singers also before the altar, and according to their tune he made swete songs, that they might praise God daily with their songs.

- 10 He ordeined to kepe the feast daies comely, and appointed the times perfetely, that they might praise the holy Name of God, and make the Temple to founde in the morning.
2. Sam. 12, 13. 11 * The Lord toke away his sinnes, and exalted his horne for euer: he gaue him y<sup>e</sup> covenant of the kingdome, and the throne of glorie in Israel.
- 12 After him rose vp a wise sonne, who by him dwelt in a large possession.
- Salomon. 1. King. 4, 21. 13 * Salomon reigned in a peaceable time, and was glorious: for God made all quiet rounde about, that he might buyld an house in his Name, and prepare the Sanctuarie for euer.
1. King. 4, 29. 14 * How wise wast y<sup>e</sup> in thy youth, and wast filled with vnderstanding, as with a flood!

1. King. 10, 27. 18 By the Name of the Lord God, which is called the God of Israel, thou hast gathered golde as tinne, and hast had as much siluer as lead.
1. King. 11, 1. 19 * Thou didest bowe thy loines to womē, and wast ouercome by thy bodie.

- 23 Thus rested Salomon with his fathers, & of his sede he left behinde him || Roboam, euen the foolishnes of the people, and one that had no vnderstanding, who turned away the people thorow his counsel, & || Jeroboam the sonne of Nabat, * which caused Israel to sinne, & shewed Ephraim the way of sinne,

- CHAP. XLVIII.
- The praise of Elias, Eliseus, Ezekias and Isaias.
1. King. 17, 1. 1 Then stode vp * Elias the Prophete as a fyre, and his worde burnt like a lampe.

- 8 * Which didest anoint Kings that they might recompense, and Prophetes to be thy successours:
- 9 * Which wast taken vp in a whirle winde of fyre, and in a charet of fyre horses:
- 10 Which wast appointed * to reprove in due season, & to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement before it kindled, & to turne the hearts of the fathers vnto the childre, and to set vp the tribes of Iacob.
- 11 Blessed were they that sawe thee, & slept in loue: for we shal liue.
- 12 * When Elias was couered with the storme, || Eliseus was filled with his spirit: while he liued, he was not moued for any prince, nether colde any bring him into subiection.
- 13 Nothing colde ouercome him, * and after his death his bodie prophecied.
- 14 He did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes marueilous.
- 15 For all this the people repented not, nether departed they from their sinnes: * til they were caryed away prisoners out of their land, and were scatered through all the earth, so that there remained but a very few people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.
- 16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp sinnes.

- 18 * In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sent Rabfaces, and lift vp his hand against Sion, and boasted proudly.
- 19 Then trembled their hearts and hands, so y<sup>e</sup> they sorowed like a woman in trauel.
- 20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is merciful, and lift vp their hands vnto him, and immediatly the holy one heard them out of heauen.
- 21 [He thought no more vpon their sinnes, nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but deliuered deliuered them by the hand of Esai.

* He smote the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezekias had done y thing that pleased the Lord, and remained stedfastly in the wayes of Dauid his father, as Esai the great Prophet, and faithful in his vision had commanded him.

24 * In his time the sonne went backward, and he lengthened the Kings life.

25 He sawe by an excellēt Spirit what shulde come to passe at the last, and he comforted them that were sorowful in Sion.

26 He shewed what shulde come to passe for euer, and secret things, or euer they came to passe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosias, Hezekiah, Dauid, Ieremi, Ezechiel, Zorobabel, Iesus, Nehemias, Enoch, Ioseph, Sem & Seth.

1 The remembrance of * Iosias is like the composition of the perfume that is made by the arte of the apothecarie: it is swete as honie in all mouthes, and as musicke at a banquet of wine.

2 He behaued him self vprightly in the reformation of the people, and toke away all abominations of iniquitie.

3 He * directed his heart vnto the Lord, & in the time of y vngodlie he established religion.

4 All, except Dauid and Ezekias, and Iosias, committed wickednes: for euen the Kings of Iuda forsoke the Law of the moste High, and failed.

5 Therefore he gaue their * horne vnto other, and their honor to a strange naciō.

6 He burnt the elect citie of the Sanctuarie, * and destroyed the stretes thereof according to the * prophecie of Ieremias.

7 For thei * intreated him euil, which neuertheless was a Prophete, * sanctified frō his mothers wombe, that he might roote out, and afflict, and destroye, and that he might also buyld vp, and plant.

8 * Ezechiel sawe the glorious visio, which was shewed him vpon the chariet of the Cherubims.

9 * For he made mencio of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, and directed the that went right,

10 * And let the bones of the twelue Prophetes flourish out of their place, and let their memorie be blessed: for they comforted Iacob, and deliuered them by assured hope.

11 * How shal we praise Zorobabel, which was as a ring on the right hand!

12 So was * Iesus also the sonne of Iosedec: these men in their time buylded the house, and set vp the Sanctuarie of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an euerlasting worship.

13 * And among the elect was Nehemias whose renoume is great, which set vp for vs the walles that were fallen, and set vp the gates and the barres, and laied the fundacions of our houses.

14 ¶ But vpon the earth was no man created like * Enoch: for he was takē vp from the earth.

15 Nether was there a like man vnto * Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, & the vpholder of his people, whose bones were kept.

16 * Sem and Seth were in great honour among men: and so was Adam about euerie liuing thing in the creacion.

CHAP. I.

Of Simon the sonne of Onias. 22 An exhortacion to praise the Lord. 27 The autor of this booke.

1 Simon * the sonne of Onias the hie Priest, which in his life set vp the house againe, and in his dayes established the Temple,

2 Vnder him was the fundacio of the double height laied, and the hie walles that compasseth the Temple.

3 In his daies the places, to receiue water that were decayed, were restored & the brasē was about in measure as the * sea.

4 He toke care for his people, that they shulde not fall, & fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honorable was his conuersation among the people, and when he came out of the house couered with the vaile!

6 He was as the morning starre in the middes of a cloude, and as the moone when it is ful,

7 And as the sunne shining vpon the Temple of the moste High, and as the raine-bowe that is bright in the faire cloudes,

8 And as the floure of the roses in y spring of the yere, and as lilies by the springs of waters, and as the branches of the frankē-cense tre in the time of somer,

9 As a fyre & incense in the censer, and as a vessel of masie golde, set with all manner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire oliue tre that is fruteful, and as a cypresse tre, which groweth vp to the cloudes.

11 When he put on the garment of honour and was clothed with all beautie, he went vp to the holy altar, and made the garmēt of holines honorable.

12 When he toke the porcions out of the Priests hands, he him self stode by the herth of the altar, compassed with his brethren rounde about, as the branches do the cedre tre in Libanus, & thei cōpassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glorie, and the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the cōgregacion of Israel.

- 14 And that he might accomplish his ministerie vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the moste High, and almightie,
- 15 He stretched out his hand to the drinke offering, and powred of the blood of the grape, and he powred at the fote of the altar a perfume of good sauour vnto the moste high King of all.
- 16 Then showed the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brasen trumpets, and made a great noyce to be heard, for a remembrance before the moste High.
- 17 Then all the people together hasted, & fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God almightie, and moste high.
- 18 The fingers also sang with their voyces, so that the sounde was great, and the melodie swete.
- 19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord moste high with prayer before him that is merciful, til the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.
- 20 Then went he downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole congregacion of the children of Israel, that they shulde giue praise with their lippes vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his Name.
- 21 He began againe to worship, y he might receiue the blessing of the moste High.

- 29 For if he do these things, he shal be strong in all things: for he setteth his steppes in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisdom to the godlie. The Lord be praised for euer more: so be it, so be it.

CHAP. LI.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

- 1 I Wil confesse thee, o Lord and King, and praise thee, o God, my Sauour: I giue thanks vnto thy Name.

- 2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my bodie from destruction, and from the snare of the scanderous tongue, and from the lippes that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,
- 3 And hast deliuered me according to the multitude of thy mercie, and for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were readie to deuoure me, and out of the hands of suche as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions, which I had;
- 4 And from the fyre that choked me rounde about, and from the middes of the fyre that I burned not,
- 5 And from the botome of the belie of hel, from an vncleane tongue, from lying wordes, from false accusation to the King, & from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.
- 6 [My soule shal praise the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drewe nere vnto death: my life was nere to the hel beneth.
- 7 They compassed me on euerie side, & there was no man to helpe me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.
- 8 Then thought I vpon thy mercie, o Lord, and vpon thine actes of olde, how thou deliuerest suche as waite for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the enemies.
- 9 Then lift I vp my prayer from the earth, and praied for deliuerance from death.
- 10 I called vpon the Lord the father of my Lord, that he wolde not leaue me in the daye of my trouble, and in the time of the proude without helpe.
- 11 I wil praise thy Name continually, and wil sing praise with thanksgiving: & my prayer was heard.
- 12 Thou saudest me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euil time: therefore wil I giue thanks and praise thee, & blesse the Name of the Lord.
- 13 When I was yet yong, or euer I wet abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my praier.
- 14 I praied for her before the Temple, and sought after her vnto farr countreis, and she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the floure.
- 15 Mine heart reioyced in her: my foote walked in the right way, & from my youth vp sought I after her.
- 16 I bowed somewhat downe mine eare, & receiued her, & gate me muche wisdom:
- 17 And I profired by her: therefore wil I ascribe the glorie vnto him, that giueth me wisdom.
- 18 For I am aduised to do thereafter: I wil be ielous of that that is good: so shal I not be confounded.
- 19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted vp mine

- mine hands on hye, and considered the ignorances thereof.
- 20 I directed my soule vnto her, and I founde her in purenes: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shal I not be forsaken.
- 21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.
- 22 The Lord hath giue me a tongue for my rewarde, wherewith I wil praise him.
- 23 Drawe nere vnto me, ye vnlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.
- 24 Wherefore are ye slowe? and what say you of these things, seing your soules are very thurstie?
- 25 I opened my mouth, and said, *Bye her for you without money.
- 26 Bowe downe your necke vnder the yoke, & your soule shal receiue instruction: she is ready that ye may finde her.
- 27 Beholde with your eyes, *how that I haue had but litle labour, & haue gotten vnto me muche rest.
- 28 Get learning with a great some of money: for by her ye shal possesse muche golde.
- 29 Let your soule reioyce in the mercie of the Lord, and be not ashamed of his praise.
- 30 Do your durtie betimes, and he wil giue you a rewarde at his time.

CHAP. I.

Baruch wrote a booke during the captiuitie of Babylon, which he read before Iechoniah and all the people. so the Iewes sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they shoulde pray for them.

- And these are the wordes of the booke, which Baruch the sonne of Nerias, the sonne of Maasias, the sonne of Sedecias, the sonne of Asaddias, the sonne of Helcias wrote in at Babylon,
- 1 In the fift yere, and in the seventh day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans toke Ierusalem, and burnt it with syre.
- 2 And Baruch did read the wordes of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Ioacim King of Iuda might heare, & all the people that were come to heare the booke,
- 3 And in the audience of the gouernour, & of the Kings sonnes, & before the Elders, & before the whole people, fro the lowest vnto the hiest, before all them that dwelt at Babylon by the riuer Sud.
- 4 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted and made prayers before the Lord.
- 5 They made a collection also of money, according to euerie mans power,
- 6 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Ioacim the sonne of Helcias the sonne of Salom Priest, and vnto the other Priests, and to all the people, which were with him at Ierusalem,
- 7 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring the againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the moneth Siuan, to wit, siluer vessels, which Sedecias the sonne of Iosias King of Iuda had made,
- 8 After that Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon had led away Iechonias from Ie-rusalem, and his princes, & his nobles, prisoners, and the people, and caryed them to Babylon.

- 10 And they said, Beholde, we haue sent you money, wherewith ye shal bye burnt offrings for sinne, and incense, and prepare a meat offering, & offre vpon the altar of the Lord our God,

- 11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their daies may be vpon earth, as the daies of heauen,

- 12 And that God wolde giue vs strength & lighten our eyes, that we may liue vnder the shadowe of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon, and vnder the shadowe of Baltasar his sonne, that we may long do the seruice, and finde fauour in their sight.

- 13 Pray for vs also vnto the Lord our God (for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the furie of the Lord and his wrath is not turned from vs)

- 14 And rede this booke (which we haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast daies, and at time conuenient.

- 15 Thus shal ye say, *To the Lord our God belongeth righteousness, but vnto vs confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

- 16 And to our Kings, and to our princes, & to our Priests, and to our Prophetes, and to our fathers,

- 17 Because we haue sinned before the Lord our God,

- 18 And haue not obeyed him, nether hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that he gaue vs openly.

- 19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bene disobedient vnto this day, 21 Neuertheles, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the wordes of the Prophetes, whome he sent vnto vs.

22 But euerie one of vs followed the wicked imaginacion of his owne heart, to serue strange gods; and to do euil in the sight of the Lord our God.

5 Thus they are brought beneth and not aboue, because we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

Chap. 1. 15.

6 *To the Lord our God apperteineth righteousness, but vnto vs & to our fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lord, that we might turne euerie one from the imaginacions of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the commandements of the Lord that he hath giuen vnto vs.

11 *And now, o Lord God of Israel, that Deu. 9. 17. hast brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mightie hand, and an hie arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy self a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned: we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thine ordinances.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a fewe left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our praier, o Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, and giue vs fauour in the sight of the, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, and that thy Name is called vpon Israel and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore loke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: encline thine eare, o Lord, and heare vs.

17 *Open thine eyes, and beholde: for the Deu. 28. 13. dead that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, *giue vnto the Isa. 63. 12. Lord, nether praise, nor righteousness. Psal. 6. 6.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the greatness of sinne, and he that goeth cokedly, Isa. 38. 18. and weake, and the eyes that faile, and the hungrie soule wil giue thee praise & righteousness, o Lord. Or, by the hand of thy seruants. Lere. 27. 7.

19 For we do not require mercie in thy sight, o Lord our God, for the righteousness of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignacion vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy seruants the Prophetes, saying,

21 *Thus saith the Lord, Bowe downe your sholders, and serue the King of Babylon: so shal ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your fathers.

22 But if ye wil not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I wil cause to cease in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I wil cause to cease the voyce of mirthe, and the voyce of ioye, & the voyce of the bridegrome, and the voyce of the bride, & the land shalbe desolate of inhabitants.

24 But we wolde no hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophetes: namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our fathers shulde be caryed out of their places.

25 And lo, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and to the colde of the night, and are dead in great miserie with famine, & with with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednes of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to equitie, and according to all thy great mercie.

28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day when thou didest comānd him to write thy Lawe before the childrē of Israel, saying, Leu. 26. 14.

Deut. 10. 17.

29 *If ye wil not obey my voyce, then shal this great swarme and multitude be turned into a verie fewe among the nacions where I wil scatter them.

30 For I knowe that they wil not heare me: for it is a stifnecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shal remember them selues, 31 And knowe that I am y Lord their God: then wil I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.

32 And they shal heare, and praise me in the land of their captiuitie, & thinke vpon my Name.

33 Then shal they turne them from their harde backs, and from their euil workes: for they shal remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

34 And I wil bring them againe into the land, which I promised with an othe vnto their fathers, Abraham, Isaac and Iacob, and they shal be lords of it: and I wil increase them, and they shal not be diminished.

35 And I wil make an euerlasting couenant with them, that I wil be their God, & they shal be my people: and I wil no more driue my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their praier begun for their deliuerance. 9 He praiseth wisdom vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Onely God was the finder of wisdom. 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

1 O Lord almightie, o God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, cryeth vnto thee.

2 Heare, o Lord, and haue mercie: for thou art merciful, and haue pitie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for euer, and we vtterly perish.

4 O Lord almightie, the God of Israel, heare now the praier of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednes of our fathers, but thinke vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, & thee, o Lord, wil we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that we shulde call vpon thy Name, and praise thee in our captiuitie: for we haue considered in our mindes all the wickednes of our fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Beholde, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproche, and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandements of life: hearken vnto them, that thou maiest learne wisdom.

10 What is the cause, o Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art waxen olde in a strange countrey?

11 And art defiled with the dead, and art counted with them, that go downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisdom.

13 For if thou hadest walked in the way of God, thou shuldest haue remained safe for euer.

14 Learne where is wisdom, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou maist knowe also from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes, and peace is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, & suche as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pastime with the foules of the heauen, that hoorded vp siluer, and golde, wherein men trust, & made none end of their gathering?

18 For they that coyned siluer, and were so careful of their worke, and whose inuention had none end, 19 Are come to naught, and gone downe to hel, and other men are come vp in their steades.

20 Whē thei were yong, they sawe y light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstode not the way of knowledge, 21 Nether perceiued the paths thereof, nether haue their children receiued it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bene heard of in the land of Chanaan, nether hath it bene sene in Theman,

23 Nor the Agarines that soght after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the marchants of Nerran, and of Theman, nor the expounders of fables, nor the searchers out of wisdom haue knownen the way of wis-dome, nether do they thinke vpon the pathes thereof.

24 O Israel, how great is the House of God! and how large is the place of his possession!

25 It is great, and hath none end: it is hie, and vnmeasurable.

26 There were the gyants, famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in warre.

27 Those did not the Lord chose, nether gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, and perished through their owne foolishnes.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe fro the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea, to finde her, and hath brought her, rather then fine golde?

31 No man knoweth her waies, nether considereth her paths.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and he hath founde her out with his vnderstanding: this same is he which hath prepared the earth for euermore, and hath filled it with foure footed beastes.

33 When he sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when he calleth it againe, it obeith him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When he calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cherefulness they shewe light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shal none other be compared vnto him.

36 He hath founde out all way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Iacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloued.

37 Afterwarde he was sene vpon cart h, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

The reward of them that kepe the Law, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people being in captiuitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem & vnder the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

1 THis is the boke of the comandements of God, and the Law that endureth for euer: all they that kepe it, shal come to life: but suche as forsake it, shal dye.

2 Turne thee, O Iacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightnes before the light thereof.

3 Giue not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable vnto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, we are blessed: for the things that are acceptable vnto God, are declared vnto vs.

5 Be of good comfort, O my people, which art the memorial of Israel.

6 Ye are solde to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye prouoked God to wrath, ye were deliuered vnto the enemies.

7 For ye haue displeased him that made you, offering vnto deuils and not to God.

8 Ye haue forgotten him that created you, euen the euerlasting God, & ye haue greiued Ierusalem, that nourished you.

9 When she sawe the wrath comming vpo you from God, she said, Hearken, ye that dwell about Sion: for God hath brought me into great heauines.

10 I se the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which O Euerlasting wil bring vpon them.

11 With ioye did I nourish the, but I must leaue them with weping and mourning.

12 Let no man reioyce ouer me a widdow, and forsaken of manie, which for the finnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They wolde not knowe his righteousness, nor walke in the wayes of his commandements: nether did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousness.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captiuitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the Euerlasting hath brought vpon them.

15 For he hath brought vpon them a nation from farre, an impudent nation, and of a strange language, 16 Which nether reuerence the aged, nor pitie the yong: these haue caried away the dere beloued of the widdowes, leauing me alone, and destitute of my daughters.

17 But what can I helpe you?

18 Surely he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, can deliuer you from the hands of your enemies.

19 Go your way, O children, go your way: for I am left desolate.

20 I haue put of the clothing of peace, and put vpon me the sackcloth of prayer, and so long as I liue, I wil call vpon the Euerlasting.

21 Be of good comfort, O children: crye vnto God, and he wil deliuer you from the power, and hand of the enemies.

22 For I haue hope of your saluatio through the Euerlasting, and ioye is come vpon me fro the Holy one, because of the mercie, which shal quickly come vnto you fro our euerlasting Sauour.

23 For I sent you away with weping, and mourning: but with ioye and perpetual gladnes wil God bring you againe vnto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captiuitie, so shal they also se shortly your saluatio from God, which shal come vnto you with great glorie, and brightnes from from the Euerlasting.

- 25 My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come vpon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread vpon his necke.
- 26 My darlings haue gone by rough wayes, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.
- 27 Be of good comfort, my children, and crye vnto God: for he that led you away, hath you in remembrance.
- 28 And as it came into your minde to go astray from your God, so endeouore your selues ten times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.
- 29 For he that hath brought these plagues vpon you, wil bring you euerlasting ioye againe, with your saluation.
- 30 Take a good heart, O Ierusalem: for he which gaue thee that name, wil comfort thee.
- 31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as reioyce at thy fall.
- 32 The cities are miserable whome thy children serue: miserable is she that hath taken thy sonnes.
- 33 For as she reioyced at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shal she be sorie for her owne desolation.
- 34 For I wil take away the reioycing of her great multitude, and her ioye shalbe turned into mourning.
- 35 For a fyre shal come vpon her from the Euerlasting, long to endure, & she shalbe inhabited of deuils for a great season.
- 36 O Ierusalem, loke towards the East, and beholde the ioye that cometh vnto thee from thy God.
- 37 Lo, thy sonnes (whome thou hast let go) come gathered together from the East vnto the West, reioycing in the worde of the Holy one vnto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

Ierusalem is moued vnto gladnes for the returne of her people, and vnder the figure thereof the Church.

- 1 PVt of thy mourning clothes, O Ierusalem and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worshippe and honour, that cometh vnto thee from God, for euer more.
- 2 Put on the garment of righteousness, that cometh from God, and set a crowne vpon thine head of the glorie of the Euerlasting.
- 3 For God wil declare thy brightness to euerie countrey vnder the heauen.
- 4 And God wil name thee by this name for euer, The Peace of righteousness, and the glorie of the worship of God.
- 5 Arise, O Ierusalem, & stand vpon hie, and loke about thee towards the East, and beholde thy children gathered from the East vnto the West by the worde of the Holie one, reioycing in the remembrance of God.

- 6 For they departed from thee on foote, and were led away of their enemies: but God wil bring thee againe vnto thee, exalted in glorie, as children of the kingdome.
- 7 For God hath determined to bring downe euerie high mountaine, and the long enduring rockes, and to fill the valleys, to make the grounde plaine, that Israel may walke safely vnto the honour of God.
- 8 The woods and all swete smelling trees shal ouershadowe Israel at the commandement of God.
- 9 For God shal bring Israel with ioye in the light of his maiestie, with the mercie and righteousness that cometh of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE PISTLE, that Ieremias sent vnto them that were led away captiues into Babylon by the King of the Babylonians, to certifie thee of the thing that was commanded him of God.

1 BEcause of the sinnes, that ye haue committed against God, ye shalbe led away captiues vnto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians.

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shal remaine there manie yeres, and a long season, euen seuen generacions, and after that wil I bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 Now shal ye see in Babylon gods of siluer, and of golde, and of wood, borne vpon mens shulders, to cause the people to feare.

4 *Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the strangers, nether be ye afraide of them, when ye see the multitude before thee and behinde them worshipping them,

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, we must worshipping thee.

6 For mine Angel shalbe with you, & shal care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they them selues are gilted, and laied ouer with siluer: yet are they but lyes, and can not speake.

8 And as they take golde for a maide that loueth to be deckt,

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: some times also the Priests them selues conuey away the golde, and siluer from their gods, and bestowe it vpon them selues.

10 Yea, they giue of the same vnto the harlots, that are in their houses: againe, they decke these gods of siluer, and gods of golde, and of wood with garments like men,

11 Yet can not they be preserued from rust and wormes,

Baruch.

- 12 Though they haue couered the with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, whereof there is much vpon them.
- 13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine iudge of the countrey: yet can he not slay such as offende him.
- 14 Another hathe a dagger or an axe in his right hand: yet is he not able to defende him self from battel, nor from theues: so then it is euident, that they be no gods.
- 15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessel that a man vseth, is nothing worthe when it is broken,
- 16 Suche are their gods: when they be set vp in their temples, their eyes be ful of dust by reason of the fete of those y come in:
- 17 And as the gates are shut in round about vpon him that hathe offended the King:
or as one that shulde be led to be put to death, so the Priests kepe their temples with doores, and with lockes, & with barres, lest their gods shulde be spoyled by robbers.
- 18 They light vp candels before them: yea, more the for them selues whereof they can not se one: for they are but as one of the postes of the temple.
- 19 They confesse, that euen their hearts are gnawen vpon: but when the things, that crepe out of the earth, eat them and their clothes, they feele it not.
- 20 Their faces are blacke thorow the smoke that is in the temple.
- 21 The owles, swallowes and birdes flie vpo their bodies, and vpon their heads, yea, & the cattes also.
- 22 By this ye may be sure, that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.
- 23 Notwithstanding the golde, that is about them to make them beautiful, except one wipe of the rust, they can not shine: nether when they were molten, did they fele it.
- 24 The things wherein is no breth, are bought for a moste high price.
- 25 *They are borne vpon mens sholders, because they haue no feete, whereby they declare vnto men, that they be nothing worthe: yea, & they that worship them, are ashamed.
- 26 For if they fall to the ground at anie time, they can not rise vp againe of them selues, nether if one set them vp right, can they moue of them selues, nether if they be bowd downe, can they make them selues streight: but they set giftes before them, as vnto dead men.
- 27 As for the things y are offred vnto them, their Priests sell them, and abuse them: likewise also the women lay vp of the same:
but vnto the poore and sicke they giue nothing.
- 28 Them enstruous women, and they that are in childebed, touche their sacrifices:
- by these things ye may knowe that they are no gods: feare them not.
- 29 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods? because the women bring giftes to the gods of siluer, and golde, and wood.
- 30 And the Priests sit in their temples, hauing their clothes rent, whose heades and beardes are shauen, & being bare headed,
- 31 Thei roare, & crye before their gods, as men do at the feast of one that is dead.
- 32 The Priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wiues and childre.
- 33 Whether it be euil that one dorth vnto the, or good, they are not able to recompense it: they can nether set vp a King nor put him downe.
- 34 In like maner they can nether giue riches, nor money: though a man make a vowe vnto them and kepe it not, they wil no require it.
- 35 They can saue no man from death, nether deliuer the weake from the mightie.
- 36 They can not restore a blinde man to his sight, nor helpe anie man at his nede.
- 37 They can shewe no mercie to the wid-dowe, nor do good to the fatherles.
- 38 Their gods of wood, golde and siluer, are as stones, that be hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shalbe confounded.
- 39 How shulde a man the thinke or say that they are gods?
- 40 Morcouer the Chaldeas them selues dishonor them: for when thei se a dome man, that can not speake, thei present him to Bel,
- 41 And desire that he wolde make him to speake, as though he had anie felig: yet thei that vnderstand these things, can not leaue them: for they also haue no sense.
- 42 Furthermore the women, girded with coards, sit in the stretes, and burne strawe.
- 43 And if one of them be drawen away, and lie with anie such as come by, she casteth her neighbour in the teeth, because shewas not so worthely reputed, nor her coard broken.
- 44 Whatsoeuer is done amog them, is lies:
how may it then be thought or said, that they are gods?
- 45 Carpenters and golde smithes make the,
nether be they anie other thing, but euen what the workeman wil make them.
- 46 Yea, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how shulde then the things that are made of them, be gods?
- 47 Therefore they leaue lies, and shame for their posteritie.
- 48 For when there cometh anie warre or plague vpo the, the Priests imagine with them selues, where they may hide the sel-ues with them.
- 49 How then can men not perceiue, that they

- they be no gods, which can nether defend them selues from warre, nor from plagues?
- 50 For *seing they be but of wood, and of siluer, and of golde, men shal knowe hereafter that they are but lies, and it shalbe manifest to all nacions & Kings, that they be no gods, but the workes of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in the.
- 51 Whereby it maye be knowen, that they are no gods.
- 52 They can set vp no King in the lād, nor giue raine vnto men.
- 53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, nether preserue from iniurie: they haue no power, but are as crows betwene the heauen and the earth.
- 54 When there falleth a fyre vpo the house of those gods of wood, and of siluer, & of golde, the Priests wil escape & saue the selues, but thei burne as y balkes therein.
- 55 Thei can not withstand anie King or enemies: how can it then be thought or said that they be gods?
- 56 Moreouer these gods of wood, of golde, and of siluer can nether defend them selues from theues nor robbers.
- 57 For they that are strongest, take away their golde and siluer, and apparel, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe them selues.
- 58 Therefore it is better to be a King, & so to shewe his power, or els a profitable vessel in an house, whereby he that oweth it, might haue profite, then suche false gods: or to be a dore in an house, to kepe suche things safe as be therein, then suche false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then suche false gods.
- 59 For the sunne, and the moone, and the starres that shine, when thei are sent downe for necessarie vses, obey.
- 60 Likewise also the lightning when it shineth, it is euident: and the winde bloweth in enerie countrey.
- 61 And when God comandeth the cloudes to go about the whole worlde, they do as thei are bidden.
- 62 Whē the fyre is sent downe from aboue to destroye hilles and woods, it doeth that which is commanded: but these are not like anie of these things, nether in forme, nor power.
- 63 Wherefore men shulde not thinke, nor say that they be gods, seing thei can nether giue sentence in iudgement, nor do men good.
- 64 For so muche now as ye are sure, that they be no gods, feare them not.
- 65 For they can nether curse, nor blesse Kings:
- 66 Nether can thei shewe signes in the heauen among the heathē, nether shine as the moone.
- 67 The beastes are better the they: for thei can get them vnder a couert, and do them selues good.
- 68 So ye may be certified that by no maner of meanes, they are gods: therefore feare them not.
- 69 For as a skarcrowe in a garden of cucumbers kepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood, and of siluer, and of golde:
- 70 And likewise their gods of wood, and golde and siluer are like to a white thorne in an orcharde, that euerie birde sitteth vpon, and as a dead bodie that is cast in the darke.
- 71 By the purple also and brightnes, which fadeth vpon them, ye may vnderstand, that they be no gods: yea, they them selues shal be consumed at the last, and they shalbe a shame to the countrey.
- 72 Better therefore is the iuste man, that hath none idoles: for he shalbe farre fro reprove.

THE SONG OF THE

thre holie children, which followeth in the third chapter of Daniel after this place, Thei fell downe bound into the middes of the hote fyrie fornace.

CHAP. I.

25 The prayer of Azarias. 26 The crueltie of the King. 43 The flame deuoureth the Chaldeans. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the fornace. 51 The thre children praise the Lord and prouoke all creatures to the same.

24 And they walked in the middes of the flame, praising God, & magnified the Lord.

25 Then Azarias stode vp, and praied on this maner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fyre, said,

26 Blessed be thou, o Lord God of our fathers: thy Name is worthie to be praised and honored for euermore.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou hast done vnto vs, and all thy workes are true, and thy waies are right, & all thy iudgements certeine.

28 In all the things that thou hast broght vpon vs, & vpon Ierusalem, the holie citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true

The song of the thre children.

- iudgements: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these things vpon vs, because of our sinnes.
- 29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespassed,
- 30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, nether done as thou hadest commanded vs, that we might prosper.
- 31 Wherefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vs, & in euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:
- 32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, & moste hateful traitors, and to an vnrighteous King, and the moste wicked in all the worlde.
- 33 And now we may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame and reprove vnto thy seruants, and to them that worshippe thee.
- 34 Yet for thy Names sake, we beseeche thee, giue vs not vp for euer, nether breake thy couenant,
- 35 Nether take away thy mercie from vs, for thy beloued Abrahams sake, and for thy seruant Isaaks sake, & for thine holy Israels sake,
- 36 To whome thou hast spoken and promised, that thou woldest multiplie their sede as the starres of heauen, and as the sand, that is vpon the seashore.
- 37 For we, o Lord, are become lesse then a nation, and be kept vnder this daye in all the worlde, because of our sinnes:
- 38 So that now we haue nether prince, nor Prophet, nor gouernour, nor burnt offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer y first frutes before thee, that we might finde mercie.
- 39 Neuertheles in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit, let vs be receiued.
- 40 As in the burnt offering of rams and bullockes, & as in ten thousand of fat lambs, so let our offering be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto thee that put their trust in thee.
- 41 And now we followe thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.
- 42 Put vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy louing kindenes, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.
- 43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, & giue thy Name the glorie, o Lord,
- 44 That all they which do thy seruants euil, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,
- 45 That they maye knowe, that thou onely art the Lord God, and glorious ouer the whole worlde.
- 46 ¶ Now the Kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the open hore
- with naphtha, and with pitche, and with towes, and with fagotes,
- 47 So that the flame went out of the furnace fortie and nine cubites.
- 48 And it brake forth, & burnt those Chaldeans, that it founde by the furnace.
- 49 But the Angel of the Lord went downe into the furnace with the three that were with Azarias, and smote the flame of the fyre out of the furnace,
- 50 And made in the middes of the furnace like a moyste hissing winde, so that the fyre toucht the three not at all, nether grieved, nor troubled them.
- 51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the furnace, saying,
- 52 Blessed be thou, o Lord God of our fathers, and praised, and exalted aboute all things for euer, & blessed be thy glorious & holie Name, & praised aboute all things, and magnified for euer.
- 53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glorie, and praised aboute all things, and exalted for euer.
- 54 Blessed be thou that beholdest y depths, & sittest vpon the Cherubims, & praised aboute all things, and exalted for euer.
- 55 Blessed be thou in the glorious Throne of thy kingdome, and praised aboute all things, and exalted for euer.
- 56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised aboute all things, & glorified for euer.
- 57 All ye workes of the Lord, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalte him aboute all things for euer.
- 58 O heauens, blesse ye the Lord: praise him, and exalte him aboute all things for euer. Psalm 148.

THE HISTORIE OF "Sufanna, which some ioyne to the end of Daniel, and make it the 13.chap.

1 The two gouerners are taken with the loue of Sufanna. 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They sollicite her to wickednes. 23 She choseth rather to obey God, though it be to the danger of her life. 34 She is accused. 45 Daniel doeth deliuer her. 63 The gouerners are put to death.

THERE dwelt a mā in Babylon called Ioacim, And he toke a wife, whose name was Sufanna, the daughter of Helcias, a verie faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother also were godlie people, & taught their daughter according to the Law of Moses.

4 Now Ioacim was a great riche man, and had a faire garden ioyning vnto his house, and to him resorted the Iewes, because he was more honorable then all others.

5 The same yere were appointed two of the anciets of the people to be iudges, suche as the Lord speaketh of, that the iniquitie came from Babylon, & fro the anciēt iudges, which semed to rule y people.

6 These hanted Ioacims house, & all suche as had anie thing to do in the Law, came thither vnto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Sufanna went into her housbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders sawe her that she wēt in daily and walked, so that their lust was inflamed towarde her.

9 Therefore thei turned away their mīde, & cast downe their eyes, y thei shulde not se heauen, nor remēbre iuste iudgements.

Sufanna.

- 10 And albeit thei bothe were wouided with her loue, yet durst not one shewe another his grief.
- 11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to do wth her.
- 12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to se her.
- 13 And the one said to the other, Let vs go now home, for it is diner time.
- 14 So they went their way, and departed, one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, thei acknowledged their lust: the appointed they a time bothe together whe they might finde her alone.
- 15 Now when they had spied out a conuenient time, that she went in, as her maner was, with two maides onely, and thoght to wash her self in the garden (for it was an hote season)
- 16 And there was no bodie there, saue the two Elders that had hid them selues, and watched for her:
- 17 She said to her maides, Bring me oyle & sope, and shut the garden dores, that I may wash me.
- 18 And they did as she bade them, and shut the garden dores, and went out them selues at a backe dore, to fet the thing that she had commanded them: but they sawe not the Elders, because they were hid.
- 19 Now whe the maides were gone forth, the two Elders rose vp & ranne vnto her, saying,
- 20 Beholde, the garden dores are shut, that no man can se vs, & we burne in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lye with vs.
- 21 If thou wilt not, we wil beare witnes against thee, that a yong ma<sup>de</sup> was with thee, and therefore thou didest send away thy maides from thee.
- 22 Then Sufanna fighed, and said, I am in trouble on euerie side: for if I do this thig, it is death vnto me: & if I do it not, I can not escape your hands.
- 23 It is better for me to fall into your h<sup>ands</sup>, and not do it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.
- 24 With that Sufanna cryed with a loude voyce, and the two Elders cryed out against her.
- 25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden dore.
- 26 ¶ So whe the seruants of the house heard the crye in the garden, they rushed in at y<sup>e</sup> backe dore, to se what was done vnto her.
- 27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer suche a reporte made of Sufanna.
- 28 On the morow after, came the people to Ioacim her housband, & the two Elders came also, ful of mischicuous imaginac<sup>ion</sup> against Sufanna, to put her to death,
- 29 And said before the people, Send for Sufanna the daughter of Helcias Ioacims wife. And immediatly they sent.
- 30 So she came with her father & mother, her children and all her kinred.
- 31 Now Sufanna was very tender, and faire of face.
- 32 And these wicked me<sup>n</sup> comanded to vncover her face (for she was couered) that thei might so be satisfied with her beautie.
- 33 Therefore they that were about her, and all they that knewe her, wept.
- 34 The two Elders stode vp in the middes of the people, and layed their hands vpon her head,
- 35 Which wept and loked vp towarde heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.
- 36 And the Elders said, As we walked in the garden alone, she came in with two maides, whome she sent away from her, and shut the garden dores.
- 37 Then a yong man, which there was hid, came vnto her, and lay with her.
- 38 Then we which stode in a corner of the garden, seing this wickednes, rane vnto the, and we sawe them as they were together,
- 39 But we colde not holde him: for he was stronger then we, and opened the dore, and leaped out.
- 40 Now when we had taken this woman, we asked her what yong man this was, but she wolde not tel vs: of these things are we witnesses.
- 41 Then the assemblie beleued them, as those that were the Elders and iudges of the people: so thei cond<sup>emned</sup> her to death.
- 42 Then Sufanna cryed out with a loude voyce, and said, O euerlasting God, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afore they come to passe,
- 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witnes against me, and beholde, I must dye, where as I neuer did suche thigs as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.
- 44 And the Lord heard her voyce.
- 45 ¶ Therefore when she was led to be put to death, the Lord raised vp y<sup>e</sup> holie spirit of a yong childe, whose name was Daniel.
- 46 Who cryed with a loude voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.
- 47 The all the people turned them toward him, and said, What meane these wordes, that thou hast spoken?
- 48 The Daniel stode in the middes of the, and said, Are ye suche fooles, o Israelites, that without examination, or knowledge of the trueth, ye haue condemned a daughter of Israel?
- 49 Returne againe to iudgement: for they haue haue borne false witnes against her.

52 Wherefore the people turned againe in all haste, & the Elders said vnto him, Come, sit downe among vs, & shew it vs, seing God hath giuen thee y<sup>e</sup> office of an Elder.

53 Then said Daniel vnto them, Put these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

54 So when they were put a fonder, one frō another, he called one of them & said vnto him, O thou that art olde in a wicked life, now thy sinnes which thou hast committed afore time, are come to light.

55 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guiltie go free, albeit the Lord saith, * The innocent and righteous shalt thou not slay.

56 Now then, if thou hast sene her, tel me, vnder what tre sawest thou them companying together? Who answered, Vnder a lentiske tre.

57 The said Daniel, Verely thou hast lyed against thine owne head: for lo, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

58 So put he him aside, & commanded to bring the other, & said vnto him, O thou sene of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beautie hath disceiued thee, and lust hath subuerted thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare cōpanied with you: but the daughter of Iuda wolde not abide your wickednes.

58 Now therefore tel me vnder what tre didst thou take them cōpanying together? Who answered, Vnder a "prime tree."

\ Or, mistle tree.*

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verely thou hast also lyed against thine head: for the Angel of God waiteth with the sworde to cut thee in two, & so to destroe you bothe.

60 ¶ With that all y<sup>e</sup> whole assemblie cryed with a loude voyce, and praised God, which saueth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, (for Daniel had conuict them of false witnes by their owne mouth)

62 * And according to the Law of Moyses Deu 19.19. prou. 19.5. they delt with them, as they delt wickedly against their neighbour, and put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saved the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias, and his wife praised God for their daughter Susanna, with Iocim her housband, and all the kinred, that there was no dishonestie foude in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputacion in the sight of the people.

65 And King Astyages was laide with his fathers, and Cyrus of Persia reigned in his steade.

THE HISTORIE OF Bel and of the dragon, which is the fourteenth chapter of Daniel after the Laten.

Now when King Astyages was laide with his fathers, Cyrus y<sup>e</sup> Persian receiued his kingdome. And Daniel did eat at the Kings table, & was honored aboue all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an idole, called Bel, and there were spent vpon him euerie day, twelue a great measures of fine floure, and fortie shepe, and six great potes of wine.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King said vnto him, Why doest not thou worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and said, Because I may not worship idoles made with hands, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen & the earth, and hath power vpo all flesh.

6 Then said the King vnto him, Thinkest thou not that Bel is a liuīg God? seest thou not how much he eateth and drinketh euerie day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O King, be not deceiued: for this is but claye within, and brasse without, and did neuer eat any thing.

8 So the King was wroth, and called for his Priests, and said vnto them, If ye tell me not, who this is that eateth vp these expenses, ye shal dye:

9 But if ye can certifie me that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shal dye: for he hath spokē blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the King, Let it be according to thy worde.

10 (Now the Priests of Bel were thre score and ten beside their wiues and childrē:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels Priests said, Beholde, we wil go out, and set thou the meat there, o King, & let the wine be filled: then shut the dore

- fast, and seale it with thine owne signet.
- 12 And to morowe when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we wil suffer death, or els Daniel that hath lyed vpon vs.
- 13 Now thei thought the selues sure ynough: for vnder the table thei had made a priuie entrance, and there went they in euer, and toke away the things.
- 14 So whē they were gone forth, the King set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his seruants to bring ashes, and these they strowed thorowout all the temple, in the presence of the King alone: then went they out, and shut the dore, & sealed it with the Kings signet, and so departed.
- 15 Now in the night came the Priests, with their wiues and children, (as they were wont to do) and did eat and drinke vp all.
- 16 In the morning betimes, the King arose and Daniel with him.
- 17 And the King said, Daniel, are the seales whole? Who answered, Yea, o King, thei be whole.
- 18 And as sone as he had opened the dore, the King looked vpon the table, and cryed with a loude voyce, Great art thou, o Bel, and with thee is no disceite.
- 19 Then laughed Daniel, and helde the King that he shulde not go in, & said, Beholde now the pauement, and marke wel whose footesteppes are these.
- 20 And the King said, I se the footesteppes of men, women, and children: therefore the King was angrie,
- 21 And toke the Priests, with their wiues, and children, and they shewed him the priuie dores, where they came in, and consumed suche things as were vpon the table.
- 22 Therefore the King slewe them, and deliuered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him and his temple.
- 23 ¶ Moreouer in that same place there was a great dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.
- 24 And the King said vnto Daniel, Sayest thou, that this is of brasfe also? lo, he liueth and eateth and drinketh, so that thou canst not say, that he is no liuing god: therefore worshippe him.
- 25 Then said Daniel vnto the King, I wil worshippe the Lord my God: for he is the liuing God.
- 26 But giue me leaue, o King, and I wil slay this dragon without sworde or staffe. And the King said, I giue thee leaue.
- 27 Then Daniel toke pitche, and farte, & heere, and did seeth them together, & made lompes thereof; this he put in the dragons mouthe, and so the dragon burst in sunder. And Daniel said, Beholde, whome ye worshippe.
- 28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderful wroth, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The King is become a Iewe: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the dragon, and put the Priests to death.
- 29 So they came to the King, and said, Deliuer vs Daniel, or els we wil destroy thee and thine house.
- 30 Now whē the King sawe, that thei pressed sore vpon him, and that necessitie constrained him, he deliuered Daniel vnto them:
- 31 Who cast him into the lions denne, where he was six daies.
- 32 In the denne there were seuen lions, and they had giue them euerie day two bodies and two shepe, which then were not giuen them, to the intent that they might deuour Daniel.
- 33 ¶ Now there was in Iewrie a Prophet called Abbacuc, which had made potage, and broken bread into a bowle, and was going into the field for to bring it to the reapers.
- 34 But y Angel of the Lord said vnto Abbacuc, Go, carye the meat y thou hast, into Babylon vnto Daniel, which is in the lions denne.
- 35 And Abbacuc said, Lord, I neuer sawe Babilon, nether do I knowe where the denne is.
- 36 Then the Angel toke him by the crowne of the head, and bare him by the heere of the head, and through a mightie winde set him in Babylon vpon the denne.
- 37 And Abbacuc cryed, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.
- 38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought vpon me, and thou neuer failest the that seke thee and loue thee.
- 39 So Daniel arose, and did eat, and the Angel of the Lord set Abbacuc in his owne place againe immediatly.
- 40 Vpon the seuenth day, the King went to bewaile Daniel: and when he came to the denne, he looked in, and beholde, Daniel sat in the middes of the lions.
- 41 Then cryed the King with a loude voyce, saying, Great art thou, o Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.
- 42 And he drew him out of the denne, and cast the that were the cause of his destruction into the denne, & they were deuoured in a momente before his face.

THE FIRST BOKE OF the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

1 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia. 11 Antiochus taketh the kingdome. 12 Many of the children of Israel make couenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem vnto his dominion. 30 Antiochus setteth vp idoles.

After that Alexander the Macedonian, y<sup>e</sup> sonne of Philippe, went forth of the land of Chettiim, & slewe Darius King of the Persiās and Medes, and reigned for him, as he had before in Grecia,

2 He toke great warres in hand, and wan strong holdes, and slewe the Kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow to y<sup>e</sup> ends of the worlde, and toke spoiles of many nations, in so much that y<sup>e</sup> worlde stode in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed vp and was hawtie.

4 Now when he had gathered a mightie strong hoste,

5 And had reigned ouer regions, nations and kingdomes, they became tributaries vnto him.

6 After these things he fel sicke, and knewe that he shulde dye.

7 Then he called for the chief of his seruātes, which had bene broght vp with him of children, and parted his kingdome among them, while he was yet aliue.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeres when he dyed.

9 And his seruants reigned euerie one in his roume.

10 And they all caused the selues to be crowned after his death, and so did their children after the many yeres, and much wickednes increased in the worlde.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, euen Antiochus Epiphanes the sonne of King Antiochus, which had bene an hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundredth and seuen and thirtieth yere of the kingdome of the Grekes.

12 In those daies wēt there out of Israel wicked men, which entyced many, saying, Let vs go, and make a couenant with the heathen, that are rounde about vs: for since we departed frō them, we haue had much sorowe.

13 So this deuice pleased them wel.

14 And certeine of the people were readie, & went to y<sup>e</sup> King which gaue the licence to do after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 The set thei vp a place of exercise at Ierusalē, according to the faciōs of y<sup>e</sup> heathē,

16 And made them a selues vncircūcised, & forsoke the holy couenant, & ioyned them selues to the heathen, and were solde to do mischief.

17 So whē Antiochus kingdome was set in order, he wēt about to reigne ouer Egypt, that he might haue the dominion of two realmes.

18 Therefore he entred into Egypt with a mightie cōpanie, with charrets, & elephants, & with horsēmē, & with a great nauie, 19 And moued warre against Ptolemeus King of Egypt: but Ptolemeus was afraid of him, and fled, and manie were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wanne many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and toke away the spoiles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundredth, fortie and thre yere, 22 And went vp towarde Israel and Ierusalē with a mightie people.

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuarie, and toke away the golden altar, and the candlestick for the light, & all the instruments thereof, & the table of y<sup>e</sup> shewbread, and the powring vessels, and the bowles, & the golden basins, and the vaile, and the crownes, & the golden apparel, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pecies.

24 He toke also the siluer and golde, & the precious iewels, & he toke the secret treasures that he founde, & when he had taken away all, he departed into his owne land, 25 After he had murdered many men, and spoken verie proudly.

26 Therefore there was a great lamentacion in euerie place of Israel.

27 For the princes & the Elders mourned: the yong women, and the yong men were made feble, & the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euerie bridegrome toke him to mourning, and she that sate in the mariage chamber, was in heauines.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Iacob was couered with confusion.

30 After two yeres the King sent his chief taxe master into y<sup>e</sup> cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude.

31 Who spake peaceable wordes vnto them in disceite, & they gaue credit vnto him.

32 Then he fell suddenly vpon the citie, & smote it with a great plague, & destroyed much people of Israel.

I. Maccabees.

33 And when he had spoiled the citie, he set fyre on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euerie side.
 34 The womē and their children toke they captiue, and led away the cattel.
 35 Then fortified they the citie of Dauid with a great & thicke wall, & with mightie towres, and made it a strong holde for them.
 36 Moreouer they set wicked people there, and vngodlie persones, and fortified them selues therein.
 37 And they stored it with weapons and vi-taites, and gathered the spoile of Ierusalē, and laied it vp there.
 38 Thus became they a fore snare & were in ambushment for y<sup>e</sup> Sanctuarie, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.
 39 For thei shed innocēt blood on euerie side of the Sanctuarie & defiled the Sāctuarie, 40 In so muche that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strāgers, being desolate of them whome she had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.
 41 Her Sāctuarie was left waste as a wildernes: her holie daies were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproche, and her honour broght to naught.
 42 As her glorie had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorowe.
 43 Also the King wrote vnto all his kingdome, that all the people shulde be as one,
 and that euerie mā shulde leaue his lawes.
 44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the King.
 45 Yea, many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto idoles, & defiling the Sabbath.
 46 So the King sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they shulde followe the strange lawes of the countrey, 47 And that they shulde forbid the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the<sup>o</sup> offerings in the Sanctuarie, 48 And that they shulde defile the Sabbaths and the feasts,
 49 And pollute the Sanctuarie and the ho-liemen,
 50 And to set vp altars, & groues, & chap-pels of idoles, & offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts,
 51 And that they shulde leaue their childrē vncircumcised, & defile their soules with vncleannes, and pollute them selues, that they might forget the Law, & change all the ordinances,
 52 And that whosoever wolde not do according to the commandement of the King, shulde suffer death.
 53 In like maner wrote he thorow out all his kingdomes, and set ouerseers ouer all the people, for to compell them to do these things.

 34 And he commanded the cities of Iuda to do sacrifice, citie by citie.
 35 Then went many of the people vnto the by heapes, euery one that forsoke y<sup>e</sup> Law, and so they committed euil in the land.
 36 And they droue the Israelites into secret places, euen wheresoeuer they colde flee for succour.
 37 The fiftenth day of Casleu, in the hun-dreth and fise and fortieth yere, they set vp the abomination of desolacion vpon the altar, & thei buylded altars thorow out the cities of Iuda on euerie side.
 38 And before the dores of the houses, and in the stretes they burnt incense.
 39 And the bokes of the Law, which they founde, they burnt in the fyre, and cutte in pieces.
 40 Whosoever had a boke of the Testament founde by him, or whosoever consented vnto the Law, the Kings commandement was, that they shulde put him to death by their autoritie, 41 And they executed these things euerie moneth vpon the people of Israel that were founde in the cities.
 42 And in the fise and twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice vpon the altar, which was in the stead of the altar of sacrifices.
 43 And according to the commandement, they put certeine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised, 44 And they hāged vp the children at their neckes, and they spoiled their houses, and fiewe the circumcisers of them.
 45 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in them selues, that they wolde not eat vncleane
 things,
 46 But chose rather to suffer death, then to be defiled with those meats: so because thei wolde not breake the holie couenant, they were put to death.
 47 And this<sup>o</sup> tyrannie was verie fore vpon<sup>o</sup> the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruccion of the holy citie. 19 They refuse to do sacrifice vnto idoles. 24 The zeale of Mattathias for the Law of God. 33 They are slaine and wil not fight againe because of the Sabbath day. 49 Mattathias dying commandeth his sonnes to fiske by the words of God, after the example of the fathers.

IN those dayes stode vp Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Ioannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Ioarib of Ierusalem, and dwelt in Modin.
 2 And he had fise sonnes, Ioanan called Gaddis,

3 Simon called Thassi,
4 Iudas which was called Maccabeus, 5 Eleazar called Abaron, & Ionathā, whose name was Apphus.
6 Now he sawe the blasphemies, which were committed in Iuda and Ierusalem:
7 And he said, Wo is me: wherefore was I borne, to se this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy citie, and thus to sit still it is deliuered into the hands of the enemies, 8 And the Sanctuarie is in the hands of strangers: her Temple is, as a man that hathe no renoume.
9 Her glorious vessels are caryed away into captiuitie: her infants are slayne in the stretes, and her yong men are fallen by the sworde of the enemies.
10 What people is it, that hathe not some possession in her kingdome, or hathe not gotten of her spoyle?
11 All her glorie is taken away: of a fre woman, she is become an handmaid.
12 Beholde, our Sanctuarie & our beautie, and honor is desolate, and the Gentiles
haue defiled it.
13 What helpeth it vs then to liue anie longer?
14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth vpon them, and mourned verie sore.
15 ¶ Then came men from the King to the citie of Modin to compell them to forsake
God, and to sacrifice.
16 So manie of the Israelites consented vnto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.
17 Then spake the commissioners of the King, and said vnto Mattathias, Thou art the chief and an honorable man, & great in this citie, and hast many children and brethren.
18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfil the Kings commandement, as all the heathen haue done, and also the men of Iuda, and suche as remaine at Ierusalem: so shalt thou and thy familie be in the Kings fauour & thou and thy children shalbe enriched with siluer & golde, & w manie rewards.
19 Then Mattathias answered & said with a loude voyce, Thogh all nacions that are vnder the Kings dominion, obey him, and fall away euerie man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandements,
20 Yet wil I and my sonnes, and my brethren, walke in y couenant of our fathers.
21 God be merciful vnto vs, that we forsake not the Law and the ordinances.
22 We wil not hearken vnto the Kings wordes to transgresse our religion, nether on the right side, nor on the left.
23 And when he had left of speaking these wordes, there came one of the Iewes, in the sight of all to sacrifice vpon the altar which was at Modin, according to the Kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias sawe it, he was so inflamed with zeale, that his raines shoke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the Law: therefore he ran vnto him, and killed him by the altar:
25 And at the same time he slewe y Kings commissioner, that compelled him to do sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.
26 Thus bare he a zeale to y Law of God, * doing, as Phinees did vnto Zambri the Nomb. 25.7.
sonne of Salom.
27 ¶ Then cryed Mattathias with a loude voyce in the citie, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the Law, and wil stand by the couenant, let him come forthe after me.
28 So he, and his sonnes fled into the moun-taines, & left all that thei had in the citie.
29 Then manie that sought after iustice & iudgement, for, that liued justly and rightly.
30 Went downe into y wildernes to dwell there, bothe they, and their children, and their wiues, and their cattel: for the afflictions increased fore vpon them.
31 ¶ Now whe it was tolde vnto the Kings seruants, and to the garisons, which were in Ierusalem in the citie of Dauid, that men had broken the Kings commandement, & were gone downe into the secret places in the wildernes, 32 Then many pursued after them: and hauing ouertaken them, thei camped against them, and set the battel in array against them on the Sabbath day, 33 And said vnto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forthe & do according to the commandement of the King, and ye shal
liue.
34 But they answered, We wil not go for-the, nether wil we do the Kings commandement, to defile the Sabbath day.
35 Then they gaue them the battel.
36 But the other answered them nothing, nether cast anie one stone at the, nor stopped the priue places, 37 But said, We wil dye all in our innocencie: the heaven and earth shal testifie for vs, that ye destroy vs wrongfully.
38 Thus thei gaue them the battel vpon the Sabbath, and slewe bothe men and cattel, their wiues and their children to the nomber of a thousand people.
39 ¶ When Mattathias & his friends vnder-stode this, thei mourned for them greatly, 40 And said one to another, If we all do as our brethren haue done, and fight not against the heathen for our liues, & for our Lawes, then shal thei incōtinently destroy vs out of the earth.
41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, sayig, Whosoever shal come to make battel with vs vpon the Sabbath daye, we wil fight against him, that we dye not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came vnto them the assemblie of the Asideans, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all suche as were wel minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, ioyned them selues vnto them, and were an helpe vnto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, & the vngodlie in their angre: but the rest fled vnto the heathen, and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about, and destroyed the altars,

46 And circumcised the children by force that were vncircumcised, as manie as they founde within the coasts of Israel, 47 And they pursued after the proude me: and this acte prospered in their hands.

48 So they recouered the Law out of the hand of the Gentiles, & out of the hand of Kings, and gaue not place to y wicked.

49 Now when the time drewe nere, that Mattathias shulde dye, he said vnto his sonnes, Now is pride and persecution increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be ye zealous of the Law, & giue your liues for the couenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shal ye receiue great honour and an euermore name.

52 * Was not Abraham founde faithful in tentacion, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousness?

Gen. 41, 40.

53 * Ioseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandement, & was made the lord of Egypt.

*Nomb. 25, 13
eccles. 45, 28.*

54 * Phinees our father, because he was zealous and feruent, obtained the couenant of the euermore priefthode.

55 * Iesus for fulfilling the worde, was made the gouernour of Israel.

*Nomb. 14, 6.
Iosh. 14, 13.*

56 * Caleb, because he bare witnes before the congregacion, receiued the heritage of the land.

2 Sam. 2, 4.

57 * Dauid, because of his mercie obtained the throne of y kingdome for euermore.

1 King. 2, 11.

58 * Elias, because he was zealous and feruēt in y Law, was taken vp euen vnto heauen.

Dan. 3, 16.

59 * Ananias, Azarias and Misael by their faith were deliuered out of the flame.

Dan. 6, 22.

60 * Daniel, because of his innocencie, was deliuered from the mouth of the lions.

61 And thus ye may consider thorowe out all ages, that whosoever put their trust in him, shal not want strength.

62 Feare not ye then the wordes of a sinful ma: for his glorie is but dongue and wormes.

63 To day is he set vp, & to morowe he shal not be foude: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perisheth.

64 Wherefore, my sonnes, take good hearts, and shewe your selues men for the Law: for by it shal you obtaine glorie.

65 And beholde, I knowe that your brother Simon is a man of counsel: giue care vnto him alway: he shalbe a father vnto you.

66 And Iudas Maccabeus hath bene mightie and strong, euen from his youth vp: let him be your captaine and fight you the battel for the people.

67 Thus shal ye bring vnto you all those that obserue the Law, & shal aduenge the iniuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, and giue your selues to the commandement of the Law.

69 So he blessed them, and was laied with his fathers,

70 And dyed in the hundreth, fortie & six yere, and his sonnes buryed him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, & all Israel made great lamentacion for him.

CHAP. III.

1 Iudas is made ruler ouer the Iewes. 11 He killeth Apollonius & Saron the princes of Syria. 44 The confidence of Iudas towards God. 55 Iudas determineth to fight against Lyfias, whome Antiochus had made captaine ouer his hoste.

THEN Iudas his sonne, called Maccabeus, rose vp in his place.

2 And all his brethren helped him, and all they that helde with his father, and fought with courage the battel of Israel.

3 So he gave his people great honour: he put on a brestplate as a gyant, and armed himself, and set the battel in array, and defended the campe with the sworde.

4 In his actes he was like a lyon, and as a lyons whelp roaring after the pray.

5 For he pursued the wicked, & fought them out, & burnt vp those that vexed his people,

6 So that the wicked fled for feare of him, and all the workers of iniquitie were put to trouble: and saluacion prospered in his hand.

7 And he grieved diuers Kings, but Iacob reioyced by his actes, and his memorial is blessed for ever.

8 He went also thorowe the cities of Iuda, and destroyed the wicked out of them, and turned away the wrath from Israel.

9 So was he renowned vnto the ends of the earth, and he assembled together those that were readie to perish.

10 ¶ But Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great hoste out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

\ Who was gouernour of Syria. Ioseph Antiq. 12. chap. 9.*

¶ Which

- 11 Which when Iudas perceiued, he went forth to mete him, and smote him, & slue him, so that many fel downe slaine, & the rest fled.
- 12 So Iudas toke their spoiles, and toke also Apollonius sworde, and foght with it all his life long.
- 13 ¶ Now whē Seron a prince of y<sup>e</sup> armie of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the congregacion, and Church of the faithful, and went forth to the warre,
- 14 He said, I wil get me a name, and wil be glorious in the realme: for I wil go fight with Iudas, & thē that are with him, which haue despised the Kings commandement.
- 15 So he made him readie to go vp, and there went with him a mightie hoste of the vngodlie to helpe him, & to be aduenged of the children of Israel.
- 16 And when he came nere to the going vp of Bethhoron, Iudas went forth to mete him with a smale companie.
- 17 But when they sawe the armie coming against them, they said to Iudas, How are we able, being so fewe, to fight against so great a multitude, & so strong, seing we be so wearie, and haue fasted all this day?
- 18 Then said Iudas, It is an easie thing for many to be shut vp in the hands of fewe, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a smale companie.
- 19 For the victorie of the battel stādeth not in the multitude of y<sup>e</sup> hoste, but the strēgth cometh from heauen.
- 20 They come against vs with a cruel and proude multitude, to destroy vs, and our wiues, and our children, and to robbe vs.
- 21 But we do fight for our liues, and for our Lawes,
- 22 And God him self wil destroye thē before our face: therefore be not ye afraied of them.
- 23 And whē he had left of speaking, he lept suddenly vpon them: so was Seron and his hoste destroyed before him.
- 24 And they pursued them from the going downe of Bethhoron vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundred men of them, and the residue fled into the land of the Philistims.
- 25 Then the feare & terrour of Iudas & his brethré fel vpon the naciōs rounde about,
- 26 So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles colde tell of the warres of Iudas.
- 27 ¶ But when King Antiochus heard these tidings, he was angrie in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, & gathered all y<sup>e</sup> power of his realme a very strong armie,
- 28 And opened his treasure, and gaue his hoste a yeres wages in hand, commanding thē to be readie for a yere for all occasiōs.
- 29 Neuertheles, when he sawe that the money of his treasures failed, & that the tributes in the countrey were smale, because of the dissencion, & plagues y<sup>e</sup> he had brought vpon the land, in taking away the lawes which had bene of olde time,
- 30 He feared lest he shulde not haue now at the seconde time, as at the first, for the charges & giftes that he had giuē with a liberal hand afore: for in liberalitie he farre passed the other Kings y<sup>e</sup> were before him.
- 31 Wherefore he was heauie in his minde, and thought to go into Persia, for to take tributes of the countreis, and to gather muche money.
- 32 So he left Lyfias a noble man and of the Kings blood to ouerse the Kings busines, from the riuer of Euphrates vnto the borders of Egypt,
- 33 And to bring vp his sonne Antiochus, til he came againe.
- 34 Moreouer, he gaue him halfe of his hoste and elephantes, & gaue him the charge of all things that he wolde haue done,
- 35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem, that he shulde send an armie against them, to destroy and roote out the power of Israel & the remnant of Ierusalem, and to put out their memorial from that place,
- 36 And to set strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, & parte their lād amōg thē.
- 37 And the King toke the halfe of the hoste that remained, & departed from Antiochia his royal citie, in the yere an hūdreth fortie and seuen, and passed the riuer Euphrates, & went thorow the hie countreis.
- 38 Then Lyfias chose Ptolemeus the sonne of Doriminus, & Nicanor, and Gorgias, mightie men, and the Kings friends,
- 39 And sent with them fortie thousand fote men, & seuen thousand horsemen, to go into the land of Iuda, & to destroye it, as the King commanded.
- 40 So they wēt forth with all their power and came and pitched by Emmaus in the plaine countrey.
- 41 Now when the marchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they toke very muche siluer & golde, & seruants, & came into the campe to bye the childre of Israel for slaues, & the strength of Syria & of strange naciōs ioyned with them.
- 42 ¶ Now when Iudas & his brethren sawe that trouble increased, and that the hoste drewe nere vnto their borders, cōsidering the Kings wordes, whereby he had commanded to destroy the people, and utterly abolish them,
- 43 They said one to another, Let vs redresse the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sanctuarie.
- 44 Then the cōgregaciō were sone readie gathered to fight, and to praye, and to desire mercie and compafsion.

45 As for Ierufalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wildernes. There went none that was borne in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuarie was troden downe, and the strangers kept the fortrefse, and it was the habitation of the heathen: & the mirth of Iacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceased.

46 So they gathered them selues together, and came to Maspha before Ierufalem: for in Maspha was y<sup>e</sup> place where they praied afore time in Israel.

47 And they fasted that day, and put sackcloth vpon them, and cast ashes vpon their heads, and rent their clothes,

48 And opened the booke of the Law, wherein the heathē sought to paint the likenes of their idoles, 49 And brought the Priests garments, and the first frutes, and the tithes, and set there the Nazarites, which accomplished their daies.

50 And they cryed with a loude voyce, towards heauen, saying, What shal we do with these? and whether shal we carye them away?

51 For thy Sanctuarie is troden downe and defiled, and thy Priests are in heauines, & brought downe.

52 And beholde, the heathē are come against vs to destroie vs: thou knowest what thigs they imagine against vs.

53 How can we stand before them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blewe the trumpets, & cryed with a loude voyce.

55 And after this Iudas ordeined captaines ouer the people, euen captaines ouer thousands, and captaines ouer hundreths, and captaines ouer fifties, and captaines ouer ten.

56 And they cōmanded them that buylded houses, or married wiues, or planted vineyardes, or were fearful, that thei shulde returne euerie one to his owne house, according* to the Law.

57 So the hoste remoued, and pitched vpon the Southside of Emmaus.

58 And Iudas said, Arme your selues, and be valiant men, & be readie against the morning to fight with these naciōs, which are gathered together against vs, to destroie vs and our Sanctuarie.

59 For it is better for vs to dye in battel, then to se the calamities of our people & of our Sanctuarie.

60 Neuertheles as the wil of God is in heauen, so be it.

CHAP. IIII.

* Iudas goeth against Gorgias which lieth in wait. 14 He putteth Gorgias and his hoste to flight 21 Lysias inuadeth Iudea, 29 But Iudas driueth him out. 43 Iudas purifieth the Temple and dedicateth the altar.

1 Then toke Gorgias fīue thousand fote men, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and departed out of the campe by night,

2 To inuade the campe of the Iewes, and to slaye the suddenly: and the men of the fortresse were his guides.

3 Now when Iudas heard it, he remoued, & they that were valiant men to smite the Kings armie which was at Emmaus,

4 Whiles yet the armie was disperfed frō the campe.

5 In the meane season came Gorgias by night into Iudas campe: & when he founde no man there, he soght the in the mountaines: for said he, They flee from vs.

6 But as sone as it was day, Iudas shewed him self in the field with thre thousand mē, which had nether harnes nor swordes to their mindes.

7 And thei sawe that the armies of the heathen were strong and wel armed, and their horsemen about them, and that these were experthe men of warre.

8 Then said Iudas to the mē that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, nether be afraied of their assalt.

9 Remember, how our fathers were deliuered* in the red Sea, when Pharaο pursued them with an armie. Exod. 14. 3.

10 Therefore now let vs crye vnto heauen, and the Lord wil haue mercie vpon vs, & remember the couenant of our fathers, & wil destroie this hoste before our face this day:

11 So shal all the heathen knowe, that there is one, which deliuereth and saueth Israel.

12 Then the strangers lift vp their eyes, & sawe them coming against them, 13 And they went out of their tētes into the battel, and they that were with Iudas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they ioyned together, and the heathē were discomfited and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hinmoste of the fel by the sword, and they pursued them vnto Gazerō, and into the plaines of Idumea, and of Azotus, and of Iamnia, so that there were slaine of them about thre thousand men.

16 So Iudas turned againe with his hoste frō pursuing them,

17 And said vnto the people, Be not griedie of the spoiles: for there is a battel before vs.

18 And Gorgias and the armie is here by vs in the mountaine: but stand ye now fast against your enemies, and ouercome them: then may ye safely take the spoiles.

19 As Iudas was speaking these wordes, there appeared one parte which looked from the the mountaines.

20 But when Gorgias sawe that his were fled, and that Iudas soldiers burnt the tentes: (for the smoke that was sene, declared what was done.)

21 When they sawe these things, they were sore afraied, and when they sawe also that Iudas and his hoste were in the field readie to set them selues in array,

22 They fled euerie one into the land of strangers.

23 So Iudas turned againe to spoile the tentes, where he gate muche golde and siluer, and precious stones, and purple of the sea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and sang psalmes, and praised towarde the heauen: for he is gracious, and his mercie endureth for euer.

25 And so Israel had a great victorie in that day.

26 ¶ Now all the strangers that escaped, came, & tolde Lysias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard these things, was sore afraied, and discouraged, because suche things came not vpon Israel as he wolde, nether suche things as the King had commanded him, came to passe.

28 Therefore the next yere following, gathered Lysias thre score thousande chosen fote men, and fise thousande horsemen to fight against Ierusalem.

29 So they came into Idumea, and pitched their tentes at Beth-sura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And whē he sawe that mightie armie, he praied and said, Blessed be thou, o Sauour of Israel, *which didest destroe the assalte of y mightie man by the hād of thy seruāt Dauid, * & gauest the hoste of the strāgers into the hād of Ionathan, y sonne of Saul, and of his armour bearer:

31 Shut vp this armie in y hand of thy people of Israel, & let thē be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraied, and consume their boldenes & strength, that thei may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sworde of them that loue thee: thē shal all thei that knowe thy Name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lysias hoste, fise thousand men, and they fell before them.

35 Thē Lysias, seing his armie put to flight and the manlines of Iudas soldiērs, and that they were readie, either to liue or dye valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his armie, he thoght againe (being prepared) to come against Iudea.

36 Then said Iudas & his brethrē, Beholde, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now go vp to clense, and to repaire the Sanctuarie.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went vp into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now whē they sawe the Sanctuarie layed waste, and the altar defiled, and the dores burnt vp, and the shrubbes growing in the courtes, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chābers were broken downe,

39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads, 40 And fel downe to the grounde on their faces, and blewe an alarme with the trumpets, and cryed towarde heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certeine of the men to fight against those which were in y castel, til he had clenfed the Sanctuarie.

42 So he chose Priests that were vndefiled, suche as delited in the Law,

43 And they clenfed the Sāctuarie, and bare out the defiled stones into an vnclane place, 44 And consulted what to do with the altar of burnt offrings, which was polluted.

45 So they thoght it was best to destroe it, lest it shulde be a reproche vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar, 46 And layed vp the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, til there shulde come a Prophet, to shewe what shulde be done with them.

47 So they toke whole stones according to the Law, and buylded a new altar according to the former,

48 And made vp the Sanctuarie, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courtes, and all things.

49 They made also new holie vessels, and brought into the Temple the candelsticke, and the altar of burnt offrings, and of incense and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpō the altar, & lighted the lampes which were vpon the candelsticke, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 Thei set also the shewbread vpon the table, and hanged vp the vailes, and finished all the workes that they had begon to make.

52 And vpon the fise and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, which is called the moneth of Challu, in the hundreth and eight and fortieth yere they rose vp betimes in the morning, 53 And offred sacrifice according to the Law, vpō the new altar of burnt offrings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day was it made new with songs, and harpes, and lutes, and cymbales.

55 And all the people fel vpon their faces, worshipping & praising towarde the heauen him that had giuen the good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight daies, offering burnt offerings with gladnes, & offered sacrifices of deliuerance and praise, 57 And dede the forefronte of the Temple with crownes of golde and shields, & dedicated the gates and chambers, & hanged dores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnes among the people, and the reproche of the heathen was put away.

59 So Iudas and his brethren with the whole cōgregation of Israel ordeined that the daies of dedication of the altar shulde be kept in their season from yere to yere, by the space of eight daies, from the fise and twentie day of the moneth Chasleu, with mirth and gladnes.

60 And at the same time buylded they vp mount Sion with hie walles and strong towers rounde about, lest the Gentiles shulde come, and treade it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to kepe it, & fortified Beth-sura to kepe it, that the people might haue a defense against Idumea.

CHAP. V.

3 Iudas vanquished the heathen that go about to destroye Israel. & is holpen of his brethren Simon and Jonathan so He overthroweth the citie of Ephron, because they denied him passage thorowe it.

1 NOW when the nations rounde about heard, that the altar was buylded, & the Sanctuarie renued, as afore, they were foregriued.

2 Therefore they thoght to destroye the generation of Iacob that was among them, and begāne to slaye and destroy the people.

3 Then Iudas foght against the children of Esau in Idumea at Arrabathene, because they besieged the Israelites, and he smote them with a great plague, and droue them to straites, and toke their spoiles.

4 He thoght also vpon the malice of the children of Bean, which had bene a snare and an hinderance vnto the people, when they laye in waite for them in the hie way.

5 Wherefore he shut them vp in towers, and besieged them, and destroyed them vterly, and burnt their towers with fyre, with all that were in them.

6 Afterward, went he against the children of Ammon, where he founde a mightie power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captaine.

7 So he had manie battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so he discomfited them,

8 And toke Gazer with the townes thereof, and so turned againe into Iudea.

9 ¶ Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castel of Dathe-man,

10 And sent letters to Iudas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroye vs, 11 And they make them readie for to come, and to take the forteresse, whereunto we are fled, and Timotheus is captaine of their hoste.

12 Come now therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for manie of vs are flaine:

13 And all our brethré that were at Tubin, are flaine, and they haue taken away their wiues, and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almoste a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, beholde, there came other messengers fro Galile with their clothes rét, which tolde the same tidings, 15 And said, that they of Ptolemais, and of Tyrus, and of Sidon, and of all Galile of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroye them.

16 When Iudas, and the people heard these wordes, a great Congregation came together, to cōsulte what they might do for their brethré, that were in trouble, & whome they besieged.

17 Then said Iudas to Simon his brother, Chuse thee out men, and go & deliuer thy brethren in Galile, and I and my brother Jonathan, wil go into the countrey of Galaad.

18 ¶ So he left Iosephus the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias to be captaines of the people, and to kepe the remnant of the hoste in Iudea, 19 And commanded them, saying, Take the ouersight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen, vntil we come againe.

20 And vnto Simon were giuen thre thousand men to go into Galile, and to Iudas eight thousand men for the countrey of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galile, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And he pursued them vnto the gates of Ptolemais: & there were flaine of the heathen almoste thre thousand men: so he toke their spoiles.

23 Thus they rescued them that were in Galile

- lile and in Arbattis with their wiues, and their children, and all that they had, and brought them into Iudea with great ioye.
- 24 ¶ Iudas Maccabeus also, and his brother Jonathan went ouer Iorden, and trauailed thre dayes iourney in the wildernes,
- 25 Where they met with the Nabathites, who receiued them louingly, & tolde the euerie thing that was done vnto their brethren in the countrey of Galaad,
- 26 And how that manie of them were besieged in Bosorra, & Bosor, in Alemiss, Chasbon, Maged and Carnaim (all these cities are strong, and great)
- 27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these fortes, and to take them, and to destroye them all in one day.
- 28 So Iudas & his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wildernes toward Bosorra, and wan the citie, and slewe all the males with the edge of the sworde, and toke all their spoile, and set fyre vpon the citie.
- 29 And in the night he remoued from thence, and went toward the forteresse.
- 30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, beholde, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the forte, and had assailed them.
- 31 When Iudas sawe that the battel was begon, and that the crye of the citie went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sounde,
- 32 Then he said vnto the armie, Fight this day for your brethren.
- 33 So he wet forth behinde them with thre companies, and they blew the trumpets, & cryed with prayer.
- 34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knewe, that it was Maccabeus, and they fled from him, & he smote them with a great slaughter, so that there was killed of them the same day, almoste eight thousand men.
- 35 ¶ Then departed Iudas vnto Maspha, & laid siege vnto it, and wanne it, and slewe all the males thereof, and spoiled it, and set fyre vpon it.
- 36 From thence went he and toke Chasbon, Maged, and Bosor, and the other cities in Galaad.
- 37 After these things gathered Timotheus another hoste, and he camped before Raphon beyonde the flood.
- 38 Now Iudas had sent to espie the hoste, & they brought him worde againe, saying, All the heathen that be rounde about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is verie great,
- 39 And he hath hyred the Arabians to help them, and they haue pitched their tentes beyonde the flood, & are readie to come and fight against thee. So Iudas went to mete them.
- 40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captaines of his hoste, When Iudas and his hoste come nere the flood, if he passe ouer first vnto vs, we shal not be able to withstand him: for he wil be to strong for vs.
- 41 But if he be afraid, and campe beyonde the flood, we wil go ouer vnto him, and shal preuaile against him.
- 42 Now when Iudas came nere to the flood, he caused the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood, and commaded the, saying, Suffer none to pitche a tent, but let euerie man come to the battel.
- 43 So he went first ouer toward them, and all people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, & cast away their weapons, and fled into the temple that was at Carnaim.
- 44 Which citie Iudas wanne, and burnt the temple with all that were in it: so was Carnaim subdued, and might not withstand Iudas.
- 45 ¶ Then Iudas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad, from the least vnto the moste, with their wiues and their children, and their baggage, a verie great hoste, to come into the land of Iuda.
- 46 So they came vnto Ephron, which was a great citie by the way, and strongly defended: they colde not passe, nether at the right hand nor at the left, but must go thorowe it.
- 47 But they that were in the citie, shut the selues in, and stopped vp the gates with stones: and Iudas sent vnto them with peaceable wordes, saying,
- 48 Let vs passe thorowe your land, that we may go into our owne countrey, and none shal hurt you: we wil but onely go thorowe on fore: but they wolde not open vnto him.
- 49 Wherefore Iudas commanded a proclamation to be made thorowe out the hoste, that euerie man shulde assault it according to his standing.
- 50 So the valiant men set vpon it, and assailed the citie all that day, and all that night, and the citie was giuen ouer into his hands:
- 51 Who slewe all the males with the edge of the sworde, and destroyed it, and toke the spoile thereof, and went thorowe the citie ouer them that were slaine.
- 52 Then went they ouer Iorden into the great plaine before Bethsan.
- 53 And Iudas gathered together those that were behinde, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thorowe, til they were come into the land of Iuda.
- 54 Thus they went vp with ioye, and glad-nes vnto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offrings, because there were none of them slaine, but came home againe in safetie.

55 ¶ Now whiles Iudas and Ionathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galile before Ptolemais, 56 Ioseph the sonne of Zacharias, and Azarias the captaines, hearing of the valiant actes, and battels which they had achieved, said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and go fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their hoste a commandement and went towarde Iamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the citie to fight against them.

60 And Ioseph and Azarias were put to flight and pursued vnto the borders of Iudea: and there were slaine that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so y there was a great ouerthrowe among the people of Israel, 61 Because they were not obedient vnto Iudas, and his brethre, but thoght to do some valiant thing.

62 Also they came not of the stocke of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Iudas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, wherefoeuer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came vnto them, bidding them welcome.

*Ioseph Anti-

11 & 12.*

65 Afterwarde went Iudas forthe with his brethren, and foght against the children of Esau in the lād toward the South, where he wanne Hebron, and the townes thereof, & he destroyed the castel thereof, & burnt the towres thereof round about.

Or, Philistines.

66 Then remoued he to go into the land of the strangers, and went thorow Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priests of the cities slaine in y battel, which wolde shewe their valiantnes, and went forthe to battel without counsel: and when Iudas came to Azotus in the strangers lād, he brake downe their altars, and burnt with fyre the images of their gods, and toke away the spoiles of the cities, and came againe into the land of Iuda.

CHAP. VI.

2 Antiochus, willing to take the citie of Elmais, is driuen away of the citizens. 3 He falleth into sickness, and dyeth. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made King. 34 The manner to proucke elephants to fights. 43 Cleazarus valiant acte. 49 The siege of Sion.

*Ioseph Anti-
32. chap. 13.*

¶ Now when King Antiochus trauailed thorow the high countreis, he heard that Elmais in the countrey of Persia was a citie greatly renoumed for riches, siluer and golde,

2 And that there was in it a verie riche temple, where as were couerings of golde, cote armoures, and harnes, which Alexandre King of Macedonia the sonne of Philippe (y reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the citie, and to spoile it, but he was not able: for y citizens were warned of the matter,

4 And rose vp against him in battel, & he fled and departed thence with great heauines, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreouer, there came one which broght him tidings in the coutrée of Persia, that the armies that went against the land of Iuda, were driuen away,

6 And that Lyfias, which went forthe first with a great power, was driuen away of the Iewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoiles which they had gotten of the armies whome they had destroyed,

7 And that they had pulled downe the abomination, which he had set vp vpon the altar at Ierusalem, and fensed the Sactuarie with high walles, as it was afore, and Beth-surahis citie.

8 So when the King had heard these wordes, he was astonished, and fore moued: therefore he laid him downe vpo his bed, & fel sicke for verie sorowe, because it was not come to passe, as he had thoght.

9 And there continued he manie dayes: for his grief was euer more & more, so that he sawe he must nedes dye.

10 Therefore he sent for all his friends, & said vnto them, The slepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for verie care.

11 And I thinke with my self, Into what aduersitie am I come? & into what floods of miserie am I fallen now, where as afore time I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power?

12 And now do I remember the euils that I haue done at Ierusalem: for I toke all the vessels of golde & of siluer that were in it, and sent to destroye the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

13 I knowe that these troubles are come vpon me for the same cause, and beholde, I must dye with great sorowe in a strange land.

14 Then called he for Philippe, one of his friends, whome he made ruler of all his realme, 15 And gaue him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that he shulde instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him vp, til he might reigne him self.

16 So King Antiochus dyed there in the hundreth, and fortie and ninth yere.

17 ¶ When Lyfias knewe, that the King was was dead, he ordeined Antiochus his sonne (whome he had broght vp) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Ierusalem, kept in the Israelites rounde about the Sanctuarie, and fought alwaies their hurt, and the strengthening of y<sup>e</sup> heathen.

19 Therefore Iudas thought to destroy the, & called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together, and besieged the in the hundreth and fiftie yere, and made instruments to shoote and other engins of warre.

21 But certeine of them that were besieged, gate forth, (vnto whome some vngodlie men of Israel ioyned them selues.)

22 And they went vnto the King, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing iudgement, and aduenge our brethren?

23 We haue bene readie to serue thy father, & to go forward in those things, that he appointed, & to obey his commandemets.

24 Therefore they of our nacions fel from vs for this cause, and wheresoeuer they founde anie of vs, they slewe them, and spoyled our inheritance.

25 And thei haue not onely laied hand vpon vs, but vpon all about their borders.

26 And beholde, this day are they besieging the castle at Ierusalem to take it, and haue fortified the Sanctuarie, and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou dost not preuent the quickly, thei wil do greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to ouercome them.

28 When the King heard this, he was verie angrie, and called all his friends, the captaines of his armie, and his horsemen, 29 And bandes that were hired, came vnto him from the Kings, that were confederate, and from the yles of the sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundreth thousand fote men, & twentie thousand horsemen, and two and thirtie elephantes exercised in battel.

31 These came through Idumea and drewe nere to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, and made engins of warre: but thei came out, and burnt them with fyre, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Iudas from the castle, & remoued the hoste towarde Beth-zacarias ouer against the Kings campe.

33 So the King arose verie earely, & broght the armie and his power towarde the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armies set the selues in array to the battel, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to prouoke the elephantes for to fight, thei shewed the blood of grapes and mulberies,

35 And they set the beasts according to the ranges: so that by euerie elephant there stode a thousand men armed with coates of maile and helmets of brasle vpo their heads, and vnto euerie beast were ordeined fife hundreth horsemen of the best,

36 Which were readie at all times wheresoeuer the beast was: and wheresoeuer the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And vpon them were strong towres of wood that couered euerie beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, & vpon euerie one was two and thirtie men, that fought in them, and the Indian that ruled him.

38 They set also the remnant of the horsemen vpon bothe the sides in two wings of the hoste to stirre them vp, and to kepe them in the valleis.

39 And when the sunne shone vpon the golden shields, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gaue light as lapses of fyre.

40 Thus parte of the Kings armie was spred vpon the hie mountaines, and parte beneth: so they marched forward warely and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noyce of their multitude, and the marching of the companie, and the ratteling of the harnes, were astonished: for the armie was verie great and mightie.

42 Then Iudas and his hoste entred into the battel, & thei slewe six hundreth men of the Kings armie.

43 ¶ Now when Eleazar, the sonne of " Abaron, sawe one of the elephantes armed with royal harnes, and was more excellent then all y<sup>e</sup> other beasts, he thought that the King shulde be vpon him.

44 Wherefore he icoparded him self to deliuer his people, and to get him a perpetual name, 45 And ranne boldely vnto him through the middes of the hoste, slaying on the right hand, and on the left, so that thei departed away on bothe sides.

46 So went he to the elephantes fete, and gate him vnder him, and slewe him: then fel the elephant downe vpon him, & there he dyed.

47 But the other, seing the power of y<sup>e</sup> King and the fiercenes of his armie, departed from them.

48 ¶ And the Kings armie went vp to mete them towarde Ierusalem, and the King pitched his tents in Iudea towarde mount Sion.

49 Moreouer, the King toke truce with the that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no vitayles there, and were shut vp therein, & the land had rested,

50 The King toke Beth-sura, and set there a garison to kepe it,

51 And besieged the Sanctuarie many dayes, & made instruments to shoote, & other engins of warre, and instruments to cast fyre and stones, and pieces to cast dartes and slings.

Or, the Jewes.

52 Thei also made engins against their engins, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no vitailles: for it was the seuenth yere, and then they that were in Iudea, & were deliuered from the Gentiles, had eaten vp the residue of the store,

54 So that in the Sanctuarie were fewe men left: for the famine came so vpon the, that they were scattered euerie mā to his owne place.

55 ¶ Now when Lysias heard that Philippe (whome Antiochus the King, whiles he liued, had ordeined to bring vp Antiochus his sonne, that he might be King)

56 Was come againe out of Persia, & Media, and the Kings hoste with him, and thought to take vnto him the rule of thigs, 57 He and his hasted, and were stirred forward by them in the castel to go and tell the King, and the captaines of the hoste, and to others, saying, We decrease dayly, & our vitailles are but smale: and the place that we laye siege vnto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depende vpon vs.

Or, gūe hands.

58 Now therefore let vs agre with these men, & take truce with them, and with all their nacion, 59 And grāte them to liue after their Law, as they did afore: for they be griued, and do all these things, because we haue broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the princes were content, and sent vnto them to make peace, & they receiued it.

61 When the King & the princes had made an othe vnto them, they came vpō this out of the fortresse.

62 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when he siwe that the place was wel defended, he brake his othe that he had made, and commanded to breake downe the wall rounde about.

63 Then departed he in all haste, and returned vnto Antiochia where he founde Philippe hauing dominion of the citie: so he fought against him, and toke the citie by force.

CHAP. VII.

Demetrius reigned, after he had killed Antiochus and Lysias. 5 He troubleth the children of Israel thorowe the counsell of certaine wicked persones. 37 The praiser of the Priests against Nicanor. 41 Iudas killeth Nicanor, after he had made his praiser.

Joseph Antiq. 12. chap. 5

IN the hundreth and one and fiftieth yere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a fewe men vnto a citie of the sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when he came into the possession of his fathers kīgdome, his soldiers toke Antiochus and Lysias, and broght them vnto him.

3 But when it was tolde him, he said, Shewe me not their faces.

4 So thei put the to death. Now when Demetrius was set vpon the throne of his kingdome,

5 There came vnto him all the wicked and vngodlie men of Israel, whose captaine was Alcimus, that wolde haue bene the hie Priest.

6 These men accused the people vnto the King, saying, Iudas and his brethren haue slayne all thy friends, and driuen vs out of our owne land.

7 Wherefore send now some man, whome thou trustest, that he maye go and se all the destruction, which he hath done vnto vs, and to the Kings land, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the King chose Bacchides a friēd of his, which was a great man in the realme, and ruled beyonde the flood, and was faithful vnto the King, and sent him, 9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom he made hie Priest, and commanded him to be aduenged of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the land of Iuda, and sent messengers to Iudas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable wordes.

11 But they beleued not their saying: for thei sawe that they were come with a great hoste.

12 Then a companie of the gouernours assembled vnto Alcimus and Bacchides to intreat of reasonable points.

13 And the Asideans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

Or, Hapline.

14 For said they, He that is a Priest of the sede of Aarō, is come with this armie: therefore he wi not hurt vs.

15 Then he spake vnto them peaceably, and swore vnto them, and said, We wil do you no harme, nether your friends:

16 And they beleued him: but he toke of the thre score men, and slewe them in one day according to the wordes that were written.

17 ¶ Thei haue cast y bodies of thy Saintes, and their blood rounde about Ierusalem, and there was no man that wolde burye them.

18 So there came a feare and trembling among all the people: for they said, There is nether trueth nor righteousnes in them: for they haue broken the appointment & othe that they made.

19 The Bacchides remoued frō Ierusalem, and & pitched his tente at Beth-zecha, where he sent forthe & toke manie of the me that had forsaken him, & certeine of the people whome he slewe & cast into the great pit.

 20 Then committed he the countrey vnto Alcimus, & left men of warre with him to helpe him: so Bacchides wet vnto y King.
 21 Thus Alcimus stroue for y priesthode.
 22 And all suche as troubled the people resorted vnto him: in somuche, that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did muche hurt in Israel.
 23 Now when Iudas sawe all the mischief, that Alcimus and his companie had done amog the Israelites more then the heathē, 24 He went forthe rounde about all the borders of Iudea, and punished those, that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroade in the countrey.
 25 But when Alcimus sawe that Iudas & his people had gotten the vpper hād, & knewe that he was not able to abide them, he went againe to the King, and accused the of wicked things.
 26 Then the King sent Nicanor one of his chief princes, which hated Israel deadly, & commanded him, that he shulde destroye the people.
 27 So Nicanor came to Ierusalem with a great hoste, and sent vnto Iudas, and his brethren deceitfully with friendlie wordes, saying,
 28 Let there be no warre betwene me, and you: I wil come with fewe men, to se how ye do, friendly.
 29 So he came vnto Iudas, and they saluted one another peaceably: but the enemies were prepared to take away Iudas.
 30 Neuertheles, it was tolde Iudas, that he came vnto him vnder disceit: therefore he feared him, and wolde not se his face no more.
 31 When Nicanor perceiued that his counsel was betrayed, he went out to fight against Iudas, beside Carphasalama.
 32 Where there were slaine of Nicanors hoste about fūe thousand men: so they fled vnto the citie of David.
 33 After this came Nicanor vp vnto mount Sion, and some of the Priests with the Elders of the people went forthe of the Sanctuarie to salute him peaceably, & to shew him the burnt offering that was offered for the King.
 34 But he laughed at them, and mocked the and counted them prophane, and spake proudly, 35 And swore in his wrath, saying, If Iudas and his hoste be not deliuered now into mine hands, if euer I come againe in safetie, I wil burnt vp this house. With that, went he out in a great anger.
 36 Then the Priests came in, and stode before the altar in the Temple, weping, and saying;

 37 For so muche as thou, O Lord, hast chosen this House, that thy Name might be called vpon therein, and that it shulde be an house of prayer, and petition for thy people, 38 Be aduenged of this man and his hoste, and let them be slaine by the sworde: remember their blasphemies, & suffice them not to continue.
 39 ¶ When Nicanor was gone from Ierusalem, he pitched his tent at Beth-horon, & there an hoste met him out of Syria.
 40 And Iudas pitched in Adasa with three thousand me where Iudas prayed, saying, 41 O Lord, * because the messengers of King Sēnacherib blasphemed thee, thine Angel went forthe, and slewe an hundreth, foure score, and fūe thousand of them.
 42 So destroye thou this hoste before vs to day, that all other may knowe that he hath spokē wickedly against thy Sanctuarie, & punish him according to his malice.
 43 So the armies ioyned together in battel, the thirtenth day of the moneth Adar: but Nicanors hoste was discomfited, and he him self was first slaine in the battel.
 44 Now when his armie sawe that Nicanor was slaine, they cast away their weapons and fled.
 45 But they pursued after the a dayes iourney from Adasa vnto Gasera, blowing an alarme with the trumpets after them.
 46 So they came forthe of all the townes of Iudea rounde about, and rushed vpon them, and threwe them from one to another, so that they all fel by the sworde, & there was not one of them leste.
 47 Then they toke the spoyle, and the pray and smote of Nicanors head, and his right hand, which he helde vp so proudly, and broght it with them, and hanged them vp afore Ierusalem.
 48 So the people reioyced greatly, and kept that day as a day of great gladnes.
 49 And they ordeined, to kepe yerely that day on the thirtenth day of the moneth Adar.
 50 Thus the land of Iuda was in rest a litle while.

1 Iudas, considering the power and policie of the Remains, maketh peace with them. 22 The conditions of mutual friendship sent to the Iewes.

I Vdas heard also the fame of the Remains, that thei were mightie, and valiant, and agreeable to all things that were requied of them, and made peace with all that came vnto them, the Galatiās whome they had conquered, and made to paye tribute,

3 And what they had done in the countrey of Spaine: how that they had wonne there the mines of siluer and golde,

4 And that by their counsel, and gentle behauour they were rulers in euerie place, thogh the place was farre from them, and that they had discomfited, and giuen great ouerthrowes to y Kings that came against them, from the vtermost parte of y earth, and that others gaue them tribute euerie yere,

Or, Citizins.

5 How they had also discomfited by battel Philippe and Perfes Kings of the Macedoniās, and others, that rose against the, and how they ouercame them,

6 And how great Antiochus King of Asia that came against the in battel, hauing an hundreth and twentie elephāts, with horsemen, & charrets, and a verie great armie, was discomfited by them,

7 And how they toke him aliue, and ordeined him, with suche as shulde reigne after him, to paye a great tribute, & to giue hostages, and a separate porcion,

9 Againē when it was tolde them that the Greciās were comming to destroye them,

10 They sent against the a captaine, which gaue them battel, & slewe manie of the, & toke manie prisoners with their wiues, and children, and spoyled them, and conquered their land, and destroyed their strong holdes, and subdued them to be their bōdmen, vnto this day:

11 Moreouer, how they destroyed, & brought into subiection other kingdomes & yles, whosoever had withstand them:

12 But that thei kept amitie with their owne friends, and those that stayed vpon them: finally, that conquered kingdomes, bothe farre and nere, in so muche that whosoever heard of their renoume, was afrayed of them.

13 For whome they wolde helpe to their kingdomes, those reigned, and whome they wolde, they put downe: thus were thei in molte high autoritie.

14 Yet for all this that none of them ware a crowne, nether was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby,

15 But that thei had ordeined them selues a counsel, wherein thre hundreth and twētie men consulted daiely, and prouided for the commune affaires, to gouerne them wel,

16 And that they committed their gouernement to one man euerie yere, who did rule ouer all their countrey, to whome euerie man was obedient: and there was nether hatred nor enuie among them.

17 ¶ Then Iudas chose Eupolemus the sonne of Iohn, the sonne of Accus, and Iason, the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome to make friēdship, & mutual fellowship with them,

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they sawe that the kingdome of the Grecians wolde kepe Israel in bondage)

19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a verie great iourney, and came into the Senat where they spake and said, 20 Iudas Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Iewes hathe sent vs vnto you, to make a bonde of friendship, and peace with you, and ye to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copie of the epistle that they wrote in tables of brasle and sent to Ierusalem, that they might haue by them a memorial of the peace, and mutual fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romaines, and to the people of the Iewes, by sea, and by land for euer, and the sworde, and enemie be from them.

24 If there come first anie warre vpon the Romaines, or anie of their friēds throughout all their dominion,

25 The people of the Iewes shal helpe the, as the time shalbe appointed, with all their heart, 26 Also they shal giue nothing to the that come to fight for the, nor serue them with wheat nor weapōs, nor monei, nor shippes as it pleaseth the Romaines, but they shal kepe their couenantes without taking anie thing of them.

27 Likewise also if warre come first against the nacion of the Iewes, the Romans shal helpe them with a good wil, according as the time shalbe appointed them.

28 Nether shal wheat be giuen vnto them, that take their parte, nor weapons, nor monei, nor shippes, as it pleaseth y Romans, who wil kepe these couenants without deceite.

29 According to these articles y Romans made the bonde with the people of the Iewes.

30 If after these pointes the one partie, or the other wil adde or diminish, they may do it, at their pleasures, & whatsoeuer they shal adde, or take away, shal be ratified.

31 And as touching the euil that Demetrius hathe done vnto the Iewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thine heauie yoke vpon our friends, and confederates the Iewes?

32 If therefore they complaine anie more against against thee, we wil do them iustice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

After the death of Nicanor Demetrius sendeth his armie against Iudas. 18 Iudas is slaine. 31 Jonathan is put in the Head of his brother. 47 The battel betweene Jonathan, and Bacchides. 55 Alcimus is smitten with the palse, and dyeth. 68 He cometh vpon Jonathan by the counsell of certeine wicked persones, and is ouercome. 70 The truce of Jonathan with Bacchides.

Ioseph Anti. 12. chap. 12.

10. Ioseph.

IN the meane season when Demetrius had heard how Nicanor, and his hoste had giuen the battel, he sent Bacchides, and Alcimus againe into Iudea, and his chief strength with them.

2 So they went forthe by the way that is towarde Galgala, and pitched their tentes before Mesaloth which is in Arbelis, and wanne it and slewe muche people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundreth, fiftie and two yere, they layed their siege against Ierusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Berea, with twentie thousand fote men & two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Iudas had pitched his tent at Eleasa, & thre thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they sawe, that the multitude of the armie was great, they were sore afraide, and manie conueied them selues out of the hoste, so that there abode no mo of them, but eight hundreth men.

7 When Iudas sawe that his hoste failed him, and that he must nedes fight, he was sore troubled in minde that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

Neuertheles, he said vnto them that remained, Let vs rise, and go vp against our enemies, if peraduenture we may be able to fight with them.

8 But they wolde haue staied him, saying, We are not able: but let vs rather saue our liues: turne backe now, seing our brethren are departed: for shal we fight against the, that are so fewe?

9 Then Iudas said, God forbid, that we shulde do this thing, to fle from them: if our time be come, let vs dye manfully for our brethren, and let vs not staine our honour.

10 Then the hoste remoued out of the tentes, and stode against them, who had deuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they that threwe with slings, and the archers marched in the forewarde, and they that foght in the forewarde, were all valiant men.

11 And Bacchides was in the right wing. So the armie drewe nere on bothe sides, & blewe the trumpets.

12 They of Iudas side blew the trumpets also, & the earth shoke at the noyce of the armies, and the battel continued from morning to night.

13 And when Iudas sawe that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he toke with him all the hardie men, 14 And brake the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Azotus.

15 Now when they which were of the left wing, sawe that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Iudas behinde, and the that were with him hard at the heles.

16 Then was there a sore battel: for many were slaine of bothe the parties.

17 Iudas also him self was killed, and the remnant fled.

18 So Jonathan and Simon toke Iudas their brother, and buryed him in his fathers sepulchre in the citie of Modin.

19 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lameted many daies, saying, 20 How is the valiant man fallen which deliuered Israel!

21 Concerning the other things of Iudas, bothe the battels and the valiant actes that he did, & of his worthines, they are not written: for they were very many.

22 ¶ Now after the death of Iudas, wicked men came vp in all the coastes of Israel, & there arose all suche as gaue them selues to iniquitie.

Ioseph Anti. 12. chap. 12.

23 In those daies was there a very great famine in the land, and all the countrey gaue ouer them selues with them.

24 And Bacchides did chuse wicked men, and made them lords in the land.

25 These foght out, and made searche for Iudas friends, and broght them vnto Bacchides, which aduēged him self vpon the, and mocked them.

26 And there came so great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was sene among them.

27 Then came all Iudas friends together, & said vnto Jonathan,

28 Seing thy brother Iudas is dead, & there is none like him to go forthe against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and against the of our nacion that are enemies vnto vs,

Or, against the enemies of our nacion.

29 Therefore, this day we chuse thee that thou maist be our prince and captaine in his place to order our battel.

30 So Jonathan toke the gouernance vpon him at the same time, and ruled in stead of his brother Iudas.

31 But when Bacchides knewe it, he foght for to slay him.

32 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother, perceiuing that, fled into the wildernes of Thecua with all their companie, and pitched their tentes by the water poole of Asphar.

I. Maccabees.

- 34 Which when Bacchides vnderstode, he came ouer Iorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.
- 35 (Now had Jonathan sent his brother John, a captaine of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they wolde kepe their baggage which was muche.
- 36 But the children of Ambri came out of Medaba, & toke John, and all that he had, & when they had taken it, went their way.
- 37 After this came worde vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Ambri made a great mariage, & broght the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for she was daughter to one of the noblest princes of Canaan.
- 38 Therefore they remembered John their brother, and went vp, and hid them selues vnder the couert of the mountaine.
- 39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and beholde, there was a great noyce, & muche preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends and his brethren met them with tymbrels, and instruments of musike, and manie weapons.
- 40 Then Ionathans men that lay in ambu- she, rose vp against the, & slewe manie of them, and the remnant fled into the mou- taines, so that they toke all their spoiles.
- 41 Thus the mariage was turned to mour- ning, and the noyce of their melodie into lamentacion.
- 42 And so when they had aduenged the blood of their brother, they turned agai- ne vnto Iorden.
- 43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon the Sabbath day.)
- 44 Then Jonathan said vnto his companie, Let vs rise now, & fight against our ene- mies: for it is not to day as in time past.
- 45 Beholde, y battel is before vs, and behin- de vs, and the water of Iorden on this side and that side, and the marise, and forest, so y there is no place for vs to turne aside.
- 46 Wherefore crye now vnto heauen, that ye may be deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they ioyned battel.
- 47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides: but he turned aside fro him and reculed.
- 48 Then Jonathan, and they that were with him, leapt into Iorden, and swimmied ouer vnto the further bāke: but the other wolde not passe through Iorden after them.
- 49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides side about a thousand men.
- 50 Then he turned againe to Ierusalem, & buylt vp the strong cities in Iuda, as the castel of Iericho, and Emmaus, and Beth- horon, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, Pha- rathoni, & Tephon, with high walles, with gates, and with barres,
- 51 And set garisons in the, that they might vse their malice vpon Israel.
- 52 He fortified also the citie Beth-sura, and Gazara, and the castel, & set a garison in them with prouision of vitailles.
- 53 He toke also the chiefeest mens sonnes in the countrey for hostages, and put them in the castel at Ierusalem to be kept.
- 54 Afterwarde in the hundreth, fiftie and thre yere, in the seconde moneth, Alcimus commanded, that the walles of the inner court of the Sāctuarie shulde be destroied, and he pulled downe the monumentes of the Prophetes, and began to destroy them.
- 55 But at the same time Alcimus was pla- gued, and his enterprises were hindred, & his mouth was stopped: for he was smitten with a palsie, & colde no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.
- 56 Thus dyed Alcimus with great torment at the same time.
- 57 And when Bacchides sawe, that Alcimus was dead, he turned againe to the King, & so the land of Iuda was in rest two yeres.
- 58 Then all the vngodlie men helde a coun- sel, saying, Beholde, Jonathan and his com- panie dwell at ease, & without care: where- fore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and he wil take them all in one night.
- 59 So they went and consulted with him.
- 60 Who arose and came with a great ho- ste, and sent letters priuely to his adheren- tes, which were in Iudea, to take Jonathan and those that were with him: but they col- de not, for their counsel was knowen vn- to them.
- 61 And they toke fiftie men of the coun- trey, which were the chief workers of this wickednes, and slewe them.
- 62 Then Jonathan and Simon with their companie departed vnto Beth-basin which is in the wilderness, and repaired the decay thereof, and made it strong.
- 63 Whē Bacchides knewe this, he gathered all his hoste, and sent worde to them that were of Iudea.
- 64 Then came he & laid siege to Beth-ba- sin, and foght against it a long season, and made instruments of warre.
- 65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simō in the citie, & went forth into the coun- trey, and came with a certeine number,
- 66 And slewe Odomeras and his brethren and the children of Phasiron in their ten- tes: so he began to slaye, and increased in power.
- 67 Simon also and his companie went out of the citie, and burnt vp the instruments of warre,
- 68 And foght against Bacchides, and disco- fited him, and vexed him sore, so that his counsel and iorney was in vaine.
- 69 Wherefore he was very wroth at y wic- ked ked men, that gaue him counsell to come into the countrey, & slawe many of them, and purposed to returne into his owne countrey.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadours vnto him, to intreat of peace with him, & that the prisoners shulde be deliuered.

71 Which thing he accepted, and did according to his desire, and made an othe, that he wolde neuer do him harme all the daies of his life.

72 So he restored vnto him the prisoners that he had taken afore time out of the lād of Iuda, and so returned and went into his owne land, nether did he come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sworde ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Machmas, and began there to gouerne the people, and destroyed the vngodlie men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

Demetrius desireth to haue peace with Jonathan. 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Iewes. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slayne. 51 The friendship of Ptolemeus & Alexander.

Ios. Antiq. 12 chap. 13. IN the hundreth and thre score yere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and toke Ptolemais, and they receiued him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the King heard it, he gathered an exceeding great hoste, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters vnto Ionathā, with louīg wordes, as thogh he wolde preferre him.

4 For he said, We wil first make peace with him, before he ioine with Alexander against vs.

5 Els he wil remember all the euil that we haue done against him, & against his brethren and his nacion.

6 And so he gaue Jonathan leaue to gather an hoste, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commanded the hostages that were in the castel, to be deliuered vnto him.

7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Ierusalem, and red the letters in the audience of all the people, & of them that were in the castel.

8 Therefore they were sore afraied, because they heard that the King had giue him licence to gather an armie.

9 So they that were of the castel, deliuered the hostages vnto Jonathan, who restored them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Ierusalem; & began to buyld, and repaire the citie.

11 And he commanded the workemen to buyld the walles, & the mount Sion rounde about with hewen stone, to fortifie it; & so they did.

12 Then the strangers that were in the castels which Bacchides had made, fled, 13 So that euerie man left his place, & went into his owne countrey.

14 Onely at Beth-sura remained certeine which had forsaken the Law and the commandements: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when King Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made vnto Jonathan: and when it was tolde him of the battels and noble actes, which he and his brethren had done, and of the paines that they had indured, 16 He said, Might we finde suche a mā now, therefore we wil make him our friend and confederate.

17 Vpon this he wrote a letter, and sent it vnto him, with these wordes, saying, 18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan sendeth salutation.

19 We haue heard of thee, that thou art a very valiant man, and worthie to be our friend.

20 Wherefore this day we ordeine thee to be the hie Priest of thy nacion, and to be called the Kings friend: and he sent him a purple robe, and a crowne of golde, that thou maist consider what is for our profite, and kepe friendship toward vs.

21 So in the seuēth moneth of the hundreth and thre score yere, vpon the feast daye of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holie garment, & gathered an hoste, & prepared many weapons.

22 ¶ Which when Demetrius heard, he was marueilous sory, and said, 23 What haue we done, that Alexander hath preuented vs in getting the friendship of the Iewes for his strength?

24 Yet wil I write and exhorde them, and promes them dignities and rewardes, that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote vnto them these wordes, KING DEMETRIUS vnto the nacions of the Iewes sendeth greting.

26 We haue heard that ye haue kept your couenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and haue not ioined with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine stil, and kepe fidelitie toward vs, and we wil recompense you for the good things that ye haue done for vs, 28 And wil release you of many charges, & giue you rewardes.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Iewes from tributes, & fre you from the customes of salte, and the crowne taxes, and from the thirde parte of the sede.

30 And fro the halfe of the frute of y trees which is mine owne duetie, I so release the a And of the countrie beyon de Iorden, as Iosephus writteth.

- that fro this day forth, none shal take any thing of the land of Iuda, or of the thre gouernements which are added thereunto as of Samaria and of Galile, a from this daye forth for euer more.
- 31 Ierusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shalbe holie and fre from the tenthes and tributes.
- 32 Also I release the power of the castel which is at Ierusalem, and giue it vnto the hie Priest, y he may set in it suche men, as he shal chuse to kepe it.
- 33 Moreouer I frely deliuer euerie one of the Iewes that were taken away prisoners out of the land of Iuda through out all my realme, and euerie one of them shalbe free from tributes, yea, euen their catel,
- 34 And all the feastes, and Sabbaths, & new moones, and the daies appointed and the thre daies before the feast, & the thre daies after the feast, shalbe daies of fredome & libertie for all the Iewes in my realme,
- 35 So that in them no man shal haue power to do any thing, or to vexe any of them in any maner of cause.
- 36 Also thirtie thousand of the Iewes shalbe written vp in the Kings hoste, and haue their wages paid them as apperteineth to all them that are of the Kings armie: and of the shalbe ordeined certeine to kepe y Kings strong holdes.
- 37 And some of them shalbe set ouer the Kings moste secret affaires, and their gouernours and their princes shalbe of them selues, and they shal liue after their owne lawes, as the King hath comanded in the land of Iuda.
- 38 And the thre gouernements that are added vnto Iudea from the countrie of Samaria, shalbe ioyned vnto Iudea, and they shalbe as vnder one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.
- 39 And I giue Ptolemais & the borders thereof vnto the Sanctuarie at Ierusalem, for the necessarie expēses of the holie things.
- 40 Moreouer, I wil giue euerie yere fiftene thousand sicles of siluer of the Kings reuenues out of the places apperteining vnto me.
- 41 And all the ouerplus which they haue not paid for the things due, as they did in the former yeres, from hence forth they shal giue it towarde the workes of the Temple.
- 42 And besides this, the fise thousand sicles of siluer which they receiued yerely of the accounte appointed for the interteinemēt of the Sanctuarie, these yeres passed, euen these things shalbe released because they appertene to the Priests that minister.
- 43 Item, whosoever they be that flee vnto the Temple at Ierusalem, or within the liberties thereof, and are indetted to y King for any maner of thing, they shalbe pardoned, and all that they haue in my realme.
- 44 For the buylding also and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuarie, expēses shalbe giuen of the Kings reuenues.
- 45 And for the making of the walles of Ierusalem, and fortifying it rounde about that the holdes in Iudea may be buylt vp, shal also the costes be giuen out of the Kings reuenues.
- 46 ¶ But when Jonathan & the people heard these wordes, they gaue no credit vnto the, nether receiued them: for they remembred the great wickednes that he had done in Israel, and how sore he had vexed them.
- 47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for he was the first that had inreated of true peace with them, and so were confederat with him alway.
- 48 Then gathered King Alexander a great hoste, & camped ouer against Demetrius.
- 49 So the two Kings ioyned battel, but Demetrius hoste fled, and Alexander pursued him, and preuailed against them.
- 50 So that sore battel continued til the sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.
- 51 ¶ Then Alexander sent ambassadours vnto Ptolemeus the King of Egypt with these wordes, saying,
- 52 For so muche as I am come againe to my realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, and haue destroyed Demetrius, and enioye my countrey,
- 53 Seing that I haue euen giuen him the batel, and he and his armie is discomfited by me, & I sit in the throne of his kingdome,
- 54 Let vs now make friēdship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shal I be thy sonne in law, and giue thee rewardes, and vnto her things according to thy dignitie.
- 55 Then Ptolemeus the King gaue answer, saying, Happie be the day, wherein thou art come againe vnto the lande of thy fathers, and fittest in the throne of their kingdome.
- 56 Now therefore wil I fulfil thy writing: but mete me at Ptolemais that we may se one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.
- 57 So Ptolemeus wet out of Egypt with his daughter Cleopatra, & came vnto Ptolemais in the hūdreth threscore & two yere,
- 58 Where King Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemais with great glorie, as the maner of Kings is.
- 59 ¶ Then wrote King Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he shulde come and mete him.
- 60 So he went honorably vnto Ptolemais, and there he met the two Kings, and gaue them

- them great presents of siluer and golde, and to their friends, and founde fauour in their sight.
- 61 And there assembled certeine pestilent felowes of Israel, & wicked men to accuse him: but the King wolde not heare them.
- 62 And the King commanded that they shulde take of the garments of Ionathan, & clothe him in purple: and so they did: & the King appointed him to sit by him,
- 63 And said vnto his princes, Go with him into the middes of the citie, and make a proclamacion, that no man complaine against him of anie matter, & that no man trouble him for anie maner of cause.
- 64 So when his accusers sawe his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled all away.
- 65 And the King preferred him to honour, and wrote him among his chief friends, and made him a duke, and partaker of his dominion.
- 66 Thus Ionathan returned to Ierusalem with peace and gladnes.
- 67 ¶ In the hundreth, thre score & siue yere came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius from Creta into his fathers land.
- 68 Whereof whē King Alexander heard, he was verie sorie, and returned vnto Antiochia.
- 69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius y<sup>e</sup> gouernour of Celosyria, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Iamnia, and sent vnto Ionathan the hie Priest, saying,
- 70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy self against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why doest thou vant thy self against vs in the mountaines?
- 71 Now then if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine field & there let vs trye the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.
- 72 Aske and learne who I am, and thei shal take my parte: and they shal tell thee that your fote is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene twise chafed in their owne land.
- 73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen and foreme in the plaine, where is nether stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?
- 74 When Ionathan heard the wordes of Apollonius, he was moued in his mide: wherefore he chose ten thousand men, and went out of Ierusalem, & Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.
- 75 And he pitched his tents at Ioppe: but they shut him out of the citie: for Apollonius garison was in Ioppe.
- 76 Then they fought against it, and they that were in the citie, for verie feare let him in: so Ionathan wan Ioppe.
- 77 Apollonius hearing of this, toke thre thousand horseme with a great hoste of footemen & went towarde Azotus, as thogh he wolde go forwarde, & came immediatly into y<sup>e</sup> plaine field, because he had so manie horsemen, and put his trust in them.
- 78 So Ionathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his arriere bande.
- 79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behinde them in ambush.
- 80 And Ionathan knewe that there was an ambushment behinde him, and thogh they had compassed in his hoste, & shot darteres at the people from the morning to the euening,
- 81 Yet the people stode stil, as Ionathan had commanded them, til their horses were wearie.
- 82 Then broght Simon forthe his hoste, & set them against the bande: but the horses were wearie, and he discomfited them, & thei fled: so the horsemen were scattered in the field,
- 83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that thei might there saue them selues.
- 84 But Ionathan set fyre vpon Azotus and all the cities rounde about it, & toke their spoiles, and burnt with fyre the temple of Dagon with all the that were fled into it.
- 85 Thus were slayne and burnt about eight thousand men.
- 86 So Ionathan remoued the hoste from thence, and camped by Ascalon, where the men of the citie came forthe, & met him with great honour.
- 87 After this went Ionathan and his hoste againe to Ierusalem with great spoiles.
- 88 And when King Alexander heard these things, he begā to do Ionathan more honour,
- 89 And sent him a colar of golde, as the vse is to be giuen vnto suche as are of the Kings blood: he gaue him also Accaron, with the borders thereof in possession.

I. Maccabees.

- 3 Now when he entered into the citie of Ptolemais, he lefte bands and garisons in euerie citie.
- 4 And when he came nere to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagō that was burnt, and Azotus, and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that he had burnt in the battel: for they had made heapes of them by the way where he shulde passe.
- 5 And thei tolde the King what Jonathan had done, to the intēt thei might get him euil wil: but the King helde his peace.
- 6 And Jonathan met the King with great honour at Ioppe, where they saluted one another, and laye there.
- 7 So when Jonathan had gone with y King vnto the water that was called Eleutherus, he turned againe to Ierusalem.
- 8 So King Ptolemeus gate the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander,
- 9 ¶ And sent ambassadours vnto King Demetrius, sayīg, Come, let vs make a league betwene vs, and I wil giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hathe, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdome.
- 10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for he goeth about to slaye me.
- 11 Thus he scandered Alexander, as one that shulde desire his realme.
- 12 And he toke his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsoke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly known.
- 13 Then Ptolemeus came to Antiochia, where he set two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia and of Egypt.
- 14 In the meane season was King Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwelt in those places, had rebelled against him:
- 15 But when Alexander heard it, he came to warre against him, and Ptolemeus brought forth his hoste, and met him with a mightie power, and put him to flight.
- 16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemeus was exalted.
- 17 And Zabdiel the Arabian smote of Alexanders head, & sent it vnto Ptolemeus.
- 18 But the third day after, King Ptolemeus dyed: and thei that were in the holdes, were slayne one of another.
- 19 And Demetrius reigned in the hūdreth, thre score and seuenth yere.
- 20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Iudea, to laye siege vnto the castle, which was at Ierusalem, and they made manie instruments of warre against it.
- 21 Then went there certeine vngodlie persones (which hated their owne people) vnto King Demetrius, and tolde him that Ionathan besieged the castle.
- 22 So when he heard it, he was angrie, and immediatly came vnto Ptolemais, & wrote vnto Jonathan, that he shulde laye no more siege vnto it, but that he shulde meete him and speake with him at Ptolemais in all haste.
- 23 Neuertheles when Jonathan heard this, he commanded to besiege it: he chose also certeine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priests, and put him self in danger,
- 24 And toke with him siluer and golde, and apparel, and diuerse presents, and went to Ptolemais vnto the King, and founde fauour in his sight.
- 25 And thogh certeine vngodlie men of his owne nacion had made complaintes vpon him,
- 26 Yet the King intreated him as his predecessors had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends,
- 27 And confirmed him in the hie priest-hode with all the honorable things, that he had afore, & made him his chief friēd.
- 28 Jonathan also desired the King, that he wolde make Iudea fre with the thre gouernemēts, & the countrey of Samaria, & Jonathan promised him thre hūdreth talents.
- 29 Whereunto the King consented, & gaue Jonathan writing of the same, contēning these wordes,
- 30 KING DEMETRIUS vnto his brother Jonathan, and to the nacion of the Iewes sendeth greting.
- 31 We send you here a copie of the letter, which we did write vnto our cousin Lasthenes concerning you, that ye shulde se it.
- 32 King Demetrius vnto Lasthenes his father sendeth greting.
- 33 For the faithfulness that our friends the nacion of the Iewes kepe vnto vs, and for their good wil towards vs we are determined to do them good.
- 34 Wherefore we assigne to the coasts of Iudea with the thre gouernements Apherema, and Lydda, and Ramathe (which are added vnto Iudea from the countrey of Samaria) and all that apperteineth to all them that sacrifice in Ierusalem: bothe concerning the paiments which the King toke yerely aforetime, bothe for the frutes of the earth, & for the frutes of the trees.
- 35 As for the other things apperteining vnto vs of the renths & tributes, which were due vnto vs, and the customes of salte, & crowne taxes, which were payed vnto vs, we discharge the of all frō hence forth.
- 36 And nothing hereof shalbe reuoked frō this time forth and for euer.
- 37 Therefore se that ye make a copie of these things, and deliuer it vnto Ionathā, that it may be set vp vpon the holy mount in an open place.

- 38 After this when Demetrius the King sawe that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his hoste, euerie man to his owne place, except certeine bandes of strangers, whome he broght from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his fathers hoste hated him.
- 39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had bene of Alexanders parte afore, which whē he sawe that all y<sup>e</sup> hoste murmured against Demetrius, he went to Simalcue the Arabian, that broght vp Antiochus the sonne of Alexander,
- 40 And lay fore vpon him, to deliuer him this yong Antiochus, that he might reigne in his fathers stead: he tolde him also what great euil Demetrius had done, and how his men of warre hated him, and he remained there a long season.
- 41 Also Jonathan sent vnto King Demetrius to driue them out which were in the castel at Ierusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they foght against Israel.
- 42 So Demetrius sent vnto Ionathā, saying, I wil not onely do these things for thee & thy nation, but if opportunitie serue, I wil honour thee and thy nation.
- 43 Now therefore thou shalt do me a pleasure, if thou wilt send me mē to helpe me: for all mine armie is gone from me.
- 44 So Ionathā sent him thre thousand strōg men vnto Antiochia, and they came vnto the King: wherefore the King was verie glad at their comming.
- 45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, euen an hundreth, and twentie thousand men, gathered them together in the middes of the citie, & wolde haue slaine the King.
- 46 But the King fled into the palace, & the citizens kept the stretes of the citie, and beganne to fight.
- 47 Then the King called to the Iewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroad through the citie,
- 48 And slewe the same day an hūdreth thousand, and set fyre vpon the citie, and toke many spoiles in that day, & deliuered the King.
- 49 So when the citizens sawe that the Iewes had gotten th<sup>e</sup> vpper hand of the citie, and that they them selues were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication vnto the King, saying,
- 50 "Grant vs peace, and let the Iewes cease from vexing vs and the citie.
- 51 So they cast away their weapons, & made peace, and the Iewes were greatly honored before the King, and before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Ierusalem with great pray.
- 52 Then King Demetrius sat in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.
- 53 Neuertheles he dissembled in all that euer he spake, and withdrewe him self from Jonathan, nether did he rewarde him according to the benefites which he had done for him, but troubled him verie sore.
- 54 ¶ After this returned Tryphon with the yong childe Antiochus, which reigned, & was crowned.
- 55 Then there gathered vnto him all the mē of warre, whome Demetrius had scatered, and they foght against him, who fled and turned his backe.
- 56 So Tryphon toke the "beastes, and wan <sup>Or, elephant.</sup> Antiochia.
- 57 And yong Antiochus wrote vnto Jonathan, saying, I appoint thee to be the chief Priest, and make thee ruler ouer the foure gouernements, that thou maist be a friend of the Kings.
- 58 Vpon this he sent him golden vessels to be serued in, and gaue him leaue to drinke in golde, and to weare purple, & to haue a colar of golde.
- 59 He made his brother Simon also captaine frō the coastes of Tyrus vnto the borders of Egypt.
- 60 Then Jonathan went forth and passed through the cities beyonde the flood, and all the men of warre of Syria gathered vnto him for to helpe him: so he came vnto Ascalon, & they of the citie receiued him honorably.
- 61 And from thence went he vnto Gaza: but they of Gaza shut him out: wherefore he laid siege vnto it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fyre, and spoiled them.
- 62 Then they of Gaza made supplication vnto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and toke of the sonnes of the chief men for hostages, and sent them to Ierusalem, and went through the countrey vnto Damascus.
- 63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius priees were come into Cades, which is in Galile, with a great hoste, purposing to driue him out of the countrey,
- 64 He came against them, & left Simon his brother in the countrey.
- 65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and foght against it a long season, and shut it vp.
- 66 So they desired to haue peace with him, which he granted them, and afterwarde put them out from thence, and toke the citie, and set a garison in it.
- 67 Then Jonathan with his hoste came to the water of Genesar, and betimes in the morning came to the plaine of Azor.
- 68 And beholde the hostes of the "strangers <sup>Or, braabru.</sup> met him in the plaine, and had layed am-

I. Maccabees.

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.
70 So that all that were of Ionathans side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the sonne of Absalomus, and Judas the sonne of Calphi the captaynes of the hoste.
71 Then Ionathan rent his clothes, and cast earth vpon his head, and prayed, 72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled away.
73 Now when his owne men that were fled, sawe this, they turned againe vnto him, & helped him to followe after all vnto their tentes at Cades, and there they camped.
74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about thre thousand men, & Ionathan turned againe to Ierusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Ionathan now seing that the time was mete for him, chose certeine men, and sent them vnto Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them.
2 He sent letters also vnto the Spartians and to other places, for the same purpose.
3 So they went vnto Rome, and entred into the Senate, and said, Ionathan the hie Priest and the nacion of the Iewes sent vs vnto you, for to renewe friendship with you, and the bonde of loue, as in times past.
4 So the Romaines gaue them fre pasports, that men shulde lead them home into the land of Iuda peaccably.
5 AND THIS is the copie of the letters that Ionathan wrote vnto the Spartians, 6 Ionathan the hie Priest with the Elders of the nacion, and the Priests, and the rest of the people of the Iewes, send greting vnto the Spartians their brethren.
7 Heretofore were letters sent vnto Onias the hie Priest, from Arius, which then reigned among you, that ye wolde be our brethren, as the copie here vnder written specifieth.
8 And Onias intreated the ambassadour honorably, and receiued the letters: wherein there was mencion made of the bonde of loue and friendship.
9 But as for vs, we nede no suche writings: for we haue the holy bokes in our hands for comfort.
10 Neuertheles we thoght it good to send vnto you, for the renewing of the brotherhode and friendship, lest we shulde be strange vnto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent vnto vs.

11 Wherefore we remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feastes and other daies appointed when we offre sacrifices and prayers, as it is mete and conuenient to thinke vpon our brethren.
12 And we reioyce at your prosperous estate.
13 And thogh we haue bene enuironed with great troubles & warres, so that the Kings rounde about vs haue fought against vs, 14 Yet wolde we not be grieuous vnto you, nor to other of our cofederates & friends in these warres.
15 For we haue had helpe from heauen, that hath soccoured vs, and we are deliuered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.
16 Yet haue we chosen Numenius the sonne of Antiöchus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason, and sent them vnto the Romaines, for to renewe the former friendship with them, and league.
17 We commanded them also to go vnto you, and to salute you, and to deliuer you our letters, concerning the renewing of our brotherhode.
18 And now ye shal do vs a pleasure to giue vs an answer of these things.
19 And this was the copie of the letters, which Arius the King of Sparta sent vnto Onias.
20 THE KING of the Spartians vnto Onias the hie Priest sendeth greting.
21 It is founde in writing, that the Spartians and Iewes are brethren, and come out of the generacion of Abraham.
22 And now for somuche as this is come to our knowledge, ye shal do wel, to write vnto vs of your prosperitie.
23 As for vs, we haue written vnto you, that your cattel and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things haue we commanded to be shewed vnto you.
24 Now when Ionathan heard, that Demetrius princes were come to fight against him, with a greater hoste then afore, 25 He went from Ierusalem, and met them in the land of Hamath: for he gaue the not space to come into his owne countrey.
26 And he sent spies vnto their tetes, which came againe, and tolde him, that they were appointed to come vpon him in the night.
27 Wherefore, whē the sunne was gone downe, Ionathan commanded his men to watche, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, & sent watchmen rounde about the hoste.
28 But when the aduersaries heard that Ionathan was ready with his men to the batcel, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, hearts, and kindled fyres in their tentes, and fled away.

39 Neuertheles Jonathan and his companie knewe it not til the morning: for thei sawe the fyres burning.

40 Then Ionathan followed vpon them, but he colde not ouertake them: for they were gone ouer the flood Eleutherus.

41 So Ionathā turned to the Arabiās, which were called Zabedei, and slewe them, and toke their spoile.

42 He proceded further also, and came vnto Damascus, and went through all the countrey.

43 But Simon his brother went forthe, and came to Ascalon and to the next holdes, departing vnto Ioppe, and wanne it.

44 For he heard that they wolde deliuer the holde to them that toke Demetrius parte: wherefore he set a garison there to kepe it.

45 ¶ After this came Jonathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and deuised with them for to buyld vp the strong holdes in Iudea, 46 And to make the walles of Ierusalem hier, and to make a great mount betwixt the castel and the citie, for to separate it from the citie, that it might be alone, and that men shulde nether bye, nor sel in it.

47 So they came together to buyld vp the citie: for parte of the wall vpon the broke of the East side was fallen downe, and they repaired it, and called it Caphenatha.

48 Simon also set vp Adida in Sephela, & made it strong with gates and barres.

49 ¶ In the meane time Tryphon purposed to reigne in Asia, and to be crowned when he had slaine the King Antiochus.

50 But he was afraied that Jonathan wolde not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Jonathan, and to kil him: so he departed, and came vnto Bethsan.

51 Then went Ionathā forthe against him to the battel with fortie thousand chosen men, and came vnto Bethsan.

52 But when Tryphon sawe that Jonathan came with so great an hoste, he durst not lay hand vpon him,

53 But receiued him honorably, and commended him vnto all his friends, and gaue him rewardes, and comanded his men of warre to be as obedient vnto him as to him self,

54 And said vnto Jonathan, Why hast thou caused this people to take suche trauail, seing there is no warre betwene vs?

55 Therefore send them now home againe, and chuse certeine men to wait vpon thee, and come thou with me to Ptolemais: for I wil giue it thee, with the other strong holdes, and the other garisons, and all them that haue the charge of the cōmune affaires: so wil I returne, & departe: for this is the cause of my coming.

56 Jonathan beleued him, & did as he said, and sent away his hoste, which went into the land of Iuda, 57 And reteined but thre thousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand into Galile, & one thousand went with him self.

58 Now assone as Ionathā entred into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates, and toke him, and slewe all them with the sworde, that came in with him.

59 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of fote-men, & horsemen into Galile, & into the great plaine, to destroye all Ionathās companie.

60 But when they knewe that Ionathā was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they incouraged one another, and came forthe against them readie to the battel.

61 But when thei which followed vpon the, sawe that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

62 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, and bewailed Ionathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentacion.

63 For all the heathē that were round about them, sought to destroye them.

64 For they said, Nowe haue they no captaine, nor anie man to helpe them: therefore let vs now fight against them, and roote out their memorie from amōg men.

CHAP. XIII.

¶ After Jonathan was taken, Simon is chosen captaine. 17 Tryphon, taking his children, and money for the redemption of Jonathan, killeth him and his children. 31 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possesseth the realme. 36 Demetrius taketh truce with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaz. 50 He possesseth the tower of Zion. 53 He maketh his sonne Iohn captaine.

¶ Now when Simō heard that Tryphō gathered a great hoste to come into the land of Iuda, and to destroye it,

2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling and feare, he came vp to Ierusalem, and gathered the people together,

3 And gaue them exhortacion, saying, Ye knowe what great things I, & my brethrē, & my fathers house haue done for y Law, and the Sanctuarie, and the battels, & troubles that we haue sene.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are slaine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbide, that I shulde spare mine owne life in anie time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I wil aduenge my nacion, and the Sanctuarie, and our wiues, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered to-

- gether to destroy vs of very malice.
- 7 In hearing these wordes the hearts of the people were kindled,
- 8 So that they cryed with a loude voyce, sayig, Thou shalt be our captaine in stead of Iudas and Ionathan thy brethren.
- 9 Fight thou our battels, and whatsoeuer thou commandest vs, we wil do it.
- 10 ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making haste to finish the walles of Ierusalem, and fortified it rounde about.
- 11 Then sent he Ionathan the sonne of Abisalomus with a great hoste vnto Ioppe, which droue them out that were therein, & remained there him self.
- 12 Tryphon also remoued from Ptolemais with a great armie, to come into the lād of Iuda, & Ionathā was with him as prisoner.
- 13 And Simon pitched his tentes at Addis vpon the open plaine.
- 14 But when Tryphon knewe that Simon stode vp in stead of his brother Ionathan, & that he wolde fight against him, he sent messengers vnto him, saying,
- 15 Where as we haue kept Ionathā thy brother, it is for money that he is owing in the Kings account cōcerning the busines that he had in hand.
- 16 Wherefore send now an hundreth talents of siluer, & his two sonnes for hostages, y when he is letten forth, he wil not turne from vs, and we wil send him againe.
- 17 Neuertheles Simō knewe that he dissembled in his wordes, yet commanded he the money and children to be deliuered vnto him, lest he shulde be in greater hatred of the people of Israel.
- 18 Who might haue said, Because he sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Ionathan dead.
- 19 So he sent the children and an hundreth talents: but he dissembled, and wolde not let Ionathan go.
- 20 ¶ Afterwarde came Tryphon into the land to destroye it, & went rounde about by the way, that leadeth vnto Adora: but wherefoeuer they went, thither went Simō and his hoste.
- 21 Now they that were in the castel, sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that he shulde make haste to come by the wilderness, & to send them vitailles.
- 22 So Tryphon made readie all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snowe, so that he came not, because of the snowe: but he remoued and went into the countrey of Galaad.
- 23 And when he came nere to Bascama, he slewe Ionathan and he was buried there.
- 24 So Tryphon returned, & went into his owne land.
- 25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Ionathan his brother, & they buried him in Modin his fathers cities.
- 26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentacion, & mourned for him verie long.
- 27 And Simon made vpon the sepulchre of his father & his brethren, a buylding high to loke vnto, of hewen stone behinde and before,
- 28 And set vp seuen pillers vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren,
- 29 And set great pillers round about them, and set armes vpon the pillers for a perpetual memorie, and carued shippes beside the armes, that they might be sene of men sailing in the sea.
- 30 This sepulchre which he made at Modin, standeth yet vnto this day.
- 31 ¶ Now as Tryphon wēt forth with the yong King Antiochus, he slewe him traitterously,
- 32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned him self King of Asia, and broght a great plague vpon the land.
- 33 Simon also buylte vp the castels of Iudea, and compassed them about with high towers, & great walles, euen with towers, and gates and barres, and laid vp vitailles in the strong holdes.
- 34 Moreouer Simon chose certeine men and sent them to King Demetrius, that he wolde discharge the lād: for all Tryphons doings were robberies.
- 35 Whereupon Demetrius the King answered him, and wrote vnto him after this maner,
- 36 DEMETRIUS the King vnto Simon the high Priest, and the friend of Kings, and to the Elders and to the nation of the Iewes sendeth greting.
- 37 The golden crowne, and precious stone that ye sent vnto vs, haue we receiued, and are readie to make a stedfast peace with you, and to write vnto the officers, to release you of the things wherein we made you fre.
- 38 So the things that we haue granted you, shalbe stable: the strong holdes which ye haue buylded, shalbe your owne.
- 39 Also we forgiue the ouersights, and fautes comitted vnto this day, and the crowne tax that ye ought vs: and where as was anie other tribute in Ierusalem, it shalbe now no tribute.
- 40 And they that are mete among you to be writen with our men, let them be writē vp, that there may be peace betwene vs.
- 41 Thus the yoke of the heathē was takē frō Israel in the hundreth, & seuentie yere.
- 42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters, & publike instruments, N THE FIRST yere of Simō, the high and chief Priest, gouernour, and prince of the Iewes.

- 44 So thei that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was great trouble in the citie,
- 45 In so muche that the people of the citie rent their clothes, and climed vp vpon the walles with their wiues, and children, and cryed with a loude voyce, beseeching Simon to grant them peace, saying,
- 46 Deale not with vs according to our wickednes, but according to thy mercie.
- 47 Then Simon pitied them, and wolde fight no more against them, but put them out of the citie, and clenfed the houses, wherein the idoles were, and so entred thereunto with psalmes and thankesgiuing.
- 48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set suche men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and buylded there a dwelling place for him self.
- 49 Now, when they in the castel at Ierusalem were kept, that they colde not come forth nor go into the countrey, nether by nor sel, they were very hungrie, and manie of them were famished to death,
- 50 In so muche that they besought Simon to make peace with them: which he granted them, and put them out from thence, and clenfed the castel from filthines.
- 51 And vpon the thre, and twentie day of the seconde moneth in the hundreth, seuentie and one yere, they entred into it with thankesgiuing, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbales, and with viroles, and with psalmes, and songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.
- 52 And he ordeined that the same day shulde be kept euerie yere with gladnes.
- 53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was beside the castel where he dwelt him self with his companie.
- 54 Simon also seing that Iohn his sonne was now a mā, he made him captaine of all the hostes, & caused him to dwell in Gazaris.
- Demetrius, and toke him, and broght him to Arsaces, which kept him in ward.
- 4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon liued: for he sought the welth of his nacion: therefore were they glad to haue him for their ruler, and to do him worship alway.
- 5 Simon also wanne the citie of Ioppe to his great honour to be an haven towne, and made it an entrance vnto the yles of the sea.
- 6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreis.
- 7 He gathered vp manie of their people that were prisoners, and he had the dominion of Gazaris, and Beth-sura, and the castel, which he clenfed from filthines, & there was no man that resisted him,
- 8 So that euerie man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gaue her frutes, & the trees gaue their frute.
- 9 The Elders sat in the open places, & consulted altogether for the commune welth, and the yong men were honorably clothed and armed.
- 10 He provided vitales for the cities, and all kinde of munition, so that his glorious fame was renoumed vnto the end of the worlde.
- 11 He made peace thorow out the land, and Israel had perfite mirth and ioye.
- 12 For euerie mā sate vnder his vine, & the fig trees, & there was no man to fray them.
- 13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then the Kings were overcome.
- 14 He helped all those that were in aduersitie among his people: he was diligent to see the Law kept, and he toke away the vngodlie, and wicked.
- 15 He beautified the Sanctuary, and encreased the vessels of the Temple.
- 16 When the Romans heard, and the Spartians had knowledge, that Jonathan was dead, they were very sorie.
- 17 But when they heard, that Simon his brother was made high Priest in his steade, & how he had wonne the land againe with the cities in it,
- 18 They wrote vnto him in tables of brasse, to renewe the friendship, and bonde of loue, which they had made with Iudas & Jonathan his brethren.
- 19 Which writings were red before the congregacion at Ierusalem, and this is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent,
- 20 THE SENATORS and citie of Sparta vnto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the residue of the people of the Iewes their brethren send greting.
- 21 When your ambassadours that were sent vnto our people, certified vs of your glorie

CHAP. XIII.

Demetrius is overcome of Arsaces. 11 Simon being captaine, there is great quietnes in Israel. 12 The covenant of friendship with the Romans, and with the people of Sparta is renewed.

IN the hundreth, seuentie and two yere gathered King Demetrius his hoste, & departed vnto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

But when Arsaces the King of Persia and Media heard, that Demetrius was entred within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him alive.

So he went, and overcame the armie of

I. Maccabees.

- & honour, we were glad of their coming,
- 21 And haue registred their ambassage in y<sup>e</sup> publike recordes in this maner, Numenius the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Iason the Iewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renewe amitie with vs.
- 22 And it pleased the people, that the men shulde be honorably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage shulde be registred in the publike recordes, that it might be for a memorial vnto the people of Sparta: and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chief Priest.
- 23 After this Simon sent Numenius to Rome, with a great shield of golde of a thousand pounce weight, to confirme the friendship with them.
- 24 Which when the people vnderstode, they said, What thanks shal we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?
- 25 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father haue stablished Israel, and ouercome their enemies, and haue confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it vpon pillars in mount Sion.
- 26 The copie of the writing is this, In the eight and twentie day of the moneth<sup>e</sup> Elul in the hundreth, seuentie and two yere, in the thirde yere of Simon the high Priest.
- 27 In Saramel in the great cōgregacion of the Priests, and of the people, and of the gouernours of the nacion, and of the Elders of the countrei, we wolde signifie vnto you, y<sup>e</sup> manie battels haue bene foughten in our countrey.
- 28 Wherein Simon the sonne of Mattathias (come of the children of Iareb) and his brethren put them selues in dāger, and resisted the enemies of their nacion, that their Sanctuarie, and Law might be maintained, & did their nacion great honour.
- 29 For Jonathan gathered his nacion together, and became their high Priest, and is laid with his people.
- 30 After that wolde their enemies haue inuaded their countrey, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuarie.
- 31 Then Simō resisted them, & fought for his nacion, and spent muche of his owne substance, and armed the valiant men of his nacion, and gaue them wages.
- 32 He fortified also the cities of Iudea, and Beth-sura that lyeth vpon the borders of Iudea (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garison of the Iewes.
- 33 And he fortified Ioppe, which lyeth vpon the sea, and Gazara that bordreth vpon Azotus (where the enemies dwelt afore) and there he placed Iewes, and furnished them with thi<sup>ngs</sup> necessarie for the reparation thereof.
- 34 Now when the people sawe the faithfulness of Simon, and to what glorie he thought to bring his nacion vnto, they made him their gouernour, and the chief Priest, because he had done all these things, and for the vprightnes, and fidelitie that he had kept to his nacion, and that sought by all meanes to exalte his people.
- 35 For in his time they prospered wel by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their countrey, and they also which were in the citie of Dauid at Ierusalem, where they had made them a castel, out of the which they wēt, and defiled all things that were about the Sanctuarie, and did great hurt vnto religion.
- 36 And he set Iewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land, and citie, and raised vp the walles of Ierusalem.
- 37 And King Demetrius confirmed him in his high priesthode for these causes,
- 38 And made him one of his friends, and gaue him great honour.
- 39 For it was reported that the Romans called the Iewes their friends, and confederates, & that they honorably receiued Simons ambassadours,
- 40 And that the Iewes, & Priests cōsented, that Simon shulde be their prince, & high Priest perpetually, til God raised vp the true Prophet,
- 41 And that he shulde be their captaine, and haue the charge of the Sanctuarie, and so set men ouer the workes, and ouer the countrey, and ouer the weapons, and ouer the forteresses, and that shulde make prouision for the holie things,
- 42 And that he shulde be obeyed of every man, and that all the writings in the countrey shulde be made in his name, and that he shulde be clothed in purple, and weare golde,
- 43 And that it shulde not be lawful for anie of the people or Priests to breake anie of these things, or to withstand his wordes, or to call anie congregacion in the countrey without him, or be clothed in purple, or weare a colar of gold:
- 44 And if anie did contrarie to these things or brake anie of them, he shulde be punished.
- 45 So it pleased all the people to agre that it shulde be done to Simon according vnto these wordes.
- 46 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the captaine, & the prince of the Iewes, and of the Priests, and to be the chief of all.
- 47 And they commanded to set vp this writing in tables of brasse, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuarie in an open place, 49 And that a copie of the same shulde be laied vp in the tresurie, that Simon and his sonnes might haue it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simō
11 Tryphon is pursued. 15 The Romans write lettres vnto Kings and nations in the defence of the Iewes.
27 Antiochus refusing the helpe that Simon sent him, breaketh his covenant.

1 Moreouer King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent lettres from the yles of the sea vnto Simon the Priest, and prince of the Iewes, and to all the nation,

2 Cōteining these wordes, ANTIOCHVS the King vnto Simon the great Priest, & to the nation of the Iewes sendeth gretting.

3 For so muche as certein pestilent men haue vsurped y<sup>e</sup> kingdome of our fathers, I am purposed to chalenge the realme againe, and to restore it to the olde estate: wherefore I haue gathered a great hoste, and prepared shippes of warre,

4 That I may go thorowe the countrey, & be aduenged of them, which haue destroyed our countrey, and wasted manie cities in the realme.

5 Now therefore I do confirme vnto thee all the liberties, whereof all the Kings my progenitours haue discharged thee, and all the paiments, whereof they haue released thee.

6 And I giue thee leaue to coyne money of thine owne stampe within thy countrey,

7 And that Ierusalem, and the Sanctuarie be fre, and that all the weapons, that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast buylded, & kepest in thine hāds, shalbe thine.

8 And all that is due vnto the King, and all that shalbe due vnto y<sup>e</sup> King, I forgiue it thee, from this time forth for euermore.

9 And when we haue obtained our kingdome, we wil giue thee, & thy nation & the Temple great honour, so that your honor shalbe knowne thorowe out the worlde.

10 ¶ In the hūdreth, seuentie & foure yere, went Antiochus into his fathers land, and all the bandes came together vnto him, so that fewe were left with Tryphon.

11 So the King Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Dorā, which lyeth by the sea side.

12 For he sawe that troubles were towarde him, and that the armie had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Dorā with an hundreth and twentie thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the citie about, and the shippes came by the sea. Thus they pressed the citie by land, & by sea, in so muche that thei suffered no man to go in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Numenius, and his companie from Rome, hauing lettres written vnto the Kings and countreis, wherein were contained these wordes, 16 LVCIVS THE Consul of Rome vnto King Ptolemeus sendeth gretting.

17 The ambassadours of y<sup>e</sup> Iewes are come vnto vs as our friends and confederates from Simon the hie Priest, and from the people of the Iewes to renue friendship, and the bonde of loue, 18 Who haue brought a shield of golde weying a thousand pounce.

19 Wherefore we thought it good to write vnto the Kings and countreis, that they shulde not go about to hurt them, nor to fight against them, nor their cities, nor their countreie, nether to mainteine their enemies against them.

20 And we were content to receiue of them the shield.

21 If therefore there be anie pestilēt felowes fled from their countrey vnto you, deliuer them vnto Simon the hie Priest, that he maye punish them according to their owne Law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the King, and to Attalus, and to Arathes and to Arsaces, 23 And to all countreis, as <sup>Or, Sampfacs.</sup> Sampfames, and to them of Sparta, and to Delus, and to Mindus and to Sicion, and to Caria, and to Samos, and to Pamphylia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodus, and to Phaselis, and to Cos, and to Siden, and to Cortyna, and to Gnidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copie of them to Simon the hie Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the King cāped against Dorā the seconde time euer readie to take it, and made diuers engins of warre, and kept Tryphon in, that he colde nether go in nor out.

26 Thē Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with siluer & golde, and muche furniture.

27 Neuertheles, he wolde not receiue thē, but brake all the covenant, which he had made with him afore, and withdrewe him self from him,

28 And sent vnto him Athenobius one of his friends to commune with him, saying, Ye withholde Ioppe, and Gazara with the castle that is at Ierusalem, the citie of my realme, 29 Whose borders ye haue destroyed and done great hurt in the land, and haue the gouernement of manie places of my kingdome.

30 Wherefore now deliuer the cities, which ye haue taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye haue rule ouer without the borders of Iudea,

31 Or els giue me for them fīue hundreth talents of filuer, and for the harme that ye haue done, and for the tributes of the places other fīue hundreth talents: if not, we wil come, and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the Kings friend came to Ierusalem, & when he sawe the honour of Simon, and the cubbert of golde and filuer plate, and so great preparacion, he was astonished, and tolde him the Kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and said vnto him, We haue nether taken other mens lāds, nor withholden that which apperteineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had vnrighteously in possession a certēne time.

34 But when we had occasion, we recouered the inheritance of our fathers.

Or, complaineth constraining.

35 And whereas thou<sup>r</sup> requirest Ioppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and through our countrey, yet wil we giue an hundreth talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one worde, 36 But turned againe angrie vnto the King, and tolde him all these wordes, and the dignitie of Simon, with all that he had sene: and the King was verie angrie.

37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by shippe vnto Orthosias.

38 Then the King made Cendebeus captaine of the sea coast, and gaue him bādes of fotemen and horsen, 39 And cōmanded him to remoue y<sup>e</sup> hoste towarde Iudea, and to buylde vp Cedron, & to fortifie the gates, & to warre against the people: but y<sup>e</sup> King pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebeus came vnto Iamnia, and began to vex the people, and to inuade Iudea, and to take the people prisoners, & to slay them.

41 And he buylte vp Cedron, where he set horsen and garisons, that they might make outrodes by the waies of Iudea, as the King had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebeus the captaine of Antiochus hoste is put to flight by the sonnes of Simon. 11 Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus killeth Simon and his two sonnes at a banquet. 23 Iohn killeth them that lye in waite for his life.

Ioseph Antiq. 13. chap. 12.

1 THen came Iohn vp from Gazara, & tolde Simon his father, what Cendebeus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Iudas and Iohn, and said vnto them, I, and my brethren, and my fathers house, haue euer from our youth vnto this day fought against y<sup>e</sup> enemies of Israel, & the matters haue had good successe vnder our hands, & we haue deliuered Israel often times.

3 But I am now olde, & ye by Gods mercie are of a sufficient age: be ye therefore in stead of me, & my brother, & go forth & fight for our nacion, & the helpe of heauen be with you.

4 So he chose twentie thousand fighting men of the countrey with the horsen, which went forth against Cendebeus, & rested at Modin.

5 In the morning thei arose, and went into the plaine field: & beholde, a mightie great hoste came against them bothe of foremē, & horsen: but there was a riuer betwixt them.

6 And Iohn ranged his armie ouer against him, and when he sawe that the people was afrayed to go ouer the riuer, he went ouer first him self, and the men seing him, passed through after him.

7 Then he deuided his men, & set the horsen in the middes of the fotemen.

8 For their enemies horsen were verie manie: but when thei blewe the trumpets, Cēdebeus fled with his hoste, whereof manie were slayne, & the remnant gate them to the forteresse.

9 Then was Iudas Iohns brother wounded: but Iohn followed after them, til he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had buylt.

10 Also thei fled vnto the towres, that were in the fields of Azotus, and those did Iohn burne with fyre: thus were there slaine two thousand mē of them: so he returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 ¶ Now in the field of Iericho was Ptolemeus the sonne of Abubus made captaine, and he had abundance of filuer and golde.

12 (For he had married the daughter of the hie Priest.)

13 Therefore he waxed proude in his minde, and thought to rule the land, & thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about thorowe the cities of the countrey, & studied carefully for them, he came downe to Iericho with Mattathias, and Iudas his sonnes in the hundreth, seuentie & seuen yere, in the eleuenth moneth, which is the moneth Sabat.

15 Thē the sonne of Abubus receiued them by treason into a litle holde, called Dochus, which he had buylte, where he made them a great banquet, and had hid men there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good chere, Ptolemeus stode vp with his men, and toke their weapons, and entred in to Simon in the banquet house, and slewe him with his two sonnes, and certēne of his seruants.

17 Whereby he committed a great vilenie, and recompensed euil for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolemeus these things and sent to the King, that he might send him an hoste to helpe him, & so wolde deliuer him the countrey with the cities.

- 19 He sent other men also vnto Gazara, to take Iohn, and sent letters vnto the capitaines to come to him, and he wolde giue the siluer, and golde and rewardes.
- 20 And to Ierusalem he sent other to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.
- 21 But one ranne before, and tolde Iohn in Gazara, that his father, and his brethren were slaine, and that Ptolemus had sent to slay him.
- 22 When he heard this, he was sore astonied, & laid hands of them that were come to slay him, and slewe them: for he knewe that they went about to kill him.
- 23 Concerning other things of Iohn, bothe of his warres, and of his noble actes (wherein he behaued him self manfully) of the buylding of walles which he made, and other of his dedes,
- 24 Beholde, they are writen in the chronicles of his priesthode, fro the time, that he was made high Priest after his father.

THE SECONDE BOoke of the Maccabees.

CHAP. I.

An epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Ierusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thanks for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the fyre that was hid in the pitte. 24 The prayer of Neemias.

- THE brethren the Iewes, which be at Ierusalem, & they y are in the countrey of Iudea, vnto y brethren the Iewes, that are thoroughout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.
- 2 God be gracious vnto you and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob his faithfull seruants,
- 3 And giue you all an heart, to worship him, and to do his wil with a whole heart and with a willing minde,
- 4 And open your hearts in his Law, and commandements, and send you peace,
- 5 And heare your prayers, and be reconciled with you, and neuer forsake you in time of trouble.
- 6 Thus now we praye here for you.
- 7 When Demetrius reigned, in the hundredth, threescore and nine yere, we Iewes wrote vnto you in the trouble, and violence that came vnto vs in those yeres, after that Iason, and his companie departed out of the holie land and kingdome,
- 8 And burnt the porche, and shed innocent blood. Then we praid vnto the Lord, and were heard: we offered sacrifices and fine floure, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.
- 9 Now therefore kepe ye the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in the moneth Challeu.
- 10 In the hundredth, fourescore and eight yere, the people that was at Ierusalem, and in Iudea, and the counsell and Iudas, vnto Aristobulus King Ptolemeus master, which is of the stocke of the annointed Priests, & to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greting and helth.

- 11 In so muche as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though we had ouercome the King.
- 12 For he broght them into Persia by heapes, that fought against the holie citie.
- 13 For albeit the captaine, and the armie, that was with him, seemed inuincible, yet they were slaine in the temple of Nanea, by the disceit of Naneas Priests.
- 14 For Antiochus, as though he wolde dwell with her, came thither, he, and his friends with him, to receiue money vnder the title of a dowrie.
- 15 But when the Priests of Nanea had laid it forth, and he was entred with a smale companie within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in.
- 16 And by opening a priuie dore of the vauite, they cast stones, as it were thunder, vpon the captaine & his, and hauing bruised them in pieces, they cut of their heads & threwe the to those that were without.
- 17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vp the wicked.
- 18 Whereas we are now purposed to kepe y purification of the Tēple vpon the fise & twētie day of y moneth Challeu, we thought it necessarie to certifie you thereof, y ye also might kepe the feast of y Tabernacles, & of the fyre which was giuen vs when Neemias offered sacrifice, after y he had buylt the Temple, and the altar.
- 19 For whē as our fathers were led away vnto Persia, y Priests, which sought the honor of God, toke the fyre of the altar priuely, Leuit. 24. 17. and hid it in an hollow pit, which was drie & 10. 2. in y bottom, & therein they kept it, so that & 16. 3. the place was vnknewen vnto euery mā.
- 20 Now after manie yeres when it pleased God that Neemias shulde be sent from the King of Persia, he sent of y posteritie of Zzzz.ii.

II. Maccabees.

those Priests, which had hid it to fetch the fyre, and as they tolde vs, they founde no fyre, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded he them to drawe it vp, and to bring it: and when the things appertaining to the sacrifices were brought, Neemias commanded the Priests to sprinkle the wood, and the things laid thereupon with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloude, there was a great fyre kindled, so that euerie man marueiled.

23 Now the Priests, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Jonathan began, and the other answered thereunto.

24 And the prayer of Neemias was after this maner, O Lord, Lord God maker of all things, which art feareful, and strong, & righteous, and merciful, and the onely and gracious King,

25 Onely liberal, onely iuste and almightie and euerlasting, thou that deliuerest Israel from all trouble, and hast chosen the fathers, and sanctified them,

26 Receiue the sacrifice for thy whole people of Israel, and preserve thine owne portion, and sanctifie it.

27 Gather those together, that are scared from vs: deliuer them that serue among the heathen: loke vpon them which are despised, and abhorred, that the heathen may knowe that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with pride do vs wrong.

Deut. 32.8.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holie place *as Moyses hath spoken.

30 And the Priests sang psalmes thereunto.

31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commanded the great stones to be sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light, that shined from the altar.

33 So when this matter was knowen, it was tolde the King of Persia, that in the place where the Priests, which were led away, had hid fyre, there appeared water, where with Neemias and his companie had purified the sacrifices.

34 The King tryed out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holie.

35 And to them that the King fauoured, he gaue and bestowed manie giftes.

Or, Nephth.

36 And Neemias called the same place Ephthar, which is to say, purification: but manie men call it Nephthar.

CHAP. II.

4 How Ieremie hid the tabernacle, the Arke, and the altar in the hill. 22 Of the fift booke of Iason contained in one.

IT is founde also in the writings of Ieremias the Prophet, that he commanded them, which were caried away, to take fyre, as was declared, & as the Prophet commanded the that were led into captiuitie,

2 * Giuing them a Law that they shulde not forget the commandements of y Lord, & that they shulde not erre in their mindes, when they sawe images of golde and siluer, with their ornaments. Baruc. 4.

3 These and suche other things commanded he them, and exhorted them that they shuld not let y Law go out of their hearts.

4 It is written also, how the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the tabernacle and the arke, and follow him: & when he came vp into y mountaine where Moyses went vp, *and sawe the heritage of God, Deut. 34.1.

5 Ieremias went forthe, and founde an holowe caue, wherein he laid the Tabernacle, and the Arke, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the dore.

6 And there came certeine of those that followed him, to marke the place: but they colde not finde it.

7 Which when Ieremias perceiued, he re-proued them, saying, As for that place, it shalbe vnknown, vntil the time that God gather his people together againe, & that mercie be shewed.

8 The shal the Lord shewe the these things, and the maiestie of the Lord shal appeare and the cloude also, as it was shewed vnder Moyses, and as *when Salomō desired, that the place might be honorably sanctified. 1. King. 8.21. 2. Chron. 6.21.

9 For it is manifest that he, being a wise man, offered the sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

10 *And as when Moyses prayed vnto the Lord, the fyre came downe from heauē, & consumed the sacrifice: so, when Salomon prayed, *the fyre came downe fro heauen, and consumed the burnt offering. Leu. 9.24. 1. Chron. 18.16.

11 And Moyses said, Because the sin offering was not eaten, therefore is it consumed. 2. Chron. 7.1.

12 So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13 These things also are declared in the writings, and registers of Neemias, and how he made a librarie, and how he gathered the actes of the Kings, & of the Prophets, and the actes of Dauid, and the epistles of the Kings concerning the holie giftes.

14 Euen so Iudas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we haue.

15 Wherefore if ye haue nede thereof, send some to fetch them vnto you.

16 Where as we then are about to celebrate the purification, we haue written vnto you, and ye shal do wel, if ye kepe the same dayes.

17 We hope also that the God, which deliuered all his people, and gaue an heritage to them all & the kingdome, & the priesthode, hode, and the Sanctuarie,

18 *As he promised in the Law, wil shortly haue mercy vpon vs, & gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holie place: for he hath saued vs from great perils, and hath clenfed the place.

19 As concerning Iudas Maccabeus, & his brethren, the purification of the great Temple, and the dedicacion of the altar,

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his sonne,

21 And the manifest signes, that came from heauen vnto those, which manfully stode for the Iewes religio: (for though they were but fewe, yet they rane through whole countries, and pursued the barbarous armies, 22 And repaired the Temple that was renowned thorow out all the worlde, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was merciful vnto the whole lenitie)

23 We wil assaye to abridge in one volume those things, that Iason the Cyrenean hath declared in fife booke.

24 For considering the wonderful number, & the difficultie that they haue that wolde be occupied in the rehearal of stories, because of the diuersitie of the matters, 25 We haue indeuored, that they that wolde read, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily kepe them in memorie, & that whosoever read them, might haue profite.

26 Therefore to vs that haue taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both the sweat, and watching.

27 Like as he that maketh a feast, & seeketh other mens commoditie, hath no small labour: so we also for manie mens sakes are verie wel content to vndertake this great labour.

28 Leauing to the autor the exact diligence of euerie particular, we wil labour to go forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as he that wil buylde a newe house, must prouide for the whole buylding, but he that setteth out y plat or goeth about to painte it, seeketh but onely what is comelie for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it apperteineth to the first writer of a storie to enter depely into it, and to make mencion of all things, and to be curious in euerie parte.

31 But it is permitted to him that wil shorten it, to vse fewe wordes, and to auoyde those things that are curious therein.

32 Here then wil we beginne the storie, adding thus muche to our former wordes, that it is but a foolish thing to abonde in wordes before the storie, and to be shorte in the storie.

1 Of the honour done vnto the Temple by the Kings of the Gentiles. 6 Simon uttereth what treasure is in the Temple. 7 Heliodorus is sente to take them away. 26 He is striken of God and healed at the prayer of Onias.

1 WHat time as the holy citie was inhabited with all peace, and when the Lawes were very wel kept, because of the godlines of Onias the hie Priest, and hatred of wickednes,

2 It came to passe that euen the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great giftes.

3 In so muche that Seleuchus King of Asia of his owne rentes, bare all the costes belonging to the seruice of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the hie Priest concerning the iniquitie committed in the citie.

On the first of prouision.

5 And whē he colde not ouercome Onias, he gate him to Apollonius the sonne of Thraseas, which then was gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice,

6 And tolde him that the treasure in Ierusalem was ful of innumerable money, which did not belong to the prouision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into y Kings hands.

7 Now whē Apollonius came to the King, and had shewed him of the money, as it was tolde him, the King chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandement, to bring him the foresaid money.

8 Immediately Heliodorus toke his iourney as though he wolde visite the cities of Coelosyria & Phenice, but in effect to fulfil the Kings purpose.

9 So when he came to Ierusalem, and was courteously receiued of the hie Priest into the citie, he declared what was determined concerning the money, & shewed the cause of his coming, and asked if these things were so in dede.

10 Then the hie Priest tolde him that there were suche things laide vp by y widdowes and fatherles,

11 And that a certeine of it belonged vnto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble mā, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all there were but foure hundred talents of siluer, and two hundred of golde, 12 And that it were altogether vnpossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holines of the place and Temple, which is honored thorowe the whole worlde for holines & integritie.

13 But Heliodorus because of the Kings commandement giuen him, said that in any wise it must be broght into y Kings treasure.

II. Maccabees.

- 14 So he appointed a day, and went in to take order for these things: then there was no small grief thorowout the whole citie.
- 15 For y<sup>e</sup> Priests fell downe before the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Law concerning things giuen to be kept, that they shulde be safely preferred for suche as had committed them to be kept.
- 16 Then thei that looked the high Priest in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the sorowe of his minde.
- 17 The man was so wrapped in feare & trembling of the bodie, that it was manifest to thei that looked vpon him, what sorowe he had in his heart.
- 18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes vnto the comune prayer, because y<sup>e</sup> place was like to come vnto contempt.
- 19 And the women, girt with sackcloth vnder their breastes, filled the stretes, and the virgines that were kept in, ranne some to the gates and some to the walles, & others looked out of the windowes.
- 20 And all helde vp their hands toward heauen, and made prayer.
- 21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sortes, and the expectation of the high Priest being in suche anguish.
- 22 Therefore thei called vpon the almightie Lord that he wolde kepe safe and sure the things, which were layed vp for those that had deliuered them.
- 23 Neuertheles, the thing y<sup>e</sup> Heliodorus was determined to do, that did he performe.
- 24 And as he & his souldiers were now there present by the treasure, he that is the Lord of the spirits, & of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all thei which presumed to come with him, were astonished at the power of God, and fell into feare, and trembling.
- 25 For there appeared vnto them an horse with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richely barbed, and he ranne fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his fore fete, & it seemed that he that sat vpon the horse, had harness of golde.
- 26 Moreouer, there appeared two yong men, notable in strength, excellent in beautie, and comelie in apparel, which stode by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him manie sore stripes.
- 27 And Heliodorus fel suddenly vnto the grounde, and was couered with great darkenes: but they that were with him, toke him vp, and put him in a litter.
- 28 Thus he that came with so great companie, & manie souldiers into y<sup>e</sup> said treasure, was borne out: for he colde not helpe him self with his weapons.
- 29 So they did knowe the power of God manifestly, but he was debilitated by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and helth.
- 30 And they praised the Lord that had honored his owne place: for the Temple which a litle afore was full of feare and trouble, when the almightie Lord appeared, was filled with ioye and gladnes.
- 31 Then streight wayes certeine of Heliodorus friends prayed Onias, that he wolde call vpon the moste High to grant him his life, which lay readie to giue vp the goste.
- 32 So the hie Priest, considering that the King might suspect that the Iewes had done Heliodorus some euil, he offered a sacrifice for the helth of the man.
- 33 Now when the hie Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared, and stode beside Heliodorus, saying, Giue Onias y<sup>e</sup> hie Priest great thanks: for his sake hath the Lord granted thee thy life.
- 34 And seeing that thou hast bene scourged from heauen, declare vnto all men the mightie power of God: & when they had spoken these wordes, they appeared no more.
- 35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great vowes vnto him, which had granted him his life, and thanked Onias, & went againe with his hoste to the King.
- 36 Then testified he vnto euerie man of the great workes of God that he had sene with his eyes.
- 37 And when the King asked Heliodorus, who were mete to be sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he said,
- 38 If thou hast anye enemy or traitor, send him thither, & thou shalt receiue him wel scourged, if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a special power of God.
- 39 For he that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on y<sup>e</sup> place, and defendeth it, & he beateh & destroyeth thei that come to hurt it.
- 40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasure.

CHAP. IIIT.

Simon reporteth euil of Onias. 7 Iasen obtaineth the office of the hie Priest by corrupting the King, 27 And was by Menelaus defrauded by like bribing. 34 Onias is slayne traiterously by Andronicus.

THis Simon now, of whome we spake afore, being a bewraier of the money and of his owne natural countrey, reported euil of Onias, as though he had moued Heliodorus vnto this, and had bene the inuenter of the euil.

Thus was he bolde to call him a traitour that was so beneficial to the citie, and a defender of his nacion, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But

3 But when his malice increased so farre, that thorow one that belonged to Simon, murders were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, & that Apollonius as he that was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 He went to the King not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the commune welth bothe priuately and publicly.

6 For he sawe it was not possible except the King toke order to quiet the matters, and that Simon wolde not leaue of his folie.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus, called Epiphanes, toke the kingdome, Iason the brother of Onias labored by vnlawful meanes to be hie Priest.

8 For he came vnto the King, and promised him thre hundredth and thre score talents of siluer, and of another rente, fourescore talents.

9 Besides this he promised him an hundredth and fiftie, if he might haue licence to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they wolde name them of Ierusalem Antiochians.

10 The which thing when the King had granted, & he had gotten the superioritie, he began immediatly to drawe his kinsme to the customes of the Gentiles, 11 And abolished y<sup>e</sup> friendlie priuiledges of the Kings, that the Iewes had set vp by Iohn, the father of Eupolemus, which was sent ambassadour vnto Rome, to become friends and confederates: he put downe their lawes & policies, & brought vp newe statutes, and contrarie to the Lawe.

12 For he presumed to buylde a place of exercise vnder the castel, & brought the chief yong men vnder his subiection, and made them weare hattes.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the maners of the Gentiles, and they toke vp the facions of strange nacions by the excedding wickednes of Iason, not the hie Priest, but the vngodlie persone, 14 So that the Priestes were now no more diligent about the seruice of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expenses at the playe after the casting of the stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glorie of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came vpon them: for they had them to be their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the Lawes of God, but the time following shal declare these things.

18 ¶ Now when the games that were vsed euerie fife yere, were plaide at Tyrus, the King being present, 19 This wicked Iason sent from Ierusalem men to loke vpon them, as thogh they had bene Antiochians, w<sup>h</sup> brought thre hundredth drachmes of siluer for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that caryed them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice (because it was not comelie) but to be bestowed for other expenses.

20 So he that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were giuen to the making of galleis.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menestheus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of King Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceiued that he was euil affectioned towarde his affaires, he sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioppe, and so came to Ierusalem, 22 Where he was honorably receiued of Iason, and of the citie, & was brought in with torche light, & with great showtings, and so he went with his hoste vnto Phenice.

23 Thre yere afterwarde Iason sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money vnto the King, and to bring to passe certeine necessarie affaires, whereof he had giuen him a memorial.

24 But he, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, & turned the priesthode vnto him self: for he gaue thre hundredth talents of siluer more then Iason.

25 So he gate the Kings letters patentees, albeit he had nothing in him self worthie of the hie priesthode, but bare the stomacke of a cruel tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beast.

26 The Iason, which had disceiued his owne brother, being deceiued by another, was compelled to flee into the countrey of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that he had promised vnto the King, he toke none order for it, albeit Sostratus y<sup>e</sup> ruler of the castel required it.

28 For vnto him appertained the gathering of y<sup>e</sup> customes: wherefore they were bothe called before the King.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his stead in the priesthode, and Sostratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Cyprians.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Tharsians and they of Mallot made insurrection, because they were giue to the Kings concubine called Antiochis.

II. Maccabees.

- 31 Then came the King in all haste, to appease the busines, leauing Andronicus a man of autoritie to be his lieutenant.
- 32 Now Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a cōuenient time, stole certeine vessels of golde out of the Temple, and gaue certeine of them to Andronicus: and some he solde at Tyrus & in the cities thereby.
- 33 Which when Onias knewe of a suretie, he reprovèd him, and withdrew him self into a Sāctuarie at Daphne by Antiochia.
- 34 Wherefore Menelaus, takīg Andronicus a parte, prayed him to slay Onias: so whē he came to Onias, he cōsēled him craftely, giuing him his right hand with an othe: (howbeit he suspect him, & perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuarie) so he slewe him incontinently without any regarde of righteousness.
- 35 For the which cause not onely the Iewes, but many other nacions also were grieued, and toke it heauily for the vnrighteous death of this man.
- 36 ¶ And when the King was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Iewes that were in the citie, and certeine of the Grekes that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slaine without cause.
- 37 Therefore Antiochus was sorie in his minde, and he had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.
- 38 Wherefore being kindled with angre, he toke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commanded him to be led through out the citie, and in the same place where he had cōmitted the wickednes against Onias, he was slaine as a murtherer. Thus the Lord rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserued.
- 39 ¶ Now when Lyfimachus had done many wicked dedes in the citie through the counsel of Menelaus, and the brute was spred abroad, y multitude gathered them together against Lyfimachus: for he had caryed out now muche vessel of golde.
- 40 And when the people arose, & were full of angre, Lyfimachus armed about thre thousand, & began to vse vnlaful power, a certein tyrant being their captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.
- 41 But whē they vnderstode the purpose of Lyfimachus, some gate stones, some great clubbes, and some cast handfuls of dust, which lay by, vpon Lyfimachus men, and those that inuaded them.
- 42 Whereby manie of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other chased away: but the wicked Churchrobber him self they killed besides the treasure.
- 43 For these causes an accusation was laide against Menelaus.
- 44 And when the King came to Tyrus, thre men sent from the Senat pleaded the cause before him.
- 45 But Menelaus, being now cōuincèd, promised to Ptolemeus the sonne of Dorime-nes muche money, if he wolde perswade the King.
- 46 So Ptolemeus went to the King into a courte, where as he was to coule him self, & turned the Kings minde.
- 47 In so muche that he discharged Menelaus from the accusations (notwithstanding he was the cause of all mischief) and condēned those poore men to death, which if they had tolde their cause, yea, before the Scythians, thei shulde haue bene heard as innocent.
- 48 Thus were they sone punished vniustly, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holie vessels.
- 49 Wherefore they of Tyrus hated that wickednes, and ministred all things liberally for their buryal.
- 50 And so through the couetousnes of the that were in power, Menelaus remained in autoritie, increasing in malice, and declared him selfe a great traitor to the citizēs.

CHAP. V.

2 Of the signes and tokens sene in Ierusalem. 6 Of the end and wickednes of Iason. 11 The pursute of Antiochus against the Iewes. 13 The spoiling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wilderness.

1 ABout the same time Antiochus vnder-toke his seconde voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there sene through out all the citie of Ierusalem, fortie dayes long, horsemen running in the aire, with robes of golde, and as bandes of speare men,

3 And as troupes of horsemen set in array, incountring & coursing one against another with shaking of shields and multitude of dartes and drawing of swordes, and shooting of arrowes, and the glittering of the golden armour sene, and harnes of all sortes.

4 Therefore euerie man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as thogh Antiochus had bene dead, Iason toke at y least a thousand mē, and came suddenly vpon the citie, & they that were vpon the walles, being put backe and the citie at length taken,

6 Menelaus fled into the castel, but Iason slewe his owne citizēs without mercie, not considering that to haue the aduantage against his kinsmē is greates t disadvantage, but thought that he had gotten the victorie of his enemies, & not of his owne nacion.

7 Yet he gate not the superioritie, but at the last receiued shame for the rewarde of his traifon, traison, and went againe like a vagabound into the countrey of the Ammonites.

8 Finally he had this end of his wicked conversation, y<sup>e</sup> he was accused before Areta, the King of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie, being pursued of euerie mā, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was in abomination, as an enemy of his countrey and citizens, and was driven into Egypt.

9 Thus he that had chased manie out of their owne countrey, perished as a banished man, after that he was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kinred.

10 And he that had cast manie out vnburied, was thrown out him self, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: nether was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when these things that were done, were declared to the King, he thought that Iudea wolde haue fallen from him: wherefore he came with a furious minde out of Egypt, & toke the citie by violence.

12 He commanded his men of warre also, that they shulde kill, and not spare suche as they met, and to slay suche as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of yong mē, and olde men, and a destruction of men & women & children, and virgines, and infants were murdered:

14 So that within thre dayes were slayne foure score thousand, and fortie thousand taken prisoners, and there were as manie folde as were slayne.

15 Yet was he not content with this, but durst go into the moste holy Temple of all the worlde, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the Lawes, and to his owne countrey, to be his guide,

16 And with his wicked hāds toke the holie vessels, which other Kings had giuen for y<sup>e</sup> garnishing, glorie and honour of that place, & handled them with his wicked hāds.

17 So hautie in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not, that God was not a litle wrothe for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the citie, for the which suche contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in manie sinnes, he, as sone as he had come, had suddely bene punished, & put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whome Seleucus the King sent to vewe the treasure.

19 But God hathe not chosen the nacion for the places sake, but the place for the nacion sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterwarde shal it be partaker of the benefites of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty, so when the great Lord shalbe reconciled, it shalbe set vp in great worship againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighteen hundred talents out of the Temple, he gate him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men sayle vpon the drye land, and to walke vpon the sea: suche an hie minde had he.

22 But he left deputies to vex the people: at Ierusalem Philippe a Phrygia by birth, in maners more cruel then he that set him there:

23 And at Garizin Andronicus, & with the Menelaus, which was more grievous to the citizens then the other, and was despitel against the Iewes his citizens.

24 He sent also Apollonius a cruel prince, with an armie of two & twentie thousand, whome he commanded to slay those that were towarde mans age, and to sell the women, and the yonger sorte.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, he fained peace, and kept him stil vntil the holy day of Sabbath: and then finding the Iewes keeping the feast, he commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so he slewe all them that were gone forth to the shewe, and running through the citie with his men armed, he murdered a great number.

27 But Iudas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wildernes, & liued there in the mountaines with his companie among the beastes, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, lest they shulde be partakers of the filthines.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Iewes are compelled to leaue the Law of God.

4 The Temple is defiled. 10 The women cruelly punished. 28 The grievous paine of Eleazar.

1 Not long after this, sent the King an olde man of Athens, for to compel the Iewes, to transgresse the Lawes of the fathers, and not to be gouerned by the Law of God,

2 And to defile the Temple that was at Ierusalem, and to call it the temple of Iupiter Olympius, and that of Garizin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Iupiter, that kepeth hospitalitie.

3 This wicked gouernement was sore and grievous vnto the people.

4 For the Temple was ful of dissolucion, and glottonie of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, & had to do with women within the circuit of the holie places, and brought in suche things as were not lawful.

5 The altar also was ful of suche things, as were abominable & forbidden by the Law.

6 Nether was it lawful to kepe y<sup>e</sup> Sabbaths, nor to obserue their anciēt feasts, nor plai-nely to confesse him self to be a Iewe.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grievously compelled parforce euerie moneth to banquet, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to go in the procesion of Bacchus with garlandes of yuie.

8 Moreouer through the counsel of Ptolemeus, there went out a commandemēt vnto the next cities of the heathen against the Iewes, that the like custome, and banquetting shulde be kept.

Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

9 And who so wolde not conforme them selues to the maners of the Gentiles, shulde be put to death: then might a man haue sene the present miserie.

10 For there were two women broght forth, that had circumcised their sonnes, whome when they had led rounde about y<sup>e</sup> citie (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong ouer the walles.

11 Some that were runne together into dens to kepe the Sabboth day secretly, were discouered vnto Philippe, and were burnt together, because that for the reuerence of the honorable day they were afraied to helpe them selues.

12 ¶ Now I beseeche those which reade this booke, that thei be not discouraged for these calamities, but that thei iudge these afflictions, not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nacion.

13 For it is a token of his great goodnes not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straight waies to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nacions, whome he punisheth whē thei are come to y<sup>e</sup> fulnes of their sins.

15 But thus he dealeth with vs, that our sinnes shulde not be heaped vp to the ful, so that afterwarde he shulde punish vs.

16 And therefore he neuer withdraweth his mercie from vs: & though he punish with aduersitie, yet doeth he neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warnig vnto vs: & now wil we come to the declaring of the matter in few wordes.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principal scribes, an aged man, & of a wel fauoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eat swines flesh.

19 But he desiring rather to dye gloriously thē to liue with hatred, offered him self willingly to the torment, and spit it out.

20 As thei ought to go to death which suffer punishment for suche things, as it is not lawful to taste of for the desire to liue.

21 But thei that had the charge of this wicked banquet, for that olde friendship of the mā, toke him aside priuely, & prayed him, that he wolde take suche flesh, as was lauful for him to vse, & as he wolde prepare for him self, & dissemble as though he had eaten of the things appointed by y<sup>e</sup> King, euen the flesh of the sacrifice, 22 That in so doing he might be deliuered from death, and that for the olde friendship that was among them, he wolde receiue this fauour.

23 But he began to consider discretely, & as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeres, and the honour of his gray heeres, whereunto he was come, & his moste honest conuersation from his childehode, but chiefly the holie Law made and giuen by God: therefore he answered consequently, and willed them straight waies to send him to the graue.

24 For it becometh not our age, said he, to dissemble, whereby manie yong persones might thinke, that Eleazar being foure score yere olde and ten were now gone to "another religion,

Or, to another manner of life.

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a litle time of a transitorie life) they might be deceiued by me, and I shulde procure maledictiō, & reproche to mine olde age.

26 For though I were now deliuered frō the torments of mē, yet colde I not escape the hand of the Almighty, nether aliue nor dead.

27 Wherefore I wil now change this life manfully, and wil shewe my self suche as mine age requireth, 28 And so wil leaue a notable exāple for suche as be yong, to dye willingly & courageously for the honorable & holie Lawes. And whē he had said these wordes, immediately he went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed y<sup>e</sup> loue which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the wordes that he had spoken: for they thought it had bene a rage.

30 And as he was readie to giue the gost because of the strokes, he sighed and said, The Lord that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might haue bene deliuered frō death, I am scourged and suffer these sore paines of my bodie: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 Euē now after this maner ended he his life, leauing his death for an exāple of a noble courage, and a memorial of vertue, not onely vnto yong mē, but vnto all his naciō.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seven brethren & of their mother.

1 It came to passe also that seven brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the King against the Law, to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whippes.

2 But one of them, which spake first, said thus, What sekest thou and what woldest y<sup>e</sup> knowe knowe of vs: we are readie to dye, rather thē to trāsgresse the Lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the King angrie, and commanded to heat pannes and cauldrons, which were incontinently made hote.

4 And he cōmanded the tōgue of him that spake first, to be cut out, and to slay him & to cut of the vtmost partes of his bodie in y sight of his other brethren & his mother.

5 Now when he was thus mangled in all his membres, he cōmanded him to be broght aliue to the fyre & to frye him in the panne: & while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the pāne, the other brethren with their mother, exhorted one another to dye courageously, saying in this maner,

6 The Lord God doeth regarde vs, & in dede taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyses* declared in the song wherein he testified openly, saying,
That God wil take pleasure in his seruāts.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this maner, they broght the seconde to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skinne with y heere ouer his head, they asked him, if he wolde eat, or he were punished in all the members of the bodie.

8 But he answered in his owne langage, & said, No. Wherefore he was tormented forthewith like the first.

9 And when he was at y last breth, he said, Thou murderer takest this present life from vs, but the King of the worlde wil raise vs vp, which dye for his Lawes, in the resurrection of euerlasting life.

10 ¶ After him was the thirde had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, he put it out incōrinently, & stretched forth his hands boldly,

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God, I despise them, and trust that I shal receiue them of him againe.

12 In so muche that the King & they which were with him, marueiled at the yong mā's courage, as at one that nothing regarded y paines.

13 ¶ Now when he was dead also, they vexed and tormented the fourth in like maner.

14 And when he was now readie to dye, he said thus, It is better that we shulde chāge this which we might hope for of men, & wait for our hope from God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterwarde they broght the fift also & tormented him,

16 Who loked vpon the King, & said, Thou hast power among men, and though thou be a mortal man, thou doest what thou wilt: but thinke not, that God hath forsaken our nacion.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt se his great power, how he wil torment thee and thy fede.

18 After him also they broght the sixt, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy self foolishly: for we suffer these things, which are worthie to be wōdred at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which vndertakeſt to fight against God, that thou shalt be vnpunished.

20 But the mother was marueilous aboue all other, & worthie of honorable memorie: for when she sawe her seuē sonnes slaine within y space of one day, she suffred it with a good wil, because of the hope that she had in the Lord.

21 Yea, she exhorted euerie one of them in her owne langage, and being ful of courage and wisdom, stirred vp her womanlie affections with a mālie stomacke, and said vnto them,

22 I can not tel how ye came into my wombe: for I nether gaue you breth nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your bodie,

23 But douteles the Creator of the worlde, which formed the birth of man, & founde out the beginning of all things, wil also of his owne mercie giue you breth and life againe, as ye now regarde not your owne selues, for his Lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking him self despised, & considering the iniurious wordes, while the yongest was yet aliue, he did exhorte him not onely with wordes, but swore also vnto him by an othe y he wolde make him riche and welthie, if he wolde forsake y Lawes of his fathers, & that he wolde take him as a friēd, & giue him offices.

25 But when the yong mā wolde in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that she wolde counsel the yong man to saue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with manie wordes, she promised him that she wolde counsel her sonne.

27 So she turned her vnto him, laughing the cruel tyrant to scorne, & spake in her owne langage, O my sonne, haue pitie vpon me, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, & gaue thee sucke thre yeres, & nourished thee, and toke care for thee vnto this age, and broght thee vp.

28 I beseeche thee, my sonne, loke vpon the heauen & the earth, and all that is therein, & consider that God made thē of things y were not, & so was mākinde made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shewe thy self worthie suche brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercie with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these wor-

- des, the yong man said, Whome wait ye for? I wil not obey the Kings commandement: but I wil obey the commandement of the Lawe that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyses.
- 31 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.
- 32 For we suffer these things, because of our sinnes,
- 33 But thogh the liuing Lord be angrie with vs a litle while for our chastening and correction, yet wil he be reconciled with his owne seruants.
- 34 But thou, o man without religion & moste wicked of all men, list not thy self vp in vaine, which art puffed vp with vncerteine hope, and listest thine hands against the seruants of God.
- 35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of almightie God, which seeth all things.
- 36 My brethré that haue suffered a litle paine, are now vnder the diuine couenant of euerlasting life: but thou through the iudgemēt of God, shalt suffer iust punishmēt for thy pride.
- 37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my bodie and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseching God, that he wil sone be merciful vnto our nacion, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that he is the onelie God,
- 38 And that in me and my brethren y<sup>e</sup> wrath of the Almighty, which is righteously fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.
- 39 Then the King being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and toke it grieuously, that he was mocked.
- 40 So he also dyed holely, and put his whole trust in the Lord.
- 41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.
- 42 Let this now be ynough spoken concerning the bankets, and extreme cruelties.
- CHAP. VIII.
- 1 Iudas gathereth together his hoste. 2 Nicanor is sent against Iudas. 3 Iudas exhorteth his souldiers to constancie. 4 Nicanor is overcome. 5 The Iewes giue thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight, diuiding parte of the spoiles vnto the fatherles and vnto the widdowes. 6 Timotheus and Bacchides are discomfited. 7 Nicanor sleeth vnto Antiochus.*
- Then Iudas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuely into the townes, & called their kinfolk & friēds together, & toke vnto thē all suche as continued in the Iewes religiō, and assembled six thousand men.
- 2 So they called vpon the Lord, that he wolde haue an eye vnto his people, which was vexed of euerie mā, & haue pitie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men,
- 3 And that he wolde haue compassion vpon the citie y<sup>e</sup> was destroyed, & almost brought to the ground, & that he wolde heare the voyce of the blood that cryed vnto him,
- 4 And that he wolde remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, & the blasphemies comitted against his Name, & that he wolde shewe this hatred against the wicked.
- 5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, he colde not be withstand by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.
- 6 Therefore he came at vnwares, & burnt vp the townes and cities: yet he toke the moste commodious places, and slewe many of the enemies.
- 7 But specially he vsed the nightes to make suche assalts, in so muche that the brute of his manlines was spred euerie where.
- 8 ¶ So when Philippe sawe that this mā increased by litle and litle, and that things prospered with him for the moste parte, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus the gouernour of Coelosyria and Phenice, to helpe him in the Kings busines.
- 9 Then sent he spedely Nicanor the sonne of Patroclus, a special friend of his, & gaue him of all nacions of the heathē no lesse then twētie thousand men, to rote out the whole generation of the Iewes, & ioyned with him Gorgias a captaine, which in matters of warre had great experience.
- 10 Nicanor ordeined also a tribute for the King of two thousand talents, which the Romaines shulde haue, to be taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.
- 11 Therefore immediatly he sent to the cities on the seacoast, prouoking them to bye Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sel fourescore & ten for one talent: but he considered not the vengeance of almightie God, that shulde come vpon him.
- 12 When Iudas then knewe of Nicanors coming, he tolde thē that were with him, of the coming of the armie.
- 13 Now were there some of them fearful, which trusted not vnto y<sup>e</sup> righteousnes of God, but fled away, & abode not in y<sup>e</sup> place.
- 14 But the other solde all that they had left, and besoght the Lord together, to deliuer them fro that wicked Nicanor, which had solde them, or euer he came nere them.
- 15 And thogh he wolde not do it for their sakes, yet for the couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holie and glorious Name.
- 16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about six thousand, exhorting thē not to be afraied of their enemies, nether to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly,

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vniuſtly done to the holy place, and the crueltie done to the citie by deriſion, and the deſtruction of the orders eſta- bliſhed by their fathers.

18 For they ſaid he, truſt in their weapons & boldenes: but our confidence is in the al- mighty God, which at a becke can bothe deſtroy them that come againſt vs, and all the worlde.

19 Moreouer he admoniſhed them of the helpe that God ſhewed vnto their fathers, as when there periſhed an hundreth and foure ſcore, and ſiue thouſand vnder Sen- nacherib,

20 And of the battel that they had in Baby- lon againſt the Galacians, how they came in all to y battel eight thouſand, with fou- re thouſand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were aſtoniſhed, the eight thouſand ſlewe an hundreth & twentic thou- ſand through the helpe that was giuen the from heauen, whereby they had receiued many benefites.

21 Thus when he had made the bolde with theſe wordes, & readie to dye for y Lawes and the countrey, he deuided his armie in- to foure partes, 22 And made his owne brethren captaines ouer y armie, to wit, Simō, & Ioseph & Iona- than, giuing eche one fiſtene hundreth men.

23 And when Eleazarus had red the holie boke, & giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the forewarde, ioy- ned with Nicanor,

24 And becauſe the Almighty helped the, they ſlewe aboue nine thouſand men, and wounded and maimed the moſte parte of Nicanors hoſte, and ſo put all to flight,

25 And toke the money fro thoſe that came to bye them, and purſued them farre: but lacking time they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, & therefore they wold no longer purſue the.

27 So they toke their weapōs, & ſpoiled the enemies, & kept the Sabbath, giuing thākes and prauiſing the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercie.

28 And after the Sabbath, * they diſtributed the ſpoiles to the ſicke, & to the fatherles, & to the widdowes, & deuided the reſidue among them ſelues and their children.

29 When this was done, & they all had ma- de a general prayer, they beſoght the mer- ciful Lord to be reconciled at the length with his ſeruants.

30 Afterwarde with one coſent they ſel vpō Timotheus and Bacchides, & ſlewe aboue twētie thouſand, & wanne hie & ſtrong hol- des, & deuided great ſpoiles, & gaue an e- qual porciō vnto y ſicke, & to y fatherles, & to y widdowes, & to aged perſones alſo.

31 Moreouer they gathered their weapons together, and layed them vp diligently in conuenient places, and broght the remnāt of the ſpoiles to Ieruſalem.

32 They ſlewe alſo Philarches a moſte wic- ked perſone, which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes manie wayes.

33 And when they kept the feaſt of victorie in their countrey, they burnt Calliſthenes that had ſet fyre vpon the holie gates, which was fled into a litle houſe: ſo he re- ceiued a rewarde mete for his wickednes.

34 And that moſte wicked Nicanor, which had broght a thouſand marchants to bye the Iewes, 35 He was through the helpe of the Lord broght downe of them whome he thought as nothing, in ſo muche that he put of his glorious raiment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue ſeruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great diſhonour through the deſtruction of his hoſte.

36 Thus he that promiſed to pay tribute to the Romaines, by meanes of the priſoners of Ieruſalem, broght newes, that the Iewes had a defender, and for this cauſe none colde hurt y Iewes, becauſe they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

**Or, God their defender.*

CHAP. IX.

1 Antiochus willing to ſpoyle Perſepolis, is put to flight. 5 As he perſecuteth the Iewes, he is ſtricken of the Lord. 13 The fained repentance of Antiochus. 28 He dyeth miſerably.

AT the ſame time, came Antiochus againe with diſhonour out of the countrey of Perſia.

2 For when he came to Perſepolis, & went about to robbe the Temple, and to ſub- due the citie, the people ranne in a rage to defended them ſelues with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants, and retur- ned with ſhame.

3 Now when he came to Ecbatana, he vn- derſtode the things that had come vnto Nicanor, and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his fume, he thought to impute to y Iewes their faute, w<sup>h</sup> had put him to flight, and therefore com- manded his charet man to driue cōtinual- ly, and to diſpatche the iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for he had ſaid thus in his pride, I wil make Ieruſalem a cōmune burying place of the Iewes, whē I come thether.

5 But the Lord almighty & God of Iſrael ſmote him with an incurable and inuiſible plague: for aſſone as he had ſpoken theſe wordes, a paine of the bowels, that was re- mediles, came vpon him, & ſore tormēts of the inner partes,

6 And that moſte iuſtely: for he had tormē- ted other mens bowels with diuerſe, and strange torments.

- 7 Howbeit he wolde in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, breathing out fyre in his rage against the Iewes, and commanded to halte the iornay: but it came to passe that he fel downe from the charet that rane swiftly, so that all the membres of his bodie were bruised with the great fall.
- 8 And thus he that a litle afore thought he might commande the floods of the sea (so proude was he beyonde the condicion of man) & to weigh the hie mountaines in y balance, was now cast on the ground, and caried in an horselitter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God,
- 9 Ad. 12, 33. So that the wormes came out of the bodie of this wicked man in abundance: and whiles he was aliue, his flesh fel of for paine and torment, and all his armie was grieved at his smel.
- 10 Or, resurrex. Thus no man colde beare because of his stinke, him y a litle afore thought he might reach to the starres of heauen.
- 11 Then he began to leaue of his great pride, & self wil, when he was plagued & came to the knowledge of him self by the scourge of God, & by his paine which increased euerie moment.
- 12 And when he him self might not abide his owne stinke, he said these wordes, It is mete to be subiect vnto God, & that a man which is mortal, shulde not thinke him self equal vnto God through pride.
- 13 This wicked persone prayed also vnto y Lord, who wolde now haue no mercie on him,
- 14 And said thus y he wolde set at libertie y holie citie vnto y which he made haste to destroy it, & to make it a burying place.
- 15 And as touching the Iewes, whome he had iudged not worthie to be buryed, but wolde haue cast them out with their children to be deuoured of the foules & wilde beastes, he wolde make the all like the citizens of Athenes.
- 16 And whereas he had spoiled y holie Temple afore, he wolde garnish it with great giftes, and encrease the holie vessels, and of his owne rentes beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.
- 17 Yea, & that he wolde also become a Iewe him self, & go through all the worlde that was inhabited, & preache y power of God.
- 18 But for all this his paines wolde not cease: for the iust iudgemēt of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his helth, he wrote vnto the Iewes this letter vnder writen, cōteining y forme of a supplicatiō.
- 19 THE KING & prince Antiochus vnto the Iewes his louing citizens wissheth muche ioye and helth and prosperitie.
- 20 If ye and your children fare wel, & if all - things go after your minde, I giue great thākes vnto God hauing hope in y heauē.

- 21 Thogh I lie sicke, yet I am mindeful of your honour, & good wil for y loue I beare you: therefore when I returned frō the countrey of Persia, and fel into a fore disease, I thought it necessarie to care for the commune safetie of all,
- 22 Not distrusting mine helth, but hauing great hope to escape this sickenes.
- 23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against y high cōtreys, he appointed who shulde succede him:
- 24 That if anie controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, or if that anie tidings were broght that were grieuous, they in the lād might knowe to whome y affaires were committed, that they shulde not be troubled.
- 25 Againe, when I ponder how that the gouernours, y are borderers, and neighbours vnto my kingdome, waite for all occasiōs, & loke but for opportunitie, I haue ordeined that my sōne Antiochus shal be King whome I oft cōmēded & cōmitted to many of you, whē I went into y hie prouinces, & haue writē vnto hī as followeth hereafter.
- 26 Therefore, I pray you & require you, to remēber the benefites y I haue done vnto you generally, & particularly, and y euerie mā wil be faithful to me and to my sonne.
- 27 For I trust that he wil be gentle, & louing vnto you according to my minde.
- 28 ¶ Thus y murderer & blasphemer suffered moste grieuouly, & as he had intreated other mē, so he dyed a miserable death in a strange countrey among the mountaines.
- 29 And Philippe that was broght vp with him, carryed away his bodie, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemeus Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Iudas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple. 10 The asses of Eupator. 16 The Iewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus invadeth Iudea, with whome Iudas ioyneth battel. 29 Fiue men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Iewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine

- Maccabeus now and his companie, through the helpe of the Lord, wan the Temple and the citie againe,
- 2 And destroyed the altars, and chapels that the heathē had buylded in the open places,
- 3 And clenfed the Tēple, & made another altar, & burned stones, & toke fyre of the, and offred sacrifices, & incense two yeres, and six monethes after, and set forthe the lampes, and the shewebread.
- 4 When that was done, they fel downe flat vpon the ground, and besoght the Lord, that they might come no more into suche troubles: but if they sinned anie more against him, that he him self wolde chastē them with mercie, & that they might not be

- be deliuered to the blasphemous, and barbarous nacions.
- 5 Now vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Tēple, on the verie same day it was clēsed againe euen y<sup>e</sup> fīue & twētieth day of the same moneth, which is Challeu.
- 6 They kept eight dayes with gladnes as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remēbring, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles when they liued in the mountaines and dennes like beastes.
- 7 And for the same cause they bare grene bowes, and faire branches and palmes, and sang psalmes vnto him that had giuen thē good successe in clenſing his place.
- 8 They ordeined also by a commune statute, and decre that euerie yere those dayes shulde be kept of y<sup>e</sup> whole naciō of y<sup>e</sup> Iewes.
- 9 And this was the end of Antiochus called Epiphanes.
- 10 ¶ Now wil we declare the actes of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man gathering briefly the calamities of the warres, that followed.
- 11 For when he had taken the kingdome, he made one Lysias, which had bene capitaine of the holste in Phenice, & Coelosyria, ruler ouer the affaires of the realme.
- 12 For Ptolemeus that was called Macron, purposed to do iustice vnto the Iewes for y<sup>e</sup> wrōg, y<sup>e</sup> had bene done vnto thē, & went about to behaue him self peaceably wth thē.
- 13 For the which cause he was accused of his friends before Eupator, & was called oft times traitour, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had cōmitted vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore ſeing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poyſonned him self, and dyed.
- 14 ¶ But when Gorgias was gouernour of the same places, he interteined strangers, & made warre oft times against the Iewes.
- 15 Moreouer the Idumeans that helde the strōg holds, which were mete for their purpose, troubled the Iewes, and by receiuing them that were driuen frō Ierusalem, toke in hand to continue warre.
- 16 Then thei that were with Maccabeus made prayers, & besoght God that he wolde be their helper, and so they fel vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans,
- 17 And assailed them sore, that they wanne the places, & slewe all that foght against them on the wall, and killed all y<sup>e</sup> they met with, & slewe no lesse thē twētie thousand.
- 18 And because certeine (which were no lesse then nine thousand) were fled into two strong castels, hauing all maner of things conuenient to susteine the siege,
- 19 Maccabeus left Simō, & Ioseph, & Zaccheus also, & those that were with thē, w<sup>ch</sup> were ynowe to besiege them, and departed to those places w<sup>ch</sup> were more necessarie.
- 20 Now thei that were with Simon, being led with couetousnes, were intreated for monei, (thorowe certeine of those that were in y<sup>e</sup> castel,) & toke ſeuentie thousand drachmes, and let some of them escape.
- 21 But when it was tolde Maccabeus what was done, he called the gouernours of the people together, & accused those mē, that they had solde their brethren for money, and let their enemies go.
- 22 So he slewe thē when they were cōuict of traifon, & immediatly wā y<sup>e</sup> two castels:
- 23 And hauing good successe, as in all the warres that he toke in hand, he slew in the two castels mo then twētie thousand.
- 24 Now Timotheus whome the Iewes had ouercome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sortes, and broght a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia to winne Iewrie by strength.
- 25 But when he drew nere, Maccabeus, and thei y<sup>e</sup> were with him, turned to praye vnto God, & sprinkled earth vpon their heads, & girded their reines with sackcloth,
- 26 And fel downe at the fote of the altar, & besoght the Lord to be merciful to them, & to be anemie to their enemies, and to be an aduersarie to their aduersaries, * as Exod. 23, 26. deu. 20, 4. the Law declareth.
- 27 So after the prayer, they toke their weapons, & went on further from the citie, & when they came nere to the enemies, they toke hede to them selues.
- 28 And whē y<sup>e</sup> morning appeared, they both ioyned together: the one parte had y<sup>e</sup> Lord for their refuge, & pledge of prosperitie, & noble victorie, and the other toke courage as a guide of the warre.
- 29 But when y<sup>e</sup> battel waxed strong, there appeared vnto the enemies frō heauen fīue comelie men vpon horses with bridles of golde, and two of them led the Iewes,
- 30 And toke Maccabeus betwixt them, & couered him on euerie side with their weapons, & kept him safe, but shot dartes, & lightnings against the enemies, so y<sup>e</sup> thei were cōfounded with blindenes, and beaten downe and ful of trouble.
- 31 There were slaine of fōtemen twētie thousand & fīue hūdreth & six hūdreth horsmē.
- 32 As for Timotheus him self, he fled vnto Gazara, w<sup>ch</sup> was called a very strōg holde, wherein Chereas was capitaine.
- 33 But Maccabeus & his cōpanie laid siege against y<sup>e</sup> fortresses w<sup>ch</sup> courage for foure daies.
- 34 And thei that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible wordes.
- 35 Neuertheles vpon the fīfth day in y<sup>e</sup> morning twētie yōg men of Maccabeus cōpanie, whose hearts were inflamed, because of y<sup>e</sup> blasphemies, came vnto y<sup>e</sup> wall, & w<sup>ch</sup> bolde

- 36 Others also that climed vp vpon the engines of warre against the that were within, set fyre vpon the towers, & burnt those blasphemers quicke with the fyres that they had made, & others brake vp the gates, and receiued the rest of the armie, and toke the citie.
- 37 And hauing found Timotheus, that was crept into a caue, they killed him, & Chereas his brother with Apollophanes.
- 38 When this was done, they praised y Lord with psalmes, and thanksgiuing, which had done so great things for Israel, & giuen them the victorie.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to overcome the Iewes. 2 Succour is sent from heauen vnto the Iewes. 3 The letter of Lysias vnto the Iewes. 4 The letter of King Antiochus vnto Lysias. 5 A letter of the same vnto the Iewes. 6 A letter of the Romans to the Iewes.

- 1 Verie shortly after this, Lysias the Kings stewarde, and a kinsma of his, which had the gouernance of the affaires, tokefore displeasure for the things that were done.
- 2 And when he had gathered about fourescore thousand, with all the horsmen he came against the Iewes, thinking to make the citie an habitation of the Gentiles.
- 3 And the Temple wolde he haue to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he wolde sel the Priests office euerie yere.
- 4 And thus being puffed vp in his minde, because of the great number of souldiers, & thousands of horsmen, & in his fourescore elephants,
- 5 He came into Iudea, and drewe nere to Beth-sura, which was a castel of defence, fure furlongs from Ierusalem, and laid sore siege vnto it.
- 6 But when Maccabeus, and his companie knewe that he besieged the holdes, they, & all the people made prayers with weping, and teares before the Lord, that he wolde send a good Angel to deliuer Israel.
- 7 And Maccabeus him self first of all toke weapons, exhorting the other that they wolde ieoparde them selues together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together w a courageous minde.
- 8 And as thei were there besides Ierusalem, there appeared before them vpon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his harnes of golde.
- 9 Then they praised the merciful God all together, and toke heart, in so muche that they were ready, not onely to fight w me, but with the moste cruel beasts, & to breake downe walles of yron.
- 10 Thus they marched forward in array, hauing an helper from heauen: for the a Whereof eight make a mile.

Lord was merciful vnto them.

- 11 And rüning vpō their enemies like lions, they slewe eleuen thousand souldiers, and sixteen hundred horsmen, & put all the other to flight.
- 12 Manie of them also being wounded, escaped naked, and Lysias him self fled away shamefully, and so escaped,
- 13 Who as he was a man of vnderstanding cōsidering what losse he had had, & knowing, that the Hebrewes colde not be overcome because the almightie God helped them, sent vnto them,
- 14 And promised, that he wolde consent to all things which were reasonable, and persuaue the King to be their friend.
- 15 Maccabeus agreed to Lysias requestes, hauing respect in all things to y commune welth, and whatsoeuer Maccabeus wrote vnto Lysias concerning the Iewes, the King granted it.
- 16 For there were letters written vnto the Iewes frō Lysias cōteining these wordes, LYSIAS vnto the people of the Iewes sendeth greting.
- 17 Iohn & Abesalom, which were sent frō you, deliuered me the things that you demaunde by writing, and required me to fulfil the things that they had declared.
- 18 Therefore what things soeuer were mete to be reported to the King him self, I haue declared them, and he granted that that was possible.
- 19 Therefore if ye behaue your selues as friēds toward his affaires, hereafter also I wil indeuour my self to do you good.
- 20 As concerning these things, I haue giue commandement to the souldiers, and to those whome I sent vnto you, to commune with you of the same particularly.
- 21 Fare ye wel, the hundredth and eight and fortie yere, the foure and twētieth day of the moneth Dioscorinthius.
- 22 ¶ Now the Kings letter contēined these wordes, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto his brother Lysias sendeth greting.
- 23 Since our father is translated vnto the gods, our wil is, that they which are in our realme, liue quietly, that euerie man may applie his owne affaires.
- 24 We vnderstand also that the Iewes wolde not consent to our father, for to be brought vnto the custome of the Gentiles, but wolde kepe their owne maner of liuing: for the which cause they require of vs, that we wolde suffer them to liue after their owne Lawes.
- 25 Wherefore our minde is that this naciō shalbe in rest, and haue determined to restore them their Temple, that thei may be gouerned according to the custome of their fathers.
- 26 Thou shalt do wel therefore to send vnto them them, and grante them peace, that when they are certified of our minde, they maie be of good comfort, and cherefully go about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the Kings letter vnto the nacion, KING ANTIOCHVS vnto the Elders of the Iewes, and to the rest of the Iewes sendeth greting.

28 If ye fare wel, we haue our desire: we are also in good helth.

29 Menelaus declared vnto vs that your desire was to returne home, & to applie your owne busines.

30 Wherefore, those that wil departe, we giue them fre libertie, vnto the thirtie daye of the moneth of Panthicus, 31 That the Iewes may vse their owne manner of liuing and Lawes, like as afore, and none of them by anie manner of waies to haue harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I haue sent also Menelaus to comfort you.

33 Fare ye wel: the hundreth and eight & fortie yere, the fiftenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

34 ¶ The Romains also sent a letter containing these wordes, QVINTVS MEMMIVS and Titus Manilius embassadours of the Romains, vnto the people of the Iewes send greting.

35 The things that Lyfias the Kings kinsman hathe granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shal report vnto the King, send hether some with speede, when ye haue considered the matter diligently, that we may consult thereupō as shalbe best for you: for we must go vnto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste and send some men, that we may knowe your minde.

38 Fare wel: this hundreth and eight, and fortie yere, the fiftenth day of the moneth of Panthicus.

CHAP. XII.

Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 3 The wicked dedes of the of Ioppe against the Iewes. 6 Iudas is aduenged of the of Ioppe setteth fyre in the hauē of Iamnia. 20 The pursute of the Iewes against Timotheus. 24 Timotheus is taken and let go unhurt. 32 Iudas pursueth Gorgias.

1 WHen these couenāts were made, Lyfias went vnto the King, and the Iewes tilled their grounde.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus & Apollonius the sonne of Gennēus, and Ieronimus, & also Demophon, and besides them Nicanor the gouernour of Cyprus, wolde not let them liue in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did suche a vile act: they prayed the Iewes that dwelt among them, to go with their wiues and children into the shippes, which they had prepared as thogh they had oght them none euil wil.

4 And so by the commune aduise of the citie, they obeyed them, and suspect nothing: but when they were gone forth to the depe, they drowned no lesse than two hundreth of them.

5 Now when Iudas knewe of this crueltie shewed against his nacion, he commāded those men that were with him, to make them readie.

6 And hauing called vpon God the righteous Iudge, he went forth against the murderers of his brethren, and set fyre in the hauen by night, & burnt the ships, and those that fled thence, he slewe.

7 And when the citie was shut vp, he departed as thogh he wolde come againe, and roote out all them of the citie of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when he perceiued that the Iānites were minded to do in like maner vnto the Iewes, which dwelt among them,

9 He came vpon the Iammites by night, & set fyre in the hauē with the nauie, so that the light of the fyre was sene at Ierusalē, vpon a two hundreth and fortie furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their iourney towarde Timotheus, about fūe thousand mē of fote and fūe hundreth horsemen of the Arabians set vpon him.

11 So the battel was sharpe, but it prospered with Iudas thorowe the helpe of God: the Nomades of Arabia, being overcome, be sought Iudas to make peace with them, and promised to giue him certeine cattel, and to helpe him in other things.

a So called because they were shepherds.

12 And Iudas thinking that they shulde in dede be profitable cōcerning manie thigs, granted them peace: whereupō thei shoke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Iudas also assailed a citie called Cais, which was strong by reason of a bridge, and fenced rounde about with walles, and had diuers kindes of people dwelling therein.

14 So thei y were within it, put suche trust in the strength of the walles, and in store of vitayles, that they were the slacker in their doings, reuiling thē that were with Iudas, and reproching thē: yea, they blasphemed & spake suche wordes as were not lawfull.

15 But Maccabeus souldiers, calling vpon the great Prince of y worlde (which without anie instruments, or engins of warre, did cast downe the walles of Iericho, in the time of Iesus) gaue a fierce assalt against the walles,

Or, banyd rammer. Iosh. 8, 26.

16 And toke the citie by the wil of God, and made an exceding great slaughter, in so much that a lake of two furlongs broad, which laye thereby, semed to flowe with blood.

II. Maccabees.

- 17 ¶ Then departed thei from thence, seuen hundred and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes, that are called Tubieni.
- 18 But they founde not Timotheus there: for he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garison in a verie strong holde.
- 19 But Dositheus, & Sosipater, which were captaines with Maccabeus, went forth, & slewe those that Timotheus had left in the forteresse more the ten thousand men.
- 20 And Maccabeus prepared, & ranged his armie by bandes, & went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundred and twentie thousand men of fote, and two thousand and fise hundred horsemen.
- 21 Whē Timotheus had knowledge of Iudas comming, he sent the women, & children, and the other baggage afore vnto a forteresse called Carnion (for it was hard to besiege, & vneasie to come vnto because of the straites on all sides.)
- 22 But when Iudas first bade came in fight, the enemies were smiten with feare, and a trembling was among them thorow the presence of him that seeth all things, in so much that thei fleing one here, another there, were oft times hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the pointes of their owne swords.
- 23 But Iudas was verie earnest in pursuing, and slewe those wicked men: yea, he slewe thirtie thousand men of them.
- 24 Timotheus also him self fell into the hands of Dositheus, & Sosipater, whome he besoght with muche crafte to let him go with his life, because he had manie of the Iewes parents & the brethren of some of them, which if they put him to death, shulde be despised.
- 25 So when he had assured the with manie wordes, & promised that he wolde restore them without hurt, thei let him go for the helth of their brethren.
- 26 ¶ Then went Maccabeus towarde Carmon, and Atargation, and slewe fise and twentie thousand persones.
- 27 And after that he had chased away and slayne the, Iudas remoued the hoste towarde Ephron a strong citie, wherein was Lysias & a great multitude of all naciōs, & the strong yong men kept the walles defendig the mightely: there was also great preparacion of engins of warre, & dartes.
- 28 But when they had called vpo the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they wan the citie, & slewe fise and twentie thousand of them that were within.
- 29 ¶ Fro thence went thei to Scythopolis, which lieth six hundred furlongs fro Ierusalem.
- 30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified, that the Scythopolitans delt lovingly with them, & intreated them kindly in the time of their aduersitie,
- 31 They gaue them thanks, desiring them to be friendlie stil vnto them, and so thei came to Ierusalem, as the feast of the weekes approached.
- 32 ¶ And after y feast called Pentecost thei went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Idumea.
- 33 Who came out with thre thousand men of fote and foure hundred horsemen.
- 34 And when they ioyned together, a fewe of the Iewes were slayne,
- 35 And Dositheus one of the Baccenors, which was on horsebacke and a mightie man, toke Gorgias, and laied holde of his garment, and drewe him by force, because he wolde haue taken the wicked man aliue: but an horseman of Thracia fell vpon him, and smote of his shulder, so that Gorgias fled into Marisa.
- 36 And when they that were with Eserin, had foghten long, and were wearie, Iudas called vpo the Lord, that he wolde shewe him self to be their helper, and captaine of the field.
- 37 And then he began in his owne langage, and sung psalmes with a loude voyce, in so much that straight wayes he made the that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.
- 38 ¶ So Iudas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Odolla. And when the seuenth day came, they clenfed them selues (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.
- 39 And vpon the daye following, as necessitie required, Iudas and his companie came to take vp the bodies of them that were slayne, and to burye them with their kinsmen in their fathers graues.
- 40 Now vnder the coates of euerie one, that was slayne, they founde iewels that had bene consecrate to the idoles of the Iammites, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Law. The euerie man sawe, that this was the cause wherefore thei were slayne.
- 41 And so euerie man gaue thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.
- 42 And they gaue them selues to prayer, & besoght him, that they shulde not vtterly be destroyed for the faute committed. Besides that, noble Iudas exhorted the people to kepe them selues from sinne, for so much as they sawe before their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slayne,
- 43 And hauing made a gathering through the companie, sent to Ierusalem about two thousand

thousand drachmes of siluer, to offer a sin-offering, doing very wel, and honestly that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if he had not hoped, that thei which were slaine, shulde rise againe, it had bene superfluous, and vaine, to pray for the dead.

45 And therefore he perceiued, that there was great fauour laid vp for those y dyed godly. (It was an holie, & a good thought) So he made a reconciliation for the dead that they might be deliuered from sinne.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The coming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabeus going to fight against Eupator, moueth his souldiers vnto prayer. 15 He killeth fouretene thousand men in the tentes of Antiochus. 21 Rhodocus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

1 IN the hundreth, fortie and nine yere it was tolde Iudas, that Antiochus Eupator was comming with a great power into Iudea,

2 And Lysias the stewarde and ruler of his affaires with him. hauing bothe in their armie an hundreth and tenthousand men of fore of the Grecians, and siue thousand horsemen, and two and twentie elephants, and thre hundreth charets set with hookes.

3 Menelaus also ioyned him self with them and with great disceit encouraged Antiochus, not for the safegard of the countrei, but because he thought to haue bene made the gouernour.

4 But the King of Kings moued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Lysias informed the King that this man was the cause of all mischief, so that the King commanded to bring him to Berea to put him vnto death as the maner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a tower of fiftie cubites high, ful of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned rounde, and on euerie side it rouled downe into the ashes.

6 And there whosoener was condemned of sacrilege, or of anie other grieuous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man shulde dye suche a death, and it was a moste iuste thing that Menelaus shulde want buryal,

8 For because he had committed manie finnes by the altar, whose syre and ashes were holie: he him self also dyed in the ashes.

9 ¶ Now the King raged in his minde, and came to shewe him self more cruel vnto the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceiued, he commanded the people to call vpon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, he wolde now helpe them, when they shulde be put from their Law, from their countrey and from the holie Temple:

11 And that he wolde not suffer the people, which a litle afore began to recouer, to be subdued vnto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this all together, and besoght the Lord for mercie with weping, and fasting, and falling downe thre daies together, Iudas exhorted them to make them selues readie.

13 And he being aparte with the Elders, toke counsel to go forthe, afore the King broght his hoste into Iudea, & shulde take the citie, & commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the worlde, he exhorted his souldiers to fight manfully, euen vnto death for the Lawes, the Temple, the citie, their countrey, and the commune wealth, and camped by Modin.

15 And so giuing his souldiers for a watche worde, The victorie of God, he piked out the manliest yong men, and went by night into the Kings campe, and slewe of the hoste fouretene thousand men, & the greatest elephant with all that fate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had broght a great feare, and trouble in the campe, & all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the breake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the King had tasted the manlines of the Iewes, he went about to take the holdes by policie, 19 And marched towarde Beth-sura, which was a strong holde of the Iewes: but he was chased away, hurt and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent vnto them that were in it, suche things as were necessarie.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes hoste, disclosed the secretes to y enemies: therefore he was soght out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.

22 After this did the King commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and toke trece with them, departed, and ioyned battel with Iudas, who ouercame him.

23 But when he vnderstode, that Philippe (whome he had left to be ouerseer of his busines at Antiochia) did rebell against him, he was astonished, so that he yelded him self to the Iewes, and made them an othe to do all things that were right, and was appeased towarde them, & offered sacrifice and adorned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenes to the place,

II. Maccabees.

24 And embraced Maccabeus, and made him captaine and gouernour from Ptolemais vnto the Gerreneans.

25 Neuertheles, whē he came to Ptolemais, the people of the citie were not content wit this agrement: and because they were griued, they wolde that he shulde breake the couenants.

26 Then went Lysias vp into the iudgemēt seat, and excused the fact as wel as he colde, & perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them wel affectioned, and came againe vnto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the Kings iournay, and his returne,

CHAP. XIII.

Demetrius moued by Alcimus sendeth Nicanor to kill the Iewes. 18 Nicanor maketh a compacte with the Iewes. 29 Which he yet breaketh through the mocson of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Razis to be taken, who slayeth him self.

1 After thre yeres was Iudas enformed that Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus was come vp with a great power and name by the hauē of Tripolis,

2 When he had wonne the countrey, and slaine Antiochus and his lieutenant Lysias.

3 Now Alcimus, which had bene the high Priest, and wilfully defiled him self in the time that all things were cōfounded, seing that by no meanes he colde saue him self, nor haue anie more entrance to the holie altar,

4 He came to King Demetrius in the hundredth, fiftie and one yere, presenting vnto him a crowne of golde, and a palme, & of the boughes, which were vsed solemne-ly in the Temple, and that day he helde his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, & occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsel, and asked him what deuises or counsels the Iewes leane vnto.

6 To the which he answered, the Iewes that be called Asideans whose captaine is Iudas Maccabeus, mainteine warres, and make insurrections, and wil not let the realme be in peace.

7 Therefore I, being depriued of my fathers honour (I meane the high priesthode) am now come hether,

8 Partely because I was wel affectioned vnto the Kings affaires, and secondly because I sought y profite of mine owne citizēs: for all our people, thorowe their rashnes, are not a litle troubled.

9 Wherefore, o King, seing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the countrey, and our nacion which is abused, according to thine owne humanitie, that is readie to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Iudas liueth, it is not possible that the matter shulde be wel.

11 When he had spoken these wordes, other friends also hauing euil wil at Iudas, set Demetrius on fyre.

12 Who immediatly called for Nicanor, the ruler of the elephantes, and made him captaine ouer Iudea, 13 And sent him forthe, commanding him to slay Iudas, and to scatter thē that were with him, & to make Alcimus high Priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the heathen which fled out of Iudea from Iudas, came to Nicanor by flockes, thinking the harme and calamities of the Iewes to be their welfare.

15 Now whē the Iewes heard of Nicanors comming, and the gathering together of the heathen, they sprinkled them selues with earth, & prayed vnto him which had appointed him self a people for euer, and did alwaies defende his owne porcion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the captaine, they remoued straight wayes from thence, and came to the towne of Deslian, 17 Where Simō Iudas brother had ioyned battel with Nicanor, and was somewhat astonished thorowe the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Neuertheles Nicanor hearing the manlines of them that were with Iudas, & the bolde stomackes that they had for their countrey, durst not proue the matter with blood shedding.

19 Wherefore, he sent Posidonius, Theodocius, and Matthias before, to make peace. Or, Theodocius. Or, Matthias.

20 So when they had taken long aduise-ment thereupō, and the captaine shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one minde, and consented to the couenants.

21 And they appointed a day when they shulde particularly come together: so whē the day was come, they set for euerie man his stoole.

22 Neuertheles Iudas commanded certeine men of armes to waite in conuenient places, lest there shulde suddenly arise anie euil thorowe the enemies: and so they communed together of the things where-upon they had agreed.

23 Nicanor, while he abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

24 He loued Iudas, and fauoured him in his heart. Or, had Iudas before his eye.

25 He praid him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so he married, & they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiuing the loue that was betwene them, and vnderstanding the couenantes that were made, came to Demetrius, and tolde him that Nicanor had taken strange matters in hand, and ordeined Iudas a traitour to the realme, to be his his successor.

37 Then the King was displeased, and by the reportes of this wicked man, he wrote to Nicanor, saying, that he was very angry for the covenants, commanding him that he shulde send Maccabeus in all haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.

38 When these things came to Nicanor, he was astonished & sore grieved, y he shulde breake the things wherein they had agreed, seing that that man had committed no wickednes.

39 But because it was not comodious to him to withstand the King, he soght craftely to accomplish it.

40 Notwithstanding when Maccabeus perceiued that Nicanor beganne to be rough vnto him, and that he intreated him more rudely the he was wonte, he perceiued that suche rigour came not of good, and therefore he gathered a fewe of his men, and withdrewe him self from Nicanor.

41 But the other perceiuing that he was prevented by Maccabeus worthie policie, came into the great & holie Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their vsual sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

42 And when they sware that they colde not tell where the man was, whome he soght, 43 He stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an othe in this manner, If ye wil not deliuer me Iudas as a prisoner, I wil make this Temple of God a plaine field, and wil breake downe the altar, and wil erect a notable Temple vnto Bacchus.

44 After these wordes he departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauē, and besoght him that was euer the defender of their nacion, saying in this maner, 45 Thou, o Lord of all things, which hast nede of nothing, woldest that the Temple of thine habitacion shulde be among vs.

46 Therefore now, o moste holie Lord, kepe this house euer vndefiled, which lately was clesed, and stoppe all the mouths of the vnrighteous.

47 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor Razis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a louer of the citie, and a man of very good reporte, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

48 For this man afore times when the Iewes were minded to kepe them selues vndefiled and pure, being accused to be of the religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his bodie and life with all constancie for the religion of the Iewes.

49 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that he bare to the Iewes, sent about fife hundreth men of warre to take him.

40 For, he thought by taking him to do the Iewes muche hurte.

41 But when this companie wolde haue taken his castel, and wolde haue broken the gates by violence, and comanded to bring fyre to burne the gates, so that he was ready to be taken on euerie side, he fel on his sworde,

42 Willing rather to dye manfully, the to giue him self into the hāds of wicked men, and to suffer reproche vnworthie for his noble stocke.

43 Notwithstanding what time as he misfed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude ruffhed in violently betwene the dores, he ran boldly to the wall, and cast him self downe manfully amōg the multitude.

44 Which conueyed them selues lightly away, and gaue place, so that he fell vpon his bellie.

45 Neuertheles while there was yet breth in him, being kindled in his minde, he rose vp, and thogh his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was verie sore wounded, yet he ran thorow the middes of the people,

46 And gate him to y toppe of an hie rocke: so when his blood was vterly gone, he toke out his owne bowels with bothe his hands, and threwe them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lord of life and spirit, that he wolde restore them againe vnto him, and thus he dyed.

CHAP. XV.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 5 The blasphemie of Nicanor. 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the vision, incourageth them. 21 The prayer of Maccabeus. 30 Maccabeus commandeth Nicanors head and hands to be cut off, and his tongue to be giuen vnto the foules. 39 The autor excuseth him self.

1 Now when Nicanor knewe that Iudas and his companie were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Neuertheles the Iewes that were compelled to go with him, said, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day, that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this moste wicked persone demāded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 Ad whē thei said, There is a liuing Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seuenth day to be kept,

5 Thē he said, And I am mightie vpo earth to commande them for to arme them selues, and to performe the Kings busines. Notwithstanding, he colde not accomplish his wicked enterprife.

6 For Nicanor lifted vp with great pride, a As this priuate example ought not to be followed of godlie, because it is contrary to y worde of God, although the author seeme here to approve it: so that place as touching prayer chap. 12, 44. thogh Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to proue a doctrine, because it is onely a particular example.

II. Maccabees.

- purposed to set vp a memorial of the victorie obtained of all them that were with Iudas.
- 7 But Maccabeus had euer sure confidence and a perfite hope that the Lord wolde helpe him,
- 8 And exhorted his people not to be afraid at the coming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust now also, that they shulde haue the victorie by the Almightye.
- 9 Thus he encouraged them by the Law & Prophetes, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wone afore, & so made them more willing,
- 10 And stirred vp their hearts, and shewed them also the disceitfulnes of the heathē, and how they had broken their othes.
- 11 Thus he armed euerie one of them, not with the assurance of shields and speares, but with wholsome wordes and exhortations, and shewed them a dreame worthie to be beleued, and reioyced them greatly.
- 12 And this was his vision, He thought that he sawe Onias (which had bene the high Priest, a vertuous & a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of sober conuersation, wel spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all pointes of godlines from a childe) holding vp his hands towarde heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.
- 13 ¶ After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honorable, and of a wonderful dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.
- 14 And Onias spake, & said, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth muche for the people, and for the holie citie, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.
- 15 He thought also that Ieremias helde out his right hand, and gaue vnto Iudas a sworde of golde: & as he gaue it, he spake thus,
- 16 Take this holie sworde a gifte frō God, wherewith thou shalt wounde the aduersaries.
- 17 And so being comforted by the wordes of Iudas, which were very swete and able to stirre them vp to valiantnes and to encourage the heartes of the yong men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageously to set vpon them, and māfully to assaile them, and to trye the matter hand to hand, because the citie and the Sanctuarie, and the Temple were in danger.
- 18 As for their wiues, and children, and brethren and kinsfolkes, they set lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principal feare was for the holie Temple.
- 19 Againe they that were in the citie, were careful for the armie that was abroad.
- 20 Now whiles thei all waited for the tryal of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the hoste was set in araye, and the beastes were separated into convenient places, and the horsemen were placed in the wings,
- 21 Maccabeus considering the coming of the multitude and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenes of the beastes, helde vp his hands towarde heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon the, knowing that the victorie cometh not by the weapons, but that he giueth the victorie to them that are worthie, as semeth good vnto him.
- 22 Therefore in his prayer he said after this maner, O Lord, *thou that didest send <sup>1. King. 19, 33</sup> thine Angel in the time of Ezecias King <sup>isa. 37, 36.</sup> of Iudea, who in the holte of Sennacherib <sup>2ob. 1, 21.</sup> slewe an hundreth, fore score & fise thousand, <sup>eccles. 48, 24</sup>
- 23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, o Lord of heauens, for a feare and drede vnto them,
- 24 And let the be discōfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holie people to blaspheme. Thus with these wordes he made an end.
- 25 Then Nicanor and they that were with him, drewe nere with trumpets and shoutings for ioye.
- 26 But Iudas and his companie praying and calling vpon God, incountered with the enemies,
- 27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and slewe no lesse then fise & thirtie thousand mē: for thorowe the presence of God they were wonderously comforted.
- 28 Now when they left of, & were turning againe with ioye, they vnderstode that Nicanor him self was slaine for all his armour.
- 29 Then they made a great shoute and a crye, praising the Almightye in their owne language.
- 30 Therefore Iudas, which was euer y chief defender of his citizens bothe in bodie & minde, and which bare euer good affectiō towardes them of his nacion, commanded to smite of Nicanors head, with his hand and shulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.
- 31 And when he came there, he called all the of his nacion, and set the Priests by the altar, and sent for them of the castel,
- 32 And shewed the wicked Nicanors head, & the hand of that blasphemour which he had holden vp against the holie Temple of the Almightye with proude bragges.
- 33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Nicanor to be cut in litle pieces, & to be cast vnto the foules, and that the rewardes of his madnes shulde be hanged vp before the Temple.

34 So euerie man praised towarde the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed be he, that hath kept his place vndefiled.

35 He hanged also Nicanors head vpon the hie castel, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established all together by a comune decre that they wolde in no case suffer this day without keping it holie:

37 And that the feast shulde be the thir-tenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syriās langage, the day before Mardocheus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Nicanors mat ters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in possession. And here wil I also make an end.

39 If I haue done wel, and as the storie required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly & barely, it is that I colde.

40 For as it is hurtful to drinke wine alone, and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant and delireth the taste, so the setting out of the matter deliteth the eares of them that read the storie.
And here shalbe the end.

THE HOLY GOSPEL

of Iesus Christ, according to Matthewe.

THE ARGUMENT.

<sup>a</sup> This worde signifieth good tidings, and is taken here for the storie which containeth the royall message of the coming of the Sonne of God promised from the beginning.

IN this historie written by Matthewe, Marke, Luke, and Iohn, the Spirit of God so governed their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect and purpose they so consent, as though the whole had bene composed by any one of them. And albeit in stile and manner of writing they be diuers, and sometime one writeth more largely than which the other doeth abridge: neuertheles in matter and argument they all tende to one end: which is, to publish to the worlde the fauour of God towards mankind through Christ Iesus, whome the Father hath given as a pledge of his mercie & lone. And for this cause they intitule their storie, Gospel, which signifieth good tidings, for asmuche as God hath performed in dede that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admonished to forsake the worlde, and the vanities thereof, and with moste affectioned hearts embrace this incomparable treasure frely offered vnto vs: for there is no ioye nor consolacion, no peace nor quietnes, no felicitie nor saluacion, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very substance of this Gospel, and in whome all the promises are yea, and amen. And therefore vnder this worde is contained the whole Newe testament: but communely we vse this name for the historie, which the foure Euangelists write, containing Christs coming in the flesh, his death and resurrection, which is the perfitte summe of our saluation. Matthewe, Marke, and Luke are more copious in describing his life and death: but Iohn more laboureth to set forth his doctrine, wherein bothe Christs office, and also the vertue of his death and resurrection more fully appeare: for without this, to knowe that Christ was borne, dead & risen againe, shoulde nothing profite vs. The which thing notwithstanding that the thre first touche partely, as he also sometime intermedleth the historical narration, yet Iohn chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a moste learned interpreter writeth, they describe, as it were, the bodie, and Iohn setteth before our eyes the soule. Wherefore the same aptely termeth the Gospel writ by Iohn, the keye which openeth the doore to the vnderstanding of the others: for whosoever doeth knowe the office, vertue and power of Christ, shal reade that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the redemer of the worlde, with moste profit. Now as concerning the writers of this historie, it is euident that Matthewe was a Publicane or custome gatherer, and was thence chosen of Christ to be an Apostle. Marke is thought to haue bene Peters disciple, and to haue planted the first Church at Alexandria, where he dyed the eight yere of the reigne of Nero. Luke was a phisition of Antiochia and became Pauls disciple, and fellowe in all his traueils: he liued foure score and foure yeres, and was buryed at Constantinople. Iohn was that Apostle whome the Lord loued, the sonne of Zebedeus, and brother of James: he dyed thre score yeres after Christ, and was buryed nere to the Citie of Ephesus.

Or, then. f God is ioyned with vs by the meanes of Iesus Christ, who is bothe God and man. r Christ is here called the first borne, because she had neuer none before, and not in respect of any she had after. Nether yet doeth this worde (til) import alwayes a time following: wherein the contrarie may be affirmed, as our Saviour, saying, that he will be present with his disciples, til the end of the worlde, meaneth not, that after this worlde he will not be with them.

16 And Iacob begate Ioseph, the housband of Marie, of whome was borne I E S V S, that is called Christ.

17 So all the generacions from Abraham to Dauid, are fourtene generacions. And from Dauid vntil they were caryed away into Babylon, fourtene generacions: and after they were caryed away into Babylon vntil Christ, fourtene generacions.

18 ¶ Now the byrth of I E S V S Christ was thus, When as his mother Marie was * betrothed to Ioseph, m before they came together, she was founde n with childe of the holie Ghost.

19 Then Ioseph her housband being a o iust man, and not willing to * make her a publike example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But whiles he thought these things, beholde, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a p dreame, saying, Ioseph the q sonne of Dauid, feare not to take Marie for thy wife: for that which is conceived in her, is of the holie Ghost.

21 And she shal bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt * call his name, I E S V S: for he shal * saue his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying,

23 * Beholde, a virgine shalbe with childe, and shal beare a sonne, and they shal call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, f God with vs.

24 ¶ Then Ioseph, being raised from slepe, did as the Angel of the Lord had inioyned him, and toke his wife.

25 But he knewe her not, til she had brought forth a sonne, and he called his name I E S V S.

of Herode the King, beholde, there came b Wisemen from the East to Ierusalem,

2 Saying, Where is the King of the Iewes that is borne? for we haue sene his c starre in the East, and are come d to worship him.

3 When King Herode heard this, he was troubled, and all Ierusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the chief Priests & Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ shulde be borne.

5 e And they said vnto him, At Beth-lehem in Iudea: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 * And thou Beth-lehem in the land of Iuda, art not the least among the Princes of Iuda: for out of thee shal come the gouernour that shal sede my people Israel.

7 Then Herode f priuely called the Wisemen, and diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared,

8 And sent them to Beth-lehem, saying, Go, and seache diligently for the babe: and when ye haue founde him, bring me worde againe, that I may come also, and worship him.

9 ¶ So when they had heard the King, they departed: and lo, the s starre which they had sene in the East, went before them, til it came, and stode ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they sawe the starre, they reioyced with an exceeding great ioye, 11 And went into the house, and founde the babe with Marie his mother, and fel downe, and worshipped him, and opened their treasures, and presented vnto him giftes, h euen golde, and incense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were warned of God in a dreame, that they shulde i not go againe to Herode, they returned into their countrey another way.

13 ¶ After their departure, beholde the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dreame, saying, Arise, & take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, and be there til I bring thee worde: for Herode wil seke the babe, to destroye him.

14 So he arose and toke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt,

15 And was there vnto the death of Herode, k that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord by the * Prophet, saying, Out of Egypt haue I called my Sonne.

16 ¶ The Herode, seing that he was mocked of y Wisemen, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, & slewe all the male children that were in Beth-lehem, and in all the coastes thereof, from two yere olde & vnder, according to the time which he had diligently searched out of the Wisemen.

b Wisemen, or Magi, in the Persians and Chaldeans tongue signifie Philosophers, Priests, or Astronomers, & are here the first frutes of the Gentiles that came to worship Christ. c An extraordinary signe to set forth y Kings honour, whomey worlde did not esteeme. d Which was a declaration of that reuerence, which the Gentiles shulde beare vnto Christ. e They tolde wel tell of Christ in general: but when they shulde profess his name, and giue him his due honour, they waxe colde, and shrinke backe.

Micah 5. 1. ioh. 7. 42. f An euil conscience is a burning fyre. g The starre vanished away before, to intimate that shulde tary at Ierusalem, and there inquire of the thing, to the confusion of the Iewes.

h The Persians manner was not to salute Kings without a present, and therefore they brought of that which was most precious in their countrey, whereof every one of them offered. i Promes ought not to be kept, where Gods honour and preaching of his truth is hindered: or els it ought not to be broken.

1 And in those dayes, Iohn the Baptiste came and preached in the wilderness of Iudea,

2 And said, Repent: for the kingdome of heaven is at hand.

3 For this is he of whome it is spoken by the Prophet Esaias, saying, * The voyce of him that cryeth in the wilderness, is, Prepare ye the way of the Lord: make his paths straight.

5 * Then went out to him Ierusalem and all Iudea, and all the region rounde about Iordan.

6 And they were baptized of him in Iordan, confessing their sinnes.

26 Verely I say vnto thee, thou shalt not come out thence, til thou hast payed the vtmost farthing.

27 Ye haue heard that it was said to them of olde time, *Thou shalt not commit adulterie.

28 But I say vnto you, y whosoever loketh on a womā to lust after her, hathe comitted adulterie wher already in his heart.

29 *Wherefore if thy right eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and cast it fro thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, the that thy whole bodie shulde be cast into hel.

30 Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it of, and cast it fro thee: for better it is for thee that one of thy members perish, the that thy whole bodie shulde be cast into hel.

31 It hathe bene said also, *Whosoever shal put away his wife, let him giue her a testimonial of diuorcement.

32 But I say vnto you, whosoever shal put away his wife (except it be for fornicatio) causeth her to commit adulterie: and whosoever shal marie her that is diuorced, committeth adulterie.

33 Againe, ye haue heard that it was said to them of olde time, *Thou shalt not forswear thy self, but shalt performe thine othes to the Lord.

45 *That ye may be the childre of your Father that is in heauen: for he maketh his sunne to arise on the euil, and the good, and sendeth raine on the iuste, & vniuste.

46 For if ye loue them, which loue you, what rewarde shal you haue? Do not the Publicanes euen the same?

47 And if ye be friendlie to your brethre onely, what singular thing do ye? do not euen the Publicanes likewise?

48 Ye shal therefore be perfite, as your Father which is in heauen, is perfite.

pray vnto thy Father which is in secret, & thy Father which seeth in secret, shal rewarde thee openly.

7 Also when ye pray, <sup>f</sup> vse no vaine repetitions as the heathen: for they thinke to be heard for their muche babling.

8 Be ye not like them therefore: for your Father knoweth whereof ye haue nede, before ye aske of him.

9 After this <sup>h</sup> maner therefore pray ye, * Our father which art in heauen, halowed be thy <sup>i</sup> Name.

10 Thy <sup>k</sup> kingdome come Thy wil be done even in earth, as it is in heauen.

11 Giue vs this day our daily bread.

12 And forgiue vs our dettes, as we also forgiue our detters.

13 And lead vs not into <sup>l</sup> tentation, but deliuer vs * fro euil: for <sup>m</sup> thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glorie for euer, Amen.

14 * For if ye do forgiue men their trespasses, your heauenlie Father wil also forgiue you.

15 But if ye do not forgiue men their trespasses, no more wil your Father forgiue you your trespasses.

16 Moreouer, when ye fast, loke not sowe as the hypocrites: for they <sup>n</sup> disfigure their faces, that they might seme vnto men to fast. Verely I say vnto you, that they haue their rewarde.

17 But when thou fastest, <sup>o</sup> anoint thine head, and wash thy face, 19 Lay not vp treasures for your selues vpon the earth, where the mothe & canker corrupt, & where theues digge through, and steale.

20 * But lay vp treasures for your selues in heauen, where nether the mothe nor canker corrupteth, and where theues nether digge through, nor steale.

21 For where your treasure is, there wil your heart be also.

22 * The light of the bodie is the eye: if the thine eye be <sup>r</sup> single, thy whole bodie shal be light.

23 But if thine eye be <sup>s</sup> wicked, then all thy bodie shal be darke. Wherefore if the <sup>t</sup> light y is in thee, be darkenes, how great is that darkenes!

24 * No man can serue two masters: for either he shal hate the one, and loue the other, or els he shal leane to the one, and despise the other. Ye can not serue God and riches.

25 * Therefore I say vnto you, be not <sup>u</sup> careful for your life, what ye shal eat, or what ye shal drinke: nor yet for your bodie, what ye shal put on. Is not the life more worth then meat: and the bodie then raiment?

26 Beholde the foules of the heauen: for they sowe not, neither reape, nor carie into the barnes: yet your heauenlie Father feedeth them. Are ye not muche better then they?

27 Which of you by taking care, is able to adde one cubit vnto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne, how the lilies of <sup>v</sup> the field do growe: they <sup>w</sup> labour not, nether spinne:

29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Solomon in all his glorie was not arayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God so clothe the grasse of the field which is to day, and to morowe is cast into the ouen, shal he not do muche more vnto you, <sup>x</sup> o ye of litle faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, saying, What shal we eat? or what shal we drinke? or wherewith shal we be clothed?

32 (For after all these things <sup>y</sup> seke the Gentiles) for your heauenlie Father knoweth, that ye haue nede of all these things.

33 But seke ye first the kingdome of God, and his <sup>z</sup> righteousness, & all these things shal be ministred vnto you.

34 Care not then for the morowe: for the morowe shal care for <sup>z</sup> it: <sup>z</sup> self: the day hath enough with his owne grief.

23 And then wil I professe to them, *I neuer knewe you: *departe from me, ye that worke iniquitie.

24 Whosoever then heareth of me these wordes, *and doeth the same, I wil liken him to a wise man, which hath buylded his house on a rocke:

26 But whosoever heareth these my wordes, and doeth them not, shalbe likened vnto a foolish man, which hath buylded his house vpon the sand:

27 And the raine fell, and the floods came, and the windes blew, and beat vpon that house, and it fell, and the fall thereof was great.

28 ¶ And it came to passe, when Iesus had ended these wordes, the people were astonished at his doctrine.

29 For he taught them as one hauing autoritie, and not as the Scribes.

Now when he was come downe from the mountaine, great multitudes followed him.

3 And lo, there came a leper and worshipped him, saying, Master, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

4 And Iesus putting forth his hand, touched him, saying, I wil, be thou cleane: and immediatly his leprosie was clenfed.

5 Then Iesus said vnto him, Se thou tell no mā, but go, & shewe thy self vnto the Priest, and offer the gift that Moyses commanded, for a witness to them.

6 ¶ Whē Iesus was entred into Capernaū, there came vnto him a Centurion, beseeching him,

7 And said, Master, my seruant lieth sicke at home of the palsey, and is grievously pained.

8 And Iesus said vnto him, I wil come and heale him.

9 But the Centurio answered, saying, Master, I am not worthie that thou shuldest come vnder my rofe: but speake the worde onely, and my seruant shalbe healed.

10 For I am a man also vnder the autoritie of another, and haue souldiers vnder me: & I say to one, Go: and he goeth, and to another, Come: and he cometh, & to my seruant, Do this: and he doeth it.

11 When Iesus heard that, he marueiled, & said to them that followed him, Verely, I say vnto you, I haue not founde so great faith, euen in Israel.

12 But I say vnto you, that manie shal come from the East and West, and shal sit downe with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob in the kingdome of heauen.

13 And the children of the kingdome shal be cast out into vtter darkenes: there shalbe weping and gnashing of teeth.

14 Then Iesus said vnto the Centurion, Go thy way, and as thou hast beleued, so be it vnto thee. And his seruant was healed the same houre.

15 ¶ And whē Iesus came to Peters house, he sawe his wiues mother laied downe, & sicke of a feuer.

16 And he touched her hand, and the feuer left her: so she arose, and ministred vnto them.

20 But Iesus said vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birdes of the heauen haue nestes, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to rest his head.

21 ¶ And another of his disciples said vnto him, Master, suffer me first to go, and burye my father.

22 But Iesus said vnto him, Followe me, & let the dead burye their dead.

23 ¶ And when he was entred into the ship, his disciples followed him.

24 And beholde, there arose a great tempest in the sea, so y the ship was couered with waues: but he was a slepe.

25 Then his disciples came, & awoke him, saying, Master, saue vs: we perish.

26 And he said vnto the, Why are ye feareful, o ye of litle faith? Then he arose, and rebuked the windes and the sea: and so there was a great calme.

27 And the men marueiled, saying, What man is this, that both the windes and the sea obey him!

28 ¶ And when he was come to the other side, into the countrey of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with deuils, which came out of the graues verie fierce, so that no man might go by that waye.

29 And beholde, they cryed out, saying, Iesus the Sonne of God, what haue we to do with thee? Art thou come hether to torment vs before the time?

30 Now there was a farre of from them, a great herd of swine feeding.

31 And the deuils besoght him, saying, If thou cast vs out, suffer vs to go into the herd of swine.

32 And he said vnto them, Go. So thei went out, and departed into the herd of swine: & beholde, the whole herd of swine was caryed with violence from a steepe downe place into the sea, and dyed in the water.

33 Then the herdmen fled: and when thei were come into the citie, they tolde all things, and what was become of them that were possessed with the deuils.

1 Then he entred into a ship, & passed Touer, and came into his owne citie.

2 And lo, they brought to him a man sicke of y palse, lying on a bed. And Iesus seig their faith, said to the sicke of the palse, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

3 And beholde, certeine of the Scribes said with them selues, This man blasphemeth.

4 But when Iesus sawe their thoughts, he said, Wherefore thinke ye euil things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that ye may knowe that the Sonne of man hath the autoritie in earth to forgive sinnes, (then said he vnto the sicke of the palse,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and go to thine house.

7 And he arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude sawe it, they marueiled, and glorified God, which had giue suche autoritie to men.

9 ¶ And as Iesus passed forthe from thence, he sawe a man sitting at the receite of custome named Matthewe, & said to him, Followe me. And he arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to passe, as Iesus sate at meate in his house, beholde, manie Publicanes and sinners, that came thether, sate downe at the table with Iesus and his disciples.

11 And when the Pharises sawe that, they said to his disciples, Why eateth your master with Publicanes and sinners?

12 Now when Iesus heard it, he said vnto them, The whole nede not a phyficion, but thei that are sicke.

13 But go ye and learne what this is, I wil haue mercie, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why do we and the Pharises fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

18 ¶ While he thus spake vnto them, beholde there came a certeine ruler, & worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased, but come and lay thine hand on her, and she shal liue.

19 And Iesus arose and followed him with his disciples.

20 (And beholde a woman which was diseased with anyssue of blood twelue yeres, came behinde him, and touched the heme of his garment.

21 For she said in her self, If I may touche but his garmēt onely, I shal be whole.

22 Then Iesus turned him about, and seing her, did say, Daughter, be of good comfort: thy faith hath made thee whole. And the woman was made whole at that houre.)

23 Now when Iesus came into the rulers house, and saw the minstrels and the multitude making noise, 24 He said vnto them, Get you hence: for the maide is not dead, but slepeth. And they laughed him to skorne.

25 And whē the multitude were put forth, he went in and toke her by the hand, and the maide arose.

26 And this bruite went through out all that land.

27 And as Iesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying, O sonne of Dauid, haue mercie vpon vs.

28 And when he was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Iesus said vnto them, Beleue ye that I am able to do this? And they said vnto him, Yea, Lord.

29 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According to your faith be it vnto you.

30 And their eyes were opened, and Iesus charged them, saying, Se that no man knowe it.

31 But when they were departed, they spred abroad his fame throughout all that land.

32 ¶ And as they went out, beholde, they brought to him a domme man possessed wth a deuil.

35 ¶ And Iesus wēt about all cities & townes, teaching in their Sinagogues, & preaching the Gospel of the * kingdome, & healing euerie sicknes and euerie disease among the people.

36 But when he sawe the multitude, he had compassion vpon them, because they were dispersed, and scattered abroad, as shepe hauing no shepherde.

14 *And whosoever shal not receiue you, nor heare your wordes, when ye departe out of that house, or that citie, * shake of the dust of your fete.

15 Truly I say vnto you, it shalbe easier for them of the land of * Sodom and Gomorra in the day of iudgement, then for that citie.

16 ¶ Beholde, I send you as shepe in the middles of wolues: be ye therefore wise as serpentes, and * innocent as doves.

17 But beware of men, for they wil deliuer you vp to the Councils, and wil scourge you in their Synagogues.

18 And ye shal be brought to the gouernours and Kings for my sake, in & witnes to the,
and to the Gentiles.

19 *But when they deliuer you vp, take no thought how or what ye shal speake: for it shalbe giuen you in that houre, what ye shal say.

20 For it is not ye that speake, but the spirit of your Father which speaketh in you.

21 And the * brother shal betray the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shal rise against their parents, and shal cause them to dye.

22 And ye shalbe hated of all men for my Name: *but he that endureth to the end, he shalbe saued.

23 And when they persecute you in this ci-tie, flee h into another: for verely I say vnto you, ye shal not finish all the cities of Israel, til the * Sonne of man be come.

24 *The discipule is not aboue his master, nor the seruant aboue his lord.

25 It is ynough for the discipule to be as his master is, and the seruant as his lord. *If they haue called the master of the house

* Beelzebub, how muche more them of his housholde?

26 Feare them not therefore: * for there is nothing couered, that shal not be disclosed, nor hid, that shal not be knowen.

27 What I tel you in darkenes, that speake ye in light: and what ye heare in the eare, that preache ye on the * houses.

28 And feare ye not them which kil the bodie, but are not able to kil the soule: but rather feare him, which is able to destroye bothe soule and bodie in hel.

29 Are not two sparrowes solde for a farthing, and one of them shal not fall on the ground without your Father?

30 *Yea, and all the heeres of your head are nombred.

31 Feare ye not therefore, ye are of more value then manie sparrowes.

32 *Whosoever therefore shal * confesse me before men, him wil I confesse also before my Father, which is in heauen.

33 But whosoever shal denie me before me, him wil I also denie before my Father,

which is in heauen.

34 *Thinke not that I am come to send peace into the earth: I came not to send peace, but the sworde.

35 For I am come to set a man at * variance against his father, and the daughter against her mother, & the daughter in law against her mother in law.

36 *And a mans enemies shalbe they of his owne housholde.

37 *He that loueth father or mother more then me, is not worthie of me. And he that loueth sonne, or daughter more then me, is not worthie of me.

38 *And he that taketh not his crosse, & p fol-loweth after me, is not worthie of me.

39 *He that wil saue his * life, shal lose it, and he that loseth his life for my sake, shal saue it.

40 He that receiueth you, receiueth me:
and he that receiueth me, receiueth him that hathe sent me.

41 *He that receiueth a * Prophet in the name of a Prophet, shal receiue a Prophetes rewarde: and he that receiueth a righteous mā in the name of a righteous man, shal receiue the rewarde of a righteous man.

42 *And whosoever shal giue vnto one of these litle ones to drinke a cup of colde water onely, in the name of a Disciple, verely I say vnto you, he shal not lose his rewarde.

9 But what went ye out to see? A Prophet? Yea, I say vnto you, and more then a Prophet.

10 For this is he of whome it is written, * Beholde, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verely I say vnto you, among the which are begotten of women, arose there not a greater then Iohn Baptift: notwithstanding, he that is the least in the kingdom of heauen, is greater then he.

12 And from the time of Iohn Baptift hitherto, the kingdom of heauen suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force.

13 For all the Prophetes & the Law prophesied vnto Iohn.

14 And if ye will receiue it, this is * Elias, which was to come.

15 He that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

16 * But whereunto shall I liken this generation? It is like vnto litle children which sit in the markets, and call vnto their fellows, 17 And say, We haue piped vnto you, & ye haue not dancd, we haue mourned vnto you, and ye haue not lamented.

18 For Iohn came nether eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a deuill.

19 The Sonne of man came eating & drinking, and they say, Beholde a glutton & a drinker of wine, a friend vnto Publicanes & sinners: but * wisdom is iustified of her children.

20 * Then began he to vpbraide the cities, wherein moſte of his great workes were done, because they repented not.

21 Wo be to thee, Chorazin: Wo be to thee, Bethſaida: for if the great workes, which were done in you, had bene done in Tyrus & Sidon, they had repented long ago in sackcloth and ashes.

22 * But I say to you, It shall be easier for Tyrus and Sidon at the day of iudgement, then for you.

23 And thou, Capernaum, which art lifted vp vnto heauen, shalt be brought downe to hel: for if thy great workes, which haue bene done in thee, had bene done among them of Sodom, they had remained to this day.

24 But I say vnto you, that it shall be easier for them of the land of Sodom in the day of iudgement, then for thee.

25 * At that time Iesus answered, and said, I giue thee thanks, O Father, Lord of heauen & earth, because thou hast hid these things from the wise and men of vnderstanding, and hast opened them vnto babes.

26 It is so, O Father, because thy good pleasure was such.

27 * All things are giuen vnto me of my Father: and * no man knoweth the Sonne, but the Father: nether knoweth any man the Father, but the Sonne, & he to whome the Sonne will reueile him.

28 Come vnto me, all ye that are wearie & laden, and I will ease you.

29 Take my yoke on you, and learne of me, that I am meke and lowly in heart: & ye shall finde rest vnto your soules.

30 * For my yoke is easie, and my burden light.

CHAP. XII.

3 Christ excuseth his disciples which plucke the eares of corne. 10 He healeth the dried hand. 22 Helpeth the possessed that was blinde and dowe. 31 Blasphemie. 34 The generation of vipers. 35 Of good wordes. 36 Of idle wordes. 38 He rebuketh the vnfaithful that wolde needs haue tokens. 49 And sheweth who is his brother, sister and mother.

AT that time Iesus wet on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his disciples were an hungred, & began to plucke the eares of corne and to eat.

2 And when the Pharisees sawe it, they said vnto him, Beholde, thy disciples do that which is not lawful to do vpon the Sabbath.

3 But he said vnto them, * Haue ye not red what Dauid did when he was an hungred, and they that were with him?

4 How he entred into the House of God, & ate the shewe bread, which was not lawful for him to eat, nether for them which were with him, but onely for the * Priests?

5 Or haue ye not red in the Law how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priests in the Temple * breake the Sabbath, and are blameles?

6 But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 Wherefore if ye knewe what this is, * I wil haue mercie and not sacrifice, ye wolde not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the sonne of man is * Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

9 * And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue:

10 And beholde, there was a man which had his hand dried vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawful to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.

11 And he said vnto them, What man shall there beſamog you, that shall haue a shepe, and if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pit, wil not he take it and lift it out?

12 How muche more then is a man better the a shepe? therefore, it is lawful to do wel on a Sabbath day.

13 Then said he to the man, Stretch forth the thine hand. And he stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.
